1. When the original has been lost or destroyed, in which case proof of the loss or destruction must first be made;

2. When the original is in the possession of the party against whom the evidence is offered, and he fails to produce it after reasonable notice;

3. When the original is a record or other document in the custody of a public officer;

4. When the original has been recorded, and a certified copy of the record is made evidence by this code or other statute;

5. When the original consists of numerous accounts or other documents which cannot be examined in court without great loss of time, and the evidence sought from them is only the general result of the whole.

In the cases mentioned in subs. 3 and 4, a copy of the original, or of the record, must be produced; in those mentioned in subs. 1 and 2, either a copy or oral evidence of the contents.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1855.

Abstracts of title admissible in evidence, §§ 1590, 1591.

Notice to produce writing, § 7108.

A party who states that he has left the original deed with a person in the city where the trial is had, and that he has made no attempt to get the same, is not entitled to offer a copy of such deed in evidence.

Wilson v. Wright, 8 U. 215; 30 P. 754.

Where a written instrument is traced into the hands of a party not within the state, secondary evidence is admissible to prove the contents of the instrument, and this without further showing that the original was lost or destroyed. In such case no notice to produce is necessary, and a copy of the instrument is competent. (Approved in McCollum v. S. P. Co., 31 U. 494; 88 P. 663.)

Dwyer v. S. L. C. Copper Co., 14 U. 339; 47 P. 311.

Sufficient reason for failure to produce writing not being given, the copy held by defendant Ryan should have been produced.

McIntyre v. Ajax, 17 U. 213; 53 P. 1124.

Where written contract has been lost its contents may be proved.

Nelson v. S. P. Ry., 18 U. 244; 55 P. 364.

Saunders v. S. P. Ry., 18 U. 243; 55 P. 1102.

Contents of lost deed may be proved.

Scott v. Crouch, 24 U. 377; 67 U. 1068.

Before parol evidence may be given of the contents of a writing, it must be shown that the writing itself can not be produced, or its absence must be satisfactorily accounted for.

Stoll v. Daly M. Co., 19 U. 271; 57 P. 295.

Evidence that a letter was properly addressed, stamped, and mailed to defendant raises the presumption that it was received by him, and is sufficient to admit it in evidence.

Cooney v. McKinney, 25 U. 329; 71 P. 485.

Brown v. Fraternal Acc. Ass'n, 18 U. 265; 55 P. 63.

Where, in a prosecution for adultery, the state claimed that certain letters had been written by defendant's alleged paramour to defendant and notified the defendant to produce these letters, which he did not do, evidence by the woman who wrote them as to their contents was admissible.

State v. Freshwater, 30 U. 442; 85 P. 447.

Plaintiff, in an action against a railway company for injuries caused by its failure to provide him with proper accommodations and protection as a passenger, could introduce oral evidence to show the class of his ticket, where he had surrendered it to the railway and had served proper notice on the same to produce it.

McCollum v. S. P. Co., 31 U. 494; 88 P. 663.

7118. (3411.) Material alterations require explanation. The party producing as genuine a writing which has been altered, or appears to have been altered, after its execution, in a part material to the question in dispute, must account for the appearance or alteration. He may show that the alteration was made by another, without his concurrence, or was made with the consent of the parties affected by it, or otherwise properly or innocently made, or that the alteration did not change the meaning or language of the instrument. If he do that, he may give the writing in evidence, but not otherwise.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1982.

Alteration of promissory note, effect, §§ 4160, 4161, and note.

Alteration of contract after signing; held, material and contract void.
Am. Pub. Co. v. Fisher Brew. Co., 10 U. 147; 37 P. 259.

The rule of this section cannot be applied to the alteration of a commercial agency's report by changing the figures so as to correct an incorrect addition.
Belleville Pump & S. W. v. Samuelson, 16 U. 234; 52 P. 282.

CHAPTER 53.

WITNESSES.

COMPETENCY.

7122. (3412.) Who may be witnesses. Jury exclusive judges of credibility. All persons, without exception, otherwise than is specified in the next two sections, who, having organs of sense, can perceive, and, perceiving, can make known their perceptions to others, may be witnesses. Therefore, neither parties nor other persons who have an interest in the event of an action or proceeding are excluded; nor those who have been convicted of crime; nor persons on account of their opinions on matters of religious belief; although, in every case, the credibility of the witness may be drawn in question, by the manner in which he testifies, by the character of his testimony, or by evidence affecting his character for truth, honesty, or integrity, or his motives, or by contradictory evidence; and the jury are the exclusive judges of his credibility.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1879*.
Jury to decide questions of fact, when, §§ 6444, 6781, 7208.
Witnesses, etc., in criminal cases, §§ 9275-9280.
Defendant in criminal case as a witness in his own behalf, § 9279, and note.
The jury, or the court when a law action is tried without a jury, is the exclusive judge of the credibility of the witnesses and of the weight of the evidence, note to Con. art. 8, sec. 9.
Discretion of court as to examination of witnesses, note to § 6802.
Witnesses to be protected from insult, § 7142.
Defendant and mother competent in bastardy proceedings, § 384.
Witness must answer in corrupt practice prosecution, §§ 2373, 2401.
Witness must answer in liquor prosecution, § 3371.
Accomplices competent in liquor prosecution, § 3369.
Witness in pandering prosecution, § 8101.
Witness in prosecution of delinquent father or husband, § 8113.
Instructions generally, note to § 6802.

Jury's attention called to defendant's interest in the result in a criminal case not error.
People v. Callaghan, 4 U. 49; 6 P. 49.

Court may caution a jury as to testimony of weak-minded witness.
Lowe v. Herald, 6 U. 175; 21 P. 991.

An instruction that the jury were to determine the credibility of the witnesses, etc., that they were not bound to take the testimony of any witness as absolutely true, and should not do so if they were satisfied that the witness was mistaken in the matter testified to by him, or that for any other reason his testimony was untrue or unreliable, though ambiguous, was not error.
Black v. Rocky Mt. Bell Tel. Co., 26 U. 451; 73 P. 514.

An attorney is a competent witness and may be sworn and testify on the hearing of a cause wherein he is sole attorney for one of the parties litigant and actively engaged in the trial. Practice not commended, however.
Jennings v. Pratt, 19 U. 137; 56 P. 680.

A county attorney who was of counsel for the state in a criminal prosecution, after his term of office expired and to whom accused made admissions, is a competent witness.
State v. Green, 38 U. 389; 115 P. 181.

IMPEACHMENT OF WITNESS:

Impeaching questions should go to general reputation of witness in neighborhood in which he resides.
State v. Marks, 16 U. 204; 51 P. 1089.
State v. Hilberg, 22 U. 27; 61 P. 215.

Where questions are proper as laying foundation for impeachment, etc., it is error to refuse to allow them.
Walley v. Des. Natl. Bk., 14 U. 305; 47 P. 147.

The credibility of a witness cannot be impeached by asking her whether she has not had some difficulty with her husband.
People v. Thiede, 11 U. 241; 39 P. 837; affirmed 159 U. S. 510.

A witness in a criminal case cannot be impeached by contradicting an answer made to an immaterial question.
State v. Haworth, 24 U. 398; 68 P. 155.

When propounding impeaching questions to a witness concerning his prior inconsistent statements to another, the time, place, and circumstances should be stated with reasonable certainty, in order to allow a proper foundation for the questions.

Plaintiff was entitled to introduce evidence that the witness on former occasions had made statements contradictory to and inconsistent with his testimony with reference to the danger attending bathers at the resort, a proper foundation having been first laid on cross-examination for the introduction of such impeaching evidence.
Larkin v. Saltair B. Co., 30 U. 86; 83 P. 686.

Where a witness for defendant in a criminal case testifies as to an alleged alibi, evidence of contrary statements made by him is admissible in impeachment, though, when he is interrogated as to such statements, he is excused from answering for the reason that his answer would tend to incriminate him.
State v. Haworth, 24 U. 398; 68 P. 155.

CHARACTER OF WITNESS:

Cross-examination of defendant charged with crime, § 9279, and note.

In a prosecution for adultery, it is error for the court not to allow the defense to show the bad character of the woman with whom the offense was alleged to have been committed, she being a witness for the prosecution.
U. S. v. Bredemeyer, 6 U. 143; 22 P. 110.

It is no excuse to the defendant that the person assaulted was a woman of bad reputation for chastity, if she was forced against her will, but such fact is a proper matter for the consideration of the jury, as affecting her credibility as a witness, and whether she would be more unlikely to resist an assault of that character upon her person.

State v. McCune, 16 U. 170; 51 P. 818.

When a defendant in a criminal case testifies in his own behalf, he places his general character for truth and veracity in issue, but not his character for honesty and integrity, and his character in these respects cannot be inquired into unless he voluntarily places them in issue.

State v. Marks, 16 U. 204; 51 P. 1089.

In all cases where evidence is admitted touching the general character of a party, it ought to bear reference to the nature of the charge against him.

Id.

When the general reputation of a person charged with crime is in question, it should be limited to a period not later than the date of the arrest.

Id.

In criminal prosecutions, whatever degree of the offense with which accused is charged, evidence of his good character may be introduced by him without reference to the apparently conclusive or inconclusive character of the other evidence.

State v. Blue, 17 U. 175; 53 P. 978.

People v. Hancock, 7 U. 170; 25 P. 1093.

State v. Van Kuran, 25 U. 8; 69 P. 60.

Evidence of good character or the contrary must be confined to the general reputation of accused, hence, in a prosecution for homicide, that there was found in accused's room appliances which might be used for crime, although they were susceptible of innocent use, is inadmissible to rebut accused's evidence of good character.

State v. Anselmo, 46 U. 137; 148 P. 1071.

7123. (3413.) Cannot be witnesses; Mentally unsound; children under ten; parties to transactions with deceased, or insane. The following persons cannot be witnesses:

1. Those who are of unsound mind at the time of their production for examination;

2. Children under ten years of age, who appear incapable of receiving just impressions of the facts respecting which they are examined, or of relating them truly;

3. A party to any civil action, suit, or proceeding, and any person directly interested in the event thereof, and any person from, through, or under whom such party or interested person derives his interest or title or any part thereof, when the adverse party in such action, suit, or proceeding claims or opposes, sues or defends as guardian of any insane or incompetent person, or as the executor or administrator, heir, legatee, or devisee of any deceased person, or as guardian, or assignee, or grantee, directly or remotely, of such heir, legatee, or devisee, as to any statement by, or transaction with, such deceased, insane, or incompetent person, or matter of fact whatever, which must have been equally within the knowledge of both the witness and such insane, incompetent, or deceased person, unless such witness be called to testify thereto by such adverse party, so claiming or opposing, suing or defending in such action, suit, or proceeding.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1880*.

When a child under ten years of age is offered as a witness, not age, but capacity of receiving just impressions of facts and relating them truly, are the tests of competency.

State v. Blythe, 20 U. 378; 58 P. 1108.

And the discretion of the trial court will not be interfered with unless abused.

State v. MacMillan, 46 U. 19; 145 P. 833.

That offered witnesses, in an action for injury sustained in attempting to pass between cars obstructing a crossing, were boys 9 and 12 years old, who had been standing between trains and were climbing over the cars, did not authorize the court to conclusively assume that they had no such means or opportunity as to have heard the bell had it rung, or that there was such a want of attention on their part as to prevent their hearing it had it rung.

Sub. 3 applies:

To suits brought by as well as against an executor.

Ewing v. White, 8 U. 250; 30 P. 984.

To plaintiff's testifying in a suit against an administrator to enforce a trust against decedent and for an accounting thereunder.

Wood v. Fox, 8 U. 380; 32 P. 48; affirmed 166 U. S. 637.

To the testimony of a party to an action to establish his interest in the estate of decedent.

Henefer v. Hays, 14 U. 324; 47 P. 90.

See Chambers v. Emery, 13 U. 374; 45 P. 192.

The testimony of one through whom plaintiff claims title as to statements of a deceased person in an action by the assignee or heir of such deceased person, but not the testimony of the wife.

Clawson v. Wallace, 16 U. 300; 52 P. 9.

Plaintiff's testimony suing decedent's estate for money loaned decedent on open account.

Kislingberry v. Evans, 40 U. 356; 121 P. 571.

The plaintiff's testimony as to the indorsement or leaving of the stock by the deceased, nor is the possession of the stock prima facie evidence of its having been pledged as security.

Robison v. Gull, 51 U. —; 173 P. 905.

Sub. 3 does not apply:

To the testimony of a secretary of a corporation where it is a party, and the opposing party is a guardian, etc.

Rasmussen v. Sev. Val. Canal Co., 40 U. 371; 121 P. 741.

To the testimony of a grantee of a deceased grantor as to conversation with the latter in a suit by the divorced wife of the grantor, claiming the property conveyed in her own right.

Murphy v. Ganey, 23 U. 633; 66 P. 190.

Testimony of a guardian ad litem contesting the probate of a will on behalf of two minor children of testator.

In re Van Alstine's Estate, 26 U. 193; 42 P. 941.

To the testimony of heirs at law, devises, or legatees under the will or their heirs in a suit to contest a will. (Overruling Atwoods Est., 14 U. 1; 45 P. 1036.)

Miller v. Livingston, 31 U. 415; 88 P. 338.

7124. (3414.) Privileged communications and rights of witnesses. There are particular relations in which it is the policy of the law to encourage confidence and to preserve it inviolate. Therefore, a person cannot be examined as a witness in the following cases:

1. A husband cannot be examined for or against his wife, without her consent, nor a wife for or against her husband, without his consent; nor can either during the marriage or afterwards, be, without the consent of the other, examined as to any communication made by one to the other during the marriage; but this exception does not apply to a civil action or proceeding by one against the other, nor to a criminal action or proceedings for a crime committed by one against the other, nor to crimes referred to in an act making it a misdemeanor to abandon or wilfully neglect to provide for the support and maintenance, by any person, of his wife or his or her minor child or children in destitute or necessitous circumstances (§§ 8112-8115), and also an act in relation to pandering (§§ 8095-8101).

2. An attorney cannot, without the consent of his client, be examined as to any communication made by the client to him, or his advice given therein, in the course of professional employment; nor can an attorney's secretary, stenographer, or clerk be examined, without the consent of his employer, concerning any fact the knowledge of which had been acquired in such capacity;

3. A clergyman or priest cannot, without the consent of the person making the confession, be examined as to any confession made to him in his professional character in the course of discipline enjoined by the church to which he belongs;

4. A physician or surgeon cannot, without the consent of his patient, be examined in a civil action, as to any information acquired in attending the patient which was necessary to enable him to prescribe or act for the patient;

5. A public officer cannot be examined as to communications made to him in official confidence, when the public interests would suffer by the disclosure. Am'd '07, p. 195; '09, p. 42; '11, p. 180.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1881*.

Husband not compellled to testify against wife or wife against husband, Con. art. 1, sec. 12.

Husband and wife as witnesses in criminal actions, §§ 8555, 9278, and note.

Sub. 1:

When a witness is offered by a party to the suit, with the statement that "she is his plural, or second wife," such witness will be excluded, and the court will not try the question of the validity of the marriage or the relations of the parties.

Friel v. Wood, 1 U. 160.

A witness claiming exemption on the ground that she is the wife of defendant may be examined as to the truth of such claim.

Ex parte Hendrickson, 6 U. 3; 21 P. 396.

Where a husband testified in a suit to quiet title, without the consent of his wife, but the testimony was in the interest of both, and the wife impliedly consented thereto, such testimony was not prohibited by this section.

Murphy v. Janey, 23 U. 633; 66 P. 190.

A divorced wife may testify in a contest involving the probate of her former husband's will, as to his condition when under the influence of liquor, during the time she was his wife.

In re Van Alstine's Estate, 26 U. 193; 72 P. 942.

Sub. 2:

An attorney is a competent witness in an action in which he is the sole attorney for one of the parties.

Jennings v. Pratt, 19 U. 129; 56 P. 951.

Conversations with an attorney in negotiations to employ him are priviledged.

State v. Snowden, 23 U. 318; 65 P. 479.

Burden of proving a communication, is privileged on one claiming it.

Id.

A statement by a party to an attorney that he intends to commit a crime, and asking advice as to the effect of it, is not privileged hereunder.

People v. Mahon, 1 U. 205.

This provision is declaratory of common law, and may be waived by client, and in a will contest on the ground of undue influence and want of capacity, the attorney who prepared the will cannot claim the privilege but must testify at the demand of any of the parties.

In re Young's Estate, 33 U. 382; 94 P. 731.

Where a client testifies as to conversation with his attorney which is privileged, he thereby waives his privilege and cannot thereafter claim it when the attorney is called to impeach him.

State v. Hoben, 36 U. 186; 102 P. 1000.

Sub. 4:

A physician sent by a railroad company to examine an injured passenger was not entitled to testify as to any information acquired.

Munz v. Salt Lake City R. R. Co., 25 U. 220; 70 P. 852.

Physicians who attended testator before his death are disqualified from expressing, in a contest over testator's will, their opinion of his sanity at the time of its execution.

In re Van Alstine's Estate, 26 U. 193; 72 P. 942.

Such information only as may reasonably be necessary to enable the physician to apply his full skill for the patient's benefit, even though it be but the narrative of the facts leading up to the accidental injury, is privileged.

Madsen v. Utah Light & Ry. Co., 36 U. 528; 105 P. 799.

Sub. 4:

Is statutory:

In re Young's Estate, 33 U. 382; 94 P. 731.

A statement made by insured to his physician after he was told that he was afflicted with cancer and that it was incurable, that he had suffered with his stomach and pains in his back for two years, is privileged.

Lombard v. Columbia Nat. Life Ins. Co., 50 U. —; 168 P. 269.

A question as to how long one was under an anaesthetic, or whether he was under the influence of an anaesthetic is not privileged, but where there is no issue on such points, and where the witness in answering another question answered this question, the error in sustaining the objection is harmless.

Dovick v. Chief Con. M. Co., 51 U. —; 174 P. 627.

Sub. 5:

Where a party testifies as to his condition after an accident and as to the treatment given by a physician, and has one attending physician testify as to his condition and treatment, he thereby waives the privilege, and the other attending physician may testify fully as to his condition and treatment, and also as to whether or not the patient was syphilitic.
Dahlquist v. D. & R. G. R. R. Co., 51 U. —; 174 P. 833.

Where the state in a criminal case invites a disclosure of matters privileged under sub. 5, and acquiesces in such disclosure so long as the matter disclosed is against the accused, the state cannot exclude other disclosures sought to be shown by accused.
State v. Hoben, 36 U. 186; 102 P. 1000.

7125. (3415.) Judge or juror may be a witness. Proceeding. The judge himself or any juror may be called as a witness by either party; but in such case it is in the discretion of the court to order the trial to be postponed or suspended, and to take place before another judge or jury.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1883.

7126. (3416.) Interpreter may be summoned. Contempt. When a witness does not understand and speak the English language, an interpreter must be sworn to interpret for him. Any person may be summoned by any court or judge to appear before such court or judge to act as interpreter in any action or proceeding. The summons must be served and returned in like manner as a subpœna. Any person so summoned who fails to attend at the time and place named in the summons is guilty of a contempt.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1884*.
Fee of interpreter, § 2558.

Juror may act as interpreter.
People v. Thiede, 11 U. 241; 39 P. 837; affirmed 159 U. S. 510.

PRODUCTION OF WITNESSES.

7127. (3417.) Subpœna defined. May require production of books, etc. The process by which the attendance of a witness is required is a subpœna. It is a writ or order directed to a person and requiring his attendance at a particular time and place to testify as a witness. It may also require him to bring with him any books, documents, or other things under his control which he is bound by law to produce in evidence.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1985.

7128. (3418.) Id. To require attendance before court or officer, etc. Contempt. The subpœna is issued as follows:

1. To require attendance before a court, or at the trial of an issue therein, it is issued in the name of the court before which the attendance is required, or in which the issue is pending;

2. To require attendance out of the court, before a judge, justice, or other officer authorized to administer oaths or take testimony in any matter under the laws of this state, it is issued by the judge, justice, or any other officer before whom the attendance is required;

3. To require attendance before a commissioner appointed to take testimony by a court of a foreign country or of the United States, or of any other state or territory in the United States, or of any other district or county within this state, or before any officer or officers empowered by the laws of the United States to take testimony, it may be issued by any judge, or justice of the peace in places within their respective jurisdictions, with like power to enforce attendance; and, upon certificate of contumacy to said court, to punish contempt of such process, as such judge or justice could exercise if the subpœna directed the attendance of the witness before his court in a matter pending therein.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1986.

7129. (3419.) Service of subpœna, by whom and how made. The service of a subpœna is made by showing the original and delivering a copy, or a ticket containing its substance, to the witness personally, or by leaving a copy with some suitable person at the place of his abode, giving or offering to him at the same time, if demanded by him, the fees to which he is entitled for travel to and from the place designated, and one day's attendance there. The service must be made so as to allow the witness a reasonable time for preparation and travel to the place of attendance. Such service may be made by any person.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1987*.
Witness may demand fee and mileage in advance, § 2549.
Witness fee, $1.50 per day; mileage, 20c per mile, § 2545.
Party may serve his own subpoenas.
Smith v. Nelson, 23 U. 512; 65 P. 485.
A subpoena may be served by any person, and the witness may waive the manner of service, or accept service.
Holt v. Neilson, 37 U. 566; 109 P. 470.

7130. (3420.) Id. When witness concealed, inclosure may be broken. If a witness is concealed in a building or vessel, so as to prevent the service of a subpœna upon him, any court or judge, or any officer issuing the subpœna, may, upon proof by affidavit of the concealment, and of the materiality of the witness, make an order that the sheriff of the county serve the subpœna; and the officer must serve it accordingly, and for that purpose may break into the building or vessel where the witness is concealed.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1988.

7131. (3421.) Witness required to attend court. When not out of county. A witness is obliged to attend as a witness before any district court, a judge thereof, or referee, or master appointed by such district court, or a judge thereof, at any place in this state. A witness is not obliged to attend as a witness before any judge of a city court, any judge of a municipal court, any justice of the peace, or other officer out of the county in which he resides, unless the distance be less than thirty miles from his place of residence to the place of trial. Am'd '05, p. 111.

7132. (3422.) Person present in court must testify. A person present in court, or before a judicial officer, may be required to testify in the same manner as if he were in attendance upon a subpœna issued by such court or officer.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1990.

7133. (3423.) Disobedience of witness a contempt. Punishment if witness a party. Disobedience to a subpœna, or a refusal to be sworn, or to answer as a witness, or to subscribe an affidavit or deposition when required, may be punished as a contempt of the court or officer issuing the subpœna or requiring the witness to be sworn; and, if the witness be a party, his complaint or answer may be stricken out.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1991.
Contempt, punishment, § 7058, and note.
When testimony stricken out.
Hadra v. Utah N. Bank, 9 U. 412; 35 P. 508.

7134. (3424.) Id. Liability to forfeiture and damage. A witness disobeying a subpœna also forfeits to the party aggrieved the sum of $100 and all damages which he may sustain by the failure of the witness to attend, which forfeiture and damages may be recovered in a civil action.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1992.

7135. (3425.) Warrant issued for absent witness. In case of a failure of a witness to attend, the court or officer issuing the subpœna, upon proof of the service thereof, and of the failure of the witness, may issue a warrant to the sheriff of the county to arrest the witness and bring him before the court or officer where his attendance was required.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1993.

7136. (3426.) Contents of warrant of commitment. To whom directed. Every warrant of commitment issued by a court or officer pursuant to this chapter must specify therein, particularly, the cause of the commitment, and if it be for refusing to answer a question, such question must be stated in the warrant. And every warrant to arrest or commit a witness pursuant to this chapter must be directed to the sheriff of the county where the witness may be, and must be executed by the officer in the same manner as process issued by the district court.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1994.

7137. (3427.) When witness a prisoner, order for production. If the witness be a prisoner confined in a jail or prison within this state, an order for his examination in the prison upon deposition, or for his temporary removal and production before a court or officer for the purpose of being orally examined, may be made as follows:

1. By the court itself in which the action or special proceeding is pending, unless it be a justice's court;

2. By a justice of the supreme court or by a judge of the district court of the county where the action or proceeding is pending, if pending before a justice's court or before a judge or other person out of court.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1995.

7138. (3428.) Id. Order made upon affidavits. Form. Such order can be made only on the motion of a party, upon affidavit showing the nature of the action or proceeding, the testimony expected from the witness, and its materiality.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1996.

7139. (3429.) Id. Witness produced if in county. Deposition, otherwise. If the witness be imprisoned in the county where the action or proceeding is pending, his production may be required. In all other cases his examination, when allowed must be taken upon deposition.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1997.

RIGHTS AND DUTIES OF WITNESSES.

7140. (3430.) Witness served must attend and answer legal questions. A witness, served with a subpœna, must attend at the time appointed, with any papers under his control required by the subpœna, and answer all pertinent and legal questions; and unless sooner discharged, must remain until the testimony is closed.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 2064.

7141. (3431.) Id. Witness' privilege in certain cases. A witness must answer questions legal and pertinent to the matter in issue, though his answer may establish a claim against himself; but he need not give an answer which will have a tendency to subject him to punishment for felony; nor need he give an answer which will have a direct tendency to degrade his character, unless it be to the very fact in issue, or to a fact from which the fact in issue would be presumed. But a witness must answer as to the fact of his previous conviction for felony.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 2065.

Impeachment of witness, note to § 7122.

Discretion of court as to examination of witness, note to § 6804.

A witness can be compelled to answer where the answer would disgrace him, only where the evidence is material.

Conway v. Clinton, 1 U. 215.

A witness may on cross-examination be questioned concerning his past life, and much latitude of inquiry should be permitted, even if attended with humiliation and disgrace to the witness, to enable the jury to judge of his credibility.

People v. Hite, 8 U. 461; 33 P. 254.

Immunities given hereby are personal privileges of witness which he waives by failing to claim himself.

People v. Larsen, 10 U. 143; 37 P. 258.

In a criminal prosecution, the general rule is that the right to refuse to answer incriminating questions is a personal privilege of the witness, which he can either exercise or waive, and, if the witness chooses to answer, neither defendant nor his counsel can legally object.

State v. Shockley, 29 U. 25; 80 P. 865.

But where the witness is also the defendant, he need not personally make the objection, but may claim such immunity through his counsel. (Distinguishing People v. Larsen, 10 U. 143; 37 P. 258.)

Id.

It is error to compel a witness, a married man, to answer a question whether he had put his arm around prosecutrix's sister, it being immaterial, and tending to degrade him.

State v. Reese, 43 U. 447; 135 P. 270.

While a witness, in order to test his credibility, may be asked if he has not been convicted of a crime, the question whether he has committed a crime is privileged, and he may decline to answer it.

State v. Thorne, 39 U. 208; 117 P. 58.

Though accused, on becoming a witness, may be cross-examined as other witnesses, yet when the question relates to incriminating acts, or calls for evidence of an incriminating character separate and distinct from those on trial testified to by him, he may claim his privilege and decline to answer, and the court must determine whether the evidence called for may tend to incriminate the witness.

Id.

7142. (3432.) Rights of witness, protection from insult, etc. It is the right of a witness to be protected from irrelevant, improper, or insulting questions, and from harsh or insulting demeanor; to be detained only so long as the interests of justice require it; and to be examined only as to matters legal and pertinent to the issue.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 2066.

Counsel for the state, while entitled to considerable latitude in examining witnesses for defense should not be allowed to propound and repeat improper and unfair questions.

State v. Anselmo, 46 U. 137; 148 P. 1071.

7143. (3433.) Witness exempt from arrest in civil action. Every person who has been, in good faith, served with a subpœna to attend as a witness before a court, judge, commissioner, referee, or other person, in a case where the disobedience of the witness may be punished as a contempt, is exonerated from arrest in a civil action while going to the place of attendance, necessarily remaining there, and returning therefrom.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 2067.

7144. (3434.) Id. Unlawful arrest void. Witness' damages. The arrest of a witness contrary to the preceding section is void, and when wilfully made, is a contempt of the court, and the person making it is responsible to the witness arrested for double the amount of the damages which may be assessed against him, and is also liable to an action at the suit of the party serving the witness with the subpœna, for the damages sustained by him in consequence of the arrest.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 2068.

7145. (3435.) Arrest made in good faith. Affidavit claiming exemption. An officer is not liable to the party for making the arrest in ignorance of the facts creating the exoneration, but is liable for any subsequent detention of the party, if such party claim the exemption, and make an affidavit stating:

1. That he has been served with a subpœna to attend as a witness before a court, officer, or other person, specifying the same, the place of attendance, and the action or proceeding in which the subpœna was issued; and,

2. That he has not thus been served by his own procurement, with the intention of avoiding an arrest;

3. That he is at the time going to the place of attendance, or returning therefrom, or remaining there in obedience to the subpœna.

The affidavit may be taken by the officer, and exonerates him from liabil ity for discharging the witness when arrested.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 2069.

7146. (3436.) Id. Court to discharge witness unlawfully arrested. The court or officer issuing the subpœna, and the court or officer before whom the attendance is required, may discharge the witness from an arrest made in violation of § 7143. If the court have adjourned before the arrest, or before application for the discharge, a judge of the court may grant the discharge.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 2070.

OATHS AND AFFIRMATIONS.

7147. (3437.) Officers authorized to administer oaths. Every court, every judge or clerk or deputy clerk of any court, every justice, and every notary public, the secretary of state, and every officer or person authorized to take testimony in any action or proceeding, or to decide upon evidence, has power to administer oaths or affirmations.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 2093*. Affidavit may be taken before whom, § 7157.

7148. (3438.) Form of oath or affirmation. An oath, or affirmation, in an action or proceeding, may be administered as follows, the person who swears or affirms expressing his assent when addressed in the following form:

You do solemnly swear (or affirm, as the case may be) that the evidence you shall give in this issue (or matter) pending between .....and.....shall be the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, so help you God.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 2094.

7149. (3439.) Id. Court may vary form. Whenever the court before which a person is offered as a witness is satisfied that he has a peculiar mode of swearing connected with or in addition to the usual form of administration which in his opinion is more solemn or obligatory, the court may in its discretion adopt that mode.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 2095.

7150. (3440.) Id. Witnesses not Christian. When a person is sworn who believes in any other than the Christian religion, he may be sworn according to the peculiar ceremonies of his religion if there be any such.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 2096.

7151. (3441.) Affirmation or declaration instead of oath. Any person who desires it may, at his option, instead of taking an oath, make his solemn affirmation or declaration, by assenting, when addressed in the following form: "You do solemnly affirm (or declare) that," etc., as in § 7148.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 2097.

CHAPTER 54.

AFFIDAVITS.

7154. (3442.) Affidavit may be used for what purposes. An affidavit may be used to verify a pleading or a paper in a special proceeding, to prove the service of a summons, notice, or other paper in an action or special proceeding, to obtain a provisional remedy, the examination of a witness or a stay of proceedings, or upon a motion, and in any other case expressly permitted by some other provision of this code.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 2009.
Validity of affidavit, etc., defectively entitled, § 7213.
Affidavit without venue not valid.
Smith v. Richardson, 1 U. 194.
Affidavit must have a venue; omission of "ss," however, is an immaterial irregularity.
Smith v. Richardson, 1 U. 194.
McCord & Nave Mercantile Co. v. Glenn, 6 U. 139; 21 P. 500.

7155. (3443.) Proof of publication, how made. Evidence of the publication of a document or notice required by law or an order of a court or judge to be published in a newspaper may be given by the affidavit of the printer of the newspaper, or his foreman, or principal clerk, annexed to a copy of the document or notice, specifying the times when, and the paper in which, the publication was made.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 2010.
Proof of publication of summons, § 6552.
Proof of publication of probate notices, § 7866.

7156. (3444.) Where filed. Certified copy prima facie evidence. If such affidavit be made in an action or special proceeding pending in a court, it may be filed with the court or clerk thereof. If not so made, it may be filed with the recorder of the county where the newspaper is printed. In either case, the original affidavit, or a copy thereof, certified by the judge of the court or officer having it in custody, is prima facie evidence of the facts stated therein.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 2011*.

7157. (3445.) Affidavit taken before whom, if in Utah. An affidavit to be used before any court, judge, or officer of this state may be taken before any judge or clerk of any court, or any justice of the peace, or any notary public in this state.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 2012.
Officers authorized to administer oaths, § 7147.

7158. (3446.) Id. If taken in another state. An affidavit taken in another state or territory of the United States, to be used in this state, may be taken before a commissioner appointed by the governor of this state to take affidavits and depositions in such other state or territory, or before any notary public in another state or territory, or before any judge or clerk of a court of record having a seal.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 2013.

7159. (3447.) Id. If taken in a foreign country. An affidavit taken in a foreign country, to be used in this state, may be taken before an ambassador, minister, consul, vice-consul, or consular agent of the United States, or before any judge of a court of record having a seal, in such foreign country.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 2014.

7160. (3448.) Certification of affidavit taken before foreign judge, etc. When an affidavit is taken before a judge or a court in another state or territory, or in a foreign country, the genuineness of the signature of the judge, the existence of the court, and the fact that such judge is a member thereof, must be certified by the clerk of the court, under the seal thereof.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 2015.

CHAPTER 55.

DEPOSITIONS.

TAKEN OUT OF THE STATE.

7163. (3449.) Deposition out of state, taken when. The testimony of a witness out of the state may be taken by deposition in an action at any time after the service of the summons or the appearance of the defendant; and, in a special proceeding, at any time after a question of fact has arisen therein.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 2020.
Taken out of state on oral interrogatories, §§ 7169-7167.
This chapter applicable to depositions for industrial commission, § 3081; public utility commission, § (3) 4822.

7164. (3450.) Commission, by and to whom issued. Notice. The deposition of a witness out of this state may be taken upon commission issued from the court, under the seal of the court, upon an order of the judge, or court, or justice of the peace in any case pending before such judge, court, or justice of the peace respectively, on the application of either party, upon five days' previous notice to the other. If issued to any place within the United States, it may be directed to any person agreed upon by the parties, or, if they do not agree, to any judge or notary public, or person named or commissioned by the officers issuing it. If issued to any country out of the United States, it may be directed to a minister, ambassador, consul, vice-consul, or consular agent of the United States in such country, or to any person agreed upon by the parties.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 2024*.
A person appointed to take a deposition in another state must be one of the local officers specified in the practice act.
Newton v. Brown, 1 U. 287.
A stipulation waiving all objections to the form of taking depositions covers the objection that they were taken before a notary instead of commissioner.
Homberger v. Alexander, 11 U. 363; 40 P 260.

7165. (3451.) Interrogatories, proposed and settled. Oral examination. Such proper interrogatories, direct and cross, as the respective parties may propose, to be settled if the parties disagree as to their form by the judge or officer granting the order for the commission at a day fixed in the order, may be annexed to the commission; or, when the parties agree to that mode, the examination may be without written interrogatories.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 2025.

7166. (3452.) Commissioners to take, certify, and forward deposition. The commission must authorize the commissioners to administer an oath to the witness, and to take his deposition in answer to the interrogatories, or, when the examination is to be without interrogatories, in respect to the question in dispute, and to certify the deposition to the court in a sealed envelope directed to the clerk or other person designated or agreed upon, and forwarded to him by mail or other usual channel of conveyance.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 2026.
The certificate that "witnesses appeared in person before me and answered the interrogatories and cross-interrogatories herein, as appears by the duly signed and sworn-to depositions hereunto annexed" is insufficient.
Homberger v. Alexander, 11 U. 363; 40 P. 260.

7167. (3453.) Commission not returned. Continuance, when. A trial or other proceeding must not be postponed by reason of a commission not returned, except upon evidence satisfactory to the court that the testimony of the witness is necessary, and that proper diligence has been used to obtain it.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 2027.

7168. (3454.) Deposition may be used by either party. The deposition mentioned in this chapter may be used by either party on the trial or other proceeding, against any other party giving or receiving the notice, subject to all just exceptions.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 2028.

TAKEN OUT OF THE STATE ON ORAL INTERROGATORIES.

7169. (3454x.) Depositions out of the state upon oral interrogatories. The testimony of witnesses out of this state may also be taken, in addition to the method now provided by law, by depositions upon oral interrogatories and answers, in the following manner: The party taking such depositions shall serve upon the adverse party, or his attorney, a written notice specifying the title of the action in which the depositions are to be taken, the name and official character of the person before whom the depositions are to be taken, the time and place for taking the same, and the names of the witnesses to be examined. Such notice shall be served at least ten days previous to the day of taking such depositions, to which time shall be added one day for every 200 miles, or fraction thereof, intervening between the place of trial and the place of taking such depositions. '05, p. 39.

Taking depositions out of the state on written interrogatories, §§ 7163-7167.

7170. (3454x1.) Id. When defendant has not appeared. When the summons in an action has been served upon the defendant therein in the manner provided by law, and the time allowed such defendant to answer has expired, and he has in no way appeared in such action, the plaintiff may take the deposition of any witness without notice to such defendant, and such deposition may be introduced in evidence in the action, and shall have the same force and effect as a deposition taken upon notice. '05, p. 40.

7171. (3454x2.) Id. Publication for non-resident defendant. When the party against whom the deposition is to be heard is absent from or is not a resident of the state, and he has no agent or attorney therein upon whom service may be made, notice of the taking of a deposition may be served upon him by publishing the same three times, once each week for three successive weeks, in some newspaper printed in the county where the action or proceeding is pending, if one is printed in such county; and if not, in some newspaper printed at the seat of government of this state. Personal service of the notice on the defendant out of the state shall be equivalent to such publication. '05, p. 40.

Publication against a non-resident, etc., § 7184.

7172. (3454x3.) Id. Before whom taken. Such depositions may be taken before a judge, justice, or chancellor of any court of record, a justice of the peace, a notary public, the mayor or chief magistrate of any municipal corporation, a commissioner appointed by the governor of this state to take depositions, or any special commissioner appointed for that purpose by the court in which the action is pending, a consul, a vice-consul, or consular agent, or any other officer or person authorized to administer oaths by the law of the place where such depositions are taken; provided, that when a deposition is taken before an officer not having a seal, the jurat or certificate of such officer shall be accompanied by a certificate of a clerk of a court of record, or of an officer having custody of the records of official appointments or tenures, setting forth the fact that the officer so taking such deposition is in fact such officer, and that his signature is genuine. When such depositions are taken before an officer having a seal, such seal shall be sufficient authentication of his office and authority. '05, p. 40.

7174. (3454x5.) Id. Transmission to clerk. The deposition so taken shall be sealed in an envelope indorsed with the title of the cause, and the name of the officer before whom it was taken, and such officer shall address and transmit the same to the clerk of the court where the action or proceeding is pending; and it shall remain under seal until opened by the clerk, by order of the court, or at the request of a party to the proceeding or his attorney. '05, p. 40.

7175. (3454x6.) Id. How certified. The officer before whom the deposition is taken shall annex thereto a certificate showing substantially the following facts:

1. That the witness was first duly sworn or affirmed to testify to the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth;

2. That the deposition was reduced to writing by some person, naming him;

3. That the deposition was written or taken in the presence of the officer certifying thereto, at the time and place specified in the notice;

4. That the deposition was read by or to the witness, and corrected and subscribed by him in the presence of said officer. '05, p. 41.

Where it is stipulated that testimony may be taken in shorthand and transcribed, a certificate by the notary that the deposition was by him carefully read to the witness and corrected by him and then subscribed by him, "in my presence," is sufficient, and when it is stipulated that the deposition so taken might be signed for the witness by the notary; held, this waives provisions of reading, etc., to the witness.

7177. (3454x8.) Id. Deposition in evidence. Depositions taken under the provisions of §§ 7169-7177 may be used in evidence in all proceedings where depositions can be heard, as now provided by the laws of this state, and all existing laws relating to depositions, so far as applicable and not inconsistent with said sections, shall apply to depositions taken pursuant to the provisions hereof. '05, p. 41.

TAKEN IN THE STATE.

7178. (3455.) Deposition in the state, taken when. The testimony of a witness in this state may be taken by deposition in an action, at any time after the service of the summons or the appearance of the defendant; and, in a special proceeding, after a question of fact has arisen therein in the following cases:

1. When the witness is a party in the action or proceeding, or a person for whose immediate benefit the action or proceeding is prosecuted or defended;

2. When the witness resides out of the county in which his testimony is to be used;

3. When the witness is about to leave the county where the action is to be tried, and will probably continue absent when the testimony is required;

4. When the witness, otherwise liable to attend the trial, is nevertheless too infirm to attend;

5. When the testimony is required upon a motion, or in any other case where the oral examination of the witness is not required.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 2021*.
Taking deposition on postponement of trial, § 6787.
Taking depositions out of the state on written interrogatories, §§ 7163-7168.
Taking depositions out of the state on oral interrogatories, §§ 7169-7177.

7179. (3456.) Id. Before whom taken. Notice and affidavit. Either party may have the deposition taken of a witness in this state, in either of the cases mentioned in the next preceding section, before a judge or officer authorized to administer oaths, on serving upon the adverse party previous notice of the time and place of examination, together with a copy of an affidavit, showing that the case is within that section. Such notice must be at least five days, adding also one day for every twenty-five miles of the distance of the place of examination from the residence of the person to whom the notice is given, unless, for a cause shown, a judge, by order, prescribe a shorter time. When the shorter time is prescribed, a copy of the order must be served with the notice.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 2031.

7180. (3457.) Id. Examination signed by witness. Custodian. Use on trial. Either party may attend the examination and put such questions, direct and cross, as may be proper. The deposition, when completed, must be carefully read to the witness and corrected by him in any particular, if desired; it must then be subscribed by the witness, certified by the judge or officer taking the deposition, inclosed in an envelope or wrapper, sealed and directed to the clerk of the court in which the action is pending, or to such person as the parties, in writing, may agree upon, and either delivered by the judge or officer to the clerk or such person, or transmitted through the mail or by some safe private means of conveyance; and thereupon such deposition may be used by either party upon the trial or other proceeding against any party giving or receiving the notice, subject to all legal exceptions; but, if the parties attend at the examination, no objection to the form of an interrogatory shall be made at the trial, unless the same was stated at the time of the examination. If the deposition be taken under sub. 2, 3, or 4 of § 7178, proof must be made at the trial that the witness continues absent or infirm, or is dead. The deposition thus taken may be also read in case of the death of the witness.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 2032.

7181. (3458.) Deposition excluded for irregularity. Notwithstanding the taking of a deposition, it may be excluded from the case upon proof that sufficient notice was not given to the party against whom it is offered to enable him to attend the taking thereof, or that the taking was not in all respects fair.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 2033.

Deposition is not admissible unless party has had opportunity of cross-examination.

Newton v. Brown, 1 U. 287.

Depositions may be read though amendments to the pleadings have changed the issues, where the subject matter remains the same.

Anthony v. Savage, 3 U. 277; 3 P. 546.

Where a deposition is defective in any respect that can be remedied by retaking it, and no motion to suppress it is made, objection cannot be made thereto when the deposition is offered at the trial.

Am. Pub. Co. v. Mayne Co., 9 U. 318; 34 P. 247.

Where witness whose deposition was being taken refused, without cause, to answer a material question, whole deposition may be excluded.

Hadra v. Utah Nat. Bank, 9 U. 412; 35 P. 508.

Deposition extended on account of insufficiency of notary's certificate.

Homberger v. Alexander, 11 U. 363; 40 P. 260.

The objection to a deposition for insufficiency of authentication must be taken before the trial by motion to suppress.

It was not error to refuse to exclude an entire deposition because a direct interrogatory remained among the other interrogatories after it had been stricken by the court and was answered, the answer being excluded; and where the deposition was being taken on written interrogatories, the court could not permit an oral cross-examination of the witness.

Burnham v. Stout, 35 U. 250; 99 P. 1070.

7182. (3459.) Deposition may be read by either party at any time. When a deposition has been once taken, it may be read by either party in any stage of the same action or proceeding, or in any other action between the same parties, upon the same subject, and is then deemed the evidence of the party reading it.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 2034.

Generally a party may read only such portions of the deposition as he desires.

Moore v. Utah-Idaho Central R. Co., 51 U. —; 174 P. 873.

7183. (3460.) Deposition taken without notice if defendant in default. When the summons in an action has been served upon the defendant therein in the manner provided by law, and the time allowed such defendant to answer has expired, and he has in no way appeared in such action, the plaintiff may take the deposition of any witness without notice to such defendant, and such deposition may be introduced in evidence in the action, and shall have the same force and effect as a deposition taken upon notice.

Wis., S. & B. An. S. (1889) § 4102*.

Deposition on oral interrogatories when defendant in default, § 7170.

7184. (3461.) Id. Notice of publication against non-resident. Personal service. When the party against whom the deposition is to be read is absent from or is not a resident of the state, and has no agent or attorney therein upon whom service may be made, notice of the taking of a deposition may be served upon him by publishing the same three times, once in each week for three successive weeks, in some newspaper printed in the county where the action or proceeding is pending, if one is printed in such county; and if not, in some newspaper printed at the seat of government of this state. Personal service of the notice on the defendant out of the state shall be equivalent to such publication.

Kansas (1889) § 4448*.
Publication of notice of taking deposition on oral interrogatories, § 7171.

7185. (3462.) Depositions to be used in other states. Any party to an action or special proceeding in a court or before a judge of another state or a territory may obtain the testimony of a witness residing in this state to be used in such action or proceeding, in the cases mentioned in the next two sections.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 2035.

7186. (3463.) Id. District judge may subpœna witness before commissioner. If a commission to take such testimony has been issued from the court or a judge before whom such action or proceeding is pending, on producing the commission to a district judge, with an affidavit satisfactory to him of the materiality of the testimony, he may issue a subpœna to the witness, requiring him to appear and testify before the commissioner named in the commission, at a specified time and place.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 2036.

7187. (3464.) Id. Judge may take testimony without commission in certain cases. If a commission has not been issued, and it appears to a district judge, or justice of the peace, by affidavit satisfactory to him:

1. That the testimony of the witness is material to either party;

2. That a commission to take the testimony of such witness has not been issued;

3. That, according to the law of the state or territory where the action or special proceeding is pending, the deposition of a witness taken under such circumstances, and before such judge or justice, will be received in the action or proceeding;

He must issue his subpœna, requiring the witness to appear and testify before him at a specified time and place.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 2037.

7188. (3465.) Id. How taken and certified. Upon the appearance of the witness, the judge or justice must cause his testimony to be taken in writing, and must certify and transmit the same to the court or judge before whom the action or proceeding is pending, in such manner as the law of that state or territory requires.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 2038.

CHAPTER 56.

PERPETUATING TESTIMONY.

7193. (3466.) Testimony perpetuated as herein provided. The testimony of a witness may be taken and perpetuated as provided in this chapter.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 2083.

7194. (3467.) Verified petition, contents. Order for examination. Notice. The applicant must produce to a district judge a petition verified by his oath stating:

1. That the applicant expects to be a party to an action in a court in this state, and in such case the names of the persons whom he expects will be adverse parties; or

2. That the proof of some fact is necessary to perfect the title to the property in which he is interested, or to establish marriage, descent, heirship, or any other matter which it may hereafter become material to establish, though no suit may at the time be anticipated, or if anticipated, he may not know the parties to such suit; and

3. The name of the witness to be examined, his place of residence, and a general outline of the facts expected to be proved. The judge to whom such petition is presented must make an order allowing the examination, and designating the officer before whom the same must be taken and prescribing the notice to be given, which notice, if the parties expectant are known and reside in this state, must be formally served, and if unknown, such notice must be served on the recorder of the county where the property to be affected by the evidence is situated, or the judge making the order resides, as may be directed by him, and by publication thereof in some newspaper, to be designated by the judge, for the same period required for the publication of summons. The judge must also designate in his order the clerk of the court to whom the deposition must be returned when taken.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 2084*.
Publication of summons, § 6550.
The first two subdivisions prescribe separate and distinct classes of cases, in either of which testimony may be perpetuated. Under the first subdivision, the testimony of a person injured and not expected to recover may be taken and perpetuated for use in a contemplated action on behalf of his wife and minor children to recover for his death.
Ohio Copper Mining Co. v. Hutchings, 172 Fed. Rep. 201.

7195. (3468.) Authority of person appointed to take deposition. The person appointed by the judge to take the deposition is authorized, if a resident of this state, on receiving a copy of the order of the judge, and of the notice prescribed in the next preceding section, with proof of its personal service or publication, or, if a resident without the state, on receiving the commission mentioned in the next section, with proof of like service or publication of the notice, to take the deposition of the witness named in the order of the judge, or in the commission, or if more than one witness is thus named, of such of them as appear before him, at the time designated, and to continue the taking of the same from time to time.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 2085.

7196. (3469.) Examination. Manner of taking deposition. Delivery to clerk. The examination must be by question and answer, and if the testimony is to be taken in another state or territory, it must be taken upon a commission to be issued by the judge allowing the examination, under the seal of the court of which he is judge, and upon interrogatories to be settled in the same manner as in cases of depositions taken under commission in pending actions, unless the parties expectant, if known, otherwise agree. If such parties are unknown, notice of the settlement of the interrogatories shall be published in some newspaper for such time as the judge may designate. The deposition, when completed, must be carefully read to, and subscribed by, the witness, then certified by the officer or person taking the same, and shall then be sealed up and delivered or transmitted to the clerk of the court designated in the order of the judge allowing the examination, who shall file the same when received. The judge allowing the examination shall file with the clerk the order for examination, the petition on which the same was granted, with proof of service of the order and notice.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 2086.

7197. (3470.) Petition, etc., prima facie evidence. The petition and order and papers filed by the judge, as provided in the next preceding section, or a certified copy thereof, are prima facie evidence of the fact stated therein to show compliance with the provisions of this chapter.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 2087.

7198. (3471.) When deposition may be used. Objections to interrogatories. If a trial be had between the parties named in the petition as parties expectant, or their successors in interest, or between any parties wherein it may be material to establish the facts which such depositions prove, or tend to prove, upon proof of the death or insanity of the witnesses, or that they cannot be found, or are unable, by reason of age or other infirmity, to give their testimony, the depositions or copies thereof may be used by either party subject to all legal objections; but if the parties attend at the examination, no objection to the form of an interrogatory can be made at the trial, unless the same was stated at the examination.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 2088.

7199. (3472.) Id. Has same effect as oral testimony. The deposition so taken and read in evidence has the same effect as the oral testimony of the witness, and no other, and every objection to the witness, or to the relevancy of any question put to him, or of any answer given by him, may be made in the same manner as if he were examined orally at the trial.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 2089.

CHAPTER 57.

ADMISSION OR INSPECTION OF WRITINGS.

N. Dak. (1895) § 5643; Wis., S. & B. An. S. (1889) § 4184. See notes to § 7204.

7204. (3474.) Court may order party to permit writing to be copied. Refusal. Any court in which an action is pending, or a judge thereof, may, upon notice, order either party to give to the other within a specified time a copy, or permission to take a copy, of entries of account in any book, or of any document or paper in his possession, or under his control, containing evidence relating to the merits of the action, or the defense therein. If compliance with the order be refused, the court may exclude the entries of accounts of the book, or the document, or paper from being given in evidence, or if wanted as evidence by the party applying, may direct the jury to presume them to be such as he alleges them to be; and the court may also punish the party refusing for a contempt. This section is not to be construed to prevent a party from compelling another to produce books, papers, or documents when he is examined as a witness.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1000*.
Demand for inspection of writing, § 6595.
Demand for items of an account, § 6598.
Notice to adverse party to produce writing, § 7108.
Admission of genuineness by adverse party, § 7112.

In order to predicate error on the court's refusal to require the state to produce letters written by defendant to prosecutrix, it was not sufficient merely to demand the letters from the state's attorney on the trial.
State v. Hammond, 46 U. 249; 148 P. 420.

CHAPTER 58.

GENERAL PROVISIONS.

7205. (3475.) When testimony officially reported used on subsequent trial. Whenever in any court of record the testimony of any witness in any case shall be stenographically reported by an official court stenographer, and thereafter said witness shall die, or be beyond the jurisdiction of the court in which the cause is pending, either party to the record may read in evidence the testimony of said witness, when duly certified by the stenographer to be correct, in any subsequent trial of, or proceeding had, in the same cause, subject only to the same objection that might be made if said witness were upon the stand and testifying in open court.

When it appears that a witness, sworn on a former trial, was out of the state at a second trial, and could not be reached by subpoena, such testimony, when correctly transcribed, may be read in evidence on a subsequent trial.
Reese v. Morgan S. M. Co., 17 U. 489; 54 P. 759.
State v. King, 24 U. 482; 68 P. 418.

7206. (3476.) When clerk to take down testimony. On the trial of an action in a court of record, if there is no court stenographer in attendance, the court may require the clerk to take down the testimony in writing.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1051*.

7207. (3477.) Exclusion of witnesses during trial. If either party requires it, the judge may exclude from the court room any witness of the adverse party, not at the time under examination, so that he may not hear the testimony of other witnesses.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 2043.
Exclusion of witnesses, § 1801.

Allowing witness who has inadvertantly disobeyed it to testify is not error.
People v. O'Loughlin, 3 U. 133; 1 P. 653.

7208. (3478.) Jury to decide questions of fact. All questions of fact, where the trial is by jury, other than those mentioned in the next section, are to be decided by the jury, and all evidence thereon is to be addressed to them except when otherwise provided by this code.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 2101.
Issues of fact to be tried by the jury, § 6781; by the court, § 6781.
Court to charge that the jury are the exclusive judges of all questions of fact, § 6802.
Issues of fact arise, how, § 6779.
Advisory jury in equity case, note to § 6821.
Verdict may be general or special, § 6820.
Special issues may be tried by jury, § 6444.
Court may submit special findings to jury, § 6821.
Directing a verdict, note to § 6802.
Nonsuit, § 6848, and note.

The jury, or the court when a law action is tried without a jury, is the exclusive judge of the credibility of the witnesses and of the weight of the evidence, note to Con. art. 8, sec. 9.

When there is no legal evidence before the jury the court should withdraw the case from the jury, note to § 6802.

As a general rule, the question whether a party has been guilty of negligence or contributory negligence is one of fact for the jury, whether there be any conflict in the evidence of such alleged negligence or not.

The jury is to determine the degree of care to be exercised in moving a dead motor car along the street.
Musgrove v. Studebaker Bros. Co., 48 U. 410; 160 P. 117.

In an action for damages to crops, where inadmissible evidence as to plaintiff's damages is received, judgment for plaintiff will be reversed; and the case remanded, notwithstanding there is evidence which would support the verdict, since the supreme court will not try the case de novo on the record.
Cleary v. Shand, 48 U. 640; 161 P. 453.

Whether testimony of certain witnesses is more credible or reliable than that of other witnesses is solely for the jury.
Ephraim Milling & Elevator Co. v. City of Ephraim, 49 U. 71; 161 P. 1124.

7209. (3479.) Court to decide questions of law. All questions of law, including the admissibility of testimony, the facts preliminary to such admission, and the construction of statutes and other writings, and other rules of evidence are to be decided by the court and all discussions of law addressed to it. Whenever the knowledge of the court is by law made evidence of a fact, the court is to declare such knowledge to the jury, who are bound to accept it.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 2102.
Decisions on questions of evidence which do not have reference to any particular section of the statutes are omitted from this volume.
Issues of law to be tried by the court, § 6780.
Whether or not annual labor on mining claim is sufficient, a question for the jury, note to § 3895.
Whether a municipality had notice of defects in streets, etc., usually a question for the jury, note to § 816.
Where there is no evidence to support a verdict, the question becomes one of law within the meaning of the constitution, note to Con art. 8, sec. 9.
Sufficiency of evidence to support judgment, note to Con. art. 8, sec. 9; and note to § 6994.

Sufficiency of evidence as against motion for nonsuit, a question of law, note to § 6848.
The question as to whether the notice given by the guarantee to the guarantor of the failure of the principal debtor is reasonable or not is one to be determined by the court and not by the jury.
Wells Fargo & Co. v. Davis, 2 U. 411.
In a suit for damage for malicious prosecution, the question whether the undisputed facts constitute probable cause is one of law.
Wright v. Ascheim, 5 U. 480; 17 P. 125.
The reasonableness of a regulation of a telegraph company that telegrams after eight o'clock should not be delivered until the next morning is for the jury to determine.
Brown v. W. U. Telegraph Co., 6 U. 219; 21 P. 988.
Where evidence in support of a particular agency is undisputed, the question of whether or not the agency exists is one of law for the court; but where such evidence is disputed, the existence of the agency becomes a mixed question of law and fact, and is one for the jury to determine under proper instructions from the court.
McCornick v. Queen of Sheba M. Co., 23 U. 71; 63 P. 820.
The court should instruct the jury as to what is meant by "domestic family remedies" and not leave to the jury to determine whether herbs were "domestic family remedies," but where the evidence as to defendant's guilt is conclusive, the failure to instruct is favorable to defendant, and therefore defendant cannot complain of the error.
State v. Yee Foo Lun, 45 U. 531; 147 P. 488.
It is the duty of the court to construe pleadings and instruct the jury on the issue, and it is not proper to permit the jurors to take pleadings to the jury box with them.
Pulos v. D. & R. G. Ry. Co., 37 U. 238; 107 P. 241.

7210. (3480.) Rules of evidence applicable to jury trials applicable to others. The provisions contained in this part of the code respecting the evidence on a trial before a jury are equally applicable on the trial of a question of fact before a court, referee, or other officer.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 2103.
General provisions applicable to trial before referee, § 6840.

7211. (3481.) All referees, etc., must meet, but majority may act. When there are three referees or three arbitrators, all must meet, but two of them may do any act which might be done by all.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1053.
Appointment of referee, § 6837.
Authority of arbitrators, §§ 6902, 6904.
Words giving authority to three or more construed as giving authority to a majority, § 5846.

7212. (3482.) Court may authorize substitution of copy for lost original. If an original pleading or paper be lost, the court may authorize a copy thereof to be filed and used instead of the original.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1045.

7213. (3483.) Papers with defective titles, when valid. An affidavit, notice, or other paper, without the title of the action or proceeding in which it was made, or with a defective title, is as valid and effectual for any purpose as if duly entitled, if it intelligibly refer to such action or proceeding.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1046.
Defective affidavit on attachment, § 6728.
Affidavit without "ss" received.
Smith v. Richardson, 1 U. 194.
McCord & N. Co. v. Glenn, 6 U. 139; 21 P. 500.
Affidavit without venue is invalid, as is an affidavit taken by an officer without his jurisdiction.
Smith v. Richardson, 1 U. 194.

7214. (3484.) Clerk to receive money deposited in court. Whenever moneys are paid into or deposited in court, the same shall be delivered to the clerk in person, or to such of his deputies as shall be specially authorized by his appointment in writing to receive the same.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 2104*.
Deposit in court, §§ 6770-6772.

7215. (3485.) Offer in writing equivalent to tender, when. An offer in writing to pay a particular sum of money, or to deliver a written instrument or specific personal property, is, if not accepted, equivalent to the actual production and tender of the money, instrument, or property.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 2074.
Offer to allow judgment to be taken for specified amount, effect, § 6893.
Refusal of tender, costs, § 7044.
Objection to tender must be specified or it is deemed waived, § 7217.
Receipt may be demanded, § 7216.
Deposit in court of sum tendered, § 7043.
Where a tender of purchase money is made on condition that the husband, who has made a contract for the sale of land, will cause his wife to convey her dower interest in the land; held, that such tender being upon a condition that could not be required to be performed was not good.
Kelsey v. Crowther, 7 U. 519; 27 P. 695.
If a vendee elects to enforce a contract of sale, he must tender an instalment of the purchase price when due, even though the vendor may not be able to give such a deed as the contract calls for.
Coughran v. Bigelow, 164 U. S. 301; same case, 9 U. 260; 34 P. 51.
This statute excuses debtor from actually producing the money at the time, but dispenses with no other requirement of a valid tender.
Hyams v. Bamberger, 10 U. 3; 36 P. 202.
Tender in writing must be made in good faith, and the other party must have a reasonable time in which to accept or refuse.
Id.
Tender of deed after action is too late.
Bacon v. McCrystal, 10 U. 290; 35 P. 563.
Under the facts as shown; held, that permitting the tender made by the defendant in the presence of the jury to stand was error; and further, that under the pleadings the value of the property received by the plaintiff was not in issue.

Hecht v. Metzler, 14 U. 408; 48 P. 37.

A purchaser of land subject to a mortgage payable at a certain place, which fact was not known to and could not be ascertained by the purchaser, in order to release the land from the lien, with costs and interest after maturity, should have made a tender at the place of business or residence of the maker.

McCauley v. Leavitt, 10 U. 91; 37 P. 164.

A tender by a check on a bank in which there was always sufficient funds to meet it, in the absence of objection, is good, and a tender made to an authorized attorney is good.

Hirsh v. Ogden Furniture Co., 48 U. 434; 160 P. 283.

7216. (3486.) Receipt must be given on payment or delivery. Whoever pays money, or delivers an instrument or property, is entitled to a receipt therefor from the person to whom the payment or delivery is made, and may demand a proper signature to such receipt, as a condition of the payment or delivery.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 2075.

7217. (3487.) Objection to tender must be specified. The person to whom the tender is made must, at the time, specify any objection he may have to the money, instrument, or property, or he must be deemed to have waived it; and, if the objection be to the amount of money, the terms of the instrument, or the amount or kind of property, he must specify the amount, terms, or kind which he requires, or be precluded from objecting afterward.

Mont. Civ. P., § 3412.

Where a tender is made by check, it should be kept good by bringing or depositing the money into court, but where there was money in the bank to make the check good, the plaintiff's failure to object, and his conduct in permitting the defendant to assume that the production of the money into court was waived, waives the objection that the tender was not kept good.

Hirsh v. Ogden Furniture Co., 48 U. 434; 160 P. 283.

7218. (3488.) Successive actions on same contract permitted. Successive actions may be maintained upon the same contract or transaction, whenever, after the former action, a new cause of action arises therefrom.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1047.

Successive actions on bond of officer, § 4270.

Successsive actions on bond of executor, etc., § 7620.

7219. (3489.) Consolidation of actions. Whenever two or more actions are pending at one time between the same parties and in the same court upon causes of action which might have been joined, the court may order the actions to be consolidated.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1048.

7220. (3490.) Action deemed pending, when. An action is deemed to be pending from the time of its commencement until its final determination upon appeal, or until the time for appeal has passed, unless the judgment is sooner satisfied.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1049.

Action commenced, how, § 6538.

A statute, effective March 25, authorizing additional findings and conclusions of law after entry of judgment, is applicable to a judgment entered March 16 previous, as the action under the provisions of this section is still pending.

Boucofski v. Jacobson, 36 U. 165; 104 P. 117.

A judgment is not admissible in evidence to prove a material issue in another case before the time of appeal shall have expired.

Vance v. Heath, 42 U. 148; 129 P. 365.

A judgment becomes final so as to start eight-year limitation against an action thereon from the time it was rendered where no appeal was taken.

Sweetser v. Fox, 43 U. 40; 134 P. 599.

7221. (3491.) Action to determine adverse claim. By surety against principal. An action may be brought by one person against another for the purpose of determining an adverse claim, which the latter makes against the former for money or property upon an alleged obligation; and also against two or more persons, for the purpose of compelling one to satisfy a debt due to the other, for which the plaintiff is bound as a surety.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1050.

Action to determine adverse claim to real property, § 7247.

Parties in action to determine adverse claim, § 6508.

7222. (3492.) Judgment against sureties on indemnity bond to sheriff. Notice. If an action is brought against a sheriff for an act done by virtue of his office, and he give written notice thereof to the sureties on any bond of indemnity received by him, the judgment recovered therein is conclusive evidence of his right to recover against such sureties; and the court or judge, in vacation, may, on motion, upon notice of five days, order judgment to be entered up against them for the amount so recovered, including costs.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1055.

Sheriff may have execution or attaching creditor made a party, § 6515.

7223. (3493.) Qualifications of sureties generally. Affidavits. Three or more. In all cases where an undertaking or bond, with sureties, is required by the provisions of law, the officer taking the same must require the sureties to accompany it with an affidavit that they are each residents and householders or freeholders within the state, and are each worth the sum specified in the undertaking over and above all his just debts and liabilities, exclusive of property exempt from execution; but when the amount specified in the undertaking exceeds $2,000, and there are more than two sureties thereon, they may state in their affidavits that they are severally worth amounts less than that expressed in the undertaking, if the whole amount be equivalent to that of two sufficient sureties.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1057*.
Qualifications of bail on civil arrest, § 6645.
Corporations may act as sureties, §§ 1201, 1207-1216.
Attorney may not be surety, when, § 344.

Mont. Civ. P., § 1904.

7225. (3495.) Undertaking not required of state or public corporation. In any civil action or proceeding wherein the state is a party plaintiff, or any state officer, in his official capacity, or on behalf of the state, or any county, or city, or other public corporation, is a party plaintiff or defendant, no bond, written undertaking, nor security can be required of the state, or any officer thereof, or of any county, or city, or other public corporation; but on complying with the other provisions of this code, the state, or any state officer acting in his official capacity, or any county, or city, or other public corporation, has the same rights, remedies, and benefits as if the bond, undertaking, or security were given and approved as required by this code.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1058*.
Payment of costs by state or county, §§ 7053, 7054.

7226. (3496.) Subrogation of surety to rights of judgment creditor. Whenever any surety on an undertaking on appeal executed to stay proceedings upon a money judgment pays the judgment, either with or without action, after its affirmation by the appellate court, he is substituted to the rights of the judgment creditor, and is entitled to control, enforce, and satisfy such judgment in all respects as if he had recovered the same.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1059.
Contribution as between joint debtors, § 6950.
Judgment may direct that property of principal debtor be first exhausted, § 6855.

7227. (3497.) Officer not to charge for copies furnished by party. In all cases where copies of pleadings, affidavits, or other papers are to be served, neither the sheriff, constable, nor clerk shall charge or receive any fee for making such copies when the same are furnished to such officer by the party.

Mont. Civ. C., § 1905*.

CHAPTER 59.

FORECLOSURE OF MORTGAGES.

7230. (3498.) But one action for debt secured by mortgage on real or personal property. Judgment. Docketing. There can be but one action for the recovery of any debt or the enforcement of any right secured by mortgage upon real estate or personal property, which action must be in accordance with the provisions of this chapter. Judgment shall be given adjudging the amount due, with costs and disbursements, and the sale of the mortgaged property, or some part thereof, to satisfy said amount, and directing the sheriff to proceed and sell the same according to the provisions of law relating to sales on execution. Such judgment may be docketed at any time.

Action brought in county where property situated, § 6525.

When a receiver will be appointed on foreclosure, § 6764.

Foreclosure of chattel mortgage, § 471, and note.

Mortgage not deemed a conveyance, whatever its terms, § 7253.

Execution for deficiency, § 7231.

Sale under trust deed and action for deficiency, note to § 7231.

Judgment for deficiency against grantee who assumes and agrees to pay a mortgage, note to § 7231.

One purchasing with notice of an existing mortgage is estopped from asserting an after-acquired title to defeat the mortgage.

Marrier v. Lee, 2 U. 460.

A conveyance of land as security for a debt may be enforced as a mortgage, even though the conveyance contain no clause authorizing a foreclosure.

Territory v. Golding, 3 U. 39; 5 P. 546.

Mortgagor not having paid certain money into court as agreed was in default, and the mortgage subject to foreclosure.

Wasatch M. Co. v. Crescent M. Co., 7 U. 8; 24 P. 586.

Where a foreclosure sale of a railroad and its franchise is made under a decree, the wrong to the stockholders, if any, is to be found in the decree itself, and not in the sale made pursuant thereto; and a motion to set aside the sale, by a person not a party to the record, is not a proper way to review the errors in the decree, or committed by the court anterior to it. The decree is final until reversed or annulled.

Meyer v. Utah & P. V. Ry. Co., 3 U. 280; 3 P. 393.

Suit pending on note secured by mortgage without asking foreclosure is a bar to a foreclosure suit.

Bacon v. Raybould, 4 U. 357; 10 P. 481; 11 P. 510.

Maker and indorser of note may be joined in foreclosure suit, and deficiency judgment had against both.

Smith v. McEvoy, 8 U. 58; 29 P. 1030.

Potter v. Hussey, 1 U. 249.

Where property is held in trust to secure certain debts, the fact that the trustees are partners with certain creditors does not affect their right to foreclosure.

Gallagher v. Yosemite Mining Co., 10 U. 189; 37 P. 264.

A trust deed is, in effect, a mortgage.

Dupee v. Rose, 10 U. 305; 37 P. 567.

Trustees in deed of trust have no interest in the property, and are not necessary parties on an action of foreclosure.

Stevens Imp. Co. v. So. Ogden Co., 20 U. 267; 58 P. 843.

A person without any previous interest, who pays mortgage debt at the instance of the mortgagor and takes a mortgage on the same property, believing that he is getting security equal to that held by the person whose debt he pays, may, when no innocent person can be injured, be subrogated to his rights.

Fullerton v. Bailey, 17 U. 85; 53 P. 1020.

Johnson v. Tootle, 14 U. 482; 47 P. 1033.

Where a party holds two mortgages under two separate debts on the same property, the lien of the mortgage foreclosed in the second action is not lost by reason of the first suit, but the plaintiff will be allowed costs in one suit only.

Thompson v. Skeen, 14 U. 209; 46 P. 1103.

A provision in a decree of foreclosure permitting any party to buy at the sale does not authorize a trustee to purchase trust property for his own benefit.

Hamilton v. Dooly, 15 U. 280; 49 P. 769.

Mortgaged premises may be sold under foreclosure to satisfy a portion of a debt due, and if a lis pendens was filed at the commencement of the proceedings, the lien of the entire debt may be continued as against subsequent incumbrancers or redemptioners.

Dupee v. Salt Lake V. L. & T. Co., 20 U. 103; 57 P. 845.

Decree of foreclosure when cross-complaint filed and land ordered sold to satisfy both parties plaintiff.

Stevens Co. v. South Ogden Co., 20 U. 267; 58 P. 843.

Under provisions of this section and § 7253 an action to determine adverse claims cannot be maintained against the holder of the legal title by one who has a mortgage lien; and such an action once commenced cannot be converted into a foreclosure proceedings, so as to allow the entry in effect of a decree of foreclosure.

Fields v. Cobbey, 22 U. 415; 62 P. 1020.

The reason of the rule that an officer who, under execution against one of the co-owners of personal property, sells in severalty the common property, commits a trespass for which he is liable to the co-owner not a party to the action, does not exist under this section and §§ 6916, 6938, 6940.

Spalding v. Allred, 23 U. 354; 64 P. 1100.

Where foreclosure was had by publication of summons, defendants, by leave of court, could come in at any time within a year and answer to the merits; therefore, they were not entitled to maintain a suit in equity to set aside the proceedings.

Baer v. Higson, 26 U. 78; 72 P. 180.

L., having failed to file a cross-complaint demanding affirmative relief, as authorized by § 6581, the court, on determining that he was the owner of the other two notes, had no jurisdiction to render judgment in his favor against the mortgagor, against whom L. held two mortgage notes.

West v. Shurtliff, 28 U. 337; 79 P. 180.

In an action to foreclose a mortgage given to secure a debt or obligation, it must be made to appear by proper averment that there is an existing obligation to pay, since where there is no right to personal judgment in case the mortgage was given as security for money only, there is no right to foreclose.

Chesney v. Chesney, 33 U. 503; 94 P. 989.

Where, in an action to foreclose a mortgage, the pleadings raised the issue of the consideration of a note, and whether the maker had delivered the note made by a third person as collateral, and it was admitted in the pleadings that the note of the third person had been paid, the court properly disregarded the claim that the admission of payment of said note was inadvertently made and that the claim of the maker that he had deposited with such notes as collateral mining stock of great value which had never been accounted for.

Utah Commr. Svg. Bank v. Fox, 40 U. 205; 120 P. 840.

The lien of a mortgagee, advancing money to erect a building, is entitled to priority over subcontractors' lien, only to the amount actually advanced.

Culmer P. & G. Co. v. Gleason, 42 U. 344; 130 P. 66.

Where mortgages, secured note, and bond were made payable to a trust company, it was not a purchaser thereof.

Id.

A conveyance, by a mortgagee holding title under a void foreclosure and sheriff's deed, operates as a transfer of the mortgage and debt.

Lawrence v. Murphy, 45 U. 572; 147 P. 903.

A chattel mortgagee does not waive his right to a lien by selling the property under a power in the mortgage after confession of judgment in his favor by the mortgagor, though the confession was not in all things regular.

A judgment by court of this state ordering the sale of land in Idaho on a foreclosure proceedings is void.

Hammond v. Hall, 51 U. —; 171 P. 148.
A subsequent mortgagee or claimant is a necessary party, he being entitled to set up any legal or equitable defense to protect his interest, and to interpose a plea of the statute of limitations, and an extension of time made by the mortgagor, or arising by the absence of the mortgagor from the state, does not affect the right of the junior mortgagee to interpose the plea of the statute of limitations.
Boucofski v. Jacobson, 36 U. 165; 104 P. 117.
Where one holding a contract for sale of property is made a party defendant in an action to foreclose a mechanic's lien on the property, and the contract-holder sets forth his contract, its breach, and claims a lien prior to the mechanic's lien, and obtains a judgment to the full extent of his claim, there was an adjudication, and he cannot thereafter bring an action to foreclose his contract.
Cain v. Parfitt, 48 U. 81; 158 P. 448.
A delay in the prosecution of foreclosure suit does not prevent the granting of proper relief where either party could have compelled a hearing.

The purchaser of an equity of redemption who merely took the premises subject to the mortgage, but did not assume payment thereof, may set up a partial failure of consideration where he does so with the consent of the mortgagors.
Brunswick Realty Co. v. University Inv. Co., 43 U. 75; 134 P. 608.
A tender, by a purchaser of the equity of redemption, of the amount due under the mortgage will not discharge the lien where there was no assumption of the debt, because, as between the mortgagor and the purchaser, the mortgage debt is part of the consideration, and the land becomes a primary fund for payment.

Where the mortgagor deposits irrigation stock as security for a debt, it must be foreclosed in accordance with this section.
Coburn v. Bartholomew, 50 U. —; 167 P. 1156.

7231. (3499.) Execution for deficiency issued only after sale. If it appears from the return of the officer making the sale that the proceeds are insufficient, and a balance still remains due, execution may be issued for such balance as in other cases; but no such execution shall issue until after the sale of the mortgaged property and the application of the amount realized as aforesaid.

Minn. (1894) § 6063*; Cal. C. Civ. P., § 726*.
A sale of property under a power of sale in the mortgage, which did not realize the amount of the debt, does not extinguish the debt, and is no bar to an action for the balance remaining unpaid.
Savage v. Stone, 1 U. 35.
Where property is ordered sold to satisfy the lien of the mortgage, the judgment creditor has the right to have the full amount of his lien realized in money, until the property is exhausted.
Kershaw v. Dyer, 6 U. 239; 24 P. 621; reversing same case, 21 P. 1000.
Until sale of mortgaged property has been made and the amount of deficiency ascertained, no judgment can be docketed against the party personally liable, nor any execution issued. (Distinguishing Brereton v. Miller, 7 U. 426; 27 P. 81.)

Jensen v. Lichtenstein, 45 U. 320; 145 P. 1036.
Hammond v. Wall, 51 U. —; 171 P. 148.
An action to foreclose is essentially in rem, and personal service is not necessary except to support a judgment for deficiency after sale, and in the absence of personal service the amount of deficiency remained a subsisting debt which may be sued on by the mortgagee.
Boucofski v. Jacobson, 36 U. 165; 104 P. 117.

7232. (3500.) Holder of unrecorded conveyance, etc., not made a party.

Judgment. No person holding a conveyance from or under the mortgagor of the property mortgaged, or having a lien thereon, which conveyance or lien does not appear of record in the proper office, at the time of the commencement of the action, need be made a party to such action, and the judgment therein rendered, and the proceedings therein had, are as conclusive against the party holding such unrecorded conveyance or lien as if he had been made a party to the action.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 726*. Parties defendant generally, § 6507.

7233. (3501.) Surplus paid to person entitled. Deposit in court. If there be surplus money remaining after payment of the amount due on the mortgage, lien, or incumbrance, with costs, the court may cause the same to be paid to the person entitled to it, and in the meantime may direct it to be deposited in court.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 727.

7234. (3502.) Sale of property when debt due in instalments. If the debt for which the mortgage, lien, or incumbrance is held is not all due, as soon as sufficient of the property has been sold to pay the amount due, with costs, the sale must cease, and afterward, as often as more becomes due for principal or interest, the court may, on motion, order more to be sold. But if the property cannot be sold in portions without injury to the parties, the whole may be ordered to be sold in the first instance, and the entire debt and costs paid, there being a rebate of interest where such rebate is proper.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 728.

Complaint drawn on the theory that whole indebtedness is due will not support a decree for sale of whole property hereunder.

Hartog v. Tibbitts, 1 U. 328.

Where a party holds two mortgages and forecloses separately.

Thompson v. Skeen, 14 U. 209; 46 P. 1103.

Where only a part of a mortgage debt is due and foreclosure on that part is desired, but the mortgaged premises cannot be sold in parcels without injury, it is the better practice to make a complete showing to the court and have a decree entered accordingly; mortgage sales in equity will be controlled by courts of equity so that no injustice may be done to either party.

7235. (3503.) Real estate and water right stock apportioned for sale. Sales of real estate under judgments of foreclosure of mortgages and liens are subject to redemption as in case of sales under execution. In all cases where the judgment directs the sale of land, together with shares of corporate stock evidencing title to a water right, used or intended to be used, or suitable for use, on the land, the court shall equitably apportion such water stock to the land, or some part thereof, in one or more parcels, as it may deem suitable for the sale thereof, and the land and water stock in each parcel shall be sold together, and for the purpose of such sale shall be regarded as real estate and subject to redemption as above specified. In all cases of real estate under foreclosure, the court may direct the parcels and order in which parcels of property shall be sold. Am'd '17, p. 45.

Limitation on action to redeem against mortgagee in possession, §§ 6476, 6477.

Redemption after execution sale, §§ 6940-6950.

Redemption after sale under trust deed, § 6951.

Parties, purchasers, and redemptioners in foreclosure proceedings are bound by the decree; redemption can be made subject to the conditions therein imposed; and a redemptioner by redeeming becomes the assignee of the purchaser, succeeds only to his rights, and cannot be heard to claim under one portion of a decree and repudiate the balance.

Dupee v. Salt Lake V. L. & T. Co., 20 U. 103; 57 P. 845.

7236. (3504.) No greater attorney's fee allowed than actually charged. In all cases of foreclosure, when an attorney or counsel fee is claimed by the plaintiff, no other or greater amount shall be allowed or decreed than the sum which shall appear by the evidence to be actually charged by and to be paid to the attorney for the plaintiff; and if it shall appear that there is an agreement or understanding to divide such fees between the plaintiff and his attorney, or between the attorney and any other person except an attorney associated with him in the cause, only the amount to be retained by the attorney or attorneys shall be decreed as against the defendant.

Compensation of attorneys generally, § 346, and note.

This statute was enacted in order to prevent a division of fees provided for in the mortgage between the attorney and the mortgagee, and that only those reasonable fees paid or agreed to be paid to attorneys could be taxed against the defendant under the contract in the deed of trust.

McClure v. Little, 15 U. 379; 49 P. 298.

Where an attorney's fee has been allowed and made part of the judgment, the attorney has a lien thereon to the extent of the amount allowed, and the lien cannot be discharged by payment to any one except the attorney, who is deemed the equitable assignee of the judgment, and the fact that the property was sold to the owner of the debt can make no difference.

Gray v. Denhalter, 17 U. 312; 53 P. 976.

Where a decree provides for the payment of attorney's fees allowed in a foreclosure suit, and judgment is rendered, the fees form part of the judgment, and, where they have not been paid to the attorney, they go to the mortgagee in trust for the attorney.

Loofbourow v. Hicks, 24 U. 49; 66 P. 602.

Where a mortgage provided that in case of foreclosure the mortgagor should be liable for reasonable attorney's fee, the attorney's fee allowed becomes a lien on the property secured by the mortgage.

Jensen v. Lichtenstein, 45 U. 320; 145 P. 1036.

7237. (3505.) Attorney's fee fixed by court in all cases. In all cases of foreclosure by proceeding in court, the attorney's fee shall be fixed by the court in which the proceedings of foreclosure are had, any stipulation in said mortgage to the contrary notwithstanding.

Cal. C. Civ. P., following § 726.

Attorney's fees on foreclosure, § 7236, and note.

Attorney's fees generally, lien, § 346, and note.

In a suit to foreclose a chattel mortgage, where the evidence is not before the supreme court, it must assume that the attorney's fee allowed by the trial court was reasonable and justified by the proof.

Johnson v. Hibbard, 27 U. 342; 75 P. 737.

This section, together with § 7236, is applicable only to foreclosure proceedings, and not to a note not secured by mortgage.

Utah National Bank v. Nelson, 38 U. 169; 111 P. 907.

The court may, whether he has or has not sufficient data, call to his assistance, attorneys engaged in the practice and take their judgement under oath, respecting what is reasonable attorney's fee.

Jensen v. Lichtenstein, 45 U. 320; 145 P. 1036.

Though the mortgage provides for a definite amount therefor.

Kurtz v. Ogden C. S. Co., 37 U. 313; 108 P. 14.

CHAPTER 60.

ACTIONS FOR NUISANCE, WASTE, ETC.

7240. (3506.) Nuisance defined. Who may bring action. Abatement. Damages. Anything which is injurious to health, or indecent, or offensive to the senses, or an obstruction to the free use of property, so as to interfere with the comfortable enjoyment of life or property, is a nuisance, and the subject of an action. Such action may be brought by any person whose property is injuriously affected, or whose personal enjoyment is lessened by the nuisance; and by the judgment the nuisance may be enjoined or abated, as well as damages recovered.

Crane v. Winsor, 2 U. 248.

In case of a railroad track about to be laid in a street and across a sidewalk, without lawful authority, in such a way as to become a public and private nuisance, a private citizen specially damaged may have the threatened damage enjoined.

Operation of engine and cars over switch track by railroad, causing smoke and noise, is a nuisance, entitling owner of property affected to an injunction as well as damages.

Stockdale v. R. G. W. Ry. Co., 28 U. 201; 77 P. 849.

The interference with religious services by the annoyances from noises in the rightful operation of a railroad and trainyards near a church without any physical interference with the church property, is not a private nuisance.

Twenty-second Corporation v. O. S. L. R. R. Co., 36 U. 238; 103 P. 243.

The question whether excessive noises made in the operation of railroad trains is a nuisance to the adjacent property is one of fact, and not of law.

Id.

An action for damages caused by the pollution of fish ponds, the plaintiff not owning the entire interest in the real estate on which the ponds were located, is an action for damages to personal property.

Reese v. Qualtrough, 48 U. 23; 156 P. 955.

Except for the provision of Con. art. 1, sec. 23, forbidding damage to private property for public use, no action would lie against a railroad company for mere consequential injury to real property by the jar of passing trains, and the smoke and cinders, where the road was carefully and properly built and operated.

O'Neill v. S. P., L. A. & S. L. Ry. Co., 38 U. 475; 114 P. 127.

A prescriptive right to maintain a private nuisance must be adverse, under claim of right uninterrupted and continuous for twenty years, with the knowledge and acquiesence of the parties whose right is invaded Treble damages for taking of ore.

Bullion-B. & C. M. Co. v. Eureka H. M. Co., 27 U. 417; 76 P. 19.

7242. (3508.) Injuries to trees. Who may sue. Treble damages. Any person who cuts down or carries off any wood or underwood, tree or timber, or girdles or otherwise injures any tree or timber on the land of another person, or on the street or highway in front of any person's house, village or city lot, or cultivated grounds, or on the commons or public grounds of any city or town, or on the street or highway in front thereof, without lawful authority, is liable to the owner of such land, or to such city or town, for treble the amount of damages which may be assessed therefor, in a civil action in any court having jurisdiction.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 733.
Injuring or destroying trees a misdemeanor, damages, § 2843.

7243. (3509.) Id. Damages limited if timber used for highways, etc. Nothing in the next preceding section authorizes the recovery of more than the just value of the timber taken from uncultivated woodland for the repair of a public highway or bridge upon the land, or adjoining it.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 734.

7244. (3510.) Treble damages for forcible entry, etc. If a person recover damages for a forcible or unlawful entry in or upon, or detention of, any building or any cultivated real property, judgment may be entered for three times the amount at which the actual damages are assessed.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 735.
Treble damages in forcible entry, etc., proceedings, § 7324, and note.

CHAPTER 61.

ACTIONS TO QUIET TITLE, ETC.

7247. (3511.) Action to determine adverse claim. An action may be brought by any person against another who claims an estate or interest in real property adverse to him, for the purpose of determining such adverse claim.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 738; see Sup. (1895) p. 25.
Action to determine adverse claim to real or personal property, § 7221.
Action by party out of possession to determine adverse claim, parties, judgment, § 6508.
Action brought in county where property situated, § 6525.
For purposes of this action the possession of the executor is the possession of the heirs, § 7719.
Adverse possession, generally, §§ 6452-6456.
Possessory rights, § 4867.
Writ for possession after judgment, § 6508.
General powers of court of equity, note to § 1667.
Defective tax titles, note to § 6018.
Boundaries established by acquiescence for a long period of time, note to § 6456.
Easement acquired by twenty years' adverse user, note to § 6456.
U. S. patent subject to equities, and may be avoided for fraud, etc., note to § 3890.
Description of property in pleading, § 6599, and note.
Counterclaim asking for affirmative relief, note to § 6756.
Issues to be tried by the jury, and by the court, § 6781, and note.
Equitable issues must first be disposed of, note to § 6781.
Form of action in support of adverse claim for lode, note to § 3890.
Allowance for improvements made under order of title, §§ 5031, 7250.

GENERAL:

The words "claims an estate or interest" are used in a broad sense, and are not technical in their meaning. They are evidently intended to embrace every species of adverse claim.
Goldberg v. Taylor, 2 U. 486.
Where the facts show a right to specific performance merely, a decree quieting title is erroneous.
Hennefer v. Hays, 14 U. 324; 47 P. 90.
In an action of ejectment, the question is as to who has the better title.
Kahn v. Old Telegraph M. Co., 2 U. 174.
An action to determine adverse claims cannot be maintained against the holder of the legal title by one who has a mortgage lien; and such an action, once commenced, cannot be converted into a foreclosure proceeding, so as to allow the entry in effect of a decree of foreclosure.
Fields v. Cobbey, 22 U. 415; 62 P. 1020.
A cloud on a title is something, such as a mortgage deed, or judgment, etc., which shows prima facie some interest in a third party in or to the property adverse to the person vested with the real title to the same, or to one having an interest therein.
Schenck v. Wicks, 23 U. 576; 65 P. 732.
A suit to modify a decree restraining plaintiff from entering on defendant's premises on the ground that plaintiff has secured, since rendition of that decree, a right-of-way over defendant's premises, is essentially an original action to quiet title.

Richey v. Beus, 31 U. 262; 87 P. 903.

Where it is found the defendant is the owner in fee, subject to the lien for taxes paid by plaintiff, judgment should provide that on defendant's default to pay the taxes, the property should be sold; and an order made that, if the taxes be not paid before a certain date, the title shall vest in defendant, is erroneous.
S. L. Inv. Co. v. Fox, 37 U. 334; 108 P. 1132.

PLEADINGS:

Where both parties plead title in themselves, evidence to show mistake in deed under which plaintiff claims is admissible, without allegation of mistake or prayer for reformation.
Glasmann v. O'Donnell, 6 U. 446; 24 P. 537.

Defense of possession under alleged contract of purchase; under circumstances, judgment for plaintiff properly directed.
Jones v. Memmott, 8 U. 212; 30 P. 752.

Complaint in ejectment held insufficient.
Id.

In an action to recover real estate from a co-tenant, where the complaint, verdict, and judgment all fail to define the extent of plaintiff's interest, a judgment in his favor will be set aside.
Lillianskyoldt v. Goss, 2 U. 292.

A party who bases his claim in ejectment upon a legal title cannot recover upon an equitable title.
Tarpey v. Deseret Salt Co., 5 U. 205; 14 P. 338.

Equitable estoppel is a good defense in ejectment.
Duke v. Griffith, 9 U. 469; 35 P. 512.

In ejectment, defendant denied plaintiff's right, and in a counterclaim alleged ownership and a right of possession in himself, and afterwards amended by alleging the fee in a third party, but still relied on possession and ownership in himself; held, that the court did not err in overruling plaintiff's motion to require defendant to elect on which right he would rely, as there was, in effect, but one defense presented.
Conner v. Raddon, 16 U. 418; 52 P. 764.

In a conveyance of land by natural monuments, distances and quantity, being the most uncertain, must yield to the description by natural monuments; and in an action to quiet title to land so described, it is proper for the court to read into the deed sufficient language to close the description by natural monuments.
Park v. Wilkinson, 21 U. 279; 60 P. 945.

Under a general prayer, the defendant may be restrained from asserting any claim or doing any act that would tend to impair plaintiff's rights.
Richey v. Beus, 31 U. 262; 87 P. 903.

A plea, in an action to quiet title, alleging that the property had been sold for taxes, that it had not been redeemed, that a tax deed was issued to the purchaser, without referring to the recital of the tax deed, itself was insufficient as a plea of tax title.
Bean v. Fairbanks, 46 U. 513; 151 P. 338.

The manner of describing the property involved is immaterial.
Fitzpatrick v. Brown, 41 U. 139; 124 P. 769.

In an action to quiet title, plaintiff may seek to have a judgment against him, which affects his title, canceled, on the ground of fraud in procuring it, and the attack on such judgment is direct and not collateral.
Doyle v. West Temple Terr. Co., 43 U. 277; 135 P. 103.

A suit to quiet title may include allegations to annul a special assessment on school property exempt from taxation, even though it is claimed the assessment is void on its face.
Wey v. S. L. City, 35 U. 504; 101 P. 381.

If, when decedent died, he owned and was in possession of land, title to which his administrator sues to quiet, in the absence of proof to the contrary, it will be presumed that the title remained in his estate, and hence it is not necessary to allege ownership at the time of suit.
Tate v. Rose, 35 U. 229; 99 P. 1003.

A plaintiff, to quiet title, may include allegations that the deed was obtained by fraud, and void.
Larsen v. Gasberg, 43 U. 203; 134 P. 885.

EVIDENCE AND TRIAL:

It was held error to instruct the jury to return a verdict for the plaintiff who had shown a deed from the Union Pacific railway to land included within its grant, where proof had not been made that the land did not fall within the execptions to the grant.
McGrath v. Tallent, 7 U. 256; 26 P. 574.
Corinne M. C. & S. Co. v. Johnson, 7 U. 327; 26 P. 922; affirmed 156 U. S. 574.

Under a general denial and claim of title in an action of ejectment, it is competent for the defendant to show that the plaintiff had no right to enter when the suit was brought, or to show want of consideration for the deed under which the plaintiff claims title and right of entry.
Eastman v. Gurrey, 14 U. 169; 46 P. 828.
Kahn v. Old Tel. Co., 2 U. 174.

A tax deed, though void on its face, may be good as color of title, and sufficient to support a decree quieting title in the holder thereof.
Lawrence v. Murphy, 45 U. 572; 147 P. 903.

Where a defendant's general demurrer to action quieting title has been overruled, and the defendant is in default, he is not entitled to object to the introduction of evidence.
Doyle v. West Temple Terr. Co., 43 U. 277; 135 P. 103.

Where the record title was in plaintiff, evidence of an offer made by him to purchase interest of defendant's grantor, particularly when denied by plaintiff, is insufficient to divest his record title.
Ives v. Grange, 42 U. 608; 134 P. 619.

POSSESSION:

Actions to quiet title or to determine adverse claims under this section may be legal or equitable depending upon the pleadings.
Park v. Wilkinson, 21 U. 279; 60 P. 945.
See State v. Hart, 26 U. 229; 72 P. 938.

Actual possession under color of tax title is sufficient to maintain action.
Kunkel v. Utah L. Co., 29 U. 13; 81 P. 897.

When a party has title to a lot including alley way, and has a building on same except alley, there being no adverse possession, he has such possession as to entitle him to maintain an action to quiet title under § 1479, C. L. 1876.
Goldberg v. Taylor, 2 U. 486.

Complaint in ejectment alleging plaintiff to be the owner of and seized in fee of certain lands, and that defendant was in possession thereof, wrongfully withholding the same; held, sufficient, since possession and the right thereof is presumed to follow the legal title.
Jones v. Memmott, 7 U. 340; 26 P. 925.

A deed is admissible without evidence showing possession thereunder, and an admission made by persons claiming adverse possession recognizing owner's right is admissible.
English v. Oppenshaw, 28 U. 24; 78 P. 476.

As against one who, for his own benefit, comes into a pending action to quiet title, plaintiff may, by supplemental complaint, avail himself of his title by adverse possession which became complete after he brought the action, but before such other person came into it.
Welner v. Stearns, 40 U. 185; 120 P. 490.

The holder of a patented mining claim in possession may maintain a suit in equity in the federal court to quiet title and restrain defendants from further mining or removing ore from beneath the surface of said claim.
Lawson v. U. S. Mining Co., 207 U. S. 1; 52 L. Ed. 65.

The complaint, in an action to quiet title, need not allege possession of property in plaintiff.
Gibson v. McGurrin, 37 U. 158; 106 P. 669.

Proof that legal title is in plaintiff is sufficient to support a finding that he is entitled to possession.
Id.

IMPROVEMENTS:

Where the record owner of land permitted others to pay taxes, and to enter into possession, and make valuable improvements in good faith, he cannot, having delayed his action for several years after such improvements, take them without compensation therefor, and reimbursing those who paid the taxes.

Ives v. Grange, 42 U. 608; 134 P. 619.

Where plaintiff held the legal title to land on which defendant, while in possession, made improvements during the period of twenty years or more, so that the value advanced from $300, which plaintiff had paid for it, to $1500, the plaintiff was nevertheless entitled to the entire right and interest.

Sheppick v. Sheppick, 44 U. 131; 138 P. 1169.

In a suit to quiet title under a parol gift from deceased, evidence held to sustain findings that, during plaintiff's occupancy, deceased exercised acts of exclusive ownership over the premises, and that the plaintiff's improvements were not permanent, but only such as were conducive to the comfort of occupancy.

Price v. Lloyd, 43 U. 441; 135 P. 268.

LAW AND EQUITY:

A suit to quiet title, being an equity case, the judgment of the supreme court on the whole evidence may be invoked, and the findings, in its judgment being clearly against the weight of evidence, it will vacate them and substitute others.

Leland v. Bourne, 41 U. 125; 125 P. 652.

Where neither side demands a jury trial, and the case is tried as a suit in equity, it must be considered as such by the court on appeal, so far as consideration of the evidence is concerned.

Fares v. Urban, 46 U. 609; 151 P. 57.

7248. (3512.) If defendant disclaim or default, costs not recoverable. If the defendant in such action disclaim in his answer any interest or estate in the property, or suffer judgment to be taken against him without answer, the plaintiff cannot recover costs.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 739.

After filing a demurrer, a defendant filed a disclaimer. It thereby waived its right to a ruling on the demurrer, and the judgment was not void, for want of jurisdiction, on the ground that it was entered while the demurrer was still pending; a municipal corporation is bound by the act of its attorney filing such disclaimer.

S. L. City v. S. L. Inv. Co., 43 U. 181; 134 P. 603.

7249. (3513.) Termination of plaintiff's title pending action. Judgment. Damages. In an action for the recovery of real property, where the plaintiff shows a right to recover at the time the action was commenced, but it appears that his right has terminated during the pendency of the action, the verdict and judgment must be according to the fact, and the plaintiff may recover damages for withholding the property.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 740.

Action not to abate by death or transfer, § 6513, and note.

Substitution of parties, costs, etc., § 6513, and note.

Alienation not to affect recovery, § 7256.

7250. (3514.) Improvement allowed as counterclaim. Exceptions. When damages are claimed for withholding the property recovered, upon which permanent improvements have been made by a defendant, or those under whom he claims, holding under color of title adversely to the claims of the plaintiff, in good faith, the value of such improvements must be allowed as a counterclaim against such damages, except improvements made upon mining property.

Col. Mills' An. C. (1896) § 258*; Cal. C. Civ. P., § 741*.

Improvements by occupying claimants, § 5031.

Color of title for this purpose, § 5034.

Where the rightful owner of real property seeks relief from one in possession under color of title, who has made improvements, such owner must compensate the occupant to the extent of the benefits which accrue to the owner therefrom.

Bacon v. Thornton, 16 U. 138; 51 P. 153.

Wasatch M. Co. v. Jennings, 14 U. 221; 46 P. 1106.

7251. (3515.) Order for survey of lands and mines. Notice. The court in which an action is pending for the recovery of real property, or for damages for an injury thereto, or to quiet title or to determine adverse claims thereto, or a judge of such court may, on motion, upon notice by either party, for good cause shown, grant an order allowing to such party the right to enter upon the property and make survey and measurement thereof, and of any tunnels, shafts, or drifts thereon, for the purpose of the action, even though entry for such purpose has to be made through other lands belonging to parties to the action.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 742*.

Posponement of trial to further develop mining claim, § 6787.

Limitation on action for waste or trespass upon mining claim by means of underground works begins to run on discovery, § 6468.

Decisions concerning miners, notes to §§ 3890-3895.

7252. (3516.) Id. Order and service thereof. Liability for injury. The order must describe the property, and a copy thereof must be served on the owner or occupant, and thereupon such party may enter upon the property with necessary surveyors and assistants, and may make such survey and measurement; but if any unnecessary injury be done to the property, he is liable therefor.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 743.

7253. (3517.) Mortgage not a conveyance, whatever its terms. Foreclosure. A mortgage of real property shall not be deemed a conveyance, whatever its terms, so as to enable the owner of the mortgage to recover possession of the real property without a foreclosure and sale.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 744.

Decisions on the foreclosure of mortgages on real property, notes to §§ 7230-7231.

Decisions on foreclosure of chattel mortgages, note to § 471.

A mortgage of real property does not vest title in the mortgagee, and the mortgagor may transfer the title to a third party, subject to the lien of the mortgage.

Thompson v. Cheesman, 15 U. 43; 48 P. 477.
Fields v. Cobbey, 22 U. 415; 62 P. 1020.
Azzalia v. St. Claire, 23 U. 401; 64 P. 1106.

A deed absolute in form may be in effect a mortgage.

Peck v. Girard Ins. Co., 16 U. 121; 51 P. 255.
Stevens Imp. Co. v. S. Ogden Imp. Co., 20 U. 267; 58 P. 843.
Fields v. Cobbey, 22 U. 415; 62 P. 1020.

A stranger cannot question whether a conveyance is a mortgage or a conditional sale.

Smith v. North C. Water Co., 16 U. 194; 52 P. 283.

Trustees in deed of trust are not vested with any title, legal or equitable; they have no substantial interest; they cannot be affected by any decree in the case, and they are not necessary or indispensable parties to an action to foreclose a deed of trust.

Stevens Imp. Co. v. S. Ogden L. B. & I. Co., 20 U. 267; 58 P. 843.

Under provisions of this section and § 7230, an action to determine adverse claims cannot be maintained against the holder of the legal title by one who has a mortgage lien; and such an action, once commenced, cannot be converted into a foreclosure proceeding so as to allow the entry in effect of a decree of foreclosure.

Fields v. Cobbey, 22 U. 415; 62 P. 1020.

A bill of sale of a house, given to party furnishing lumber for the erection of the house, without transfer of possession, amounts to nothing but a mortgage securing the debt, and does not pass title.

Azzalia v. St. Claire, 23 U. 401; 64 P. 1106.

Where R. deeds property to F., and by contemporaneous agreement it is provided that, on payment to F. by R. of a certain sum by a certain day, F. will reconvey the property, and time is expressly made of the essence of the contract, and it is declared that, in default of the payment on or before such time, the agreement shall be null and void, and R. does not promise to bind himself to make the payments, there is a conditional sale, not a mortgage.

Smyth v. Reed, 28 U. 262; 78 P. 478.
Conditional sales of personalty, note to § 487.

Where a complaint alleged that a deed, sought to be foreclosed as a mortgage, was given to secure an antecedent indebtedness, the debt was not merged in the mortgage, hence a reference in the complaint to the deed and an option agreement to reconvey attached as an exhibit, was insufficient to obviate the necessity of an allegation in the complaint of an existing indebtedness from defendant to plaintiff.

Chesney v. Chesney, 33 U. 503; 94 P. 989.

Whether a deed absolute in form should be treated as a mortgage depends on the circumstances of the transaction and the purpose for which the deed was given and received, and whether it was given as security or for bargain and sale, and where there is doubt, it will be treated as a mortgage.

Duerden v. Solomon, 33 U. 468; 94 P. 978.

Where, long after a deed was given, the grantee made a written declaration of a naked trust for the benefit of the grantor and his heirs, it will not be presumed that a mortgage was intended.

Welch, Driscoll & Buck v. Buck, 48 U. 653; 161 P. 455.

And the terms of the trust cannot be varied by parol evidence, except upon the production of strong, clear, and convincing proof.

Id.

7254. (3518.) Waste restrained pending foreclosure or after execution sale. The court or judge may, by injunction, on good cause shown, restrain the party in possession from doing any act to the injury of real property during the foreclosure of a mortgage thereon, or after a sale on execution, before a conveyance.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 745.
Injunction generally, § 6688.
Treble damages for waste, § 7241.
Treble damages for unlawful taking of ore, § 3938.

7255. (3519.) Purchaser may recover from tenant for waste. When real property has been sold on execution, the purchaser thereof, or any person who may have succeeded to his interest, may, after his estate becomes absolute, recover damages for injury to the property by the tenant in possession, after sale and before the possession is delivered under the conveyance.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 746.
Waste may be restrained during period of redemption, § 6946.

7256. (3520.) Alienation pending action not to prejudice recovery. An action for the recovery of real property against a person in possession cannot be prejudiced by any alienation made by such person, either before or after the commencement of the action.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 747.
Assignment of thing in action not prejudice defense, §§ 6496, 6578.
Action not to abate by transfer, § 6513.
Assignment for purpose of suit, note to § 6495.
Substitution generally, note to § 6513.

7257. (3521.) Mining customs and rules control, when. In actions respecting mining claims, proof must be admitted of the customs, usages, or regulations established and in force in the district, bar, diggings, or camp embracing such claim; and such customs, usages, or regulations, when not in conflict with the laws of this state, or of the United States, must govern the decision of the action.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 748*.
Local laws and customs, note to § 3890.

CHAPTER 62.

PARTITION.

7260. (3522.) Who may bring action for partition or sale. When several co-tenants hold and are in possession of real property as joint tenants or tenants in common, in which one or more of them have an estate of inheritance, or for life or lives, or for years, an action may be brought by one or more of such persons for a partition thereof according to the respective rights of the persons interested therein, and for a sale of such property, or a part thereof if it appear that a partition cannot be made without great prejudice to the owners.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 752.
For the purposes of partition, the possession of the executor, etc., is the possession of the heirs, § 7719.
Waste by tenant in common, etc., § 7241.
Tenants in common, etc., as parties, §§ 6506-6512.
Action brought where property situated, § 6525.
Partition of estates of decedents, §§ 7768-7778.
Guardian may assent to partition of estate of ward, §§ 7303, 7835.
Parol partition followed by possession, etc., specific performance, note to § 5824.
Where the evidence did not show but that the ground within the boundaries of the mining claim was all of equal value, or that a partition by metes and bounds would result in great prejudice to any of the co-owners, under the provisions of this section and § 7271, the property was susceptible of partition by metes and bounds.
Ryan v. Egan, 26 U. 241; 72 P. 933.

7261. (3523.) Interests of all parties must be set forth. Exceptions. The interests of all persons in the property, whether such persons be known or unknown, must be set forth in the complaint, specifically and particularly, as far as known to the plaintiff, and if one or more of the parties, or the share or quantity of interest of any of the parties, be unknown to the plaintiff or be uncertain or contingent, or the ownership of the inheritance depend upon an executory devise, or the remainder be a contingent remainder, so that such parties cannot be named, that fact must be set forth in the complaint.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 753.
In a suit for partition, new parties may be brought in by defendant by cross-complaint, where it is shown that they are necessary to the determination of the cause.
Chalmers v. Trent, 11 U. 88; 39 P. 488.

7262. (3524.) Id. Only persons having recorded claims made parties. No person having a conveyance of, or claiming a lien on, the property, or some part of it, need be made a party to the action unless such conveyance or lien appear of record.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 754.

7263. (3525.) Lis pendens to be filed. Notice. Immediately after filing the complaint in the district court, the plaintiff must file with the recorder of the county, or of the several counties in which the property is situated, either a copy of such complaint or a notice of the pendency of the action, containing the names of the parties, so far as known, the object of the action, and a description of the property to be affected thereby. From the time of filing such notice for record, all persons shall be deemed to have notice of the pendency of the action.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 755*.
Lis pendens generally, § 6553.

7264. (3526.) Summons, to whom directed. The summons must be directed to all the joint tenants, tenants in common, and all persons having any interest in, or liens of record by mortgage, judgment, or otherwise, upon the property, or upon any particular portion thereof, and generally to all persons unknown who have or claim any interest in the property.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 756.

7265. (3527.) Absent and unknown parties served by publication. If a party having a share or interest is unknown, or any one of the known parties reside out of the state, or cannot be found therein, and such fact is made to appear by affidavit, the summons may be served on such absent or unknown party by publication, as in other cases. When publication is made, the summons, as published, must be accompanied by a brief description of the property which is the subject of the action.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 757.
Service by publication upon unknown defendants, § 6551.

7266. (3528.) Answers must specifically set forth interests. Waiver.

The defendants who have been personally served with the summons, or who have appeared without such service, must set forth in their answers, fully and particularly, the origin, nature, and extent of their respective interests in the property; and if such defendants claim a lien on the property by mortgage, judgment, or otherwise, they must state the original amount and date of the same, and the sum remaining due thereon, also whether the same has been secured in any other way or not, and if secured, the extent and nature of such security, or they are deemed to have waived their rights to such lien.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 758*.

7267. (3529.) Rights of all parties determined. Proof. The rights of the several parties, plaintiff as well as defendant, may be put in issue, tried, and determined by such action; and when a sale of the premises is necessary, the title must be ascertained by proof, to the satisfaction of the court, before the judgment of sale can be made; and where service of the summons has been made by publication, like proofs must be required of the right of the absent or unknown parties, before such judgment is rendered; except that where there are several unknown persons having an interest in the property, their rights may be considered together in the action, and not as between themselves.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 759*.

7268. (3530.) Partial partition, where complete partition impracticable. Whenever from any cause it is, in the opinion of the court, impracticable or highly inconvenient to make a complete partition, in the first instance, among all the parties in interest, the court may first ascertain and determine the shares or interests respectively held by the original co-tenants, and thereupon adjudge and cause a partition to be made, as if such original co-tenants were the parties and sole parties in interest, and the only parties to the action, and thereafter may proceed in like manner to adjudge and make partition separately of each share or portion so ascertained and allotted, as between those claiming under the original tenant to whom the same shall have been so set apart, or may allow them to remain tenants in common thereof, as they may desire.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 760.

7269. (3531.) Rights of lienholders not summoned to be adjusted. If it appears to the court by the certificate of the county recorder, or clerk, or by the sworn or verified statement of any person who may have examined or searched the records, that there are outstanding liens or incumbrances of record upon such real property, or any part or portion thereof, which existed and were of record at the time of the commencement of the action, and the persons holding such liens are not made parties to the action, the court must either order such persons to be made parties to the action by an amendment or supplemental complaint, or appoint a referee to ascertain whether or not such liens or incumbrances have been paid, or, if not paid, what amount remains due thereon, and their order among the liens or incumbrances severally held by such persons and the parties to said action, and whether the amount remaining due thereon has been secured in any manner, and, if secured, the nature and extent of the security.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 761.

7270. (3532.) Id. Notice to appear before referee. Publication. Report. The plaintiff must cause a notice to be served a reasonable time previous to the day for appearance before the referee appointed, as provided in the next preceding section, on each person having outstanding liens of record who is not a party to the action, to appear before the referee at a specified time and place, to make proof by his own affidavit or otherwise of the amount due or to become due, contingently or absolutely, thereon. In case such person is absent, or his residence is unknown, service may be made by publication or notice to his agents, under the direction of the court, in such manner as may be proper. The report of the referee thereon must be made to the court, and must be confirmed, modified, or set aside and a new reference ordered, as the justice of the case may require.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 762.

7271. (3533.) Land partitioned if possible; otherwise to be sold. Referees. If it is alleged in the complaint and established by evidence, or if it appears by the evidence without such allegation in the complaint, to the satisfaction of the court, that the property or any part of it is so situated that the partition cannot be made without great prejudice to the owners, the court may order a sale thereof; otherwise, upon the requisite proofs being made, it must order a partition according to the respective rights of the parties as ascertained by the court, and appoint three referees therefor, and must designate the portion to remain undivided for the owners whose interests remain unknown or are not ascertained; provided, however, that when the action is for partition of a mining claim among the tenants in common, joint tenants, co-partners, or parceners thereof, the court, upon good cause shown by any party or parties in interest, may, instead of ordering partition to be made in manner as hereinbefore provided, or a sale of the premises for cash, direct the referees to divide the claim in the manner hereinafter provided. Am'd '09, p. 202.

Single referee by consent, § 7305.

Mining claim without known ore bodies held susceptible of partition by metes and bounds. Ryan v. Egan, 26 U. 241; 72 P. 933.

7272. (3534.) Manner of making partition. Improvements. In making the partition, the referees must divide the property and allot the several portions thereof to the respective parties, quality and quantity, relatively considered, according to the respective rights of the parties as determined by the court, pursuant to the provisions of this chapter, designating the several portions by proper landmarks, and may employ a surveyor with the necessary assistants to aid them. In all cases the court shall direct the referees, in making partition of land, to allot the share of each of the parties owning an interest in the whole or any part of the premises sought to be partitioned, and to locate the share of each co-tenant, so as to embrace, as far as practicable, the improvements made by such co-tenant upon the property; and the value of the improvements made by the tenants in common must be excluded from the valuation in making allotments, and the land must be valued without regard to such improvements, in case the same can be done without material injury to the rights and interests of the other tenants in common owning such land; provided, however, that when the action is for a partition of a mining claim among the tenants in common, joint tenants, co-partners, or parceners thereof, the court shall, by order, fix the time for division of the claim by the referees, which shall not be less than twenty nor more than forty days from the day of the making the order, except by consent of all the parties in interest who have appeared in the action. On the day designated in the order, the referees shall go upon the claim to be divided, and proceed to make division of the same as hereinafter provided, and shall continue from day to day until the whole business is completed. Two or more of the tenants in common, joint tenants, co-partners, or parceners may unite together for the purposes of such division of which they shall give the referees written notice before they commence the business of division; and all who do not unite as aforesaid, or give notice of separate action, shall, for the purposes of division, be deemed and held to have united. The referees, in their action, shall recognize those named in the order of the court, or their agents and attorneys in fact, duly appointed by instrument in writing under seal, and acknowledged as in cases of conveyances of real estate, the guardian of a minor, and the guardian entitled to the custody and the management of the estate of an insane person, or other person adjudged incapable of conducting his own affairs, and as to the interest of each, shall be controlled entirely by the order of the court. At the time and place of division, one of the referees to be elected by them shall, in the manner of public auction, offer to the party or parties who will take the least part or portion of said mining claim in proportion to the interest he or they may have therein, the privilege of first selecting the place at which his portion shall be located, and upon closing the bids the referees shall proceed to measure and mark off, by distinct metes and bounds, to the lowest bidder, his or their portion of said mining claim, at the place designated by them or him, according to the terms of his or their bid. When the referees have marked off and set apart the interest of the lowest bidder, as provided herein, they shall offer to the remaining parties the privilege of selection, as herein mentioned and provided, and shall, upon closing the bids, proceed in the same manner to locate and mark off the portion of the lowest bidder, and shall thereafter continue in the same manner to receive bids and mark off the interest of the bidder or bidders until there shall remain but one party in interest, or parties united, forming one interest, as provided herein. The party or parties remaining shall become the owner or owners, as the case may be, of the entire claim not marked off and set apart to other parties as hereinbefore provided, in proportion to their respective interests in the claim. Am'd '09, p. 202.

In partitioning property of an intestate, into which a stream ran from the land of a daughter used as a surburban home, and which then ran into a son's land, on which he had fishponds, a decree that the whole stream be allotted to the son should be modified so as to give the daughter her proportionate part thereof.

7273. (3535.) Referees to report, describing property and shares. The referees must make a report of their proceedings, specifying therein the manner in which they executed their trust, and describing the property divided and the shares allotted to each party, with a particular description of each share.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 765.

7274. (3536.) Power of court over referees' report. Decree conclusive. The court may confirm, change, modify, or set aside the report, and, if necessary, appoint new referees. Upon the report being confirmed, judgment must be rendered that such partition be effectual forever, which judgment is binding and conclusive:

1. On all persons named as parties to the action, and their legal representatives who have at the time any interest in the property divided, or any part thereof, as owners in fee, or as tenants for life or for years, or as entitled to the reversion, remainder, or the inheritance of such property, or of any part thereof, after the determination of a particular estate therein, and who by any contingency may be entitled to a beneficial interest in the property, or who have an interest in any undivided share thereof as tenants for years or for life;

2. On all persons interested in the property who may be unknown, to whom notice has been given of the action for partition by publication; and,

3. On all other persons claiming from such parties or persons, or either of them.

And no judgment is invalidated by reason of the death of any party before final judgment or decree; but such judgment or decree is as conclusive against the heirs, legal representatives, or assigns of such decedent, as if it had been entered before his death.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 766.

7275. (3537.) Tenants for less than ten years not affected. The judgment does not affect tenants for years, less than ten, to the whole of the property which is the subject of the partition.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 767.

7276. (3538.) Expenses apportioned. The expenses of the referees, including those of the surveyor and his assistants, when employed, must be ascertained and allowed by the court, and the amount thereof, together with the fees allowed by the court in its discretion to the referees, must be apportioned among the different parties to the action equitably.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 768.

7277. (3539.) Disposal of lien on undivided interest. When a lien is on an undivided interest or estate of any of the parties, such lien, if a partition be made, shall henceforth be a charge only on the share assigned to such party, but such share must be first charged with its just proportion of the costs of the partition, in preference to such lien.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 769.

7278. (3540.) Estate for life or years set off. When a part of the property only is ordered to be sold, if there be an estate for life or years in an undivided share of the whole property, such estate may be set off in any part of the property not ordered to be sold.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 770.

7279. (3541.) Proceeds of sale of incumbered property, how applied. The proceeds of the sale of the incumbered property must be applied under the direction of the court, as follows:

1. To pay its just proportion of the general costs of the action;
2. To pay the costs of the reference;
3. To satisfy and cancel of record the several liens in their order of priority, by payment of the sums due and to become due; the amount due to be verified by affidavit at the time of payment;
4. The residue among the owners of the property sold, according to their respective shares therein.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 771.

7280. (3542.) Other security of lienholders first exhausted. Whenever any party to an action who holds a lien upon the property, or any part thereof, has other securities for the payment of the amount of such lien, the court may, in its discretion, order such securities to be exhausted before a distribution of the proceeds of sale, or may order a just reduction to be made from the amount of the lien on the property on account thereof.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 772*.

7281. (3543.) Proceeds distributed by referees, if ordered. Deposit. The proceeds of sale, and the securities taken by the referees, or any part thereof, must be distributed by them to the persons entitled thereto, whenever the court so directs. But in case no direction for distribution is given, all of such proceeds and securities must be paid into court, or deposited therein, or as directed by the court.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 773*.

7282. (3544.) Proceeds of sale held pending determination of claims. When the proceeds of the sale of any share or parcel belonging to persons who are parties to the action, and who are known, are paid into court, the action may be continued as between such parties, for the determination of their respective claims thereto, which must be ascertained and adjudged by the court. Further testimony may be taken in court, or by a referee at the discretion of the court, and the court may, if necessary, require such parties to present the facts or law in controversy, by pleadings as in an original action.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 774.

7283. (3545.) Referees' sales to be at public auction. Notice. All sales of real property made by referees under this chapter must be made at public auction to the highest bidder, upon notice published in the manner required for the sale of real property on execution. The notice must state the terms of sale, and if the property, or any part of it, is to be sold subject to a prior estate, charge or lien, that must be stated in the notice.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 775. Sale of real property on execution, §§ 6928-6940.

7284. (3546.) Court must direct terms of credit sale. The court must in the order of sale direct the terms of credit which may be allowed for the purchase money of any portion of the premises of which it may direct a sale on credit, and for that portion of which the purchase money is required by the provisions hereinafter contained, to be invested for the benefit of unknown owners, minors, or parties out of the state.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 776.

7285. (3547.) Id. Securities to be in name of owner, guardian, etc. The referees may take separate mortgages and other securities for the whole or convenient portions of the purchase money, of such parts of the property as are directed by the court to be sold on credit, for the shares of any known owner of full age in the name of such owner, and for the shares of a minor in the name of the guardian of such minor, and for other shares in the name of the clerk of the court and his successors in office.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 777.

7286. (3548.) Tenant whose estate is sold to be compensated. Consent. The person entitled to a tenancy for life or years, whose estate has been sold, is entitled to receive such sum as may be deemed a reasonable satisfaction for such estate, and which the person so entitled may consent to accept instead thereof, by an instrument in writing, filed with the clerk of the court. Upon the filing of such consent, the clerk must enter the same in the minutes of the court.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 778.

7287. (3549.) Id. If consent not given, fixed by court. If such consent be not given, filed, and entered, as provided in the next preceding section, at or before a judgment of sale is rendered, the court must ascertain and determine what proportion of the proceeds of the sale, after deducting expenses, will be a just and reasonable sum to be allowed on account of such estate, and must order the same to be paid to such party, or deposited in the court for him, as the case may require.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 779.

7288. (3550.) Id. Unknown tenant to be protected. If the persons entitled to such estate for life or years be unknown, the court must provide for the protection of their rights in the same manner, as far as may be, as if they were known and had appeared.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 780.

7289. (3551.) Future or contingent interests to be protected. In all cases of sales when it appears that any person has a vested or contingent or future right or estate in any of the property sold, the court must ascertain and settle the proportional value of such contingent or vested right or estate, and must direct such proportion of the proceeds of the sale to be invested, secured, or paid over, in such manner as to protect the rights and interests of the parties.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 781.

7290. (3552.) Terms to be announced at sale. Lots sold separately. In all cases of sales of property, the terms must be made known at the time, and if the premises consist of distinct farms or lots, they must be sold separately.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 782.

7291. (3553.) Referees and guardians not to be interested in purchase. Neither of the referees nor any person for the benefit of either of them can be interested in any purchase; nor can a guardian of a minor party be interested in the purchase of any real property, being the subject of the action, except for the benefit of the minor. All sales contrary to the provisions of this section are void.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 783.

7292. (3554.) Referees to report sale to court. Filing. After completing a sale of the property, or any part thereof ordered to be sold, the referees must report the same to the court, with a description of the different parcels of land sold to each purchaser, the name of the purchaser, the price paid or secured, the terms and conditions of the sale, and the securities, if any, taken. The report must be filed in the office of the clerk of the court.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 784*.

7293. (3555.) Order to convey after confirmation. Disposition of proceeds. If the sale be confirmed by the court, an order must be entered, directing the referees to execute conveyances and take such securities pursuant to such sale, which they are hereby authorized to do. Such order may also give direction to them respecting the disposition of the proceeds of the sale.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 785.

7294. (3556.) When shareholder or lienholder a purchaser. Receipt. When a party entitled to a share of the property, or an incumbrancer entitled to have his lien paid out of the sale, becomes a purchaser, the referees may take his receipt for so much of the proceeds of the sale as belongs to him.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 786.

7295. (3557.) Conveyances to be recorded. A bar. The conveyances must be recorded in the county where the premises are situated, and shall be a bar against all persons interested in the property in any way, who shall have been named as parties in the action, and against all such parties or persons as were unknown, if the summons was served by publication, and against all persons claiming under them, or either of them, and against all persons having unrecorded deeds or liens at the commencement of the action.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 787.

7296. (3558.) Investment of proceeds belonging to non-resident, etc. When there are proceeds of a sale belonging to an unknown owner or to a person without the state who has no legal representative within it, the same must be invested in bonds of the United States, of this state, or of any political subdivision thereof, for the benefit of the persons entitled thereto.

Mont. Civ. P., 1383*; Cal. C. Civ. P., § 788*.

7297. (3559.) Securities and investments to be in name of clerk. When the security of the proceeds of the sale is taken, or when an investment of any proceeds is made, it must be done, except as herein otherwise provided, in the name of the clerk of the district court of the county where the papers are filed, and his successors in office, who must hold the same for the use and benefit of the parties interested, subject to the order of the court.

Mont. Civ. P., § 1384*.

7298. (3560.) When interests ascertained, securities taken in names of parties. When security is taken by the referees on a sale, and the parties interested in such security, by an instrument in writing under their hands delivered to the referees, agree upon the shares and proportions to which they are respectively entitled, or when shares and proportions have been previously adjudged by the court, such securities must be taken in the names of, and payable to, the parties respectively entitled thereto, and must be delivered to such parties upon their receipt therefor. Such agreement and receipt must be returned and filed with the clerk of the court.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 790.

7299. (3561.) Duties of clerk as to investments and securities. The clerk of the court in whose name a security is taken or by whom an investment is made, and his successors in office, must receive the interest and principal as it becomes due, and apply and invest the same as the court may direct, and must deposit with the county treasurer all securities taken, and keep an account in a book provided and kept for that purpose, in the clerk's office, free for inspection by all persons, of investments and moneys received by him thereon, and the disposition thereof.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 791.

7300. (3562.) Where partition impracticable, compensation ordered. When it appears that a partition cannot be made equally among the parties according to their respective rights, without prejudice to the rights and interest of some of them, and a partition be ordered, the court may adjudge compensation to be made by one party to another, on account of the inequality; but such compensation shall not be required to be made to others by owners unknown, nor by a minor, unless it appears that such minor has personal property sufficient for that purpose, and that his interest will be promoted thereby. And in all cases the court has power to make compensatory adjustment between the respective parties, according to the ordinary principles of equity.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 792.

7301. (3563.) Infant's share received by guardian. Security. When the share of a minor is sold, the proceeds of sale may be paid by the referee making the sale to his general guardian or to the special guardian appointed for him in the action, upon giving the security required by law or directed by order of the court.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 793.

7302. (3564.) Insane person's share received by guardian. Security. The guardian who may be entitled to the custody and management of the estate of an insane person or other person adjudged incapable of conducting his own affairs, whose interest in real property has been sold, may receive from the referees, in behalf of such person, his share of the proceeds of such real property, on executing with sufficient sureties an undertaking, approved by the judge of the court, that he will faithfully discharge the trust reposed in him, and will render a true and just account to the person entitled, or to his legal representative.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 794.

7303. (3565.) Guardian may consent to partition without action. The general guardian of a minor, and the guardian entitled to the custody and management of the estate of an insane person, or other person adjudged incapable of conducting his own affairs, who is interested in real estate held in joint tenancy, or in common, or in any other manner so as to authorize his being made a party to an action for the partition thereof, may consent to a partition without action, and agree upon the share to be set off to such minor or other person entitled, and may execute a release in his behalf to the owners of the shares of the parts to which they may be respectively entitled, upon an order of the court.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 795.

Guardian may consent, § 7835.

Though at the time of a parol partition of their father's land two sons were minors, if, after reaching majority and knowing the circumstances, they retain possession of, exercise exclusive dominion over, and sell the parts allotted them, and assert no claim to the lands allotted to the other heirs, they cannot repudiate the partition.

Whittemore v. Cope, 11 U. 344; 40 P. 256.

7304. (3566.) Costs apportioned according to shares. Exception. Lien. The costs of partition, including reasonable counsel fees, expended by the plaintiff or either of the defendants for the common benefit, fees of referees, and other disbursements, must be paid by the parties respectively entitled to share in the lands divided, in proportion to their respective interests therein, and may be included and specified in the judgment. In that case they shall be a lien on the several shares, and the judgment may be enforced by execution against such shares, and against other property held by the respective parties. When, however, litigation arises between some of the parties only, the court may require the expenses of such litigation to be paid by the parties thereto, or any of them.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 796.

The court may allow counsel fees to plaintiff, provided the fees are reasonable and the services rendered are such as are necessary and for the common benefit of all parties interested, and may tax a proper part thereof against the part of the fund belonging to defendants.

Murray v. Hays et al., 50 U. —; 169 P. 264.

Where the attorney's services resulted in a higher price being obtained for the property, the court should consider such services in determining the attorney's fees to be allowed.

Id.

7305. (3567.) Single referee appointed by consent. Powers and duties. The court, with the consent of the parties, may appoint a single referee, instead of three referees, in the proceedings under the provisions of this chapter, and the single referee, when thus appointed, has all the powers and may perform all the duties required of the three referees.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 797.

Appointment of referees, § 7271.

7306. (3568.) Co-tenant allowed expenditures for common benefit. Lien. If it appear that other actions or proceedings have been necessarily prosecuted or defended by any one of the tenants in common, for the protection, confirmation, or perfecting of the title, or setting the boundaries, or making a survey or surveys of the estate partitioned, the court shall allow to the parties to the action, who have paid the expenses of such litigation or other proceedings, all the expenses necessarily incurred therein, including counsel fees, which shall have accrued to the common benefit of the other tenants in common, with interest thereon from the date of making the said expenditures, and the same must be pleaded and allowed by the court and included in the final judgment, and shall be a lien upon the share of each tenant, respectively, in proportion to his interest, and shall be enforced in the same manner as taxable costs of partition are taxed and collected.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 798*.

7307. (3569.) Abstract of title. Cost. Inspection by all. If it appear to the court that it was necessary to have made an abstract of the title to the property to be partitioned, and such abstract shall have been procured by the plaintiff, or if the plaintiff shall have failed to have the same made before the commencement of the action, and any one of the defendants shall have had such abstract afterward made, the cost of the abstract, with interest thereon from the time the same is subject to the inspection of the respective parties to the action, must be allowed and taxed. Whenever such abstract is procured by the plaintiff before the commencement of the action, he must file with his complaint a notice that an abstract of the title has been made, and is subject to the inspection and use of all the parties to the action, designating therein where the abstract will be kept for inspection. But if the plaintiff shall have failed to procure such abstract before commencing the action, and any defendant shall procure the same to be made, he shall, as soon as he has directed it to be made, file a notice thereof in the action with the clerk of the court, stating who is making the same and where it will be kept when finished. The court, or the judge thereof, may direct, from time to time, during the progress of the action, who shall have the custody of the abstract.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 799.

7308. (3570.) Id. Who may make. The abstract mentioned in the next preceding section may be made by any competent searcher of records, and need not be certified by the recorder or other officer, but instead thereof, it must be verified by the affidavit of the person making it, to the effect that he believes it to be correct; but the same may be corrected, from time to time, if found incorrect, under the direction of the court.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 800.

7309. (3571.) Interest allowed on disbursements. Whenever, during the progress of the action for partition, any disbursement shall have been made, under the direction of the court, or the judge thereof, by a party thereto, interest must be allowed thereon from the time of making such disbursement.

Cal. C. Civ. P. § 801.

CHAPTER 63.

TERMINATION OF LIFE ESTATE.

7312. (3572.) Proceedings to determine. Notice. Order. If any person has died, or shall hereafter die, who at the time of his death was the owner of a life estate which terminates by reason of his death, any person interested in the property, or in the title thereto, in which such life estate was held, may file in the district court of the county in which the property is situated his verified petition, setting forth such facts, and thereupon, and after such notice by publication or otherwise, as the court or judge may order, the court or judge shall hear such petition and the evidence offered in support thereof, and if, upon such hearing, it shall appear that such life estate of such deceased person absolutely terminated by reason of his death, the court or judge shall make an order to that effect, and thereupon a certified copy of such order may be recorded in the office of the county recorder.

CHAPTER 64.

FORCIBLE ENTRY AND DETAINER.

7313. (3573.) Forcible entry defined. Every person is guilty of a forcible entry who either:

1. By breaking open doors, windows, or other parts of a house, or by fraud, intimidation, or stealth, or by any kind of violence or circumstance of terror, enters upon or into any real property; or,

2. Who, after entering peaceably upon real property, turns out by force, threats, or menacing conduct, the party in actual possession.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1159*.
Concurrent jurisdiction of city court, § 1712; of justice's court, § 1792; of municipal court, § 1758.
If the entry upon real estate was forcible and disseizee peaceably in the actual possession at the time of the forcible entry, the right to recover is complete.

Wellington v. Abbott, 51 U. —; 173; P. 245.

7314. (3574.) Forcible detainer defined. Every person is guilty of a forcible detainer who either:

1. By force, or by menaces and threats of violence, unlawfully holds and keeps the possession of any real property, whether the same was acquired peaceably or otherwise; or,

2. Who in the night time, or during the absence of the occupant of any real property, unlawfully enters thereon, and who, after demand made for the surrender thereof, refuses for the period of three days to surrender the same to such former occupant. The occupant of real property within the meaning of this subdivision is one who, within five days preceding such unlawful entry, was in the peaceable and undisturbed possession of such lands.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1160*.
Form of complaint; time to answer, § 7370.
Forcible entry or detainer a misdemeanor, § 8231.

7315. (3575.) Unlawful detainer. A tenant of real property, for a term less than life, is guilty of an unlawful detainer:

1. Where he continues in possession, in person or by sub-tenant, of the property or any part thereof, after the expiration of the term for which it is let to him. In all cases where real property is leased for a specified term or period, or by express or implied contract, whether written or parol, the tenancy shall be terminated without notice at the expiration of such specified term or period; or,

2. When, having leased real property for an indefinite time with monthly or other periodic rent reserved, he continues in possession thereof in person or by sub-tenant, after the end of any such month or period, in cases where the landlord or the successor in estate of his landlord, if any there be, fifteen days or more prior to the end of such month or period, shall have served notice requiring him to quit the premises at the expiration of such month or period; or in cases of tenancies at will, where he remains in possession of such premises after the expiration of a notice of not less than five days;

3. When he continues in possession, in person or by sub-tenant, after default in the payment of any rent and after a notice in writing requiring in the alternative the payment of the rent or the surrender of the detained premises, shall have remained uncomplied with for the period of three days after service thereof. Such notice may be served at any time after the rent becomes due;

4. When he assigns or sub-lets the leased premises contrary to the covenants of the lease, or commits or permits waste thereon, or when he sets up or carries on therein or thereon any unlawful business, or when he suffers, permits, or maintains on or about said premises any nuisance, and remains in possession after service upon him of three days' notice to quit;

5. When he continues in possession, in person or by sub-tenant, after a neglect or failure to perform any condition or covenant of the lease or agreement under which the property is held, other than those hereinbefore mentioned, and after notice, in writing, requiring in the alternative the performance of such condition or covenant or the surrender of the property, served upon him, and, if there be a sub-tenant in actual occupation of the premises, also upon such sub-tenant, shall remain uncomplied with for five days after service thereof. Within three days after the service of the notice, the tenant, or any sub-tenant in actual occupation of the premises, or any mortgagee of the term, or other person interested in its continuance, may perform such condition or covenant and thereby save the lease from forfeiture; provided, that if the covenants and conditions of the lease, violated by the lessee, cannot afterwards be performed, then no notice as last prescribed herein need be given. Wherever there is an ownership of land on the one hand, and an occupation by permission on the other, a tenancy at will arises by implication.

Utah Optical Co. v. Keith, 18 U. 464; 56 P. 155.

In an action of forcible entry and detainer, the exact date at which a notice to surrender the premises was given is immaterial, plaintiff only being required to aver and prove that, subsequent to the unlawful entry, while defendants were in possession and prior to the commencement of the action, a notice to surrender was given and refused for three days thereafter.

Holladay Coal Co. v. Kirker, 20 U. 192; 57 P. 882.

7316. (3576.) Right of tenant of agricultural lands to hold over. In all cases of tenancy upon agricultural lands, where the tenant has held over and retained possession for more than sixty days after the expiration of his term without any demand of possession or notice to quit by the landlord, or the successor in estate of his landlord, if any there be, he shall be deemed to be holding by permission of the landlord, or the successor in estate of his landlord, if any there be, and shall be entitled to hold under the terms of the lease for another full year, and shall not be guilty of an unlawful detainer during said year, and such holding over for the period aforesaid shall be taken and construed as a consent on the part of the tenant to hold for another year.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1161*.

7317. (3577.) Tenant has similar remedies against sub-tenant. A tenant may take proceedings similar to those prescribed in this chapter, to obtain possession of the premises let to an under-tenant, in case of his unlawful detention of the premises underlet to him.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1161*.

7318. (3578.) Notice to quit, how served. The notices required by the preceding sections may be served, either:

1. By delivering a copy to the tenant personally; or,

2. If he is absent from his place of residence, or from his usual place of business, by leaving a copy with some person of suitable age and discretion at either place, and sending a copy through the mail addressed to the tenant at his place of residence or place of business; or,

3. If such place of residence or business cannot be ascertained, or a person of suitable age or discretion cannot be found there, then by fixing a copy in a conspicuous place on the leased property, and also delivering a copy to a person there residing, if such person can be found, and also sending a copy through the mail addressed to the tenant at the place where the leased property is situated. Service upon a sub-tenant may be made in the same manner.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1162*.

7319. (3579.) Only tenant and sub-tenant need be made defendants. Exception. No person other than the tenant of the premises, and sub-tenant if there be one in the actual occupation of the premises when the action is commenced, need be made parties defendant in the proceeding, nor shall any proceeding abate, nor the plaintiff be nonsuited for the non-joinder of any person who might have been made a party defendant; but when it appears that any of the parties served with process or appearing in the proceeding are guilty of the offense charged, judgment must be rendered against him. In case a person has become sub-tenant of the premises in controversy after the service of any notice in this chapter provided for, the fact that such notice was not served on such sub-tenant shall constitute no defense to the action. All persons who enter under the tenant, after the commencement of the action hereunder, shall be bound by the judgment the same as if they had been made parties to the action.

Wash. (1896) § 4780. Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1164*. In an action for possession, landlord may be made a party defendant, § 6507.

Possession of tenant deemed possession of landlord, § 6458.

7320. (3580.) Complaint and summons, what to obtain. Service. The plaintiff in his complaint, which shall be in writing, must set forth the facts on which he seeks to recover, and describe the premises with reasonable certainty, and may set forth therein any circumstances of fraud, force, or violence which may have accompanied the alleged forcible entry, or forcible or unlawful detainer, and claim damages therefor, or compensation for the occupation of the premises, or both. In case the unlawful detainer charged be after default in the payment of rent, the complaint must state the amount of such rent. The judge or justice of the peace shall indorse on the summons the number of days within which the defendant shall be required to appear and defend the action, which shall be not less than three nor more than twelve days from the date of service, except when publication is necessary, in which case the court shall direct publication for a period of not less than one week. The officer or person serving the summons shall change the prescribed form thereof to conform to the time of service as ordered. The summons shall be served as in other cases. The complaint shall be filed within one day after service of summons if not served therewith.

Wash. (1896) § 4781*. Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1166*. Complaint and answer must be verified, § 7325.

Service of summons from district court, §§ 6548-6552; from justice's court, §§ 7442-7444; from city court, § 1714.

Description of land in pleadings, § 6599.

Allegation and proof of possession, § 7322, and note.

Complaint in unlawful detainer should allege that plaintiff has right of and is entitled to possession, and that property is being unlawfully detained from him after legal notice to quit served.

Barnes v. Cox, 12 U. 47; 41 P. 577.

In an action of forcible entry and detainer of a part of the unsurveyed public domain, the complaint must contain an actual description of the land claimed; and if such description contains a greater area than that allowed by law, no presumption of lawful possession would exist, and the complaint should be dismissed.

Holladay Coal Co. v. Kirker, 20 U. 192; 57 P. 882.

7321. (3581.) Issue of fact tried by jury unless waived. Whenever an issue of fact is presented by the pleadings, it must be tried by a jury, unless such jury be waived as in other cases.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1171*.

Jury waived unless demanded, Con. art. 1, sec. 10; §§ 6782, 6827; in justice's courts, § 7485.

7322. (3582.) Proof required of plaintiff. What possession a bar. On the trial of any proceeding for any forcible entry or forcible detainer, the plaintiff shall only be required to show, in addition to the forcible entry or forcible detainer complained of, that he was peaceably in the actual possession at the time of the forcible entry, or was entitled to the possession at the time of the forcible detainer. The defendant may show in his defense that he or his ancestors, or those whose interest in such premises he claims, have been in the quiet possession thereof for the space of one whole year together next before the commencement of the proceedings, and that his interest therein is not then ended or determined; and such showing is a bar to the proceedings.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1172.

Presumption of possession on proof of legal title, § 6451.

Possession of tenant possession of landlord, § 6458.

A mere scrambling possession is not sufficient.

Brooks v. Warren, 5 U. 118; 12 P. 659.

Actual occupancy necessary to possessory title. But it may be evidenced by an enclosure, etc.

Hyndman v. Stowe, 9 U. 23; 33 P. 227.

Under this section, plaintiff need never allege his estate or title to premises, nor, with few exceptions, is he required to allege his right of possession; an allegation of the ultimate fact that, at the time of the forcible detainer, he was entitled to the possession of the premises is sufficient.

Holladay Coal Co. v. Kirker, 20 U. 192; 57 P. 882.

As against a mere intruder or trespasser, possession of public land is prima facie evidence of right of possession.

Wilson v. Triumph M. Co., 19 U. 66; 56 P. 300.

Holladay Coal Co. v. Kirker, 20 U. 192; 57 P. 882.

Johnston v. Meaghr, 14 U. 426; 47 P. 861.

7323. (3583.) Amendments to conform to proof. Effect. When, upon the trial of any proceeding under this chapter, it appears from the evidence that the defendant has been guilty of either a forcible entry or a forcible detainer, and other than the offense charged in the complaint, the judge must order that such complaint be forthwith amended to conform to such proofs. Such amendment must be without any imposition of terms. No continuance must be permitted upon account of such amendment, unless the defendant, by affidavit filed, shows to the satisfaction of the court, good cause therefor.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1173*.

7324. (3584.) Judgment. Restitution. Rent. Treble damages. If, upon the trial, the verdict of the jury, or, if the case be tried without a jury, the finding of the court, be in favor of the plaintiff and against the defendant, judgment shall be entered for the restitution of the premises; and, if the proceeding be for unlawful detainer after neglect or faliure to perform any condition or covenant of the lease or agreement under which the property is held, or after default in the payment of rent, the judgment shall also declare the forfeiture of such lease or agreement. The jury, or the court if the proceeding be tried without a jury, shall also assess the damages occasioned to the plaintiff by any forcible entry, or by any forcible or unlawful detainer, and any amount found due the plaintiff by reason of waste of the premises by the defendant during the tenancy, alleged in the complaint and proved on the trial, and find the amount of any rent due, if the alleged unlawful detainer be after default in the payment of rent; and the judgment shall be rendered against the defendant guilty of the forcible entry, or forcible or unlawful detainer, for the rent and for three times the amount of the damages thus assessed. When the proceeding is for an unlawful detainer after default in the payment of the rent, and the lease or agreement under which the rent is payable has not by its terms expired, execution upon the judgment shall not be issued until the expiration of five days after the entry of the judgment, within which time the tenant, or any sub-tenant, or any mortgagee of the term, or other party interested in its continuance, may pay into court for the landlord the amount of the judgment and costs, and thereupon the judgment shall be satisfied, and the tenant be restored to his estate; but if payment, as herein provided, be not made within the five days, the judgment may be enforced for its full amount, and for the possession of the premises. In all other cases the judgment may be enforced immediately.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1174*.

Treble damages for forcible entry, etc., § 7244.

A plaintiff in a case for damages for forcible entry or unlawful detainer is entitled to recover treble damages.

Eccles v. U. P. Coal Co., 15 U. 14; 48 P. 148.

In an action for forcible entry, a judgment cannot be entered quieting title.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1175.

Complaint in justice's court to be verified, §§ 7447, 7491.

7326. (3586.) Appeal within ten days. Undertaking. Stay. Either party may, within ten days, appeal from the judgment rendered. But an appeal by the defendant shall not stay the execution of the judgment, unless, within said ten days, he shall execute and file with the court or justice his undertaking to the plaintiff, with two or more sureties, in an amount to be fixed by the court or justice, but which shall be not less than twice the amount of the judgment and costs, to the effect that, if the judgment appealed from be affirmed or the appeal be dismissed, the appellant will pay the judgment and the costs of appeal, the value of the use and occupation of the property, and damages justly accruing to the plaintiff during the pendency of the appeal. Upon taking the appeal and filing the undertaking, all further proceedings in the case shall be stayed.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 978*.

Provisions of §§ 7517, 7518, made applicable to appeals in forcible entry, etc., proceedings

Hoffman v. Lewis, 31 U. 179; 87 P. 167.

There is no distinction between an appeal from a judgment rendered by a justice's court in forcible entry and detainer and an appeal from a justice's court in other cases.

Id.

The provision prescribing a special time for appeal is valid, and the general provision for time of appeal not applicable.

Hunsaker v. Harris, 37 U. 226; 109 P. 1.

Murphy v. Paumie, 37 U. 228; 109 P. 2.

7327. (3587.) Civil procedure applicable. The provisions of this code, relative to civil actions, appeals, and new trials, so far as they are not inconsistent with the provisions of this chapter, apply to the proceedings mentioned in this chapter.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1177* .

CHAPTER 65.

EMINENT DOMAIN.

7330. (3588.) Exercised in behalf of what uses. Subject to the provisions of this chapter, the right of eminent domain may be exercised in behalf of the following public uses:

1. All public uses authorized by the government of the United States;

2. Public buildings and grounds for the use of the state, and all other public uses authorized by the legislature;

3. Public buildings and grounds for the use of any county, incorporated city or town, or school district; reservoirs, canals, aqueducts, flumes, ditches, or pipes for conducting water for the use of the inhabitants of any county, or incorporated city or town, or for draining any county, or incorporated city or town; for raising the banks of streams, removing obstructions therefrom, and widening, deepening, or straightening their channels; for roads, streets, and alleys, and all other public uses for the benefit of any county, incorporated city or town, or the inhabitants thereof;

4. Wharves, docks, piers, chutes, booms, ferries, bridges, toll roads, by-roads, plank and turnpike roads, roads for transportation by traction engines or road locomotives, roads for logging or lumbering purposes, and railroads and street railways for public transportation;

5. Reservoirs, dams, water-gates, canals, ditches, flumes, tunnels, aqueducts, and pipes for the supplying persons, mines, mills, smelters, or other works for the reduction of ores with water for domestic or other uses, or for irrigation purposes, or for draining and reclaiming lands, or for floating logs and lumber on streams not navigable;

6. Roads, railroads, tramways, tunnels, ditches, flumes, pipes, and dumping places to facilitate the milling, smelting, or other reduction of ores, or the working of mines, quarries, coal mines, or mineral deposits; outlets, natural or otherwise, for the deposit or conduct of tailings, refuse, or water from mills, smelters, or other works for the reduction of ores; or from mines, quarries, coal mines, or mineral deposits; mill dams; natural gas or oil pipe lines, tanks, or reservoirs; also any occupancy in common by the owners or possessors of different mines, quarries, coal mines, mineral deposits, mills, smelters, or other places for the reduction of ores, or any place for the flow, deposit, or conduct of tailings or refuse matter;

7. By-roads leading from highways to residences and farms;

8. Telegraph, telephone, electric light, and electric power lines, and sites for electric light and power plants;

9. Sewerage of any city or town, or of any settlement of not less than ten families, or of any public building belonging to the state, or of any college or university;

10. Canals, reservoirs, dams, ditches, flumes, aqueducts, and pipes for supplying and storing water for the operation of machinery for the purpose of generating and transmitting electricity for power, light, or heat;

11. Cemeteries or public parks;

12. Pipe lines for the purpose of conducting any and all liquids connected with the manufacture of beet sugar;

13. For sites for mills, smelters, or other works for the reduction of ores and necessary to the successful operation thereof, including the right to take lands for the discharge and natural distribution of smoke, fumes, and dust therefrom, produced by the operation of such works; provided, that the powers granted by this subdivision shall not be exercised in any county where the population exceeds twenty thousand, or within one mile of the limits of any incorporated city or town; nor unless the proposed condemnor has the right to operate by purchase, option to purchase, or easement, as to at least seventy-five per cent of the value of land acreage owned by persons or corporations situated within a radius of four miles from the mill, smelter, or other works for the reduction of ores; nor beyond the limits of said four miles radius; nor as to lands covered by contracts, easements, or agreements existing between the condemnor and the owner of land within said limit and providing for the operation of such mill, smelter, or other works for the reduction of ores; nor until an action shall have been commenced to restrain the operation of such mill, smelter, or other works for the reduction of ores.

Eminent domain for pipes, tanks, etc., for natural gas, § 4024; for right of way for canals, ditches, etc., § 3466; for railroads, for right of way and for water, § 1228, sub. 3; for drainage district, § 2046; for city, for water, § 570x2; irrigation districts, § 3526; county hospital site, § 2781.

Property and franchises of private corporations subject to eminent domain, Con. art. 12, sec. 11.

Private property shall not be taken or damaged for public use without just compensation, Con. art. 1, sec. 22, and note.

No person shall be deprived of property without due process of law, Con. art. 1 sec 7, and note.

Condemnation by foreign corporation, § 946.

Condemnation by state armory, § 2884.

Con. art. 1, sec. 22, providing that private property shall not be taken or damaged for public use without just compensation, is a limitation on exercise of power of eminent domain.

Kimball v. Grantsville City, 19 U. 368; 57 P. 1.

If the land on which shade trees adjacent to sidewalk stood was owned by the abutting property owner, the city could only cut the trees by condemning the land and upon paying just compensation.

Giauque v. S. L. City, 42 U. 89; 129 P. 429.

Where an owner of land on both sides of the highway acquired title to the highway by failure of the public to use and work it, she could not be compelled thereafter to allow it to be opened as a highway, without compensation being made.

Tuttle v. Sowadzki, 41 U. 501; 126 P. 959.

RAILROADS:

Under § 3841, C. L. 1888, providing that the right of eminent domain may be exercised in behalf of steam and horse railroads; held, that by implication this right may be exercised in behalf of electrical railways.

Ogden City Railway Company v. Ogden City, 7 U. 207; 26 P. 288.

Land which is a part of a railroad's right of way, but not used for any purpose and not essential to the enjoyment of such railroad's franchise and property, may be appropriated to the use of a duly incorporated telegraph company for the purpose of constructing and maintaining its lines, since such appropriation is for a more necessary public use. Measure of damages.

Postal Tel. & C. Co. v. O. S. L. R. R. Co., 23 U. 474; 65 P. 735

A city council cannot authorize a permanent switch track, for a private business only, along a street and across a sidewalk, from a steam railroad in the street, to the detriment of people residing on the street and to the damage of their abutting property; the streets being dedicated to public use.

A party whose property is about to be damaged in a substantial degree for public use is given same remedies as would be accorded him if his property were actually appropriated for public use.

Stockdale v. R. G. W. Ry. Co., 28 U. 201; 77 P. 849.

Railroad cannot subject private property in a city to burdens to which it will be subjected by running of cars and engines over a switch laid over adjoining property, without proceeding under law of eminent domain.

CANALS, MINES, ETC.:

The provision of this section and §§ 7332, 7338, render, under ordinary circumstances, property appropriated for a public use liable to condemnation for another public use.

Salt Lake City v. Water & El. P. Co., 24 U. 249; 67 P. 672.

A proceeding by a power company under the eminent domain statute to obtain the right to connect a flume with a city's canal for purpose of discharging water into it, under the provisions of this section and § 7332, is not a suit to condemn land belonging to the city, and it is not necessary to show, as provided in § 7333, that the use to which it is to be applied by power company is a more necessary public use than that to which the city devotes it. (On rehearing, 25 U. 456; 71 P. 1069.)

Salt Lake City v. Water & El. P. Co., 24 U. 249; 67 P. 672.

Property is taken for a public use, within the provision of the constitution declaring that private property shall not be taken for public use without just compensation, when the taking is for use that will promote the public interest, and will tend to develop the resources of the state. In this case a right of way for an irrigation ditch.

Nash v. Clark, 27 U. 158; 75 P. 371; affirmed 198 U. S. 361.

The construction and operation of roads and tramways for the development and working of mines is a public use.

Highland B. G. M. Co. v. Strickley, 28 U. 215; 78 P. 296; affirmed 200 U. S. 525.

Where a street grade was established but not carried into effect, and thereafter buildings were erected, the city was liable for damages resulting from the change of grade. The fact that the improvements were made before the adoption of Con. art. 1, sec. 22, does not relieve liability.

Lannan v. Waltenspiel, 45 U. 564; 147 P. 908.

A proceeding under § 3467 to obtain the right to enlarge an irrigation canal of another is controlled by the principles involved in the exercise of the right of eminent domain.

S. L. City v. East Jordan Irr. Co., 40 U. 126; 121 P. 593.

The right to use a reservoir in common may be condemned.

Gunnison Irr. Co. v. Gunnison High. Canal Co., 51 U. —; 174 P. 852.

The right to run water through defendant's irrigation canal may be condemned, though the defendant has only an easement and the owners of the land were not parties.

Whiterocks Irr. Co. v. Mooseman, 45 U. 79; 141 P. 459.

A purchaser of property on a city street does so with the implied consent that the street must be made reasonably safe and convenient for travel, and cannot complain if it is lowered or filled to make it safe for travel so long as the city has established the grade so as to inform him of the extent to which it would be lowered or raised.

Gray v. Salt Lake City, 44 U. 204; 138 P. 1177.

Coal companies may condemn ground for a tipple site, etc., but cannot condemn any portion of a right-of-way used for railroad purposes; even though a track departs from a right-of-way, it cannot be approached so close as to interfere with traffic, and five feet is not an unreasonable minimum distance.

Ketchum Coal Co. v. Pleasant Valley Coal Co., 50 U. —; 168 P. 86.

Under the provisions of §§ 7330, 7332, mining generally and development of the mines and mineral deposits is a public use, and where a mining company has driven a tunnel going through a claim owned by another company, and does not, in its own operation, use the tunnel to its full capacity, the company owning the claim may condemn a right to use the tunnel jointly to work its claim.

Monataire M. Co. v. Columbus Rexall Con., 50 U. —; 174 P. 172.

7331. (3589.) Estates and rights subject to condemnation. The following is a classification of the estates and rights in lands subject to be taken for public use:

1. A fee simple, when taken for public buildings or grounds, or for permanent buildings, for reservoirs and dams, and permanent flooding occasioned thereby, or for an outlet for a flow, or a place for the deposit of debris or tailings of a mine, mill, smelter, or other place for the reduction of ores;

2. An easement, when taken for any other use;

3. The right of entry upon, and occupation of, lands, and the right to take therefrom such earth, gravel, stones, trees, and timber as may be necessary for some public use.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1239*.

7332. (3590.) Property subject to condemnation. The private property which may be taken under this chapter includes:

1. All real property belonging to any person;

2. Lands belonging to the state, or to any county, or incorporated city or town, not appropriated to some public use;

3. Property appropriated to public use; provided, that such property shall not be taken unless for a more necessary public use than that to which it has been already appropriated;

4. Franchises for toll roads, toll bridges, ferries, and all other franchises; provided, that such franchises shall not be taken unless for free highways, railroads, or other more necessary public use;

5. All rights of way for any and all purposes mentioned in § 7330, and any and all structures and improvements thereon, and the lands held or used in connection therewith, shall be subject to be connected with, crossed, or intersected by any other right of way or improvement or structure thereon; they shall also be subject to a limited use in common with the owners thereof, when necessary; but such uses of crossings, intersections, and connections shall be made in the manner most compatible with the greatest public benefit and the least private injury;

6. All classes of private property not enumerated may be taken for public use when such taking is authorized by law.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1240*.

Property and franchises of private corporations subject to eminent domain, Con. art. 12, sec. 11.

Decisions on property subject to condemnation, note to § 7330.

Under the provisions of §§ 7330, 7332, mining generally and development of the mines and mineral deposits is a public use, and where a mining company has driven a tunnel going through a claim owned by another company, and does not, in its own operation, use the tunnel to its full capacity, the company owning the claim may condemn a right to use the tunnel jointly to work its claim.

Monataire M. Co. v. Columbus Rexall Con. M. Co., 50 U. —; 174 P. 172.

7333. (3591.) Conditions precedent to condemnation. Before property can be taken it must appear;

1. That the use to which it is to be applied is a use authorized by law;

2. That the taking is necessary to such use;

3. If already appropriated to some public use, that the public use to which it is to be applied is a more necessary public use.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1241.

7334. (3592.) Right to enter to make survey, etc. Damage. In all cases where land is required for public use, the person or corporation, or his or its agents, in charge of such use may survey and locate the same; but it must be located in the manner which will be most compatible with the greatest public good and the least private injury, and subject to the provisions of this chapter. The person or corporation, or his or its agents, in charge of such public use may enter upon the land and make examinations, surveys, and maps thereof, and such entry shall constitute no cause of action in favor of the owners of the lands, except for injuries resulting from negligence, wantonness, or malice.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1242*.

7335. (3593.) Jurisdiction in district court. Complaint verified. All proceedings under this chapter must be brought in the district court for the county in which the property or some part thereof is situated. The complaint in such cases must be verified.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1243*.

The provisions of this section are not in conflict with Con. art. 8. sec. 5, providing that all civil and criminal business arising in any county must be tried in such county, etc., so as to preclude a telegraph company from bringing an action to condemn a railroad's right of way, which extends through several counties, for construction of its lines in one of such counties.

7336. (3594.) Contents of complaint. The complaint must contain:

1. The name of the corporation, association, commission, or person in charge of the public use for which the property is sought, who must be styled plaintiff;

2. The names of all owners and claimants of the property, if known, or a statement that they are unknown, who must be styled defendants;

3. A statement of the right of the plaintiff;

4. If a right of way be sought, the complaint must show the location, general route, and termini, and must be accompanied with a map thereof, so far as the same is involved in the action or proceeding;

5. A description of each piece of land sought to be taken, and whether the same includes the whole or only part of an entire parcel or tract. All parcels lying in the county and required for the same public use may be included in the same or separate proceedings, at the option of the plaintiff, but the court may consolidate or separate them to suit the convenience of parties.

Where a complaint fails to state the attempted condemnation proceedings were authorized, as required by statute, the defect, being jurisdictional, was not waived by a failure to demur or object during the trial.

Town of Tremonton v. Johnston, 49 U. 307; 164 P. 190.

7337. (3595.) All parties in interest may appear. All persons in occupation of or having or claiming an interest in, any of the property described in the complaint, or in the damages for the taking thereof, though not named, may appear, plead, and defend, each in respect to his own property or interest, or that claimed by him, in like manner as if named in the complaint.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1246.

The giving of a trust deed merely creates a lien upon the premises, and a decree against the trustee would give no right of entry as against the equitable owner.

O. S. L. Ry. Co. v. Mitchell, 7 U. 505; 27 P. 693.

The fact that a telegraph company of another state is interested in a corporation organized under the laws of Utah to construct a telegraph line does not affect the latter's right to maintain proceedings to condemn a right of way for construction of its lines.

Postal Tel. & C. Co. v. O. S. L. R. R. Co., 23 U. 474; 65 P. 735.

It is not necessary that the complaint in condemnation proceedings make all the owners or alleged owners parties; but one in possession and claiming ownership must be joined.

Brigham City v. Chase, 30 U. 410; 85 P. 436.

A holder of a certificate tax sale may be made a party.

O. S. L. R. R. Co. v. Hallock, 41 U. 378; 126 P. 394.

Where condemnation proceedings are instituted against the person in possession of land under contract to purchase from the state the title to which is in the United States Government, subsequently, pending the proceedings, the defendant in possession assigned his right in the land to a corporation, of which he was president, which received a patent therefor from the state and was afterwards made a party to the proceedings, held the original defendant had an interest in the land when the proceedings were commenced which was subject to condemnation and was the same interest which passed to the defendant corporation and ripened into a title relating back to the contract sale by the state.

Brigham City v. Rich, 34 U. 130; 97 P. 220.

7338. (3596.) Power of the court. The court or judge thereof shall have power:

1. To determine the conditions specified in § 7333; to determine the places of making connections and crossings, and to regulate the manner thereof and of enjoying the common use mentioned in sub. 5, § 7332;

2. To hear and determine all adverse or conflicting claims to the property sought to be condemned, and to the damages therefor;

3. To determine the respective rights of different parties seeking condemnation of the same property.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1247*.

Where it is alleged that the defendant company claimed to own part of the property sought to be condemned, and such company, in its answer, claimed title to such land, and the plaintiff, in its reply, alleged that, since the commencement of the action, it had acquired title to the land in question and denied the defendant's tax title, held the district court was authorized to determine these issues in the same action.

Ketchum Coal Co. v. District Court, 48 U. 342; 159 P. 737.

7339. (3597.) Occupancy of premises pending action. Notice. Hearing. Bond. Restraining order. The plaintiff may move the court or a judge thereof, at any time after the commencement of suit, on notice to the defendant, if he is a resident of the county, or has appeared in the action, otherwise by serving a notice directed to him on the clerk of the court, for an order permitting the plaintiff to occupy the premises sought to be condemned, pending the action, and to do such work thereon as may be required for the easement sought, according to its nature. The court or a judge thereof shall take proof by affidavit or otherwise, of the value of the premises sought to be condemned and of the damages which will accrue from the condemnation, and of the reasons for requiring a speedy occupation, and shall grant or refuse the motion according to the equity of the case and the relative damages which may accrue to the parties. If the motion is granted, the court or judge shall require the plaintiff to execute and file in court a bond to the defendant, with sureties to be approved by the court or judge, in a penal sum to be fixed by the court or judge, not less than double the value of the premises sought to be condemned and the damages which will ensue from condemnation, as the same may appear to the court or judge on the hearing, and conditioned to pay the adjudged value of the premises and all damages in case the property is condemned, and to pay all damages arising from occupation before judgment in case the premises are not condemned, and all costs adjudged to the defendant in the action. The sureties shall justify before the court or judge after a reasonable notice to the defendant of the time and place of justification. The amounts fixed shall be for the purposes of the motion only, and shall not be admissible in evidence on final hearing. The court or judge may also, pending the action, restrain the defendant from hindering or interfering with the occupation of the premises and the doing thereon of the work required for the easement.

Right of plaintiff to enter into possession of property in condemnation proceedings, upon filing sufficient bond, upheld, and provisions of this section declared not in conflict with Con. art. 1, sec. 22.

The mere fact that a person contemplates having certain land condemned for public use gives him no right of entry prior to condemnation, and condemnation cannot be had by way of counterclaim in action brought to restrain a trespass and for damages.

Peterson v. Bean, 22 U. 43; 61 P. 213.

That condemnation was for a public use is settled by the lower court's order of condemnation authorizing plaintiff to take possession of and improve the land.

Ketchum Coal Co. v. District Court, 48 U. 342; 159 P. 737.

A stipulation by a landowner's counsel that the court might enter an order for occupancy, agreeing to the amount of the bond, and stipulating that the road's counsel have time to answer, constitutes a general appearance.

Ogden L. & I. Ry. Co., v. Jones, 50 U .—; 168 P. 548.

7340. (3598.) Damages, how assessed. The court, jury, commissioners, or referee must hear such legal testimony as may be offered by any of the parties to the proceedings, and thereupon must ascertain and assess:

1. The value of the property sought to be condemned and all improvements thereon pertaining to the realty, and of each and every separate estate or interest therein; if it consist of different parcels, the value of each parcel and of each estate or interest therein shall be separately assessed;

2. If the property sought to be condemned constitutes only a part of a large parcel, the damages which will accrue to the portion not sought to be condemned, by reason of its severance from the portion sought to be condemned, and the construction of the improvement in the manner proposed by the plaintiff;

3. If the property, though no part thereof is taken, will be damaged by the construction of the proposed improvement, the amount of such damages;

4. Separately, how much the portion not sought to be condemned, and each estate or interest therein, will be benefited, if at all, by the construction of the improvement proposed by the plaintiff; and if the benefit shall be equal to the damages assessed, under sub. 2 of this section, the owner of the parcel shall be allowed no compensation except the value of the portion taken; but if the benefit shall be less than the damages so assessed, the former shall be deducted from the latter, and the remainder shall be the only damages allowed in addition to the value of the portion taken;

5. If the property sought to be condemned be for a railroad, the cost of good and sufficient fences along the line of such railroad between such railroad and other adjoining lands of the defendant; and the cost of cattle guards where fences may cross the line of such railroad;

6. As far as practicable, compensation must be assessed for each source of damages separately.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1248*.

MEASURE OF DAMAGES FOR CONDEMNATION FOR USE FOR RAILROAD PURPOSES:

Of land used for school purposes, is the diminution of the value of the property when used for school purposes determined as of the date of the operation of the railroad, and interest should be allowed from such date.

Evidence insufficient to show that the property had been wholly destroyed for school purposes.

A railroad in the street in front of property —the depreciation in the market value of the property.

Morris v. O. S. L. R. Co., 36 U. 14; 102 P. 629.

Where a railroad was built over unoccupied public land to which a party afterwards acquires title, the value of the railroad's improvements are not an element of damages.

D. & R. G. W. Ry. Co. v. Stancliff, 4 U. 117; 7 P. 530.

The casting of cinders on and the emission of engine smoke over land abutting a railroad cannot be considered by the jury in a suit by the owner as a separate and distinct element of damage.

Jordan v. Utah R. R. Co., 47 U. 519; 156 P. 939.

Where interference with ingress and egress to abutting land, railroad is liable for grading the street in front of the premises.

Id.

The rental value of the land to be condemned for the year preceding the one in which the action is commenced is some evidence of value.

Ogden L. & I. Ry. Co. v. Jones, 50 U. —; 168 P. 548.

Increased insurance rate for property in proximity of the railroad.

Damages to plaintiff's property by jar of passing trains, and from smoke and cinders, where the construction and operation of the railroad is careful and proper, but cannot include damages for negligent operation.

Id.

General benefits by the establishment of the railroad cannot be deducted from damages to owner whose land was taken for right of way.

S. L. & U. R. Co. v. Butterfield, 46 U. 431; 150 P. 931.

To compensation in money and may not be required to accept any mitigation of damages or condemnee's offer of a joint possession or occupancy subordinate to the condemnor's use.

B. & G. Ry. Co. v. North Utah M. Co., 49 U. 125; 162 P. 65.

Where a railroad company, on constructing a line across a land owner's premises, abandoned an old line across the same premises a mile distant, the company was not entitled to have any benefit from the abandonment of the old line set off against the damage done the land adjoining the new line.

O. S. L. R. Co. v. Fox, 28 U. 311; 78 P. 800.

After defendant, in a former and present trial, had submitted all its evidence on the theory that condemnor would exclude it from the tracks, the condemnor had no right to amend, as a matter of course, so as to permit defendant to have joint possession of the part of the track, and an order imposing as a condition of the amendment that condemnor pay the defendant $1750 was proper.

Bingham & Garfield Ry. Co. v. North Utah Mining Co., 162 P. 65.

COMPENSATION FOR PROPERTY TAKEN FOR OTHER PUBLIC PURPOSES:

Where land taken in good faith for the erection of a schoolhouse, the owner not being known, but with intention to acquire title by proceedings in eminent domain, if he should not consent to such use of it, he cannot recover as damages the value of such schoolhouse.

Chase v. Jemmett, 8 U. 231; 30 P. 757.

Where a telegraph company condemns a right of way along the right of way for a railroad, the damages are nominal, since the telegraph company does not materially interfere with the use of the land for railroad purposes.

Postal Tel. Co. v. O. S. L. R. Co., 23 U. 474; 65 P. 735.

In an action for damages to real estate by reason of the construction of a viaduct, where witness testified as to the depreciation of the property, evidence that the viaduct tended to improve the property generally on the street, and made more business thereon. is not admissible, where it is not shown that the particular property is benefited.

Cook v. Salt Lake City, 48 U. 58; 157 P. 643.

In proceedings to condemn a strip of land on which to erect poles bearing wires heavily charged with electricity, if the presence of the wires would expose persons and livestock on the land of defendant to danger, and thus depreciate the market value of such land, defendant was entitled to show such fact.

Telluride Power Co. v. Bruneau, 41 U. 501; 125 P. 399.

In an action to condemn land for canal purposes, the damages recoverable by land owner may include damages by seepage to adjoining land and for the land within the highway to which the plaintiff owned the fee.

Utah Lake Irr. Co. v. Jensen, 49 U. 19; 161 P. 677.

Eliciting from the owner on cross-examination that fifteen years prior he had stated the value much less than he testified their value to be at the trial was improper, as being too remote, but harmless as to substantial rights.

Town of Tremonton v. Johnston, 49 U. 307; 164 P. 190.

Where property such as a mining tunnel is condemned for the purpose of a joint use, the whole matter of determining what is a reasonable compensation as well as the regulations respecting the use of the property is determined and regulated according to the rules of equity.

Monataire M. Co. v. Columbus Rexall Con. M. Co., 50 U. —; 174 P. 172.

7341. (3599.) Damages deemed accrued at date of service. For the purpose of assessing compensation and damages, the right thereto shall be deemed to have accrued at the date of the service of summons, and its actual value at that date shall be the measure of compensation for all property to be actually taken, and the basis of damages to property not actually taken, but injuriously affected, in all cases where such damages are allowed, as provided in the next preceding section. No improvements put upon the property subsequent to the date of service of summons shall be included in the assessment of compensation or damages.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1249*.

Where condemnation suit is brought against trustee under a trust deed, and summons served upon him, and the equitable owner thereafter voluntarily enters his appearance, damages are to be assessed as of the date of such entry of appearance, not the date of service of summons upon trustee.

O. S. L. Ry. Co. v. Mitchell, 7 U. 505; 27 P. 693.

Under provisions of this section and §§ 7343-7346, defendants in a condemnation proceeding were not entitled to interest upon the assessment of compensation from the date of the service of summons; defendants remaining in possession.

S. L. City Water Co. v. S. L. City, 24 U. 282; 67 P. 791.

7342. (3600.) Action begun anew where defendant's title defective. If the title attempted to be acquired is found to be defective from any cause, the plaintiff may again institute proceedings to acquire the same as in this chapter prescribed.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1250.

7343. (3601.) Damages to be paid within thirty days. Bond for railroad fence. The plaintiff must, within thirty days after final judgment, pay the sum of money assessed; and, if the plaintiff is a railroad company, it shall also execute to the defendant a bond, with sureties, to be determined and approved by the court or judge, conditioned that the plaintiff shall build proper fences within six months from the time the railroad is built on or over the land taken. In an action on the bond, all damages sustained and the cost of the construction of such fences may be recovered.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1251*.

7344. (3602.) Id. To whom paid. Execution if not paid. Annulling proceedings. Payment may be made to the defendants entitled thereto, or the money may be deposited in court for the defendants and be distributed to those entitled thereto. If the money be not so paid or deposited, the defendants may have execution as in civil cases; and if the money cannot be made on execution, the court, upon a showing to that effect, must set aside and annul the entire proceedings, and restore possession of the property to the defendants if possession has been taken by the plaintiff.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1252.

7345. (3603.) Final order made upon payment. Recording same. When payments have been made (and the bond given, if the plaintiff elects to give one), as required by the next two preceding sections, the court must make a final order of condemnation, which must describe the property condemned and the purpose of such condemnation. A copy of the order must be filed in the office of the recorder of the county, and thereupon the property described therein shall vest in the plaintiff for the purpose therein specified.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1253.

7346. (3604.) Authorizing occupancy by plaintiff. Deposit. Payment. Effect. At any time after the entry of judgment, or pending an appeal from the judgment to the supreme court, whenever the plaintiff shall have paid into court for the defendant the full amount of the judgment, and such further sum as may be required by the court as a fund to pay any further damages and costs that may be recovered in said proceedings, as well as all damages that may be sustained by the defendant, if for any cause the property shall not be finally taken for public use, the district court in which the proceeding was tried may, upon notice of not less than ten days, authorize the plaintiff, if already in possession, to continue therein, and if not, then to take possession of and use the property during the pendency of and until the final conclusion of the litigation, and may, if necessary, stay all actions and proceedings against the plaintiff on account thereof. The defendant, who is entitled to the money paid into court for him upon any judgment, shall be entitled to demand and receive the same at any time thereafter upon obtaining an order therefor from the court. It shall be the duty of the court or a judge thereof, upon application being made by such defendant, to order and direct that the money so paid into court for him be delivered to him upon his filing a satisfaction of the judgment, or upon his filing a receipt therefor, and an abandonment of all defenses to the action or proceeding, except as to the amount of damages that he may be entitled to in the event that a new trial shall be granted. A payment to a defendant, as aforesaid, shall be held to be an abandonment by such defendant of all defenses interposed by him, excepting his claim for greater compensation.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1254*.

7347. (3605.) Apportionment of costs. Costs may be allowed or not, and if allowed, may be apportioned between the parties on the same or adverse sides, in the discretion of the court.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1255.
Costs Generally, §§ 7035-7054.

This section includes only such costs as are taxable under the statute.
McCready v. R. G. W. Ry. Co., 30 U. 1; 83 P. 331.

7348. (3606.) Procedure applicable. Except as otherwise provided in this chapter, the provisions of this code relative to civil actions, new trials, and appeals shall be applicable to and constitute the rules of practice in the proceedings in this chapter.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1256*.

7349. (3607.) Rights of cities and towns not affected. Nothing in this code must be construed to abrogate or repeal any statute providing for the taking of property in any city or town for street purposes.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1263.

7350. (3608.) Crossings to be made and kept in repair. A party obtaining a right of way shall, without delay, construct such crossings as may be required by the court or judge, and shall keep them and the way itself in good repair.

CHAPTER 66.

QUO WARRANTO.

7354. (3609.) Action in name of state, against whom. A civil action may be brought in the name of the state:

1. Against a person who usurps, intrudes into, or unlawfully holds or exercises a public office, civil or military, or a franchise, within this state, or an office in a corporation created by the authority of this state;

2. Against a public officer, civil or military, who does or suffers an act which, by the provisions of law, works a forfeiture of his office;

3. Against an association of persons who act as a corporation within this state without being legally incorporated.

Mont. Civ. P., § 1410.
Cal. C. Civ. P., § 803*.
Original jurisdiction in supreme and in district courts, Con. art. 8, secs. 4, 7.
The writ of quo warranto will not issue and cannot be invoked for purpose of determining merely a private right in which the public is not interested.
Cupit v. Park City Bank, 20 U. 292; 58 P. 839.
The attorney-general must bring the action in the name of the state on his own relation or on leave of court on relation of another, except that one claiming to be entitled to public office unlawfully exercised by another may bring action in the name of the state; under such circumstances he alone may control the action.
Murdoch v. Ryan, 41 U. 327; 125 P. 666.
A citizen and resident taxpayer cannot sue in the name of the state to test validity of the organization of a high school district; the state alone may do so.
Id.

7355. (3610.) Id. Against a corporation. A like action may be brought against a corporation:

1. When it has offended against a provision of an act by or under which it was created, altered, or renewed, or any act altering or amending such acts;

2. When it has forfeited its privileges and franchises by nonuser;

3. When it has committed or omitted an act which amounts to a surrender or a forfeiture of its corporate rights, privileges, and franchises;

4. When it has misused a franchise or privilege conferred upon it by law, or exercised a franchise or privilege not so conferred.

Mont. Civ. P., 1411.
No corporation shall engage in any business except that authorized, Con. art. 12, sec. 10.
Nonuse of franchise for two years deemed a forfeiture, § 868.

7356. (3611.) Attorney general to begin action, when. The attorney general, when directed by the governor, shall commence any such action; and when, upon complaint or otherwise, he has good reason to believe that any case specified in the preceding section can be established by proof, he shall commence an action.

Mont. Civ. P., § 1412.
Where there is a union of public and private interests an individual in whom the private interest is vested may request the attorney-general to proceed, and if he refuses the individual may present the matters to the court to require the atttorney-general to proceed, and the court may order the bringing of the action on the relation of the individual.
Murdoch v. Ryan, 41 U. 327; 125 P. 666.

7357. (3612.) Id. Upon whose relation. Security for costs. Such officer may, upon his own relation, bring any such action, or he may, on leave of the court, or a judge thereof in vacation, bring the action upon the relation of another person; and if the action be brought under sub. 1, § 7354, he may require security for costs to be given as in other cases.

Mont. Civ. P., § 1413.
The government officer has the right, ex officio, where proceedings are instituted without any relator, to file an information as of course, without leave of court, but cannot prevent the court from assuming jurisdiction by refusing the use of his name when a private citizen is the relator.
Lloyd v. Elliott, 13 U. 200; 44 P. 248.
In an action by a private person, it is the better practice to petition the court for an order on the defendant to show cause why information should not be filed.
Id.

7358. (3613.) Action for usurpation by claimant in name of state. Bond. A person claiming to be entitled to a public office unlawfully held and exercised by another may, by himself or by an attorney and counselor at law, bring an action therefor in the name of the state, as provided in this chapter. On filing the complaint, such person shall enter into an undertaking with two sufficient sureties, to be approved by the judge or any judge of the court in which the action is brought, conditioned that such person will pay any judgment for costs or damages recovered against him, and all costs and expenses incurred in the prosecution of the action, which undertaking shall be filed with the clerk of the court.

Mont. Civ. P., § 1414.
Election contest, §§ 2410-2424.
Quo warranto will lie to test title of alleged intruder in office.
People v. McAllister, 10 U. 357; 37 P. 578.
See Williams v. Clayton, 6 U. 86; 21 P. 398.
When the right of a person exercising an office is challenged in direct proceedings in the nature of quo warranto, the burden of proof is on him to show good title to the office.
Dickson v. Clayton, 4 U. 421; 11 P. 206; affirmed 132 U. S. 632.

7359. (3614.) Id. Contents of complaint. When the action is against a person for usurping, intruding into, or unlawfully holding or exercising an office, the complaint shall set forth the name of the person who claims to be entitled thereto, with an averment of his right thereto, and judgment may be rendered upon the right of the defendant, and also upon the right of the person so averred to be entitled, or only upon the right of the defendant, as justice requires.

Mont. Civ. P., § 1415.
Complaint alleging that defendant holds and exercises the functions of the office without authority of law is sufficient.
Dickson v. Clayton, 4 U. 421; 11 P. 206; affirmed 132 U. S. 632.

7360. (3615.) Id. All claimants to same office made defendants. All persons who claim to be entitled to the same office or franchise may be made defendants in the same action to try their respective rights to such office or franchise.

Mont. Civ. P., § 1416.
Title to seats as councilmen from a city ward entitled to three councilmen may be determined between two sets of claimants in one action.
Young v. Cohn, 7 U. 352; 26 P. 928.
One action will not lie against several defendants claiming separate offices under distinct appointments and commissions, though all within the territory over which plaintiff claims to be an officer.
Preshaw v. Dee, 6 U. 360; 23 P. 763.

7361. (3616.) Jurisdiction in supreme or district court. An action under this chapter can be brought in the supreme court of the state, or in the district court of the proper county.

Mont. Civ. P., § 1417*.

Jurisdiction in supreme and in district courts, Con. art. 8, secs. 4, 7.

The supreme court has jurisdiction to issue writs of quo warranto, which may be exercised on the relation of a private person, but leave must first be granted by the court to file the information.

Lloyd v. Elliott, 13 U. 200; 44 P. 248.

The supreme court, being primarily an appellate tribunal, will not assume jurisdiction in quo warranto, except in cases which present some peculiar reason why the concurrent jurisdiction of the district court is not adequate to afford relief, or when interests of the state require it.

Id.

7362. (3617.) Application to file complaint. Notice to defendant. Upon application for leave to file a complaint, the court or judge may, in its discretion, direct notice thereof to be given to the defendant previous to granting such leave, and may hear the defendant in opposition thereto; and if leave be granted, an entry thereof shall be made on the minutes of the court, or the fact shall be indorsed by the judge on the complaint, which shall then be filed.

Mont. Civ. P., § 1418.

7363. (3618.) Summons, when issued. When unnecessary. When the complaint is filed without leave and notice, or upon leave and notice in case all the defendants do not appear, a summons shall issue and be served as in other cases. When all the defendants appear to oppose the filing of the complaint, no summons need issue.

Mont. Civ. P., § 1419.

7364. (3619.) Pleadings. The pleadings shall be as in other cases.

Mont. Civ. P., § 1421.

7365. (3620.) Judgment of ouster. Costs. Fine where state is party. When a defendant is found guilty of usurping, intruding into, or unlawfully holding or exercising an office, franchise, or privilege, judgment shall be rendered that such defendant be ousted and altogether excluded therefrom, and that the relator recover his costs. The court may also, in its discretion, in actions to which the state is a party, impose upon the defendant a fine not exceeding $5,000, which fine when collected must be paid into the state treasury.

Mont. Civ. P., § 1422*. Cal. C. Civ. P., § 809*. Costs in special proceedings, § 7036, and note.

7366. (3621.) Judgment ousting director of corporation. When the action is against a director of a corporation, and the court finds that, at his election, either illegal votes were received, or legal votes were rejected, or both, sufficient to change the result, judgment may be rendered that the defendant be ousted, and judgment of induction entered in favor of the person who was entitled to be declared elected at such election.

Mont. Civ. P., § 1423.

7367. (3622.) Action for damages within one year. Such person may, at any time within one year after the date of such judgment, bring an action against the party ousted, and recover the damages he sustained by reason of such usurpation.

Mont. Civ. P., § 1426.

7368. (3623.) Judgment against corporation. Dissolution or restraint. When, in any such action, it is found and adjudged that a corporation has, by an act done or omitted, surrendered or forfeited its corporate rights, privileges, or franchises, or has not used the same during a term of two years, judgment shall be entered that it be ousted and excluded therefrom, and that it be dissolved; and when it is found and adjudged that a corporation has offended in any matter or manner which does not work such surrender or forfeiture, or has misused a franchise, or exercised a power not conferred by law, judgment shall be entered that it be enjoined from the continuance of such offense or the exercise of such power.

Mont. Civ. P., § 1428.

7369. (3624.) Quo warranto actions take precedence. Actions under this chapter in any court shall have precedence of any civil business pending therein; and the court, if the matter is of public concern, shall, on motion of the attorney general, or of the attorney of the party, require as speedy a trial of the merits of the case as may be consistent with the rights of the parties.

Mont. Civ. P., § 1433.

7370. (3625.) Procedure in supreme as in district court. Jury. Actions under this chapter commenced in the supreme court shall be conducted in the same manner as if commenced in the district court, and the clerk of the supreme court shall have the same authority to issue process and to enter orders and judgments as the clerk of the district court has in like cases. All pleadings and the conduct of the trial shall be the same as in the district court. If a jury is required to determine an issue of fact, the court shall order the question to be tried before a jury in the district court of any county designated in such order, and that the verdict be certified to the supreme court.

Mont. Civ. P., § 1434*.

7371. (3626.) Appeal does not stay judgment of ouster. If the action is commenced in the district court, an appeal may be taken from the final judgment by either party to the supreme court as in other cases; but if there is judgment of ouster against the defendant, there shall be no stay of execution or proceedings pending such appeal.

Mont. Civ. P., § 1435.
Judgment in case of usurpation of office not stayed on appeal, § 7007.

CHAPTER 67.

SPECIAL PROCEEDINGS—IN GENERAL.

7374. (3627.) Parties, how designated. The party prosecuting a special proceeding may be known as the plaintiff, and the adverse party as the defendant.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1063.
General provisions as to special proceedings, §§ 7413-7416.
Word "action" in limitations applies to special proceedings, § 6492.
A proceeding in habeas corpus, being civil, the applicant is the plaintiff and the party who restrains is the defendant, and therefore an appeal by defendant is not an attempted appeal by the state.
Winnovich v. Emery, 33 U. 345; 93 P. 988.

7375. (3628.) Effect of judgment. Motion and order defined. A judgment in a special proceeding is the final determination of the rights of the parties therein. The definitions of a motion and of an order in a civil action are applicable to similar acts in a special proceeding.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1064.
Costs on appeal in special proceedings, §§ 7036, 7037.
Definitions of motion and order, § 7017.
New trials and appeals, § 7415.

CHAPTER 68.

CERTIORARI.

7376. (3629.) A writ of review. The writ of certiorari may be denominated the writ of review.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1067.
The writ here designated is the common law writ of certiorari, hence the power of the court under it is the same as at common law, except as modified by statute.
Gilbert v. Bd. of P. and F. Comm'rs, 11 U. 378; 40 P. 264.
Clark v. Bd. of P. and F. Comm'rs, 11 U. 399; 40 P. 269.

7377. (3630.) When and by whom granted. A writ of review may be granted by the supreme court, or by a district court, or a judge thereof, when an inferior tribunal, board, or officer exercising judicial functions has exceeded the jurisdiction of such tribunal, board, or officer, and there is no appeal, nor, in the judgment of the court or judge, any plain, speedy, and adequate remedy; provided, that the district courts shall issue writs of certiorari to the justices' courts in the counties within their several jurisdictions in all cases where judgment has been taken in said justices' courts upon an ex parte hearing or by default. Said writ shall issue at any time after judgment, and the district court shall, pursuant to said writ, inspect and review the proceedings had in the justice's court, and shall determine whether said justice's court had jurisdiction of the cause of action or the person of the defendant, and had regularly pursued its authority as prescribed by law.

Am'd '07, p. 64.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1068*.
Original jurisdiction in supreme and in district court, Con. art. 8, secs. 4, 7.
Extent of review, §§ 7383, 7384, and note.
Supreme court may review decision of public utility com., §§ 4834, 4835.

Supreme court may grant the writ.
Young v. Cannon, 2 U. 566.

But under the provisions of Con. art. 8, sec. 4, the supreme court, and not a justice, may issue writs.
Robinson v. District Court, 38 U. 379; 113 P. 1026.

Is not a writ of right; issuing or quashing it is discretionary.
Crosby v. Probate Court, 3 U. 51; 5 P. 552.

Will not generally be issued after time within which appeal would lie.
Id.

Writ does not lie until judgment or final determination by the inferior tribunal.
In re Bates, 1 U. 213.

Where a court refuses to proceed when it has jurisdiction and authority to do so, the remedy is not by certiorari, but by writ of mandate.
Hoffman v. Lewis, 31 U. 179; 87 P. 167.

The justice's record cannot be contradicted by a statement in the return or other evidence de hors the record.
Griffith v. Justice Court, 35 U. 443; 100 P. 1064.
Beck v. Lewis, 49 U. 368; 164 P. 480.
McMillan v. Durand, 38 U. 274; 112 P. 807.

On certiorari to review the overruling by a district court of defendant's motion to dismiss on the ground that the city justice below was ousted of jurisdiction of the prosecution for sale of liquor by the filing of an affidavit of prejudice, so the district court itself was without jurisdiction on appeal, proceedings in a similar case against relator and his conviction and satisfaction of judgment against him could not be considered when in the instant case such proceedings were not pleaded as former jeopardy.
Brooks v. 1st Jud. Court, 43 U. 499; 136 P. 785.

WRIT WILL BE ISSUED TO REVIEW:

Acts of a special board when exercising judicial functions.
Gilbert v. Bd. of P. and F. Com'rs, 11 U. 378; 40 P. 264.
Clark v. Bd. of P. and F. Com'rs, 11 U. 399; 40 P. 269.

Where a court in attachment proceedings makes a formal order of sale in pursuance of which a special execution is issued, a subsequent order of the court recalling the execution though void.
Newell v. District Court, 37 U. 418; 108 P. 1121.

Where a defendant answered in the justice's court and the justice proceeded to trial without first fixing a date and notifying the parties thereof, judgment so entered will be reviewed.
Griffiths v. Justice's Court, 35 U. 443; 100 P. 1064.

An order of the district court striking an abstract of the justice's judgment docket from the records because justice's court had no jurisdiction of the defendant, will be annulled.
Lund v. Booth, 33 U. 341; 93 P. 987.

IT WILL NOT BE ISSUED TO REVIEW:

A judgment that has been performed and satisfied.
Madsen v. Kenner, 4 U. 3; 4 P. 992.

Interlocutory orders or rulings as to whether a service confers jurisdiction, or whether certain conduct or statements of the person served, or his counsel in open court, constitute a general appearance.
Page v. Commer. Natl. Bank, 38 U. 440; 112 P. 816.

Void or default judgments from which there is an appeal.
Saunders v. Sioux City Nursery Co., 6 U. 431; 24 P. 532.
Cereghino v. Third District Court, 8 U. 455; 32 P. 697.
But see Golding v. Jennings, 1 U. 135.
Ducheneau v. House, 4 U. 363; 10 P. 427.

Though the court may in its discretion issue the writ even though there is still opportunity for appeal.
Rohwer v. Dist. Court, 41 U. 279; 125 P. 671.
Herald-Republican Co. v. Lewis, 12 U. 188; 129 P. 624.

But on such review the court cannot inquire into irregularities of the proceedings or errors.
Rohwer v. Dist. Court, 41 U. 279; 125 P. 671.

The action of the state board of equalization in apportioning to a county for taxation railroad property claimed to be located in another county where application was not applied for until after the second Monday in August, the date on which apportionments were required to be made, and the board did not clearly exceed its powers of jurisdiction.
Rich County v. Bailey, 47 U. 378; 154 P. 773.

7378. (3631.) Application on affidavit by party interested. Notice. The application must be made on affidavit by the party beneficially interested, and the court or judge may require a notice of the application to be given to the adverse party, or may grant an order to show cause why it should not be allowed, or may grant the writ without notice.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1069.
An affidavit merely stating that the justice in rendering judgment exceeded his jurisdiction without specifying in what particular, states a mere conclusion, and the proceedings will be dismissed.
Griffiths v. Justice's Court, 35 U. 443; 100 P. 1064.

7379. (3632.) Writ, to whom directed. Return. The writ may be directed to the inferior tribunal, board, or officer, or to any other person having the custody of the record or proceedings to be certified. When directed to a tribunal, the clerk, if there be one, must return the writ with the transcript required.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1070.

7380. (3633.) Id. Contents of writ. The writ of review must command the party to whom it is directed to certify fully to the court issuing the writ, at a specified time and place, a transcript of the record and proceedings, describing or referring to them with convenient certainty, that the same may be reviewed by the court, and requiring the party in the meantime to desist from further proceedings in the matter to be reviewed.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1071.
Extent of review, §§ 7383, 7384, and note.
The only office of the writ of certiorari is to cause the record of the proceedings to be certified from inferior to a superior court. Nothing outside of the record should be certified.
Hamilton v. Spiers, 2 U. 225.

7381. (3634.) Order may stay proceedings. If a stay of proceedings be not intended, the words requiring the stay must be omitted from the writ; these words may be inserted or omitted, in the sound discretion of the court or judge, but if omitted, the power of the inferior court or officer is not suspended or the proceedings stayed.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1072.

7382. (3635.) Writ served as a summons. The writ must be served in the same manner as a summons in a civil action, except when otherwise expressly directed by the court or judge.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1073. Return may be ordered at any time, § 7413.

7383. (3636.) Extent of review under writ. The review upon this writ cannot be extended further than to determine whether the inferior tribunal, board, or officer has regularly pursued the authority of such tribunal, board, or officer.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1074.

7384. (3637.) Amendment of defective return. Hearing. Judgment. If the return of the writ be defective, the court or judge may order a further return to be made. When a full return has been made, the court must hear the parties, or such of them as may attend for that purpose, and may thereupon give judgment, either affirming, annulling, or modifying the proceedings below.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1075.

Under this and the next preceding section, court may examine evidence and decide whether proceedings of inferior tribunal were in accordance therewith and with the law. (Overruling Golding v. Jennings, 1 U. 135.)

Gilbert v. Bd. of P. and F. Com'rs, 11 U. 378; 40 P. 264.

Supreme court, on certiorari, not limited to mere question whether trial court exceeded jurisdiction, but may review errors of law.

Salt Lake City Water Co. v. Salt Lake City, 24 U. 282; 67 P. 791.

While, on certiorari to review a judgment, the question of the judge's right to hold the office, whether by reason of the invalidity of the law under which he was chosen or appointed, or because of his want of the proper qualifications, cannot be considered, the question whether the law under which he acts, and on which the validity of his acts depends, is unconstitutional may be considered.

Mill v. Brown, 31 U. 473; 88 P. 609.

The supreme court will, by certiorari, review the action of the district court in cases appealed from justices' courts only where the district court has acted without or has exceeded its jurisdiction. (Distinguishing Crooks v. Dist. Court, 21 U. 98; 59 P. 529, and Smith v. Dist. Court, 24 U. 164; 66 P. 1065.)

O. S. L. R. R. Co. v. Dist. Court, 30 U. 371; 85 P. 360.

Hansen v. Anderson, 21 U. 286; 61 P. 219.

Since the action of the district court in dismissing an appeal from a justice's court is final, and cannot be reviewed on appeal, nor on certiorari, the remedy is by mandamus where the court erroneously dismisses the appeal, for its act is a refusal to proceed further, so that if contrary to law the court may be required to proceed in accordance therewith.

Hoffman v. Lewis, 31 U. 179; 87 P. 167.

The record as returned by the justice imports verity, and is conclusive as to all matters required to be recorded, and as to such matters may not be aided or varied by anything de hors the record or by statements in the return; but where jurisdictional facts do not appear of record and are required to be made of record, evidence necessary to determine jurisdictional questions involved should be stated in the return and certified to the reviewing court, and the return as to such facts is conclusive when made by the person before whom the proceedings took place, but where such facts set forth in return made by a person before whom the proceedings did not take place the return is not conclusive, and evidence aliunde the return may be introduced, and when the return is made by a person before whom the proceedings did not take place, and he is unable to return as to certain matters, then the court may receive evidence.

Griffiths v. Justice's Court, 35 U. 443; 100 P. 1064.

7385. (3638.) Copy of judgment transmitted. A copy of the judgment, signed by the clerk, must be transmitted to the inferior tribunal, board, or officer having the custody of the record or proceedings certified up.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1076.

When attorney's fee taxed as costs, § 7416.

Costs in special proceedings, § 7036, and note.

Costs not taxed against the justice.

Hamilton v. Spiers, 2 U. 225.

7386. (3639.) Judgment roll. A copy of the judgment, signed by the clerk, entered upon or attached to the writ and return, constitute the judgment roll.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1077. Judgment roll, § 6867.

CHAPTER 69.

MANDAMUS.

7390. (3640.) Mandamus or writ of mandate. The writ of mandamus may be denominated a writ of mandate.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1084.

7391. (3641.) Jurisdiction. When writ granted. It may be issued by the supreme court, or by a district court or a judge thereof, to any inferior tribunal, corporation, board, or person, to compel the performance of an act which the law specially enjoins as a duty resulting from an office, trust, or station; or to compel the admission of a party to the use and enjoyment of a right or office to which he is entitled and from which he is unlawfully precluded by such inferior tribunal, corporation, board, or person.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1085*.

Original jurisdiction in supreme and in district courts, Con. art. 8, secs. 4, 7.

Against county commissioners to compel action on irrigation district organization, § 3503.

By public utility commission, § 4842.

Supreme court may issue against public utility commission, § 4834.

Supreme court may issue this writ.

Maxwell v. Burton, 2 U. 595.

Kendall v. Raybould, 13 U. 226; 44 P. 1034.

But under the provisions of Con. art. 8, sec. 4, the supreme court, and not a justice, may issue writs.

Robinson v. District Court, 38 U. 379; 113 P. 1026.

There is a wide difference in the office of the two writs, mandamus and certiorari; the former is one of mandate, while the latter is one of review.

Maxwell v. Burton, 2 U. 595.

Where mandamus proceedings are pending to compel issuance of certificate of election, prohibition will not lie to prevent issuance of certificate to another.

Page v. Utah Com., 11 U. 119; 39 P. 499.

Where plaintiff obtained a judgment in a justice's court and the defendant had it set aside by district court without a hearing, on the ground that the justice's court had no jurisdiction, plaintiff is entitled to costs in proceedings to supreme court to obtain a writ of mandate to compel reinstatement against all defendants, except the district judge.

Burt v. District Court, 39 U. 1; 114 P. 143.

When the question presented to the supreme court turned upon the facts admitted by demurrer in the district court, and the only question is whether upon such facts the judgment of the district court should not have been in favor of the applicant, the defendant may not for the first time deny the truth of the facts in the supreme court.

Ketchum Coal Co. v. Christensen, 48 U. 214;

MANDAMUS LIES:

To compel proper board to canvass election returns.

Lyman v. Martin, 2 U. 136.

To compel a canvassing board to issue a certificate of election.

Page v. Utah Com., 11 U. 119; 39 P. 499.

To compel county officer to pay over fees.

Richards v. Stanton, 14 U. 180; 46 P. 1109.

To compel city auditor to draw warrant on treasurer to pay salary of a city officer.

Everill v. Swan, 20 U. 56; 57 P. 716.
Moreton v. Swan, 20 U. 79; 57 P. 718.

Each occupant of the office of territorial statistician was entitled to writ to compel the issuance of a warrant for the amount due him for services.

Bache v. Richards, 15 U. 477; 49 P. 532.

To compel executor to pay inheritance tax.

Dixon v. Ricketts, 26 U. 215; 72 P. 947.

To compel approval of an official bond by county treasurer.

Brown v. Atkin, 1 U. 277.

To compel a county court to pass upon and allow proper bills against the county where there was no statute allowing a county to be sued.

Taylor v. County Court of S. L. Co., 2 U. 405.

To control the performance of a ministerial but not of a judicial act.

Id.

To compel officer, having levied execution upon more property than sufficient, to release excess.

Metz v. Schweitzer, 8 U. 184; 30 P. 683.

Mandamus, not execution, is proper when a county refuses to make payment of a judgment.

Emery Co. v. Burreson, 14 U. 328; 47 P. 91.

To compel a city to levy a tax for the purpose of paying a judgment.

Shepard v. Kaysville City, 16 U. 340; 52 P. 592.

To compel board to audit a claim admitted to be just and to belong to class mentioned in § 2501.

Thoreson v. State Bd. Ex., 19 U. 18; 57 P. 175.

To a mayor to compel him to sign a warrant for an officer's salary.

Henriod v. Church, 51 U. —; 172 P. 701.

On the petition of the industrial commission to force an employer to comply with the industrial commission act.

The Industrial Com. of Utah v. Daly Mining Co., 51 U. —; 172 P. 301.

To compel the school board to issue certificate of election to the candidate who, the returns show, received the plurality of votes, though the tally sheets show a smaller number of votes cast than was shown by the certified returns.

Rich v. Henderson, 49 U. 258; 162 P. 621.

To compel a carrier not to discriminate against a person and to receive him at a place where it receives others.

Skeen v. Ogden R. T. Co., 38 U. 242; 112 P. 120.

To compel the enforcement of official action by the state board of examiners.

Davis v. Cutler et al., 34 U. 99; 95 P. 1071.
Davis v. Edwards, 33 U. 243; 93 P. 720.

To enforce a stockholder's right to inspect corporate books and records.

Kimball v. Dern, 39 U. 181; 116 P. 28.

But where stockholder demands inspection of the corporate books from a bad motive or at a time or in a manner which unnecessarily interferes with the corporate offices, the exercise of the right will not be enforced by the court.

Clawson v. Clayton, 33 U. 266; 93 P. 729.

To compel the court to enter final judgment as of the date of final submission, when six months have elapsed and the court held neither party was entitled to a divorce.

Benson v. Ritchie, 44 U. 59; 138 P. 136.

To compel trustees of an irrigation district to assume management of the whole district.

Harris v. Tarbet, 19 U. 328; 57 P. 33.

It was not a good objection to mandamus that the salary had already been paid to a person now out of office, who had claimed such salary as an officer de facto, and that, the title to the office being involved, quo warranto was the proper remedy.

Williams v. Clayton, 6 U. 86; 21 P. 398.

An alleged de facto officer out of office when the mandamus was instituted is not a necessary party, since payment to him is no defense.

Id.

Mandamus is the appropriate remedy to restore a de jure officer to his office; and it is not necessary to resort to quo warranto even though the office be in possession of another.

Pratt v. B. of P. & F. Com'rs, 15 U. 1; 49 P. 747.

Officer not allowed to plead unconstitutionality of statute. Where statute requires an officer to perform a ministerial act, he will not be permitted in mandamus proceeding to plead in justification of non-performance that the act would violate the constitution. (On rehearing, 21 U. 187; 60 P. 982.)

Thoreson v. State Bd. Ex., 19 U. 18; 57 P. 175.

Where the ordinance provided that on any instalment, or the interest, not being paid on date due, the whole amount of the special tax unpaid at the time the instalment and interest are due, shall become due and payable, and providing for sale of all the property upon which the special tax is delinquent, mandamus lies to compel city treasurer to enforce such provision.

Stinson v. Godbe, 48 U. 444; 160 P. 280.

MANDAMUS DOES NOT LIE:

To compel outgoing sheriff to deliver to his successor property held under writ of attachment.

Lynch v. Lee, 1 U. 271.

To undo an act already done.

Maxwell v. Burton, 2 U. 595.

To direct, how the discretionary power vested in the state board of land commissioners shall be exercised.

Miles v. Wells, 22 U. 55; 61 P. 534.

To review the dissolution of an attachment.

H. L. Griffin Co. v. Howell, 38 U. 357; 113 P. 326.

Where salary of a public officer has been fixed at a definite sum, no other appropriation is required, and application for writ of mandamus to compel special appropriation for a fixed salary must be denied.

Silvey v. Boyle, 20 U. 205; 57 P. 880.

To compel a city to connect school property with the public sewer, it being exempt from the payment of sewer tax.

State v. McGonigal, 38 U. 277; 112 P. 401.

To compel county commissioners to issue a liquor license where it is shown that the applicant has constantly disobeyed the law.

Smythe v. Butters, 38 U. 151; 112 P. 804.

To compel the state engineer to grant the right to perfect an irrigation ditch so as to avoid waste of water by seepage, and to permit the applicant to use the water saved.

Tanner v. Beers, 49 U. 536; 165 P. 465.

To compel reinstatement of an expelled member of a trade association where, owing to nonresidence of defendants, the decree could not be enforced.

Pratt v. Amalgamated Ass'n, 50 U. —; 167 P. 830.

The action of public officer which requires the exercise of discretion will not be reviewed by mandamus unless he is guilty of clear and wilful disregard of duty, or acts capriciously, or with partiality, and unless it is clearly his duty to act as requested.

Bishop v. Morehouse, 38 U. 234; 112 P. 169.

The statutes and ordinance do not impose upon the city treasurer the power and duty to sell assessed property upon delinquency of an instalment before the whole tax is due and delinquent, with sufficient certainty to justify the direction of such action by the treasurer by mandamus.

Stinson v. Godbe, 46 U. 468; 150 P. 967.

Mandamus will lie only where a board or officer has refused to act, and not after action to reverse or review the judgment or discretion of the board or officer.

Civic Fed. v. S. L. County, 22 U. 6; 61 P. 222.

Where board of county commissioners has rejected a claim against the county, suit on the claim and not mandamus is the proper remedy.

Civic Fed. v. S. L. Co., 22 U. 6; 61 P. 222.

Toronto v. S. L. Co., 10 U. 410; 37 P. 587.

To authorize mandamus against a public officer, relator must show a clear right to the performance of the act demanded with a corresponding duty upon the officer to perform it and the act of a public officer which requires the exercise of discretion will not be reviewed by mandamus unless he is guilty of a clear and wilful disregard of duty or acts capriciously or with partiality.

Bishop v. Morehouse, 38 U. 234; 112 P. 169.

But an officer, though acting ministerially, may attack a statute directing him to act as unconstitutional and justify his refusal in a mandamus proceedings on that ground, and where he has performed an act in accordance with the particular law, mandamus is not maintainable to compel him to undo what he has done because the law is unconstitutional.

State v. Candland, 36 U. 406; 104 P. 285.

Where a mining company incorrectly reported to state board of equalization the gross yield of certain mines as located in Utah county, when they were largely located in plaintiff county, and under such reports the assessed valuation apportioned Utah county the plaintiff after such apportionment and rate of taxation had been fixed in accordance therewith and all levies had been computed, could not maintain mandamus to compel the state board of equalization to grant a hearing and reapportion the assessed value of such mining property to plaintiff county.

Juab County v. Bailey, 44 U. 377; 140 P. 764.

Where it was instituted to compel county officers to correct an assessment where it was not instituted until the 25th of August after the assessment had been completed and the taxes equalized, the rate established, the funds apportioned and the assessment roll passed entirely beyond the control of each party defendant to the proceedings.

Kirie v. Randolph, 51 U. —; 169 P. 941.

LIES TO LOWER COURT:

To compel referee to settle statement on motion for new trial in a proper case.

Whitmore v. Harris, 10 U. 259; 37 P. 464.

To grant a jury trial in an action at law, on demand duly made.

State v. Hart, 26 U. 229; 72 P. 938.

State v. Cherry, 22 U. 1; 60 P. 1103.

To order a justice of the peace to try a case where plaintiff refuses to deposit the fees of jurors summoned at instance of defendant, though he may have entered a judgment of dismissal.

People v. Van Tassel, 13 U. 9; 43 P. 625.

To compel obedience to remittitur.

State v. Norrell, 17 U. 8; 53 P. 610.

To compel an inferior court to act on matters within the jurisdiction of which it has erroneously refused to assume jurisdiction.

Hoffman v. Lewis, 31 U. 179; 87 P. 167.

Since the action of the district court in dismissing an appeal from a justice's court is final, and cannot be reviewed on appeal, nor on certiorari, the remedy is by mandamus where the court erroneously dismisses the appeal.

Hoffman v. Lewis, 31 U. 179; 87 P. 167.

Christensen v. Christensen, 51 U. —; 173 P. 383.

To require the clerk of city court to enter a default judgment, where proper, notwithstanding that the judge of the court directed him to enter no such judgment.

Utah Ass'n Credit Men v. Bowman, 38 U. 326; 113 P. 63.

To reinstate a case where the court erroneously dismissed appeal because non-resident bond for costs had not been filed.

Douglas v. District Court S. L. County, 45 U. 486; 146 P. 562.

To compel the court to try the case, where it has jurisdiction of the subject matter and the person.

Neilson v. 3rd Dist. Court, 36 U. 223; 102 P. 868.

To proceed in a case of which it has acquired jurisdiction by appeal from the municipal court.

Griffin Co. v. Howell, 38 U. 357; 113 P. 326.

To enforce its judgment in condemnation proceedings granting the plaintiff possession of certain strip of ground.

Ketchum Coal Co. v. Christensen, 48 U. 214; 159 P. 541.

To compel a court to proceed when, through mere mistake of law, it declined to take jurisdiction, and for that reason refused to proceed to try the case or hear and determine the issues therein, or where it has made findings, to enter final judgment.

Ketchum Coal Co. v. District Court, 48 U. 342; 159 P. 737.

Where the court wrongfully elects for a party which action he must prosecute, to compel it to proceed with the action which the applicant elects to prosecute.

Dorsett v. Morse, 36 U. 362; 103 P. 969.

Where a judge imposes an unwarranted condition upon the mortgagor of his giving a bond, before according him the remedy granted by § 153, he may be compelled by mandamus to proceed with the case.

Watts v. Greenwood, 49 U. 118; 162 P. 72.

Where a district court sets aside a justice court judgment on the ground it had no jurisdiction, mandamus lies to reinstate the justice's judgment, if it had jurisdiction.

Burt v. Dist. Court, 39 U. 1; 114 P. 143.

Where district court wrongfully refuses to take jurisdiction of an appeal of a case because the complaint in the justice's court did not comply with provisions of § 7447.

Coffee & Spice Co. v. District Court, 44 U. 411; 140 P. 666.

DOES NOT LIE TO LOWER COURT:

Where right of appeal exists, unless the interest of justice requires the interposition of the power.
State v. Booth, 21 U. 88; 59 P. 553.

To reinstate an appeal from the city court for failure of bondsmen to justify where the right of such reinstatement is not entirely clear, since there is adequate remedy by appeal.
Kyrimes v. Kyrimes, 45 U. 168; 143 P. 232.

To reinstate an appeal where notice of the judgment was given informally by letter and appeal was not taken within thirty days from that time.
Tooele Meat & Stor. Co. v. Morse, 43 U. 515; 136 P. 965.

To correct its record which recites the granting of a motion by the district attorney to dismiss a criminal action and discharging accused from custody so as to recite that merely the information, not the action, was dismissed.
Barnes v. Second District Court, 36 U. 396; 104 P. 282.

Where defendant had been convicted of manslaughter, and upon his motion the trial court had indefinitely suspended sentence; held, in an action in mandamus against the successor of the trial judge to compel him to sentence defendant, that it would be presumed that the trial judge intended to impose only a nominal punishment, and that mandamus would not issue to compel his successor to sentence defendant.
People v. Blackburn, 6 U. 347; 23 P. 759.

Where the court dismisses an appeal because failure of sureties on appeal bond to justify in time specified, or refuses to reinstate the appeal on motion, unless the court acted capriciously or arbitrarily.
Kyrimes v. Kyrimes, 45 U. 168; 143 P. 232.

7392. (3642.) Issued when ordinary remedy inadequate. Affidavit. This writ must be issued in all cases where there is not a plain, speedy, and adequate remedy in the ordinary course of law. It must be issued upon affidavit, on the application of the party beneficially interested.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1086.
Mandamus is a civil remedy having all the qualities and attributes of a civil action, and sufficiency of the pleadings therein must be determined by the same rules as in civil actions.
Lyman v. Martin, 2 U. 136.

Chamberlain v. Warburton, 1 U. 267.
It is no objection to an action in mandamus that the plaintiff had a plain, speedy, and adequate remedy against a third party. The remedy must be against the defendant in mandamus, and not against a third person.
Williams v. Clayton, 6 U. 86; 21 P. 398.

7393. (3643.) Alternative or peremptory. Forms. The writ may be either alternative or peremptory. The alternative writ must state generally the allegation against the party to whom it is directed, and command such party, immediately after the receipt of the writ, or at some other specified time, to do the act required to be performed, or to show cause before the court, at a specified time and place, why he has not done so. The peremptory writ must be in a similar form, except that the words requiring the party to show cause why he has not done as commanded must be omitted and a return day inserted.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1087.

Return may be ordered at any time, § 7413.

7394. (3644.) Alternative issued without notice. Peremptory. Notice. Default. When the application to the court or judge is made without notice to the adverse party, and the writ be allowed, the alternative must be first issued; but if the application be upon due notice and the writ be allowed, the peremptory may be issued in the first instance. The notice of the application, when given, must be at least ten days unless the court or judge shall order a shorter notice. The writ cannot be granted by default. The case must be heard by the court whether the adverse party appear or not.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1088*.

7395. (3645.) Answer. Verification. On the return day of the alternative, or the day on which the application for the writ is noticed (or such further day as the court may allow), the party on whom the writ or notice has been served may show cause by answer under oath, made in the same manner as an answer to a complaint in a civil action.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1089*.

An answer may be filed with a demurrer without waiving the demurrer.
Davis v. Edwards, 33 U. 243; 93 P. 720.

7396. (3646.) Issue of fact may be tried by jury. Damages. If an answer be made which raises a question as to a matter of fact essential to the determination of the motion, and affecting the substantial rights of the parties, and upon the supposed truth of the allegation of which the application for the writ is based, the court may, in its discretion, order the question to be tried before a jury, and postpone the argument until such trial can be had, and, if the proceedings are pending in the supreme court, the verdict certified to that court. The order for trial may also direct the jury to assess any damages which the applicant may have sustained, in case they find for him. If the order for trial is issued from the supreme court, it must designate the county in which the same shall be had.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1090*.
Special issues may be tried by jury, § 6444.
What issues triable by a jury, § 6781.

This section does not abrogate party's constitutional right to a jury trial in a proper case.
Chamberlain v. Warburton, 1 U. 267.

7397. (3647.) Sufficiency of answer. Denial. Avoidance. On the trial the applicant is not precluded by the answer from any valid objection to its sufficiency, and may countervail it by proof, either in direct denial or by way of avoidance.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1091.

7398. (3648.) Motion for new trial, where made. The motion for a new trial must be made in the court in which the issue of fact is tried.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1092.

7399. (3649.) When application pending in supreme court, verdict transmitted. Argument. If no notice of a motion for a new trial be given, or, if given, the motion be denied, if the application for the writ is pending in the supreme court, the clerk of the district court must within five days transmit to the supreme court a certified copy of the verdict attached to the order of trial; after which either party may bring on the argument of the application in the court in which it is pending upon reasonable notice to the adverse party.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1093*.

7400. (3650.) Proceedings upon default, demurrer, or immaterial answer. If no answer be made, the case must be heard on the papers of the applicant. If the answer raises only questions of law, or puts in issue immaterial statements not affecting the substantial rights of the parties, the court must proceed to hear or fix a day for hearing the argument of the case.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1094.

7401. (3651.) Applicant may recover damages and costs. Execution. Peremptory writ. If judgment be given for the applicant, he may recover the damages which he has sustained, as found by the jury, or as may be determined by the court or referees, upon a reference to be ordered, together with costs; and for such damages and costs an execution may issue, and a peremptory mandate must also be awarded without delay.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1095.
Costs in special proceeding allowed as of course, § 7036.
Where issuance of mandamus to compel referee to settle statement on motion for a new trial was resisted by the successful party, costs will be awarded against him instead of the referee.
Whitmore v. Harris, 10 U. 259; 37 P. 464.

Where court commissioner refuses in good faith to pay fees of a witness, costs will not be awarded against him.
People v. Pyper, 6 U. 160; 21 P. 722.
Mandamus to compel the canvassing board to issue a certificate of election is a special proceeding hereunder, so as to entitle plaintiff on a judgment in his favor to an allowance for costs, as of course.

7402. (3652.) Writ served as a summons. The writ must be served in the same manner as a summons in a civil action, except when otherwise expressly directed by order of the court. Service upon a majority of the members of any board or body is service upon the board or body, whether at the time of the service the board or body was in session or not.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1096.
Service on person not less than fourteen years of age at defendant's usual residence is equivalent to personal service.
People, ex rel. Jones v. House, 4 U. 382; 10 P. 843.

7403. (3653.) Refusal to obey writ. Fine. Imprisonment. When a peremptory mandate has been issued and directed to any inferior tribunal, corporation, board, or person, if it appear to the court that any member of such tribunal, corporation, board, or person upon whom the writ has been personally served has, without just excuse, refused or neglected to obey the same, the court may, upon motion, impose a fine not exceeding $500. In case of persistence in a refusal of obedience, the court may order the party to be imprisoned until the writ is obeyed, and may make any orders necessary and proper for the complete enforcement of the writ.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1097*.

CHAPTER 70.

PROHIBITION.

7407. (3654.) Prohibition counterpart of mandamus. Defined. The writ of prohibition is the counterpart of the writ of mandate. It arrests the proceedings of any tribunal, corporation, board, or person, whether exercising functions judicial or ministerial, when such proceedings are without or in excess of the jurisdiction of such tribunal, corporation, board, or person.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1102*.

Does not lie to public utility commission, § 4834.

A writ of prohibition could not issue at common law to arrest the doing of a ministerial act, but sec. 6 of the Organic Act, and, in pursuance of that authority, this section, have provided for the issuance of such writs to arrest the doing of ministerial acts.

People, ex rel. Ducheneau v. House, 4 U. 369; 10 P. 838.

The issuance of a writ of prohibition by the supreme court of the territory of Utah, arresting proceedings already commenced in an inferior court, is in aid of the appellate jurisdiction of the supreme court, and within its authority.

People, ex rel. Yearian v. Spiers, 4 U. 385; 10 P. 609; 11 P. 509.

See People v. Douglas, 5 U. 283; 14 P. 801.

The power conferred on the court by Con. art. 8, secs, 4 and 7, to issue writs of prohibition, etc., cannot be enlarged or abridged by the legislature, and the district court in revewing on prohibition the ruling of the justice's court cannot try a matter de novo, but the inquiry must be confined to a review of the proceedings before the justice.

Robinson v. Durand, 36 U. 95; 104 P. 760.

7408. (3655.) By whom and when issued. Affidavit. It may be issued by the supreme court, or by a district court or a judge thereof, to an inferior tribunal, or to a corporation, board, or person, in all cases where there is not a plain, speedy, and adequate remedy in the ordinary course of law. It is issued upon affidavit, on the application of the person beneficially interested.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1103*.

Original jurisdiction in supreme and in district courts, Con. art. 8, secs, 4, 7.

PROHIBITION LIES:

Where a justice of the peace has tried a case of which he has no jurisdiction, although there would be an appeal.

Ducheneau v. House, 4 U. 363; 10 P. 838.

To arrest the proceedings of an inferior tribunal when it is acting without or in excess of its jurisdiction, and there is no plain, speedy, and adequate remedy in the ordinary course of law.

Yearian v. Spiers, 4 U. 482; 10 P. 609; 11 P. 509.

See People v. Douglass, 5 U. 283; 14 P. 801.

To arrest proceedings of the United States commissioners to punish for contempt acts which are not such.

People v. Carrington, 5 U. 531; 17 P. 735.

To arrest further proceedings, subject to the right of the court to permit appellant to supply the defect of proof of service, where the transcript on an appeal from the justice's court does not show service of notice of appeal.

State v. Third District Court, 36 U. 267; 103 P. 261.

Where a defendant moves to set aside a justice court judgment and then more than thirty days thereafter attempts to give notice of appeal, the district court is without jurisdiction.

Grant v. Dist. Court, 38 U. 138; 110 P. 981.

Before the amendment to § 7514, where notice of appeal was not filed before served, or on the same date, against the district court hearing the appeal.

Walton v. Dist. Court, 36 U. 502; 105 P. 105.

Where the district court is about to proceed with the trial on an accusation against the county attorney for his removal under § 8639 which alleges acts not prohibited, the court being without jurisdiction, it may be prohibited from proceeding.

Parker v. Morgan, 48 U. 405; 160 P. 764.

Where the transcript on an appeal from the justice's court is defective in not showing service of notice of appeal, the remedy of the successful party in the justice court, is by prohibition to arrest further proceedings, subject to the right of the court to permit appellant to supply the defect of proof of service.

State v. Dist. Court, 36 U. 267; 103 P. 261.

PROHIBITION DOES NOT LIE:

When there is a plain, speedy, and adequate remedy at law.

Ducheneau v. Ireland, 5 U. 108; 13 P. 87.

People v. Hills, 5 U. 410; 16 P. 405.

To restrain officer from enforcing an execution regular on its face, based on judgment regular on its face, though really void. Remedy is motion to quash execution.

Ducheneau v. Ireland, 5 U. 108; 13 P. 87.

Where mandamus by plaintiff is pending to compel the issuance of a certificate of election to prevent the issuance of a certificate to another person.

Page v. Letcher, 11 U. 134; 39 P. 502.

When the thing sought to be prevented is already done.

Brooks v. Warren, 5 U. 89; 12 P. 659.

See Maxwell v. Burton, 2 U. 595.

Where defendant had right of appeal and the time in which garnishee could appeal had not expired at the time for application for writ of prohibition, the applicants had an adequate remedy at law

Overland M. Co. v. McMaster, 19 U. 177; 56 P. 977.

Where §§ 8682, 8688 have not been complied with, defendant's remedy, on being refused relief by the trial court, is by appeal.

Brown v. Dist. Court, 27 U. 336; 75 P. 739.

As a general rule where there is available to the applicant another plain, speedy, or adequate remedy in the ordinary course of law, either by appeal, writ of error, writ of review, certiorari, injunction, or other proceeding appropriate to the relief.

Campbell v. Durand, 39 U. 118; 115 P. 986.

Where a justice's court retained jurisdiction of the action, notwithstanding the uncontradicted affidavit of the defendant, averring his nonresidence and that he had not contracted to pay the obligation sued on in the precinct, and rendered judgment for plaintiff, the defendant's remedy was by appeal, certiorari, or injunction.

Id.

In advance of trial in city court, where validity of a statute or ordinance is involved.

Carrigan v. Bowman, 40 U. 91; 119 P. 1037.

To restrain county commissioners from appointing a justice of the peace under a law claimed to be invalid after the commissioners have made the appointment.

Martineau v. Crabbe, 46 U. 327; 150 P. 301.

To restrain the court from hearing garnishment proceedings claimed to have been maliciously instituted.

Board of Home Missions v. Maughan, 35 U. 516; 101 P. 581.

7409. (3656.) Alternative or peremptory. Forms of. The writ must be either alternative or peremptory. The alternative writ must state generally the allegation against the party to whom it is directed, and command such party to desist or refrain from further proceedings in the action or matter specified therein, until the further order of the court or judge from which it is issued, and to show cause before such court, at a specified time and place, why such party should not be absolutely restrained from any further proceedings in such action or matter. The peremptory writ must be in a similar form, except that the words requiring the party to show cause why he should not be absolutely restrained, etc., must be omitted, and a return day inserted.

Length of time between service and hearing is discretionary with the court.
People, ex rel. Jones v. House, 4 U. 382; 10 P. 843.

7410. (3657.) Certain provisions of previous chapter applicable. The provisions of §§ 7394-7403, both inclusive, of the next preceding chapter, apply to the proceedings for writ of prohibition.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1105*.

CHAPTER 71.

GENERAL PROVISIONS AS TO CERTIORARI, MANDAMUS, AND PROHIBITION.

7413. (3658.) Court may order return and hearing at any time. Writs of certiorari, mandamus, and prohibition may, in the discretion of the court or judge issuing the writ, be made returnable and a hearing thereon be had at any time.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1108*.
Applied in Brown v. Atkin, 1 U. 277.

7414. (3659.) Civil procedure applicable. Exception. Except as otherwise provided in the three chapters next preceding, the provisions of this code relative to civil actions in the district court are applicable to and constitute the rules of practice in the proceedings mentioned in those chapters.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1109.

7415. (3660.) Id. New trials and appeals. The provisions of this code relative to new trials in, and appeals from, the district court, except so far as they are inconsistent with the provisions of the three chapters next preceding, apply to the proceedings mentioned in those chapters.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1110*.
Motions and judgments, § 7375.
This section authorizes motion for new trial of proceeding originally commenced in supreme court.
Yearian v. Spiers, 4 U. 385; 11 P. 509; 10 P. 609.

7416. (3660x.) Attorney's fees to be taxed as costs. In any action brought to review, by certiorari or prohibition, any judgment, order, or proceeding of any justice of the peace in this state, the successful party shall be entitled to recover a reasonable attorney's fee, to be fixed by the court, not to exceed $25, to be taxed as costs in such action. '07, p. 87.

Costs in special proceedings allowed as of course, § 7036, and note.

CHAPTER 72.

VOLUNTARY DISSOLUTION OF CORPORATIONS.

7418. (3661.) Corporation may be dissolved upon its application. A corporation may be dissolved by the district court of the county where its office or principal place of business is situated, upon its voluntary application for that purpose.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1227*.
Voluntary dissolution of irrigation company, § 3487.
Receiver may be appointed, §§ 6764, 6765.
Dissolution by act of directors, note to § 868.
The mere transfer, by deed of assignment, of the corporate property of a corporation to a trustee, for the purpose of paying its debts, does not, per se, work a dissolution of the corporation.
Weyeth H. & M. Co. v. James-Spencer-B. Co., 15 U. 110; 47 P. 604.

7419. (3662.) Application, contents of. The application must be in writing, and must set forth:

1. That, at a meeting of the stockholders or members called for that purpose, the dissolution of the corporation was resolved upon by a two-thirds vote of all the stockholders or members;

2. That all claims and demands against the corporation have been satisfied and discharged.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1228.
The minority of the shareholders cannot prevent dissolution in accord with the will of the majority.
Geddes v. Anaconda Mine, 245 Fed. 226.

7420. (3663.) Id. By whom made. Verification. The application must be made by or in behalf of the board of directors, or, should the board decline to make the same, by any stockholder, and must be verified in the same manner as a complaint in a civil action.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1229*.

7421. (3664.) Order to file application. Notice by publication. If the judge is satisfied that the application is in conformity with this chapter, he must order it to be filed with the clerk, and that the clerk give not less than thirty nor more than fifty days' notice of the application, by publication in some newspaper having general circulation in the county.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1230*.

7422. (3665.) Objections to application. At any time before the expiration of the time of publication, any person may file his objections to the application.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1231.

7423. (3666.) Hearing and notice to objectors. Decree. After the time of publication has expired, the court may, upon five days' notice to the persons who have filed objections, or without further notice, if no objections have been filed, proceed to hear and determine the application; and, if all the statements therein made are shown to be true, must declare the corporation dissolved.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1232.

7424. (3667.) Judgment roll. Appeal. The application, notices, proof of publication, objections, if any, and declaration of dissolution constitute the judgment roll; and from the judgment an appeal may be taken as from judgments in other civil actions.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1233.
Involuntary dissolution, time to wind up affairs, §§ 868, 870.

CHAPTER 73.

JUSTICES' COURTS—PLACE OF TRIAL.

7426. (3668.) Where actions commenced, and tried. Actions in justices' courts must be commenced, and, subject to the right to change the place of trial as in this chapter provided, must be tried:

1. If there is no justice's court for the precinct or city in which the defendant resides,—in any city or precinct of the county in which he resides;

2. When two or more persons are jointly or jointly and severally bound in any debt or contract, or otherwise jointly liable in the same action, and reside in different precincts or different cities of the same county, or in different counties,—in the precinct or city in which any of the persons liable may reside;

3. In cases of injury to the person or property,—in the precinct or city where the injury was committed or where the defendant resides;

4. If for forcible entry, forcible detainer, unlawful detainer, or for the foreclosure or enforcement of a lien upon personal property,—in the precinct or city in which the property or some part thereof is situated, or, if there is no justice's court for such precinct or city, in any other precinct or city in the county;

5. If for the recovery of personal property, or the value thereof, or damages for taking or retaining the same,—in the precinct or city in which the property may be found, or in which the property was taken, or in which the defendant resides;

6. When the defendant is a non-resident of the county,—in any precinct or city wherein he may be found;

7. When the defendant is a non-resident of the state,—in any precinct or city in the state;

8. When a person has contracted to perform an obligation at a particular place and resides in another county, precinct, or city,—in the precinct or city in which such obligation is to be performed, or in which he resides;

9. When the parties voluntarily appear and plead without summons,—in any precinct or city in the state;

10. In all other cases,—in the precinct or city in which the defendant resides.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 832*.

Jurisdiction of justices of the peace, Con. art. 8, sec. 8; §§ 1790-1794.

Place of holding court, § 1790, and note.

Action commenced by filing complaint, § 7435.

Commencing action in wrong precinct a misdemeanor, § 8510.

Dismissal of action brought in wrong precinct, § 7491, and note.

Where complaint not verified or does not truthfully recite jurisdictional facts, judgment void and subject to attack on appeal, prohibition, or certiorari, § 7448.

Due bills payable generally issued in a certain precinct for work done there are not thereby made payable therein so as to permit an action upon them to be brought in the precinct where executed; suit must be brought where debtor resides.

Klopenstein v. Woolf, 3 U. 426; 4 P. 227.

Under § 3595, C. L. 1888, providing for the dismissal of an actioin without prejudice when it is objected to at the trial and appears by the evidence that the action is brought in the wrong county, precinct, or city, a defendant need not specially appear to move for such dismissal, but may object by answer and prove the facts on the trial.

Kansas City H. Co. v. Neilson, 10 U. 27; 36 P. 131.

A general appearance and answer waives all objection, though the action was brought in wrong precinct.

Neilson v. Third Jud. Dist. Court, 36 U. 223; 102 P. 868.

Quealy v. Sullivan, 42 U. 565; 132 P. 4.

A complaint alleging that a horse entered on the track in western part of Box Elder precinct, and strayed thence eastward where it was killed by defendant's locomotive, sufficiently states the place of killing as in Box Elder precinct to admit evidence on the point in the absence of a special demurrer for uncertainty, and was sufficient to give the court jurisdiction against the motion to dismiss the appeal.

In an action before a justice of the peace, an officer's return upon a summons, of service in a certain precinct, does not sustain a finding that defendant was not a resident of another precinct, as alleged in the complaint.

Beck v. Lewis, 49 U. 368; 164 P. 480.

7427. (3669.) Change of venue, when allowed. Affidavit. Loss of jurisdiction. Penalty. The court must at any time before the trial, on motion, change the place of trial in the following cases:

1. When it appears to the satisfaction of the justice before whom the action is pending, by affidavit of either party, that such justice is a material witness for either party;

2. When either party makes and files an affidavit that he believes that he cannot have a fair and impartial trial before such justice, by reason of the interest, prejudice, or bias of the justice;

3. When a jury is demanded and either party makes and files an affidavit that he cannot have a fair and impartial trial, on account of the bias or prejudice of the citizens of the precinct or city against him;

4. When from any cause the justice is disqualified from acting;

5. When the justice is sick or unable to act;

6. When none of the parties defendant resided in the precinct in which said action is brought at the time it was commenced, and when any party defendant makes and files an affidavit to the effect that, at the time of the bringing of the action, none of the parties defendant were residents of the precinct wherein said action is brought, and that the party making the affidavit did not contract to perform the obligation in said precinct, and setting forth the place of his residence at the time of the bringing of the action and the particular place, if any, where he contracted to perform the obligation.

Said affidavit shall be conclusive upon the parties to the action and upon the justice as to the particular place, if any, where the defendant contracted to perform the obligation, and also as to the residence of defendants at the time of the bringing of the action, unless some other party defendant shall, within two days thereafter, file with said justice his affidavit stating his place of residence at the time of the bringing of said action was within the precinct where said action was brought. Where the affidavits filed under this provision show that at the time of the bringing of said action all the defendants resided elsewhere than within the precinct wherein said action was brought, the court must change the place of trial without motion being made therefor, and his jurisdiction over said action shall cease, upon filing of such affidavit, for all purposes excepting that his jurisdiction shall continue for the sole purpose of transferring such case to the justice of the peace to whom such action is transferred. Any justice of the peace failing to comply with the provisions of this section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall, as additional punishment, forfeit his office.

Disqualification of judge, Con. art. 8, sec. 13; § 1795.

Process to any part of the county, § 1793.

Commencing action in wrong precinct a misdemeanor, § 8510.

In cases of sickness, etc., another justice may act in his stead, § 7541.

Summons served only in the county, exceptions, § 7442.

Where the defendant files an affidavit that he was not a resident of and did not promise to pay in the precinct in which the suit is started and it is not contradicted, the justice is ousted of jurisdiction.

Campbell v. Durand, 39 U. 118; 115 P. 987.

The amendment of 1905 adding a new subdivision does not affect the old subdivisions; the filing of the affidavit provided by sub. 6 deprives the court of jurisdiction to proceed except for transfer of cases.

Gallegher v. Third Dist. Court, 36 U. 68; 104 P. 750.

Where, upon filing the affidavit provided for by sub. 6, the justice court dismissed the action and the plaintiff appeals, the defendant by answering on the merits waives the non-jurisdiction of the justice's court.

Neilsen v. Third Dist. Court, 36 U. 223; 102 P. 868.

A justice does not lose jurisdiction over a suit brought before him in the wrong precinct until the affidavit herein provided is filed.

Beck v. Lewis, 49 U. 368; 164 P. 480.

The defendant waives the objection to the precinct by suffering a default judgment, especially where the complaint stated the necessary jurisdictional facts and no application for changing the place of trial was made.

Id.

7428. (3670.) Id. But one change allowed. The place of trial cannot be changed on motion of the same party more than once, upon any or all the grounds specified in subs. 1 and 2 of the preceding section.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 834*.

7429. (3671.) Id. To what court transferred in cases under first five subdivisions. When the court orders the place of trial to be changed, upon any of the grounds specified in the 1st, 2nd, 3rd, 4th, and 5th subs. of § 7427, the action must be transferred for trial to a court the parties may agree upon, and if they do not agree, then to another justice's court in the same county.

Am'd '05, p. 109.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 835*.

Costs on change of venue, one dollar, § 2527.

7430. (3671x.) Action brought in wrong precinct. Change of venue. When one defendant; when two or more. When the place of trial is changed upon the filing of an affidavit of any party defendant to an action as provided for in sub. 6, § 7427, the action must be transferred for trial as follows:

1. Where there is only one party defendant,—to the justice of the precinct wherein said defendant, as shown by his said affidavit, resided at the time of the bringing of the action;

2. When there are two or more parties defendant to the action who are jointly or jointly and severally bound in any debt or contract, or otherwise jointly liable in the same action, and they resided at the time of the bringing of said action in different precincts of the same county where such action was brought, but neither of whom resided in the precinct where said action is brought at the time of the bringing of the action, as shown by the affidavit provided for in sub. 6, § 7427,—to the justice of the precinct where either one of the defendants resided at the time of the bringing of the action;

3. When there are two or more parties defendant to the action who are jointly or jointly and severally bound in any debt or contract, or are jointly liable in the same action, and who resided in different counties and neither one of whom resided in the precinct where said action was brought at the time it was commenced, as shown by the affidavit provided for in sub. 6, § 7427,—to a justice of the precinct in the same county where said action was brought and within which one of the defendants may have resided at the bringing thereof;

4. When there are two or more parties defendant to the action who are jointly or jointly and severally bound in any debt or contract, or are jointly liable in the same action, and who resided in different counties and neither of whom resided in the county where said action was brought at the time of the bringing thereof, as shown by the affidavit provided for in sub. 6, § 7427,—to a justice of the peace of the precinct and county where either of said defendants resided at the time of the bringing of said action. '05, p. 109.

Joinder, etc., of parties jointly and severally liable, § 6511, and notes.

Assuming joint liability to confer jurisdiction a misdemeanor, § 8511, and judgment void, § 7448.

7431. (3672.) Id. Proceedings after order of transfer. After an order has been made transferring the action for trial to another court, the following proceedings must be had:

1. The justice ordering the transfer must immediately transmit to the justice of the court to which it is transferred, on payment by the party applying of all costs that have accrued, all the papers in the action, together with a certified transcript from his docket of the proceedings therein;

2. Upon the receipt by him of such papers, the justice of the court to which the case is transferred must issue a notice, stating when and where the trial will take place, which notice must be served upon the parties at least one day before the time fixed for trial.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 836.

7432. (3673.) Id. Jurisdiction of court to which transferred. From the time the order changing the place of trial is made, the court to which the action is thereby transferred has the same jurisdiction over it as though it had been commenced in such court.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 837.

7433. (3674.) Case involving title to real property, etc., certified to district court. The parties to an action in a justice's court cannot give evidence upon any questions which involve the title or possession of real property, or which involve the legality of any tax, impost, toll, or municipal fine, nor can any issue presenting such question be tried by such court; and if it appear from the answer of the defendant, verified by his oath, or that of his agent or attorney, that the determination of the action will necessarily involve the question of title or possession to real property, or involve the legality of any tax, impost, toll, or municipal fine, the justice must suspend all further proceedings in the action, and certify the pleadings, and if any of the pleadings are oral, a transcript of the same, from his docket to the clerk of the district court of the county in which said justice's precinct is situated; and from the time of filing such pleadings or transcript with the clerk, the district court has over the action the same jurisdiction as if it had been commenced therein; provided, that in cases of forcible entry and detainer, of which justices' courts have jurisdiction, any evidence otherwise competent may be given and any question properly involved therein may be determined.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 838*.

Forcible entry and detainer, jurisdiction, § 1792, and note.

Forcible entry and detainer generally, §§ 7313-7327.

Similar limitation on city courts, § 1711.

Justice cannot certify causes of which he has no jurisdiction; his only power is to dismiss.

Crismon v. Tufts, 3 U. 251; 2 P. 705.

Requirement hereof, that to oust jurisdiction in the cases mentioned the answer must be under oath, is void as in conflict with acts of congress, especially the Organic Act.

People v. House, 4 U. 369; 10 P. 838.

But if justice render judgment in action of which he has no jurisdiction hereunder, appeal is proper remedy. (Overruling Ducheneau v. House, 4 U. 363; 10 P. 427.)

Cereghino v. Third Dist. Court, 8 U. 455; 32 P. 697.

Facts must be specifically pleaded to oust justice's jurisdiction hereunder.

Willard City v. Woodland, 7 U. 192; 26 P. 284.

Justices of the peace can hear evidence as to possession of real property where action is for forcible entry and detainer, and jurisdiction of such actions is conferred by the statute.

Hyndman v. Stowe, 9 U. 23; 33 P. 227.

Jurisdiction limited to questions of possession only.

Id.

An unverified answer raising the question of the legality of a tax does not oust the justice of jurisdiction; and where a justice of the peace has jurisdiction to hear and determine a case and improperly certifies it to the district court, in attempting to comply with the provisions of this section, the district court acquires no jurisdiction and should remand the case to the justice's court on motion.

Pleasant Grove City v. Holman, 18 U. 338; 54 P. 1013.
Where complaint before a justice of the peace against a railroad for killing plaintiff's horse at a point where the road was not fenced alleged that the railroad "passed through lands owned and improved by private owners," the denial of such allegation did not raise a material issue of freehold, ousting the justice of jurisdiction, as provided by this section.

CHAPTER 74.

JUSTICES' COURTS—COMMENCING THE ACTION.

7435. (3675.) Action commenced by filing complaint. Summons within three months. An action in a justice's court is commenced by filing a complaint. The court must indorse on the complaint the date upon which it was filed, and make an entry of such filing in his docket with the date thereof, and at any time within three months thereafter the plaintiff may have summons issued. '99, p. 60.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 839*.
Commencing action in district court, §§ 6538-6559.
Alias summons within a year, § 7441.
Summons to be served within ninety days of issuance, § 7444.
Chap. 42, laws 1899 (hear appearing as §§ 7435, 7436), in its title purported to repeal §§ 3675, 3676, R. S. 1898, but the act itself contained no repealing clause. Query, whether provisions of § 7435 relating to "manner of service and return of summons" are not still in force, at least as to service by publication.
The action does not terminate from mere failure to have the summons "issued" then and not "served" within that time, though failure to serve within a reasonable time might be ground for motion to dismiss.
Luke v. Bennion, 36 U. 61; 106 P. 712.

7436. (3676.) Summons, form of. The summons must be issued and signed by the justice, and shall be substantially in the following form:

In the Justice's Court, in and for the ..... precinct, city of ....., county of ....., state of Utah.

Before ....., Justice of the Peace.

....., Plaintiff, vs. ....., Defendant. Summons.

The state of Utah to the defendant:

You are hereby summoned to appear before the above entitled court within ten days after the service of this summons upon you, if served within the county in which this action is brought, otherwise within twenty days after this service, and defend the above entitled action, brought against you to recover (stating in general terms the nature of the cause of action), and in case of your failure to do so, judgment will be rendered against you according to the demand of the complaint.

.....
Justice of the Peace.
'99, p. 60.

Summons served only in the county, exception, § 7442.
Form of summons, district court, § 6539; city court, § 1714; municipal court, § 1769.
Process to any part of the county, § 1793.
Summons not in compliance herewith, and all subsequent proceedings are void.
Ex parte Dixon, 1 U. 192.
Judgment by default before time to answer has expired is error, and appeal lies.
Ducheneau v. House, 4 U. 363; 10 P. 427.

7437. (3677.) Appearance or written acknowledgment deemed service. The voluntary appearance of a defendant, or a written acknowledgment of service, by indorsement on the back of a summons or otherwise, shall be deemed valid and sufficient service.

Similar section, § 6545.

7438. (3678.) Party may appear in person or by attorney. Who may act as attorney. Parties in justices' courts, in cities other than the first class, may appear and act in person, or by attorney, and any person, except the officer by whom the summons or jury process was served, may act as attorney; provided, that in cities of the first class, no person other than the parties to the action shall conduct or prosecute a suit in a justice, city, or municipal court except attorneys at law who shall have been regularly admitted to practice in the courts of this state. Justice not to purchase judgment, § 7960.
Justice may not practice before any other justice, § 8015.

7439. (3679.) Minor, etc., must appear by guardian. Appointment. When a minor, insane, or incompetent person is a party, he must appear either by his general guardian, if he have one, or by a guardian ad litem appointed by the justice. When a guardian ad litem is appointed by the justice, he must be appointed as follows:

1. If the minor, insane, or incompetent person be plaintiff, the appointment must be made before the summons is served, upon the application of the infant, if he be of the age of fourteen years; if under that age, or if insane, or incompetent, upon the application of a relative or friend;

2. If the minor, insane, or incompetent person be defendant, the appointment must be made at the time the summons is returned, or before the answer, upon the application of the minor if he be of the age of fourteen years, and apply at the time or before the summons is returned. If he be under the age of fourteen, or be insane or incompetent, or neglect so to apply, then upon the application of a relative or friend or any other party to the action, or by the justice on his own motion.

7440. (3680.) Proceeding when name of defendant unknown. Where the plaintiff is ignorant of the name or part of the name of a defendant, such defendant may be designated in the summons and in any other process or proceeding in the action by a fictitious name, or by so much of his name as is known, adding a description identifying the person intended. The person so designated must thereupon be regarded as a defendant in the action. When his name, or the remainder of his name, becomes known, the justice must amend the proceedings already taken by the insertion of the true or full name, and all subsequent proceedings must be taken under the name so inserted.

Mont. Civ. P., § 1692. Cal. C. Civ. P., § 474*.

7441. (3681.) Alias summons issued within one year. At any time within a year from the date of the filing of the complaint, the plaintiff may issue as many alias summons as he may deem necessary.

7443. (3683.) Summons, how and by whom served. Return. Penalty. A summons issued out of any justice's court may be served by the sheriff of the county, by any constable of the precinct in which such summons is issued when the defendant is within such precinct, by any constable of the precinct in which the defendant resides, or where the defendant upon whom service of summons is to be made is within the precinct for which the constable is elected at the time of the service of the summons, or by a city marshal of the city in which service is to be made, and not otherwise; provided, that where there is no acting constable or city marshal in any precinct or city where the summons is to be served, and the sheriff is absent from such precinct, and such fact appears by the affidavit of the plaintiff or his attorney duly filed, the justice may, in writing, depute any citizen over the age of twenty-one years to serve such summons. The return of service made by a sheriff, constable, or city marshal, within the county in which the action is pending, may be by certificate, and need not be sworn to; in all other instances the return of service must be by affidavit of the person making the service. It shall be unlawful for any person to make service of summons issued out of any justice's court except as in this section provided, and any person violating any of the provisions of this section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor. Am'd '99, p. 110; '05, p. 110; '07, p. 53.

7444. (3683x.) Time for service of summons. Summons out of justices' courts in this state shall be served within ninety days after the same is issued. '07, p. 49.

Summons may issue at any time within three months, § 7435.

Alias summons may issue within a year, § 7441.

7445. (3684.) Time of trial. Notice. Must appear within the hour. When all the parties served with process or some of them have appeared, and the remaining defendants have made default, the justice must fix a day for the trial of said cause, and notify the plaintiff and the defendants who have appeared thereof. The parties are entitled to one hour in which to appear after the time fixed by the justice, but are not bound to remain longer than that time, unless both parties have appeared, and the justice being present is engaged in the trial of another cause.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 850.

Must appear within one hour, §§ 7474, 7476.

After defendant had filed an answer, the justice could not proceed to trial until he had first set the case and notified the parties in writing of the time and place.

Griffiths v. Justice's Court, 35 U. 443; 100 P. 1064.

Where a defendant appears by filing a demurrer, counsel may assume that the justice's court would give notice of the time of trial, and default judgment entered without such notice is improper.

McMillan v. Forsythe, 47 U. 571; 154 P. 959.

CHAPTER 75.

JUSTICES' COURTS—PLEADINGS.

7447. (3685.) No particular form of pleadings. Verification. Venue.

1. Pleadings are not required to be in any particular form, but must be such as to enable a person of common understanding to know what is intended.

2. Pleadings, except the complaint, may be oral or in writing; if in writing, must be filed with the justice; and, if oral, an entry of the substance must be made in the docket.

3. The complaint must be in writing, and must be verified, and must fully allege and set forth at least one of the grounds mentioned in § 7426, showing that the action is commenced in the city or precinct as required by said section. Am'd '05, p. 103; '07, p. 123.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 851*.

Pleadings in justice's court, § 7449.

Statutes, etc., to be liberally construed, § 5809.

Pleadings liberally construed, § 6596.

Errors and defects not affecting substantial rights to be disregarded, §§ 6622, 6968.

Complaint and answer in forcible entry, etc., must be verified, § 7325.

Judgment void if complaint unverified or untrue as to venue, § 7448.

Dismissal when complaint not verified, § 7491.

Certain allegations taken as true unless denial verified, §§ 6611, 7489.

A failure to verify a complaint is not jurisdictional, and is waived unless timely objection is made.

S. L. Coffee & Spice Co. v. District Court, 44 U. 411; 140 P. 666.

Though nothing was done in an action from April 25, 1907, when defendant's default was entered, until April 22, 1913, when judgment was entered, an action was pending from the time the complaint was filed.

Id.

7448. (3685x.) Judgment void, when. Review by appeal, certiorari, etc. Every judgment made or given on a complaint not legally verified, or that contains no allegation or an allegation that was untrue of the jurisdictional fact required by this section, or that is founded on a debt or contract in which any person has bound himself, or become liable jointly or jointly and severally with any other defendant for the purpose of conferring jurisdiction, shall be void; and shall be so declared, on review, at the instance of the party aggrieved, either on appeal or by means of a writ of prohibition, or certiorari, and on such review no recital in the docket, files, or records of the justice of any fact on which jurisdiction is predicated shall be conclusive, but the truth of the allegation as to jurisdictional facts, and also the purpose for which any person has bound himself, or become liable, shall always be open to inquiry. The facts that any person who does not reside in the same precinct or city with another defendant, or in the precinct or city in which such other defendant has contracted to perform the obligations, has bound himself or become obligated or liable thereon jointly or jointly and severally with such other defendant, and that suit is commenced on such contract in the precinct or city where such obligated person resides, shall be considered prima facie evidence that such person has bound himself and become liable solely for the purpose of conferring jurisdiction in the precinct or city in which he resides.

Attorney's fee to successful party on certiorari or prohibition, § 7416.

The provision making a judgment void does not apply to the complaint filed prior to the date this provision becomes effective.

S. L. Coffee & Spice Co. v. District Court, 44 U. 411; 140 P. 666.

A general appearance by defendant, and a plea to the merits without asking for a change of venue, confers jurisdiction of the person and waives the defect of the complaint where it sets forth none of the grounds mentioned in § 7426.

Quealy v. Sullivan, 42 U. 565; 132 P. 4.

The provision of §§ 7426-7447 and this section are technical, and a substantial compliance is sufficient.

Burt v. District Court, 39 U. 1; 114 P. 143.

The district court in certiorari proceedings to review a judgment of the justice's court cannot receive parol evidence.

Beck v. Lewis, 49 U. 368; 164 P. 480.

A complaint in M precinct alleging the killing of cows one mile north of M station grounds at a crossing known as M lane, sufficiently alleges the injury to be within M precinct to permit amendment on appeal to the district court by insertion of the words "within M precinct", and judgment was not void.

7449. (3686.) What pleadings allowed. The pleadings are:

1. The complaint of the plaintiff;
2. The demurrer to the complaint;
3. The answer by the defendant;
4. The demurrer to the answer.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 852.

Pleadings in district court, §§ 6562-6623.

No particular form of pleadings required; complaint must be verified, § 7447.

When answer must be verified, §§ 6611, 7325, 7489.

7450. (3687.) Complaint defined. The complaint in justices' courts is a concise statement in writing of the facts constituting the plaintiff's cause of action; or the original account, note, bill, bond, or instrument, or a copy thereof, upon which the action is based, which shall be deemed a complaint.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 753*.

7451. (3688.) Demurrer to complaint. The defendant may, at any time before answering, demur to the complaint.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 854.

Where a justice did not receive a filing fee for a demurrer sent him by defendant's attorney, but received and retained such demurrer without notifying the attorney, such demurrer was filed in his office for the purpose of an appearance by defendant.

McMillan v. Forsythe, 47 U. 571; 154 P. 959.

7452. (3689.) Answer may contain what. The answer may contain a denial of any or all of the material facts stated in the complaint, which the defendant believes to be untrue, and also a statement, in a plain and direct manner, of any other facts constituting a defense or counterclaim, upon which an action might be brought by the defendant against the plaintiff in a justice's court.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 855.

Judgment on counterclaim, § 7494.

Denial must be verified in certain cases, § 7489.

Denial of corporate existence, § 6611.

7453. (3690.) New matter in answer deemed controverted. The statement of any new matter in the answer, in avoidance or constituting a defense or counterclaim, must on the trial be deemed controverted by the opposite party.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 462*.

7454. (3691.) Failure to set up counterclaim. If the defendant omit to set up a counterclaim in the cases mentioned in § 7452, neither he nor his assignee can afterward maintain an action against the plaintiff therefor.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 856.

7455. (3692.) Demurrer to answer for insufficiency. Grounds specified. When the answer contains new matter in avoidance or constituting a defense or a counterclaim, the plaintiff may, at any time before trial, demur to the same for insufficiency, stating therein the grounds of such demurrer.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 857.

7456. (3693.) Proceedings on demurrer. The proceedings on demurrer are as follows:

1. If the demurrer to the complaint is sustained, the plaintiff may, within such time, not exceeding two days, as the court allows, amend his complaint;

2. If the demurrer to a complaint is overruled, the defendant may answer forthwith;

3. If the demurrer to an answer is sustained, the defendant may amend his answer within such time, not exceeding two days, as the court may allow;

4. If the demurrer to an answer is overruled, the action must proceed as if no demurrer had been interposed.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 858.

7457. (3694.) Amendments, when on terms. Setting aside default. Conditions. Either party may, at any time before the conclusion of the trial, amend any pleading, but if the amendment is made after the issue, and it appear to the satisfaction of the court, by oath, that an adjournment is necessary to the adverse party in consequence of such amendment, an adjournment may be granted. The court may also, in its discretion, when an adjournment will by the amendment be rendered necessary, require, as a condition to the allowance of such amendment, made after issue joined, the payment of costs to the adverse party, to be fixed by the court, not exceeding $10. The court may also, on such terms as may be just, and on payment of costs, relieve a party from a judgment by default taken against him by his mistake, inadvertence, surprise, or excusable neglect, but the application for such relief must be made within ten days after the entry of the judgment and upon an affidavit showing good cause therefor.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 859*.
Amendments, relief from default, etc., district court, §§ 6618, 6619.

7458. (3695.) Answer or demurrer to amended pleading. When the pleading is amended, the adverse party may answer or demur to it within such time, not exceeding two days, as the court may allow.

CHAPTER 76.

JUSTICES' COURTS—PROVISIONAL REMEDIES.

ARREST OF ABSCONDING DEBTOR.

7462. (3696.) Order to arrest absconding debtor. An order to arrest an absconding debtor may be issued by a justice at any time after the commencement of a civil action, and the defendant may be arrested thereon by the sheriff, constable, or city marshal, and brought before the justice, and detained until duly discharged.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 861*.
Arrest of debtor, district court, §§ 6630-6655.
No imprisonment for debt, except in case of absconding debtor, Con. art. 1, sec. 16.

7463. (3697.) Id. Executed in any county. The order of arrest may be executed, and the defendant arrested in any county in the state.

7464. (3698.) Affidavit and undertaking required. Before an order for an arrest can be made, the party applying must prove to the satisfaction of the justice, by the affidavit of himself or some other person, the facts upon which the application is founded. The plaintiff must also execute and deliver to the justice a written undertaking in the sum of $300, with sufficient sureties, to the effect that the plaintiff will pay all costs that may be adjudged to the defendant, and all damages which he may sustain by reason of the arrest, if the same be wrongful, or without sufficient cause, not exceeding the sum specified in the undertaking.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 862. Qualifications of sureties, generally, § 7223.

7465. (3699.) Defendant taken immediately before magistrate. The defendant, immediately upon being arrested, must be taken to the office of the justice who made the order, and if he be absent or unable to try the action, or if it be made to appear to him, by the affidavit of the defendant, that he is a material witness in the action, the officer must immediately take the defendant before a justice of that or an adjoining precinct of the county, who must take jurisdiction of the action, and proceed thereon as if the summons had been issued and the order of arrest made by him.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 863*.

7466. (3700.) Officer to notify plaintiff of arrest. The officer making the arrest must immediately give notice thereof to the plaintiff, or his attorney or agent, and indorse on the summons, and subscribe a certificate, stating the time of serving the same, the time of the arrest and of his giving notice to the plaintiff.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 864.

7467. (3701.) Defendant detained until discharged. The officer making the arrest must keep the defendant in custody until duly discharged by order of the justice.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 865.
Discharge from arrest, §§ 6656-6664.

ATTACHMENT AND GARNISHMENT.

7468. (3702.) When attachment shall issue. Affidavit. A writ to attach the property of the defendant must be issued by the justice at the time of the commencement of the action, or at any time afterward, on receiving an affidavit by or in behalf of the plaintiff, showing the same facts as are required to be shown by the affidavit for attachment out of the district court.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 866*.
Decisions on attachment, district court, notes to §§ 6704-6729.
Decisions on garnishment, district court notes to §§ 6730-6755.
Liability for issuing attachment without sufficient affidavit, § 8512.

7469. (3703.) Undertaking required. Before issuing the writ, the justice must require a written undertaking on the part of the plaintiff, with two or more sufficient sureties, in a sum not less than $50 nor less than the amount claimed by the plaintiff, to the effect that if the defendant recover judgment, the plaintiff will pay all costs that may be awarded to the defendant, and all damages which he may sustain by reason of the attachment, not exceeding the sum specified in the undertaking.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 867*.

7470. (3704.) Writ, to whom directed. Requirements. The writ may be directed to the sheriff or to any constable of the county, or the sheriff of any other county, and must require him to attach and safely keep all the property of the defendant within his county, not exempt from execution, or so much thereof as may be sufficient to satisfy the plaintiff's demand, the amount of which must be stated in conformity with the complaint, unless the defendant give him security, by the undertaking of two sufficient sureties, in an amount sufficient to satisfy such demand, besides costs; in which case to take such undertaking.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 868.
Mesne and final process to any part of the county, § 1793.

7471. (3705.) District court practice applicable. The sections of this code providing for garnishments and attachments out of the district courts, except as in this chapter otherwise expressly provided, are applicable to attachments issued out of justices' courts, the necessary changes and substitutions being made therein.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 869*.
Attachment and garnishment, §§ 6704-6755, and notes.

CLAIM AND DELIVERY.

7472. (3706.) Procedure as in district court. In an action to recover possession of personal property, the plaintiff may, at the time of issuing summons, or at any time thereafter before answer, claim the delivery of such property to him; and the sections of this code prescribing the practice in proceedings for claim and delivery of personal property in the district court are applicable to like proceedings in justices' courts, the necessary changes and substitutions being made therein.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 870*. Claim and delivery, §§ 6670-6681, and notes.

CHAPTER 77.

JUSTICES' COURTS—TRIALS AND JUDGMENTS.

7474. (3707.) Judgment upon default. When the defendant fails to appear and answer or demur within the time specified in the summons, or when he fails to appear within one hour after the time specified in the notice, the justice must, upon application of the plaintiff, enter the default of the defendant and hear the evidence offered by the plaintiff, and render judgment in his favor for such sum, not exceeding the amount specified in the complaint, as appears by such evidence to be just.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 871*.

Trial to begin within one hour, §§ 7445, 7476.

In an action to vacate a judgment entered on default, the recital that "from the evidence I find the defendant is indebted," etc., is not conclusive that the justice heard evidence, but only controvertible prima facie evidence thereof.

McMillan v. Forsythe, 47 U. 571; 154 P. 959.

No conclusive presumption should prevail in favor of a judgment of the justice of the peace. In an action to vacate a default judgment all the facts respecting the conduct of the justice as well as the attorney for the then plaintiff may be shown, and where the plaintiff had no cause of action, and the justice acted corruptly in entering a default judgment, it should be set aside.

Id.

Where judgment is wrongfully entered by default and the defendant, when notified thereof, brings an action in certiorari, and is defeated; laches does not bar him from then bringing an action in equity to set it aside.

Id.

7475. (3708.) Omissions of defendant equivalent to default. In the following cases the same proceedings must be had, and judgment must be rendered, in like manner as if the defendant had failed to appear and answer or demur:

1. If the complaint has been amended, and the defendant fails to answer it as amended within the time allowed by the court;

2. If the demurrer to the complaint is overruled, and the defendant fails to answer at once;

3. If the demurrer to the answer is sustained, and the defendant fails to amend the answer within the time allowed by the court.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 872.

7476. (3709.) Trial to begin within one hour from time set. Unless postponed as provided in this chapter, or unless transferred to another court, the trial of the action must commence within one hour after the time fixed by the justice for the trial.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 873*. Failure to appear within one hour, default, § 7474.

7477. (3710.) Postponement on motion of court. Time. The court may, of its own motion, postpone the trial:

1. For not exceeding one day, if, at the time fixed by law or by an order the court for the trial, the court is engaged in the trial of another action;

2. For not exceeding two days, if, by an amendment of the pleadings, or the allowance of time to make such amendment or to plead, a postponement is rendered necessary;

3. For not exceeding three days, if the trial is upon issues of fact, and a jury has been demanded.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 874. Costs on adjournment by reason of amendment, § 7457.

7478. (3711.) Postponement by consent to time agreed. The court may, by consent of the parties, given in writing or in open court, postpone the trial to a time agreed upon by the parties.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 875.

7479. (3712.) Postponement upon application of either party. Grounds. Time. The trial may be postponed upon the application of either party, for a period not exceeding four months:

1. The party making the application must prove, by his own oath or otherwise, that he cannot, for want of material testimony, which he expects to procure, safely proceed to trial, and must show in what respect the testimony expected is material, and that he has used due diligence to procure it, and has been unable to do so;

2. If the application is on the part of the plaintiff, and the defendant is under arrest, a postponement for more than three hours discharges the defendant from custody; but the action may proceed notwithstanding, and the defendant is subject to arrest on execution, in the same manner as if he had not been discharged;

3. If the application is on the part of a defendant under arrest, before it can be granted he must execute an undertaking, with two or more sufficient sureties, to be approved by and in a sum to be fixed by the justice, to the effect that he will render himself amenable to the process of the court during the pendency of the action, and to such as may be issued to enforce the judgment therein; or that the sureties will pay to the plaintiff the amount of any judgment which he may recover in the action, not exceeding the amount specified in the undertaking. On filing the undertaking specified in this subdivision, the justice must order the defendant to be discharged from custody;

4. The party making the application must, if required by the adverse party, consent that the testimony of any witness of such adverse party, who is in attendance, may be then taken by deposition before the justice, and that the testimony so taken may be read on the trial with the same effect and subject to the same objections as if the witness was produced; but the court may require the party making the application to state, upon affidavit, the evidence which he expects to obtain, and if the adverse party thereupon admits that such evidence would be given, and that it be considered as actually given on the trial, or offered and overruled as improper, the trial must not be postponed.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 876.
Depositions generally, §§ 7163-7188.
Adjournment rendered necessary by amendment, § 7457.

7480. (3713.) Id. Undertaking required if more than thirty days. No adjournment must be granted, unless by consent, for a period longer than thirty days, upon the application of either party, except upon condition that such party file an undertaking in an amount fixed by the court, with two sureties, to be approved by the justice, to the effect that they will pay to the opposite party the amount of any judgment which may be recovered against the party applying, not exceeding the sum specified in the undertaking.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 877*.
Qualifications of sureties generally, § 7223.

7481. (3714.) Issues arise, when. Of two kinds. Issues arise upon the pleadings, when a fact or conclusion of law is maintained by one party and is controverted by the other. They are of two kinds: (1) of law; and (2) of fact.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 878.
How issues arise, and how tried, district court, §§ 6777, 6781.

7482. (3715.) Id. Of law. An issue of law arises upon a demurrer to the complaint or answer, or to some part thereof.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 879.

7483. (3716.) Id. Of fact. An issue of fact arises:

1. Upon a material allegation in the complaint controverted by the answer; and,

2. Upon new matter in the answer, unless an issue of law is joined thereon.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 880.

7484. (3717.) Issue of law tried by court. An issue of law must be tried by the court.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 881.

7485. (3718.) Issue of fact tried by court, unless jury demanded. An issue of fact shall be tried by the court unless a jury is demanded before the trial commences.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 882*. Demand for jury, deposit, § 2554.
Summoning and drawing jurors, §§ 3620-3623.

7486. (3719.) Trial to proceed on failure of party to appear. If either party fails to appear at the time fixed for trial, the trial may proceed at the request of the adverse party.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 884. Must appear within an hour, §§ 7445, 7474, 7476.
Order of trial, district court, § 6802.

7487. (3720.) Challenges to jurors. Number. The challenges are either peremptory or for cause. Each party is entitled to three peremptory challenges. Either party may challenge for cause on any ground set forth as grounds for such challenge in the district court. Challenges for cause must be tried by the court.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 885*. Challenge, district court, §§ 6191-6800.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 886. Demand for inspection, etc., district court, §§ 6595, 6598, 7108, 7203, 7204.

7489. (3722.) Certain allegations taken as true, unless denial verified. In all actions, allegations of the execution of written instruments and indorsements thereon, of the existence of a corporation or partnership, or of any appointment or authority, or the correctness of any account duly verified by the affidavit of the party, his agent or attorney, shall be taken as true unless the denial of the same be verified by the affidavit of the party, his agent or attorney.

Kan. (1889) § 4191. Sufficient denial of corporate existence, § 6611.
Complaint must be verified, § 7447. Complaint and answer verified in forcible entry proceedings, § 7325.

7490. (3723.) Judgment by confession. Judgments upon the confession may be entered in any justice's court specified in the confession in any amount of which the justice has jurisdiction.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 889*. Fee, one dollar, § 2527.
Judgment by confession, transcript, § 6890.

7491. (3724.) When action dismissed without prejudice. Judgment that the action be dismissed without prejudice to a new action may be entered, at plaintiff's cost, in the following cases:

1. When the plaintiff voluntarily dismisses the action before it is finally submitted;

2. When he fails to appear at the time fixed by the justice for the trial, or within one hour thereafter;

3. When the complaint of the plaintiff is not verified;

4. When, after a demurrer to the complaint has been sustained, the plaintiff fails to amend it within the time allowed by the court;

5. When, upon the special appearance of the defendant, it is found from affidavits filed by either party that the action is brought in the wrong county, precinct, or city; and if such objection is made by a party specially appearing for the purpose, and is overruled, then the ruling of the court upon such objection may be reviewed in the district court at the instance of the party aggrieved, either on appeal [or by means of a writ of prohibition.]

The clause in brackets is unconstitutional because it enlarges the office of the writ as defined in constitution.

Complaint must be verified, § 7447.

Under § 3595, C. L. 1888, defendant need not appear specially and move for a dismissal, but may object by answer and prove facts on the trial.

Kansas City H. Co. v. Neilson, 10 U. 27; 36 P. 131.

Dismissal on appeal for want of jurisdiction in justice's court.

Id.

Defendant may waive objection by voluntarily appearing and consenting to trial.

Kuhn v. Mount, 13 U. 108; 44 P. 1036.

In an action, before a justice of the peace, against a tenant at will for unlawful detainer, in which the defendant claims specific performance of a verbal lease for more than one year, and asks that the action be certified to the district court, such answer does not state an affirmative defense, and hence the dismissal of the case by the justice, on motion of the plaintiff, and the order of the district court dismissing the case, on appeal, and entering judgment, are not erroneous.

Flygare v. Maloney, 12 U. 497; 23 P. 879.

A defendant who especially appears and moves for dismissal cannot also move to change the place of trial as provided by § 7427, the remedy being alternative.

Robinson v. Durand, 36 U. 93; 104 P. 760.

The plaintiff may file affidavit in opposition to those of defendant, and the court has jurisdiction to determine the facts and the decision of the court, though erroneous, is not in excess of jurisdiction.

Id.

7492. (3725.) Judgment entered at once after verdict. When a trial by jury has been had, judgment must be entered by the justice at once in conformity with the verdict.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 891.

7493. (3726.) Judgment entered within two days after trial by court. When the trial is by the court, judgment must be entered at the close of the trial, or within two days thereafter.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 892*.

Trial is not closed hereunder till case submitted for decision.

Kaysen v. Steele, 13 U. 260; 44 P. 1042.

7494. (3727.) Judgment when counterclaim established. Where a counterclaim is established which equals the plaintiff's demand, the judgment must be in favor of the defendant. Where it is less than the plaintiff's demand, plaintiff must have judgment for the residue only. Where it exceeds the plaintiff's demand, the defendant must have judgment for the excess.

Mont. Civ. P., § 1627. Cal. C. Civ. P., § 666*. Counterclaim, §§ 7452-7454.

7495. (3728.) Judgment where defendants not all served. Joint property. If the action be on a contract against two or more defendants, and the summons be served on two or more but not on all, the judgment shall be entered only against those who were served, if the contract be a several or a joint and several contract; but if the contract be a joint contract only, the judgment shall be entered against all the defendants, but shall only be enforced against the joint property of all and the separate property of the defendants served.

Actions against persons severally or jointly and severally liable, §§ 6511, 6520, 6558.

7496. (3729.) Form of judgments. Judgments in justices' courts must be entered substantially in the form in which they are required to be entered in district courts. When the judgment is rendered in a case where the defendant is subject to arrest and imprisonment thereon, the fact that the defendant is so subject must be stated in the judgment.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 893*.
Judgments, district court, §§ 6844-6871.

Certain courtmartial judgments may be docketed and enforced, § 3858.

7497. (3730.) If amount found due exceeds jurisdiction, excess remitted. When the amount found due to either party exceeds the sum for which the justice is authorized to enter judgment, such party may remit the excess, and the judgment may be rendered for the residue.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 894.

Less than $300, §§ 1791, 1792.

7498. (3731.) Defendant may offer to compromise. Effect. If the defendant, at any time before the trial, offer in writing to allow judgment to be taken against him for a specified sum, the plaintiff may immediately have judgment therefor, with the costs then accrued; but if he does not accept such offer before the trial, and fails to recover in the action a sum in excess of the offer, he cannot recover costs, but costs must be adjudged against him from the time of the offer, and if he recovers, be deducted from his recovery. But the offer and failure to accept it cannot be given in evidence to affect the recovery otherwise than as to costs.

No cost bill need be filed, § 7049.
Costs to be itemized on docket, § 7530.
Fees of justice of the peace, § 2527.

7500. (3733.) Abstract of judgment. Form. The justice, on the demand of a party in whose favor judgment is rendered, must give him an abstract of the judgment in substantially the following form (filling blanks according to the fact):

State of Utah, county of ....., ..., plaintiff, v. ....., defendant, in justice's court, before ....., justice of the peace, ... precinct (or city), ..., 19....., (insert date of abstract) judgment entered for plaintiff (or defendant) for $....., on the ..... day of ....., 19..... I certify that the foregoing is a correct abstract of a judgment rendered in said action in my court (or, as the case may be, in the court of ....., justice of the peace, as appears by his docket now in my possession, as his successor in office).

CHAPTER 78.

JUSTICES' COURTS—EXECUTIONS.

7505. (3737.) Execution issued within eight years. Execution for the enforcement of a judgment of a justice's court may be issued on the application of the party entitled thereto at any time within eight years from the entry of the judgment. Am'd '01, p. 16.

Certain court-martial judgments may be docketed and enforced, § 3858.

7506. (3738.) Id. To whom directed. Contents. The execution when issued by a justice shall be directed to the sheriff, or to a constable of the county, and subscribed by the justice by whom the judgment was rendered or by his successor in office. It shall intelligently refer to the judgment by stating the names of the parties, and the name of the justice before whom, and of the county and precinct where, and the time when, it was rendered, the amount of the judgment, if it be for money, and if less than the whole is due, the true amount due thereon. It must contain, in like cases, similar directions to the sheriff or constable as are required in executions issued from the district court.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 902*. Execution, district court, §§ 6912-6951.

7507. (3739.) Justice may renew by indorsement. Reissue. An execution may, at the request of the judgment creditor, be renewed before the expiration of the time fixed for its return, by the word "renewed" written thereon, with the date thereof and subscribed by the justice. Such renewal has the effect of an original issue, and may be repeated as often as necessary. If an execution is returned unsatisfied, another may be afterwards issued.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 903.

7508. (3740.) How executed. Powers of constable. The sheriff or constable to whom the execution is directed must execute the same in the same manner as the sheriff is required to proceed upon the executions directed to him, and the constable, when the execution is directed to him, is vested for that purpose with all the power of the sheriff.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 904*.

7509. (3741.) Proceedings supplementary; provisions applicable. The provisions of this code as to proceedings supplementary to execution in the district court are applicable to justices' courts, the necessary changes and substitutions being made therein.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 905*. Proceedings supplementary, §§ 6955-6964.

CHAPTER 79.

JUSTICES' COURTS—NEW TRIALS AND APPEALS.

7512. (3742.) New trial, for what causes granted. A new trial may be granted by the justice on motion made within ten days after the entry of judgment, for any of the following causes:

1. Accident or surprise, which ordinary prudence could not have guarded against;

2. Excessive damages, appearing to have been given under the influence of passion;

3. Insufficiency of the evidence to justify the verdict or other decision;

4. Newly discovered evidence material for the party making the application, which he could not with reasonable diligence have discovered and produced at the time.

A motion for a new trial may be filed after verdict and before entry of judgment.
Bellion v. Durand, 39 U. 532; 117 P. 798.
A motion for a new trial must be based on insufficiency of evidence to justify the verdict and not the judgment.
Id.
The same principles govern the extent and exercise of the granting of a new trial as govern courts of record.
Porter v. Ritchie, 32 U. 381; 91 P. 24.
An appeal cannot be taken until overruling of the motion for new trial.
Id.

7513. (3743.) Id. Application on affidavit and notice. Counter affidavits. The application shall be made upon affidavit and notice. The affidavit shall be filed with the justice, with a statement of the grounds upon which the party intends to rely. The adverse party may use counter affidavits on the motion provided they are filed one day previous to the hearing of the motion.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 974*.
Notices, and filing and service of papers, district court, §§ 7024-7032.
Decisions on application for new trial, district court, notes to § 6978.

tice's court, whether the same was rendered on default or after trial, may appeal therefrom to the district court of the county at any time within thirty days after the rendition of any final judgment. Notice of the entry of judgment must be given to the losing party by the successful party either personally or by publication, and the time of appeal shall date from the service of said notice. If personal service cannot be had and the fact is made to appear by affidavit, the justice shall order that notice of the judgment be given by publication in some newspaper published in the county. Said notice shall be published once a week for two successive weeks and a copy thereof sent by mail addressed to the party at his last known place of residence, and the party shall be deemed to have notice of said judgment on the date of the last publication. If no newspaper be published in the county, then notice of the judgment shall be given by mail addressed to the party at his last known place of residence, and the party shall be deemed to have notice of said judgment on the tenth day after the depositing of said notice so addressed in the United States postoffice. The appeal shall be taken by filing a notice thereof with the justice, or in the clerk's office of the district court to which said appeal is taken, and serving a copy on the adverse party. The notice shall show on its face the title of the court in which it is so filed. In case the appeal is taken by filing a notice in the district court, and upon the perfection of such appeal, the clerk of said court shall notify the justice thereof. Order of service is immaterial. An appeal cannot be taken until the motion for new trial has been overruled.

State ex rel. Porter v. Ritchie, 32 U. 381; 91 P. 24.

Where notice of appeal is filed with the clerk and entitled in the justice's court, the defect is not jurisdictional and may be corrected.

Christensen v. Christensen, 51 U. —; 173 P. 383.

Where the notice of appeal was filed with the clerk of the district court, but it does not show proof of service, the defect may be remedied by making proof of service and filing it with the clerk of the district court.

Id.

Where a notice of appeal is served within time, but filed after thirty days, the appeal must be dismissed.

Greenwood v. Bramel, Judge, 51 U. —; 174 P. 637.

7515. (3745.) Trial anew in district court. Practice. Amendments. All causes appealed to the district court shall be heard anew in said court, and said court may regulate by rule the practice in such cases, in all respects not provided for by statute; provided, that pleadings in the district court in said cases may be amended in all respects in the same manner and upon the same terms as are now or hereafter may be provided for the amendment of pleadings in cases originally commenced in the district court.

Amendments, district court, §§ 6618, 6619.

An appeal from the justice's court to the district court entitles the appellant to a trial anew upon the same cause of action and pleadings as in the justice's court, and he is liable to be confronted with the same testimony that could have been introduced on the trial before the justice, and no other.

Skews v. Dunn, 3 U. 186; 2 P. 64.

This section, giving either party on appeal the benefit of all legal objections made below, obliges district court to reverse on finding objections to the venue well taken.

K. C. Hwd. Co. v. Neilson, 10 U. 27; 36 P. 131.

On appeal, the case must be tried de novo, just as if it had been commenced in the district court.

Griffin v. Howell, 38 U. 357; 113 P. 327.

Where the defendant in the justice's court appeared specially and objected that the action was brought in the wrong precinct, but on appeal from dismissal, he answered, on the merits, his objection was waived.

Neilsen v. Third Dist. Court, 36 U. 223; 102 P. 868.

7516. (3746.) Papers to be transmitted within five days; remedy for failure. Upon receiving the notice of appeal and the filing of the undertaking, as required in the next succeeding section, or upon receiving notice from the clerk of the district court that the appeal has been filed and perfected in the clerk's office, and the payment of the fees of the justice for making the transcript, the justice shall, within five days, transmit to the clerk of the district court a certified copy of his docket, the original pleadings, all notices, motions, and other papers filed in the case, and the notice and undertaking on appeal, in case the same has been filed with said justice; and the said justice may be compelled by the district court, by an order entered upon motion, to transmit such papers, and may be fined for neglect or refusal to transmit the same. A certified copy of such order may be served on the justice by the party, his attorney or agent. In the district court either party may have the benefit of all legal objections made in the justice's court. Am'd '07, p. 257.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 977*.
Fee for preparing and certifying transcript, § 2527.
The transcript of the justice's record on appeal, as to all matters and things required to be and which are recorded therein, is conclusive.
Douglass v. District Court, 45 U. 486; 146 P. 562.

7517. (3747.) Undertaking filed within five days; contents; approval when stay desired. Within five days after filing the notice of appeal, an undertaking shall be filed with the justice, with two or more sureties, in the sum of $100, for the payment of the costs on the appeal; and, if a stay of proceedings be claimed, in a sum equal to twice the amount of the judgment, including costs, when the judgment is for the payment of money, or twice the value of the property, including costs, when the judgment is for the recovery of specific personal property; and shall be to the effect, when the action is for the recovery of money, that the appellant will pay the amount of the judgment appealed from and all costs if the appeal be withdrawn or dismissed, or the amount of any judgment and all costs that may be recovered against him in said action in the district court; and that, if the appellant does not make such payment within thirty days after the entry of judgment in the district court or of the date of withdrawal or dismissal of the appeal, judgment may be entered on motion of the respondent in his favor against the sureties for such amount with interest and costs; and judgment may be entered against the sureties by the court having jurisdiction of the case pursuant to the stipulations herein designated. When the action is for the recovery of or to foreclose a lien on specific personal property, the undertaking shall be to the effect that the appellant will pay the judgment and costs appealed from, and obey the order of the court made therein, if the appeal be withdrawn or dismissed, or will pay the amount of any judgment and costs which may be recovered against him in said action in the district court, and will obey any order of the court therein. When the judgment appealed from directs the delivery of the possession of such property by the appellant, he will not commit or suffer to be committed any waste thereon, and if the appeal be dismissed or withdrawn, or the judgment affirmed, or judgment be recovered against him in the action in the district court, he will pay the value of the use and occupation of the property from the time of the appeal until the delivery of possession thereof; or that he will pay any judgment and costs that may be recovered against him in said action in the district court, not exceeding a sum to be fixed by the justice of the court from which the appeal is taken, or by the clerk or judge of the district court in which the notice of appeal may have been filed (in case said appeal is taken by filing in said district court), and which sum must be specified in the undertaking on appeal, may be waived in writing by the adverse party. When a bond is given to stay execution, it must be approved by the justice or by the clerk or judge of the district court to which said appeal is taken. Am'd '05, p. 21; '07, p. 258.

Wells v. Loofbourow, 49 U. 200; 162 P. 375.

7518. (3748.) Affidavits of sureties. Deposit. The undertaking shall be accompanied by the affidavits of the sureties that they are residents of the county and are each worth the amount specified in the undertaking, over and above their just debts and liabilities, exclusive of property exempt from execution. A deposit of the amount of the judgment appealed from, including all costs, or the value of the property and all costs, in actions for the recovery of specific personal property, with the justice or with the clerk of the district court to which the appeal is taken shall be equivalent to the filing of the undertaking in this section mentioned; and in such case the justice shall transmit the money to the clerk of the district court, if not already deposited with him, to be paid out on the order of the district court. 7519. (3749.) Undertaking stays execution. Order. Relinquishment. Costs. If an execution be issued, on the filing of the undertaking staying all proceedings, the justice shall by order direct the officer to stay all proceedings on the same. Such officer must, upon payment of his fees for services rendered on the execution, thereupon relinquish all property levied upon and deliver the same to the judgment debtor, together with all moneys collected from sales or otherwise. If his fees be not paid, the officer may retain so much of the property or proceeds thereof as may be necessary to pay the same.

Approval of undertaking when stay desired, § 7517.

7520. (3750.) When appeal may be dismissed. Damages for appeal for delay. No failure to comply with any provisions of law relating to appeals from justice's court to the district court, except a failure to serve and file a notice of appeal, shall defeat the jurisdiction of the district court over the case attempted to be appealed.

On notice, an appeal shall be dismissed for the following cause: That notice of appeal was not served and filed within thirty days after notice of rendition of judgment; provided, that the pendency of motion for new trial shall not enlarge the time for appeal.

An appeal may be dismissed, on notice, in the discretion of the court, for either of the following causes:

1. That the papers were not filed in the district court, and the advance fee required therefor was not paid, within thirty days after the transcript was received by the clerk;

2. That the undertaking was not filed within five days after the filing of notice of appeal;

3. That appellant failed to file a new and sufficient undertaking when so ordered by the court.

On the trial of the case on appeal to the district court, if it appears to the court that the appeal was made solely for delay, it may add to the costs such damages as may be just, not exceeding twenty-five per cent of the judgment appealed from; provided, such issue is raised by the pleadings, which may be informally amended for the purpose. 7521. (3751.) Proceedings after appeal dismissed. When an appeal is dismissed, and a certified copy of the order of dismissal is filed in the justice's court in which the judgment is rendered, the judgment appealed from shall have the same force and validity, and may be enforced in the same manner as if no appeal had been taken. In case an appeal is taken to the supreme court after a certified copy of the order aforesaid is filed in the justice's court, and execution is stayed, the judgment therein shall be suspended until further order of the district court.

CHAPTER 80.

JUSTICES' COURTS—GENERAL PROVISIONS.

7525. (3752.) Contempt for which justice may punish. A justice may punish, as for contempt, persons guilty of the following acts, and no other:

1. Disorderly, contemptuous, or insolent behavior toward the justice while holding court, tending to interrupt the due course of a trial or other judicial proceeding;

2. Breach of the peace, boisterous conduct, or violent disturbance in the presence of the justice, or in the immediate vicinity of the court held by him, tending to interrupt the due course of a trial or other judicial proceeding;

3. Disobedience or resistance to the execution of a lawful order or process made or issued by him;

4. Disobedience to a subpœna duly served, or refusing to be sworn or to answer as a witness;

5. Rescuing any person or property in the custody of an officer by virtue of an order or process of the court held by him.

Contempts generally, § 7058, and note.
General power of courts respecting conduct of proceedings, §§ 1802, 1818.
Assault in presence of court, bond, § 8579.
Newspaper publications concerning courts are not contempts hereunder.
People v. Carrington, 5 U. 531; 17 P. 735.

7526. (3753.) Id. Procedure when committed in presence of court. When a contempt is committed in the immediate view and presence of the justice, it may be punished summarily; to that end an order must be made reciting the facts as they occured, and adjudging that the person proceeded against is thereby guilty of contempt, and that he be punished as therein prescribed.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 907.

7527. (3754.) Id. When not committed in presence of court. When the contempt is not committed in the immediate view and presence of the justice, a warrant of arrest may be issued by such justice, on which the person so guilty may be arrested and brought before the justice immediately, when an opportunity to be heard in his defense or excuse must be given. The justice may thereupon discharge him, or may convict him of the offense.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 908.

7528. (3755.) Id. Penalty. A justice may punish for contempts by fine or imprisonment, or both; such fine not to exceed in any case $100, and such imprisonment one day.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 909.

7529. (3756.) Id. Entry in docket. The conviction, specifying particularly the offense and the judgment thereon, must be entered by the justice in his docket.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 910.
Record of justice, how proved, § 7088.

DOCKET OF JUSTICE.

7530. (3757.) Justice to keep docket. Entries. Every justice must keep a book, denominated a "docket," in which must be entered:

1. The title to every action or proceeding;

2. The object of the action or proceeding, and, if a sum of money be claimed, the amount thereof;

3. The date of the service of the summons and the time of its return; and if an order to arrest the defendant be made, or a writ of attachment be issued, a statement of the fact;

4. The time when the parties, or either of them, appear, or their non-appearance, if default be made; a minute of the pleadings and motions, if in writing, referring to them; if not in writing, a concise statement of the material parts of the pleadings;

5. Every adjournment, stating on whose application and to what time;

6. The demand for a trial by jury, when the same is made, and by whom made, the order for the jury and the time appointed for the return of the jury, and for the trial;

7. The names of the jurors who appear and are sworn, and the names of all witnesses sworn, and at whose request;

8. The verdict of the jury, and when received; if the jury disagree and are discharged, the fact of such disagreement and discharge;

9. The judgment of the court, specifying the costs included, and the time when rendered;

10. An itemized statement of the costs;

11. The issuing of the execution, when issued, and to whom; the renewals thereof, if any, and when made; and a statement of any money paid to the justice, and when and by whom;

12. The receipt of a notice of appeal, if any be given, and of the appeal bond, if any filed.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 911*.
Certain court-martial judgments may be docketed, § 3858.
Where an order requiring security for costs was not recorded it was competent for the parties to stipulate that the order was made on a certain date.

Douglas v. District Court, 45 U. 486; 146 P. 562.
The transcript of the justice's record on appeal, as to all matters and things required to be and which are recorded therein, is conclusive.

In an action to set aside a judgment because of fraud, the recital "from the evidence I find" is only prima facie proof that evidence was introduced.
McMillan v. Forsythe, 47 U. 571; 154 P. 959.

7531. (3758.) Id. Entries, when and where made. Prima facie evidence. The several particulars of the next preceding section specified must be entered under the title of the action to which they relate, and, unless otherwise in this code provided, at the time when they occur. Such entries in a justice's docket, or a transcript thereof, certified by the justice, or his successor in office, are prima facie evidence of the facts so stated.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 912.

7532. (3759.) Index to docket. A justice must keep an alphabetical index to his docket, in which must be entered the names of the parties to each judgment, with a reference to the page of entry. The names of the plaintiffs must be entered in the index in the alphabetical order of the first letter of the family name.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 913.

7533. (3760.) Dockets and files delivered to successor. Every justice of the peace, upon the expiration of his term of office, must deposit with his successor his official dockets and all papers filed in his office, as well his own as those of his predecessors or any other which may be in his custody, to be kept as public records.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 914.
The provisions of §§ 7533-7536 do not render invalid § 1724, which provides for transfer of records and files to clerk of city court where several precincts have been abolished and merged into one.
Nystrom v. Clark, 27 U. 186; 75 P. 378.

7534. (3761.) Id. Where deposited when vacancy occurs. If the office of a justice becomes vacant by his death or removal from the precinct or city, or otherwise, before his successor is elected and qualified, the docket and papers in possession of such justice must be deposited in the office of some other justice in the precinct or city, to be by him delivered to the successor of such justice. If there is no other justice in the precinct or city, then the docket and papers of such justice must be deposited in the office of the county clerk of the county, to be by him delivered to the successor in office of such justice.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 915*.

7535. (3762.) Id. Jurisdiction of successor. Who is successor. Any justice with whom the docket of his predecessor or of another justice is deposited has and may exercise over all actions and proceedings entered in such docket the same jurisdiction as if originally commenced before him. In case of the creation of a new county, or of the change of the boundary between two counties, any justice into whose hands the docket of a justice formerly acting as such within the same territory may come is for the purpose of this section considered the successor of such former justice.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 916.

7536. (3763.) In case of vacancy, etc. The justice elected or appointed to fill a vacancy is the successor of the justice whose office became vacant before the expiration of a full term. When a full term expires, the same or another person elected to take the office in the same precinct or city from that time is the successor.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 917*.

7537. (3764.) Id. When two or more equally entitled. When two or more justices are equally entitled, under the next preceding section, to be deemed the successors in office of the justice, the board of county commissioners for that county must, by resolution, spread upon its minutes, designate which justice is the successor of a justice going out of office, or whose office has become vacant.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 918*.

7538. (3765.) Subpœnas, etc., issued to any part of county. Justices of the peace may issue subpœnas in any action or proceeding in the courts held by them, and final process on any judgment recovered therein, to any part of the county.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 919.
Witness not required to attend out of the county, unless within thirty miles, § 7131.
Mesne and final process to any part of county, § 1793.
Witnesses, etc., in district court, §§ 7122-7151.

7539. (3766.) Papers, except subpœnas, must be filled out by justice. Every paper made or issued by a justice, except a subpœna, must be issued without a blank to be filled by another, otherwise it is void.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 920*.
Party may serve his own subpoenas.
Smith v. Nelson, 23 U. 512; 65 P. 485.

7540. (3767.) Justice to receive and disburse money. Justices of the peace must receive from the sheriff or constables of their county all money collected on any process or order issued from their courts respectively, and must pay the same, and all money paid to them in their official capacity, over to the parties entitled or authorized to receive it, without delay.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 921.

7541. (3768.) Another justice to attend in case of disability. In case of the sickness or other disability, or necessary absence of a justice on a return day of a summons, or at the time appointed for a trial, another justice of the same precinct or city, or an adjoining precinct of the county, may, at his request, attend in his behalf, and thereupon is vested with the power for the time being of the justice before whom the summons was returnable. In that case, the proper entry of the proceedings before the attending justice, subscribed by him, must be made in the docket of the justice before whom the summons was returnable. If the case is adjourned, the justice before whom the summons was returnable may resume jurisdiction.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 922*.
Change of venue in case of sickness of justice, § 7427.

7542. (3769.) Security for costs may be required. Justices of the peace may in all cases require a deposit of money or an undertaking as security for costs of court, before filing the complaint. If the plaintiff is a non-resident, however, the defendant may demand that the plaintiff make a deposit of money or give an undertaking with two good sureties in any sum not exceeding $100, as the court may determine, for payment of costs adjudged against the plaintiff; and all proceedings shall stop unless such undertaking is given, and if not given within twenty days the suit shall be dismissed without prejudice.

Qualifications of sureties generally, § 7223.
Non-resident required to furnish security for costs, district court, § 7051.
Security for costs must be furnished within twenty days after the order requiring it, not twenty days after demand.
Douglas v. District Court, 45 U. 481; 146 P. 562.

7543. (3770.) Prevailing party entitled to costs. The prevailing party in justices' courts is entitled to costs of the action, and also of any proceedings taken by him in aid of an execution issued upon any judgment recovered therein.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 924.
Costs on appeal from justice's court, § 7040.
No cost bill need be filed in justices' courts, § 7049.

7544. (3771.) Justices' courts of limited jurisdiction, etc. Provisions of code applicable. Justices' courts being courts of peculiar and limited jurisdiction, only those provisions of this code which are, in their nature, applicable to the organization, powers, and course of proceedings in justices' courts, or which have been made applicable by special provisions in this code, are applicable to justices' courts and the proceedings therein.

Cited in: McMillan v. Forsythe, 47 U. 571; 154 P. 959.
Provisions of code, etc., applicable to city courts, § 1729, to municipal courts, § 1763.

7545. (3772.) Deposit in lieu of undertaking. In all civil cases arising in justices' courts, wherein an undertaking is required as prescribed in this code, the plaintiff or defendant may deposit with said justice a sum of money equal to the amount of the required undertaking, which may be received and held by the justice in place of said undertaking.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 926*. Deposit in lieu of undertaking on appeal, § 7518.

TITLE 118.

PROBATE CODE.

7553. (3773.) Title known as Probate Code. This title shall be known as the Probate Code.

CHAPTER 1.

JURISDICTION.

7554. (3774.) Where will proved and letters granted. Wills must be proved and letters testamentary or of administration granted:

1. If the decedent be a resident of the state, in the county in which he had his residence at the time of his death;

2. If the decedent be a non-resident of the state: First, in the county in which he may have died leaving estate therein; second, in any county in which any part of the estate may be, the decedent not having left estate in the county in which he died, or having died without the state;

3. In all other cases, in the county where application for letters is first made.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1294*.
Civil business arising in county must be tried there, Con. art. 8, sec. 5, and note.
An administrator may be appointed for a non-resident decedent, though he left no property in this state, and the only property is a claim for damages for wrongful death.
In re Lowham's Estate, 30 U. 436; 85 P. 445.
In re Tasanen's Estate, 25 U. 396; 71 P. 984.

7555. (3775.) Id. Concurrent jurisdiction. When a case is originally within the jurisdiction of the courts of two or more counties, the district court of that county in which application is first made for letters testamentary or of administration has exclusive jurisdiction of the settlement of the estate.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1295*.

Cal. C. Civ. P., §§ 1430*-1433*. See Sup. (1893) p. 1007. Disqualification of judges, Con. art. 8, sec. 13; §§ 1795, 1796.

7557. (3777.) Orders at chambers. Hearing at any place in district, when. The judge of the district court in which any probate or guardianship matter is pending may make any order relating to such proceeding in chambers at any place in his district, and such order shall have the same force and effect as if made by the court sitting in the proper county. The hearing of any matter requiring notice shall be had at the time and place appointed or at the time to which the same may be postponed, except that where there is no contest, or where all the parties consent, such hearing may be had at any place within the judicial district in which the matter is pending.

Execute townsite conveyances, § 6141.

Under provisions of this section, a failure to demur below to a petition to set aside the appointment of an administrator is a waiver of the objection, and under § 6993, providing that any party to a judgment may appeal therefrom, the petitioner cannot appeal from a denial of his petition, because not a party to the probate proceedings.

In re Tasanen's Estate, 25 U. 396; 71 P. 984.

Where an assignment of an interest in the estate or compromise agreement is made by the heir while the estate is in administration, a court of equity has jurisdiction to determine the controversy which, if determined, permits the probate court to apportion the estate to those entitled thereto, and the probate court, if having concurrent jurisdiction, possesses it only because it possessed the power to adjudicate questions in equity.

Dunn v. Wallingford, 47 U. 491; 155 P. 347.

7559. (3779.) Validity of probate and guardianship orders and decrees. No order or decree affecting the title to real property, heretofore or hereafter made in any probate or guardianship matter, shall be held to be void at the suit or instance of any person claiming adversely to the title of the decedent or ward, or under a title not derived from or through the decedent or ward, on account of any want of notice, defect, or irregularity in the proceedings, or of any defect or irregularity in such order or decree, if it appears that, before the order or decree was entered, the executor, administrator, or guardian, as the case may be, was appointed by a court of competent jurisdiction, upon such notice as was or may be prescribed by law; and, in an estate in which a competent court shall have appointed an executor, administrator, or guardian upon due notice, no objection to any subsequent order or decree therein can be taken by any person claiming under the deceased or under the ward, on account of any such want of notice, defect, or irregularity, in any other manner than on direct application to the same court, made at any time before distribution, or on appeal.

CHAPTER 2.

POWERS OF CLERK.

7561. (3781.) Clerk, powers of. The clerk of the district court shall have and exercise within his county all the powers and jurisdiction of the court, and of the judge thereof, in the following matters:

1. He may consider petitions for the appointment of administrators, executors, and guardians; and for the probate of wills, and any other petition or written motion filed in any probate or guardianship matter, and may set the time for the hearing of the same, and prescribe the notice to be given;

2. He may fix the amount of the bond of the executor, administrator, or guardian, and for that purpose may hear testimony as to the property, rents, issues, and profits;

3. He may in all cases examine sureties, and approve bonds and undertakings;

4. He may appoint a special administrator, and fix the amount of his bond;

5. He may appoint appraisers;

6. He may designate the terms of and enter the order for publication of notice to creditors;

7. He may grant an order of sale of perishable property.

Published in paper selected by applicant, § 7028.

7562. (3782.) Minutes of court. Record of clerk's orders. All orders made and proceedings had by the clerk under the provisions of the next preceding section shall be by him spread at large upon the minutes of the court.

7563. (3783.) Review of clerk's order. Any person aggrieved by any order made or entered by the clerk under the powers conferred in this chapter may have the same reviewed in court at the same or at the next term, and not afterwards, upon motion filed, and upon such notice as the court may prescribe. Upon the filing of such notice, the clerk shall place the cause or proceeding on the docket, and the matter shall stand for hearing or trial de novo in open court.

Iowa, McClain's An. C. (1888) § 246*.

7564. (3784.) Validity of clerk's order. The records, orders, and judgments made and entered by the clerk as hereinbefore provided, and not reversed, set aside, or modified by the court, shall stand and be of the same force, validity, and effect, and shall be entitled to the same faith and credit, as if made by the court.

CHAPTER 3.

PROBATE OF WILLS.

PETITION AND PROOF.

7565. (3785.) Duty of custodian of will to deliver same. Damages. Every custodian of a will, within thirty days after receipt of information that the maker thereof is dead, must deliver the same to the district court having jurisdiction of the estate or to the executor named therein. Any person who fails to produce the same after receiving reasonable notice so to do may be committed to jail until he does, and shall be liable for all damages occasioned by his failure.

7566. (3786.) Who may petition for probate. Any person interested may, at any time after the death of the testator, petition the court to have the will proved.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1299*.

7567. (3787.) Petition, contents of. A petition for the probate of a will should show:

1. The jurisdictional facts;
2. Whether the person named as executor consents to act or renounces his right to letters testamentary;
3. The names, ages, and residences of the heirs and devisees of the decedent, so far as known to the petitioner;
4. The probable value and character of the property of the estate;
5. The name of the person for whom letters testamentary are prayed.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1300*.

7568. (3788.) Executor forfeits rights, when. If the person named in a will as executor, for thirty days after he has knowledge of the death of the testator and that he is named as executor, fails to petition for the probate of the will, and for letters testamentary, he may be held to have renounced his right to letters, and the court may appoint any other competent person administrator, unless good cause for delay is shown.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1301*.
Person indicated by will, though not named, entitled to letters, § 6398.

7569. (3789.) Hearing and notice. When the petition is filed, it must be set for hearing, notice of which shall be given by publication, or by posting, as the court may direct, and by the mailing of notices to the heirs, and to the executor, if he be not the petitioner. Am'd '99, p. 33.

Posting in three public places, § 7864.

7570. (3790.) Nuncupative wills. Petition. Nuncupative wills may be admitted to probate at any time after the decedent has been dead ten days and within six months after the testamentary words have been spoken, on petition and notice as provided for the probate wills. The petition, in addition to the jurisdictional facts, should allege that the testamentary words or the substance thereof were reduced to writing within thirty days after they were spoken, which writing must accompany the petition.

Execution and proof of nuncupative will, §§ 6326-6328.
Olographic will may be proved as are other private writings, § 6316.

CONTESTS.

7571. (3791.) Contesting will. Written grounds. Notice. Pleadings. If any one appears to contest the will, he must file written grounds of opposition to probate thereof, and serve a copy on the petitioner, and on the proposed executor or executors, if he or they be not the petitioner, and shall mail notices of such contest to the heirs. Any one or more such persons may demur thereto upon any of the grounds of demurrer provided in the Code of Civil Procedure. If the demurrer is sustained, the court must allow the contestant a reasonable time, not exceeding ten days, within which to amend his written opposition. If the demurrer is overruled, the petitioner and others interested may jointly or separately answer the contesant's grounds, traversing or otherwise obviating or avoiding the objections.

In re Van Alstine's Estate, 26 U. 193; 72 P. 942.

7572. (3792.) Proof by subscribing witnesses. If the will is not contested, it may be admitted to probate on the testimony of one subscribing witness. If the will is contested, all the subscribing witnesses who are present in the county, and who are of sound mind, must be produced and examined, and the death, absence, or insanity of any of them must be satisfactorily shown. If none of the subscribing witnesses reside in the county at the time appointed for proving the will, the court may admit the testimony of other witnesses to prove the sanity of the testator and the execution of the will; and as evidence of the execution it may admit proof of the handwriting of the testator, and of the subscribing witnesses, or any of them.

The testimony of each witness shall be reduced to writing and signed by him, and the same shall be evidence in any subsequent contests concerning the validity of the will, or the sufficiency of the proof thereof, if the witness is dead, or has permanently removed from the state.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1316.
Secondary evidence to prove will, § 7115.

7574. (3794.) Certificate of proof. If the court is satisfied, upon the proof taken, or from the facts found by the jury, that the will was duly executed, and that the testator at the time of its execution was of sound and disposing mind, and not acting under duress, menace, fraud, or undue influence, a certificate of the proof and of the facts found, signed by the judge and attested by the seal of the court, must be attached to the will.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1317.
Issues to be tried as in civil procedure, §§ 7872, 7873.

7575. (3795.) Will to be recorded. Written testimony filed. The will and a certificate of the proof thereof must be filed and recorded by the clerk, and the same, when so filed and recorded, shall constitute part of the record in the cause or proceeding. All testimony reduced to writing shall be filed by the clerk.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1318*.

7576. (3796.) Subsequent contests by infants and others. Any person who has not contested a will, or who has contested by attorney appointed by the court without his knowledge, may contest the same or the probate thereof at any time within one year after the admission to probate, and not afterward, except that infants and persons of unsound mind shall be entitled to the period of one year after their respective disabilities are removed in which to contest; provided, that this section shall not be construed to permit any heir, devisee, or legatee, in the event of the annulment of a will or the annulment of the probate thereof, to pursue the property of the decedent or any part of the same into the hands of any person who purchased such property prior to such revocation in good faith and for value at executor's or administrator's sale, or from any heir, devisee, or distributee after distribution.

LETTERS TESTAMENTARY.

7578. (3798.) Letters testamentary, issue of. The court admitting a will to probate, after the same is proved and allowed, must issue letters thereon to the persons named therein as executors, who are competent to discharge the trust, who must appear and qualify, unless objection is made as provided in this chapter.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1349.

When person indicated, but not named in will, entitled to letters testamentary, § 6398.

7579. (3799.) Who incompetent as executors. No person is competent to serve as an executor who, at the time the will is admitted to probate, is:

1. Under the age of majority;
2. Convicted of an infamous crime;
3. Adjudged by the court incompetent to execute the duties of the trust by reason of drunkenness, improvidence, or want of understanding or integrity.

If the sole executor or all the executors are incompetent, or renounce, or fail to apply for letters, or to appear and qualify within thirty days after his or their appointment, letters of administration with the will annexed must be issued as designated and provided for the granting of letters in cases of intestacy.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1350*.

7580. (3800.) Objection to executor named. Any person interested in a will may file objections in writing to granting letters testamentary to the persons named as executors, or any of them, and the objections must be heard and determined by the court. A petition may at the same time be filed for letters of administration with the will annexed.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1351.

7581. (3801.) Married woman as executrix. When an unmarried woman, appointed executrix, marries, the court or judge thereof may, upon the motion of any person interested in the estate, revoke her authority and appoint another person in her place. When a married woman is named in a last will as executrix, she may be appointed and serve in every respect as a femme sole.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1352*. See Cal. Sup. (1893) p. 1005.

Married woman as administratrix, § 7600.

7582. (3802.) Executor cannot act for executor. No executor of an executor shall as such be authorized to administer on the estate of the first testator, but on the death of the sole or surviving executor of any last will, letters of administration, with the will annexed, of the estate of the first testator left unadministered, must be issued.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1353.
Administrator with will annexed has same authority as executor, § 7717.

Authority to executor to appoint executor is void, § 6399.

7583. (3803.) Where executor named is non-resident or minor. Where a person absent from the state or a minor is named executor, if there is another executor who accepts the trust and qualifies, the latter may have letters testamentary and administer the estate until the return of the absentee or the majority of the minor, who may then be admitted as joint executor. If there is no other executor, letters of administration with the will annexed must be granted; but the court may in its discretion revoke them on the return of the absent executor or the arrival of the minor at the age of majority. This section shall not be construed to prevent the court from appointing as executor any person appointed as such by a court of any other state, territory, or foreign country.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1354*.

Authority of one or more executors, § 7716.

7584. (3804.) Letters testamentary, form of. Letters testamentary must be substantially in the following form:

State of Utah, county of .....

The last will of A B, deceased, a copy of which is hereto annexed, having been proved and recorded in the district court in and for the county of ....., C D, who is named therein as such, is hereby appointed executor.

Witness, G H, clerk of the district court in and for [SEAL] the county of ..... Dated the ..... day of .....,
A. D. 19.....

By order of the court. G H, Clerk.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1360*.

7585. (3805.) Letters of administration with will annexed, form of. Letters of administration with the will annexed must be substantially in the following form:

State of Utah, county of .....

The last will of A B, deceased, a copy of which is hereto annexed, having been proved and recorded in the district court in and for the county of ....., and there being no executor named in the will (or as the case may be), C D is hereby appointed administrator with the will annexed.

[SEAL] the county of ..... Dated the ..... day of .....,
A. D. 19.....

By order of the court. G H, Clerk.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1361*.

FOREIGN WILLS.

7586. (3806.) Foreign wills, where proved. Wills duly proved and allowed in any other state or any territory of the United States, or in any foreign country or state, may be allowed and recorded in any county in which the testator shall have left any estate.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1322*. Interpretation, etc., governed by what law, § 6402.
Validity of foreign wills, § 6324.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1323*. Notice, § 7569.

7588. (3808.) Id. Hearing and proof. If, on the hearing, it appears upon the face of the record that the will has been proved, allowed, and admitted to probate in any other state, or any territory of the United States, or in any foreign country, and that it was executed according to the law of the place in which the same was made, or in which the testator was at the time domiciled, or in conformity with the laws of this state, it must be admitted to probate and have the same force and effect as a will first admitted to probate in this state, and letters testamentary or of administration issued thereon.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1324* Delivery of property to foreign executor or administrator, §§ 7779, 7780.

LOST OR DESTROYED WILLS.

7589. (3809.) Lost or destroyed will. How established. Notice. Whenever any will is lost or destroyed, the court must take proof of the execution and validity thereof, and establish the same; notice to all persons interested being first given as prescribed in regard to proof of wills in other cases.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1338.

7590. (3810.) Id. How proved. No will shall be proved as a lost or destroyed will, unless the same is proved to have been in existence at the time of the death of the testator, or is shown to have been fraudulently destroyed in the lifetime of the testator, nor unless its provisions are clearly and distinctly proved by at least two credible witnesses.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1339.
Proof that testatrix in 1900, while she was sane, made the lost will, and that it was in existence eight months after she became insane, was sufficient for admission of the will to probate.
In re Frandsen's Will, 50 U. —; 167 P. 362.

7591. (3811.) Id. Certification and record of proof. When a lost will is established, the provisions thereof must be distinctly stated and certified by the judge under his hand and the seal of the court, and the certificate must be filed and recorded as other wills are filed and recorded, and letters testamentary, or of administration with the will annexed, must be issued thereon in the same manner as upon wills produced and duly proved. The testimony must be reduced to writing, signed, certified, and filed as in other cases, and shall have the same effect as evidence as hereinbefore provided.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1340.

CHAPTER 4.

LETTERS OF ADMINISTRATION.

WHO ENTITLED.

7596. (3812.) Administration, to whom granted. Administration of the estate of a person dying intestate must be granted to some one or more of the persons hereinafter mentioned, the relatives of the deceased being entitled to administer only when they are entitled to succeed to his personal estate or some portion thereof; and they are, respectively, entitled thereto in the following order:

1. The surviving husband or wife;
2. The children;
3. The father or mother;
4. The brothers or sisters;
5. The grandchildren;
6. The next of kin.

Administration may be granted to one or more competent persons, although not otherwise entitled to the same, at the written request of the person entitled, filed in the court.

Special administrator appointed in certain cases, §§ 7606, 7786.
Clerk may appoint special administrator, § 7561.
On joint estates, § 7601.

7597. (3813.) Id. Relatives of whole blood preferred. Creditors. When there are several persons equally entitled to administration, the court may grant letters to one or more of them. Of several persons claiming and equally entitled to administer, relatives of the whole blood must be preferred to those of the half blood. If none of said relatives or their guardians will accept, then the creditors shall be entitled to letters, but when a creditor is applying, the court may, in its discretion, at the request of another creditor, grant letters to any other person legally competent. If a dispute arises as to relationship between applicants, or if there is any other good and sufficient reason, the court may appoint any competent person.

Cal. C. Civ. P., §§ 1366*, 1367*.
An officer of a corporation, which is a creditor of decedent, is not himself a creditor, within provisions of this section, declaring that, if none of the relatives of a deceased person apply for letters of administration, a creditor will be entitled to letters.
In re Owen's Estate, 30 U. 351; 85 P. 277.
Where an alien relative of decedent requests the appointment of a certain person and no nearer relative makes such application, it is the duty of the court to appoint the nominee of the alien relative, instead of appointing a creditor of deceased.
Id.

7598. (3814.) Id. Failure of persons entitled. Letters of administration must be granted to any applicant, though it appears that there are other persons having better rights to the administration, when such persons fail to appear within three months after the death of the decedent and claim the issuance of letters to themselves.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1377*.
Though, under the statute, a relative applying within three months would be entitled to preference over a creditor, yet the expiration of that period, or waiver of the right to administration by the relative, was not essential to jurisdiction to appoint a creditor, hence the appointment of the secretary of a creditor corporation, a relative applying within three months, on a hearing of both petitions, though erroneous, was not void.
In re Owen's Estate, 32 U. 469; 91 P. 283.

7599. (3815.) Who are incompetent. Administrators. No person is competent or entitled to serve as administrator or administratrix who is:

1. Under the age of majority or an incompetent person; but in such cases letters must be granted to his or her guardian, or, in the discretion of the court, to any person entitled to administration;

2. Not a bona fide resident of the state; but if the person entitled to serve is not a resident of the state, he may request the court or judge to appoint a resident of the state to serve as administrator, and such person may be appointed;

3. Convicted of an infamous crime;

4. Adjudged by the court incompetent to execute the duties of the trust by reason of drunkenness, improvidence, or want of understanding or integrity;

5. The surviving partner of a firm of which the decedent was a member.

7600. (3816.) Married woman as administratrix. When objection is made by any person interested in an estate, a married woman must not be appointed administratrix. When an unmarried woman appointed administratrix marries, the court may, upon the motion of any such interested person, revoke her authority and appoint another person in her place.

Married woman as executrix, § 7581.

LETTERS OF ADMINISTRATION.

7601. Court may grant letters of administration upon certain estates jointly, when. In all cases where the estate left by a deceased person has descended from another deceased person whose estate has never been probated, or where two or more deceased persons held property during their life time as tenants in common, and neither estate has been probated, and where the heirs are the same, the court may grant letters of administration upon such estates jointly, and they may be administered the same as if they were but one estate. '15, p. 89.

7602. (3817.) Petition. Petitions for letters of administration must be in writing, signed by the applicant or his counsel, and filed with the clerk of the court, stating the facts essential to give the court jurisdiction of the case, and when known to the applicant, he must state the names, ages, and residence of the heirs of the decedent, and the value and character of the property.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1371*.

7603. (3818.) Notice of petition for letters; publication or posting; mailing. When a petition praying for letters of administration is filed, the clerk must set the petition for hearing and give notice thereof by publication or by posting, and by mailing of notices to the heirs. Am'd '99, p. 76; '01, p. 95.

Notice waived in writing by parties interested, § 7868.
Notice generally, time, form, etc., §§ 7856, 7869.
An order for notice of an application for the appointment of an administrator required that the notice be published in two issues of a newspaper for a period of at least a week prior to Sept. 28th, and by mailing a copy of the notice to the heirs, as required by this section. The notice was first published on Sept. 20th, and the second and last insertion was on Sept. 27th, the day prior to the time set for hearing, and no notice was mailed; held, that the court acquired no jurisdiction under such notice to appoint an administrator.
In re Bunting's Estate, 30 U. 251; 84 P. 109. See Wells v. Kelly, 11 U. 421; 40 P. 705.
It will be presumed that the minor children and heirs of a decedent were residents of the place of decedent's residence at the time of his death.
In re Bunting's Estate, 30 U. 251; 84 P. 109.
Probate proceedings are in rem, and if the statutory notice of hearing on the petition for letters is given, the court acquires jurisdiction, and failure to give subsequent notices is an irregularity assailable, in the absence of fraud, in a direct proceeding only.
Barrett v. Whitney, 36 U. 574; 106 P. 522.

7604. (3819.) Id. Contest. Any person interested may contest the petition by filing an answer thereto on the ground of the incompetency of the applicant, or may assert his own rights to the administration, and pray that letters be issued to himself. In the latter case the contestant must file a cross petition, of which notice shall be given, and the court must hear the two petitions together.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1374*.
Any person interested may be heard, § 7869.
Court may appoint attorney to represent absent parties, etc., § 7881.
Provisions of Code of Civil Procedure applicable, § 7558.
Trials in conformity with civil procedure, §§ 7872, 7873.

7605. (3820.) Form of letters of administration. Letters of administration must be substantially in the following form:

State of Utah, county of .....

C D is hereby appointed administrator of the estate of A B, deceased.

Witness, G H, clerk of the district court, in and for the [SEAL] county of ....., with the seal thereof affixed, the ..... day of ....., A. D. 19.....

By order of the court. G. H, Clerk.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1362*.

SPECIAL ADMINISTRATORS.

7606. (3821.) Special administrator, when appointed. When there is delay in granting letters testamentary or of administration from any cause, or when such letters are granted irregularly, or no sufficient bond is filed as required, or when no application is made for such letters, or when an executor or administrator dies, or is suspended or removed, the court must appoint a special administrator to collect and take charge of the estate of the decedent in whatever county or counties the same may be found, and to exercise such other powers as may be necessary for the preservation of the estate.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1411*.
Clerk may appoint special administrator, § 7561.
For estate of decedent without heirs, §§ 7786, 7787.

7607. (3822.) Id. Proceedings. The appointment may be made at any time and without notice, and must be made by entry upon the minutes of the court specifying the powers to be exercised by the administrator.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1412*.

7608. (3823.) Id. Preference to person entitled to letters. In making the appointment of a special administrator, the court or judge, must give preference to the person entitled to letters testamentary or of administration.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1413*.

7609. (3824.) Id. Bond and oath. Before letters issue to any special administrator, he must give bond in such sum as the court may direct, with sureties to the satisfaction of the court, conditioned for the faithful performance of his duties; and he must take the usual oath and have the same indorsed on his letters.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1414*.
Bonds generally, §§ 7223, 7621.
Clerk may fix and approve bond, § 7561.

7610. (3825.) Id. Duties and powers. The special administrator must collect and preserve for the executor, or administrator, all the goods, chattels, debts, and effects of the decedent, all incomes, rents, issues, and profits, claims, and demands of the estate; must take the charge and management of, enter upon and preserve from damage, waste, and injury, the real estate, and for such and all necessary purposes may commence and maintain or defend suits and other legal proceedings, as an administrator; and exercise such other powers as are conferred upon him by his appointment, but in no case is he liable to an action by any creditor on a claim against the decedent.

CHAPTER 5.

OATHS AND BONDS.

7616. (3826.) Oath. Record of letters, bonds and oath. Before letters testamentary or of administration are issued, the executor or administrator must take and subscribe an oath that he will perform, according to law, the duties of executor or administrator, which oath must be attached to the letters. All letters testamentary and of administration issued to, and all bonds executed by, executors or administrators, with the affidavits and certificates thereon, must be forthwith recorded by the clerk of the court having jurisdiction of the estate, in books to be kept by him in his office for that purpose.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1387*. Power of executor before qualifying, § 6400.

7617. (3827.) Bonds, form of. Every person to whom letters testamentary or of administration are directed to issue must, before receiving them, execute a bond to the state of Utah, with two or more sufficient sureties, to be approved by the court or the clerk. In form the bond must be joint and several, and the penalty must not be less than twice the value of the personal property, and twice the probable value of the annual rents, profits, and issues of the real property belonging to the estate, which values must be ascertained by the court, by examining on oath the party applying, or any other person. A separate bond shall be required of each executor or administrator appointed.

Cal. C. Civ. P., §§ 1388*, 1391*. Bonds generally, §§ 7223, 7621.
Clerk may fix bond and ascertain value of estate, § 7561. Cost of bond allowed as an expense, § 1214.

7618. (3828.) Bond on sale of real estate. The court may require an additional bond from each executor or administrator whenever the sale of any real estate belonging to an estate is ordered; but no such additional bond must be required when it satisfactorily appears to the court that the penalty of the bond given before receiving letters, or of any bond given in place thereof, is equal to twice the value of the personal property remaining in or that will come into possession of the executor or administrator, including the annual rents, profits, and issues of real estate, and twice the probable amount to be realized on the sale of the real estate ordered to be sold.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1389*.

7619. (3829.) Bond, condition of. Bonds must be conditioned that the executor or administrator shall faithfully execute the duties of the trust according to law.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1390.

7620. (3830.) Bond not void on first recovery. A bond shall not be void upon the first recovery, but may be sued and recovered upon from time to time by any person aggrieved, in his own name, until the whole penalty is exhausted.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1392. Successive actions generally, § 7218.

7621. (3831.) Justification of sureties. In all cases where bonds or undertakings are required to be given under this title, the sureties must justify thereon in the same manner and in like amount as required in the general provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure, and the certificate thereof must be attached to and filed and recorded with the bond or undertaking.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1393*. Qualifications of sureties generally, § 7223.
Sureties may justify before clerk, § 7561.

7622. (3832.) Examination of sureties. Either before or after the approval of any bond, the court, of its own motion or upon motion of any person interested, may examine the sureties and such witnesses as may be produced touching the property qualifications of the sureties; and if upon such examination the court is satisfied that the bond is insufficient, it must require sufficient additional security, and if the same be not given within the time fixed by the court, the authority of such executor or administrator shall cease.

Cal. C. Civ. P., §§ 1394, 1395*. Clerk may examine sureties, § 7561.

7623. (3833.) When bond dispensed with. When it is expressly provided in the will that no bond shall be required of the executor, letters testamentary may issue and sales of real estate be made and confirmed without any bond, unless the court at any time, for good cause, require one to be executed.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1396*.

7624. (3834.) Release of surety, application for. When a surety of an executor or administrator desires to be released from responsibility on account of future acts, he may make application to the court for relief. The court must cause a citation to the executor or administrator to be issued, requiring him to appear at a time and place to be therein specified, and to give other security.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1403*.

7625. (3835.) Id. New sureties. If new sureties be given to the satisfaction of the judge, he may thereupon make an order that the sureties who applied for relief shall not be liable on their bond for any subsequent act, default, or misconduct of the executor or administrator.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1404.

7626. (3836.) Id. Revocation for failure to give. If the executor or administrator neglects or refuses to give new sureties to the satisfaction of the judge, on the return of the citation, or within such reasonable time as the judge shall allow, the court or judge must revoke his letters unless the surety making the application shall consent to a longer extension of time.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1405.

CHAPTER 6.

REVOCATION OF LETTERS.

7627. (3837.) Revocation generally. The court may at any time suspend any administrator or executor; and may, upon citation, revoke the letters of any administrator upon petition of a competent person having a prior right thereto who had no opportunity to apply, or of any administrator of the estate of a supposed intestate whose will was subsequently found and admitted to probate, or of any executor or administrator for neglect, mismanagement, waste, embezzlement, incompetency, incapacity, or because of conviction of an infamous crime, or for any other reason deemed sufficient by the court.

Cal. C. Civ. P., §§ 1383*-1386*, 1436*-1440*.

Damages for fraudulently selling real property, § 7707; for embezzlement, etc., § 7732.

Who incompetent to serve as administrator, § 7599.

Revocation for failure to give new bond, § 7626.

Petition for revocation, § 7577.

Where an executor's want of integrity in accounting an estate's property has been established by a judgment, he should be removed, and in such proceedings the parties are not entitled to a jury trial, as the power of removal is vested in the court.

Farnsworth v. Hatch, 47 U. 62; 151 P. 537.

A person holding a claim against an estate is not thereby disqualified to act as executor, but when the claim is resisted and litigation follows, the conflict of interests may become so serious as to call for the removal.

Id.

7628. (3838.) Resignation. An executor or administrator may resign upon such terms as may be fixed by the will or by the court.

7629. (3839.) Vacancies. In case of the removal, resignation, or death of one of several executors or administrators, the court, if it deems it necessary, may appoint a successor, or may permit the remaining executor or executors, administrator or administrators, to complete the execution of the trust. In case of the death, resignation, or removal of all, the court shall, upon notice, issue letters to the person having the prior right thereto, or to any competent person named by the person having such prior right. But the will may provide for the filling of vacancies among the executors.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1721.

Upon the removal of an executor, the appointment of an impartial successor is proper.
Farnsworth v. Hatch, 47 U. 62; 151 P. 537.

7630. (3840.) Removal for contempt. Whenever an executor, administrator, or guardian is committed for contempt in disobeying any lawful order of the court, and has remained in custody for thirty days without obeying such order, or purging himself otherwise of the contempt, the court may, by order reciting the facts and without further showing or notice, revoke his letters and appoint some other person entitled thereto executor, administrator, or guardian in his stead.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1721.

CHAPTER 7.

THE INVENTORY.

7635. (3841.) Inventory, when returned. Every executor or administrator must make and return to the court, within three months after his appointment, a true inventory and appraisement of all the estate of the decedent which has come to his possession or knowledge; and, within two months after any other property shall be subsequently acquired, or after other property shall have been discovered, a true inventory and appraisement of the same shall be made and returned to the court.

Cal. C. Civ. P., §§ 1443*, 1451*.

Appraisement within thirty days, under inheritance tax law, § 3193.

7636. (3842.) Appraisers. Compensation. To make the appraisement, the court must appoint three disinterested persons (any two of whom may act), who are entitled to receive a reasonable compensation for their services, not to exceed $5 per day, to be allowed by the court. The appraisers must, with the inventory, file a verified account of their services and disbursements. If any part of the estate is in any other county than that in which letters issued, appraisers thereof may be appointed, either by the court having jurisdiction of the estate, or by the court of such other county on request of the court having jurisdiction. Appraisers need not be appointed if the whole estate consists of money.

Clerk may appoint appraisers, § 7561.

Appointment under inheritance tax law, § 3187.

Where authority joint, majority may act, § 5846.

7637. (3843.) Duties of appraisers. The appraisers must take and subscribe an oath, to be attached to the inventory, that they will truly, honestly, and impartially appraise the property exhibited to them according to the best of their knowledge and ability. They must then proceed to estimate and appraise the property; each article must be set down separately, with the value thereof in figures, opposite the articles, respectively; the inventory must contain all the estate of the decedent, real and personal, a statement of all debts, partnerships, and other interests, bonds, mortgages, notes, and other securities for the payment of money belonging to the decedent, specifying the name of the debtor in each security, the date, the sum originally payable, the indorsements thereon, if any, with their dates, and the sum which, in the judgment of the appraisers, may be collected on each.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1445*.

7638. (3844.) Oaths of appraisers and executors. The inventory must be signed by the appraisers; and the executor or administrator must take and subscribe an oath, indorsed upon the inventory, that the inventory contains a true statement of all the estate of the decedent which has came to his knowledge and possession, and particularly of all money belonging to the decedent and of all just claims of the decedent against the affiant.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1449*.

7639. (3845.) Debt of executor not discharged by appointment. The naming of a person as executor does not thereby discharge him from any just claim which the testator has against him, but the claim must be included in the inventory, and the executor is liable for the same, as for so much money in his hands, when the debt or demand becomes due.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1447.

CHAPTER 8.

FAMILY SUPPORT.

7643. (3846.) Family entitled to support. Exception. Possession of homestead. When a person dies leaving a surviving wife, husband, or minor children, they shall be entitled to remain in possession of the homestead and to the use of the property exempt from execution until otherwise directed by the court; and during administration shall receive such allowance out of the estate as the court may deem necessary and reasonable for their support Such allowance may date from the death of the decedent, but in case of insolvent estates shall not continue for longer than one year, and must be paid in preference to all other charges except expenses of last sickness and funeral expenses of the decedent, and costs and charges of administration. The court may, in its discretion, exclude from such family allowance, except homestead rights, any person who may have a separate property or income.

Where amount of allowance is made discretionary with the executor by the terms of the will.

Allen v. Barnes, 5 U. 100; 12 P. 912.

HOMESTEAD:

Real estate set apart under § 850, C. L. 1876, for use of widow and minor children, does not vest in the widow so that she could convey it absolutely to the exclusion of the family of the deceased.

Rand v. Brain, 5 U. 197; 14 P. 129.

Sec. 4114, C. L. 1888, is intended to continue the benefits given by § 7139, sub. 11, to a deceased debtor's family. The homestead right does not attach in favor of the widow or children unless the estate is insolvent and in debt, or is below the homestead allowance in value.

Knudsen v. Hanberg, 8 U. 203; 30 P. 749.

The right to dispose of homestead property by will is limited to such estates as exceeded the homestead limit in value.

In re Little's Estate, 22 U. 204; 61 P. 899.

The provisions of § 6409, that homesteads and all exempt property shall be set apart for the surviving wives, husbands, and minor children, is not in conflict with, and was not repealed by, § 7644 as amended, which deals exclusively with question of "family support" and the summary administration and settlment of estates not exceeding $1500 in value.

Homestead not subject to mechanic's lien.

Volker L. Co. v. Vance, 32 U. 74; 88 P. 896.

FAMILY ALLOWANCE:

Where intestate died while §§ 4113-4119, C. L. 1888, relative to distribution of estates, were in force, but the orders settling the estate were made after this section and § 7644, relating to the same subject, took effect, the orders were properly made in accordance with the statutes in force at the time the orders were made.

In re Thorn's Estate, 24 U. 209; 67 P. 22.

Where husband and wife had for many years before his death lived apart, under an agreement, and she was not dependent on him for support, she was not entitled to a family allowance on his death, as the statute granting the allowance was intended to make immediate provision, on a husband's death, for his family, to continue during the administration of the estate.

Hilton v. Stewart, 25 U. 161; 69 P. 671.

Though a portion of the real estate of a decedent is set aside to the widow as her share of the estate, she has an absolute right to the family allowance during the administration; the amount being a matter in the court's discretion.

In re Pugsley, 27 U. 489; 76 P. 560.

In fixing the amount of the allowance for support during administration of the estate of a decedent, the age of the survivor or survivors, their health, social position and standing, the education of the children, the value of the estate and its solvency or insolvency should be taken into consideration.

Id.

A wife who did not voluntarily leave and live apart from her husband is entitled to allowance.

In re Beason's Estate, 49 U. 24; 161 P. 678.

7644. (3847.) Summary administration and distribution of small estates. Right of devise not affected. After the return of the inventory, the court may, on petition and after notice, set apart and distribute all the property of the decedent, if the whole value of the same does not exceed $1500, in fee and absolutely, as follows, to wit: One-half to the surviving wife or husband, and one-half in equal shares to the minor children; or, if there be no surviving wife or husband, in equal shares to the minor children; or, if there be no minor child, to the surviving wife or husband. The expenses of the last illness, funeral charges, and expenses of administration shall be paid before such distribution is ordered. In case the whole estate of the decedent be thus distributed, there must be no further proceedings in the administration, unless other property is discovered. The court may, at its discretion, exclude from the distribution of the property so set apart and distributed, other than the homestead, any surviving wife, husband, or minor child having separate property or income, and in all other cases wherein the estate is valued at more than $1500 the court may, on petition and notice, set apart and distribute property, not to exceed $1500 in value, to the surviving wife, or husband, and minor children, according to the foregoing provisions. This section shall not be construed to affect the right of the decedent to dispose of his estate by will, as provided by law. Am'd '03, p. 51.

Cal. C. Civ. P., §§ 1465*, 1468*, 1469*.
See note to § 7643 on homestead.
Where estate amounted to $567.30, it was error for the court to decree that a lessor's claim and lien for rent of $270 was superior to all other claims, and the estate, being less than $1500, should have been set aside for use and support of widow and minor children.
In re Stone's Estate, 14 U. 205; 46 P. 1101.
A person who sells goods to one since deceased has no lien against the estate, which amounts to less than $1500, for the amount for which such goods were sold by the administrator. The lien, if any, was against the goods themselves.
In re Farmer's Estate, 17 U. 80; 53 P. 972.
The provisions of this section and §§ 6409, 7643, should be construed together, and where the estate is less than $1500 in value, the expenses of the last sickness, funeral charges, etc., should be paid before any distribution.
In re Thorn's Estate, 24 U. 209; 67 P. 22.

CHAPTER 9.

CLAIMS AND PAYMENT.

7645. (3848.) Notice to creditors. Every executor or administrator must, immediately after his appointment, cause to be published a notice to the creditors of the decedent; such notice must be published not less than once a week for four successive weeks, but such publication shall not be necessary in cases where summary distribution of estates shall apply, as provided in § 7644; provided, however, that where an estate exceeds $1500 in amount the publication of such notice shall be necessary. 7646. (3849.) Time expressed to creditors. The time expressed in the notice, unless otherwise ordered by the court, must be four months after its first publication when the estate exceeds in value the sum of $10,000, and two months when it does not. In case such executor or administrator resigns, is removed, or dies before the time for presentation of claims has expired, his successor must give notice for the unexpired time allowed for such presentation. Am'd '17, p. 38.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1491*.

7647. (3850.) Id. Affidavit of publication and decree. Within thirty days after the notice is completed, a copy thereof, with the affidavit of due publication, must be filed, and the court must enter an order or decree, showing that due notice to creditors has been given.

Cal. C. Civ. P., §§ 1494*, 1497*. Debts secured by liens, order of payment, §§ Payment of contingent claims, § 7671. 7667, 7668.

7650. (3853.) Allowance or rejection of claim. When a claim, accompanied by the affidavit required in this chapter, is presented to the executor or administrator, he must indorse thereon his allowance or rejection, with the date thereof. If he allows the claim, it must be presented to the judge, who must indorse upon it his allowance or rejection. If the executor or administrator, or the judge, refuses or neglects to indorse such allowance or rejection for ten days after the claim has been presented to him, such refusal or neglect may, at the option of the claimant, be deemed equivalent to a rejection on the tenth day; and if the presentation be made by a notary, the certificate of such notary under seal shall be prima facie evidence of such presentation and the date thereof. If the claim be presented to the executor or administrator before the expiration of the time limited for the presentation of claims, the same is presented in time, though acted upon by the executor or administrator and by the judge after the expiration of such time. If the claim be payable in a particular kind of money or currency, it shall, if allowed, be payable only in such money or currency.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1496*. Allowance in part, § 7658.

7651. (3854.) Filing of claims. Claim by judge. Every claim allowed by the executor or administrator and approved by the judge, or a copy thereof as hereinafter provided, must, within thirty days thereafter, be filed in the court, and be ranked among the acknowledged debts of the estate to be paid in due course of administration. If the judge have a claim against an estate in process of settlement before him, the same must be allowed or rejected by another judge of the district court of the same or of an adjoining county, and a right of action shall lie as in the case of other creditors.

Cal. C. Civ. P., §§ 1495*, 1497*.

7652. (3855.) Interest on claim where estate insolvent. If the estate be insolvent, no greater rate of interest shall be allowed upon any claim after the first publication of notice to creditors than is allowed on judgments obtained in the courts of this state.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1494*.

7653. (3856.) Suit on rejected claim must be brought within three months; exception. When a claim is rejected, either by the executor or administrator, or the judge, the holder must bring suit in the proper court against the executor or administrator within three months after the date of its rejection, if it be then due, or within two months after it becomes due; otherwise the claim shall be forever barred.

Limitation of action against representatives of deceased, §§ 6481, 6482, 6647.

7654. (3857.) Claims barred by statute. Judge may hear evidence. No claim must be allowed by the executor or administrator, or the judge, which is barred by the statute of limitations. When a claim is presented to the judge for his allowance, he may, in his discretion, examine the claimant and others on oath, and hear any legal evidence touching the validity of the claim.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1499.
Limitations generally, §§ 6445-6492.

Clayton v. Dinwoodey, 33 U. 251; 93 P. 723.

7655. (3858.) Presentation before suit. Mortgages. No holder of any claim against an estate shall maintain any action thereon unless the claim is first presented to the executor or administrator, except that an action may be brought without notice by any holder of a mortgage or lien to enforce the same against the property of the estate subject thereto, where all recourse against any other property of the estate is expressly waived in the complaint; but no counsel fees shall be recovered in such action unless such claim be so presented.

Hatch v. Hatch, 46 U. 116; 148 P. 1096.

A claim for taxes need not be presented within the exception—the lien therefor being against the land bought and not against any property of the estate.
Clayton v. Dinwoody, 33 U. 251; 93 P. 723.

Claims must be presented in the probate court, and cannot be established in a court of equity.
Welch, Driscoll & Buck, v. Buck, 48 U. 653; 161 P. 455.

7656. (3859.) Statute of limitations does not run, when. The time during which there shall be a vacancy in the administration must not be included in any limitation herein prescribed. No claim against any estate, which has been presented and allowed, is affected by the statute of limitations, pending the proceedings for the settlment of the estate.

Cal. C. Civ. P., §§ 1501*, 1569*.

Statute of limitations, §§ 6445-6492.

7657. (3860.) Actions pending at death. Presentation. If an action is pending against the decedent at the time of his death, the plaintiff must in like manner present his claim to the executor or administrator for allowance or rejection, authenticated as required in other cases; and no recovery shall be had in the action unless proof be made of the presentation required.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1502.

Where the complaint seeks to charge defendants as executors de son tort, an allegation therein of the presentation of the claim will be regarded as surplusage.
First Nat. Bank of Hailey v. Lewis, 12 U. 84; 41 P. 712.

7658. (3861.) Claim allowed in part. Whenever any claim is presented to an executor or administrator, or the judge, and he is willing to allow the same in part, he must state in his indorsement the amount he is willing to allow. If the creditor refuses to accept the amount allowed in satisfaction of his claim, he shall recover no costs in any action therefor brought against the executor or administrator, unless he recover a greater amount than that offered to be allowed.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1503.

Tender and deposit, costs, § 7044.

7659. (3862.) Judgment against executor or administrator. Effect. A judgment rendered against an executor or administrator, upon any claim for money against the estate of his testator or intestate, only establishes the claim in the same manner as if it had been allowed by the executor or administrator and the judge; and the judgment must be that the executor or administrator pay, in due course of administration, the amount ascertained to be due. A certified transcript of the original docket of the judgment must be filed among the papers of the estate in court. No execution must issue upon such judgment, nor shall it create any lien upon the property of the estate, or give to the judgment creditor any priority of payment.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1504.
After decree made for the payment of creditors, execution, § 7672.
A judgment against an administrator on a claim against the estate is improperly entered against him personally.
Clayton v. Dinwoodey, 33 U. 251; 93 P. 723.
Smith v. Hanson, 34 U. 171; 96 P. 1087.

7660. (3863.) Judgment against decedent. Effect. When any judgment has been rendered for or against the testator or intestate, in his lifetime, no execution shall issue thereon after his death, except as provided in the Code of Civil Procedure relative to executions. Judgment against the decedent for the recovery of money must be presented to the executor or administrator like any other claim. If execution is actually levied upon any property of the decedent before his death, the same may be sold for the satisfaction thereof, and the officer making the sale must account to the executor or administrator for any surplus in his hands. A judgment creditor having a judgment which was rendered against the testator or intestate in his lifetime may redeem any real estate of the decedent from any sale under foreclosure or execution, in like manner and with like effect as if the judgment debtor were still living.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1505.
Judgment on verdict or decision before death, § 6866.
Execution on judgment against deceased, § 6918.

7661. (3864.) Reference of doubtful claim. If the executor or administrator doubts the correctness of any claim presented to him, he may enter into an agreement, in writing, with the claimant to refer the matter in controversy to some disinterested person to be approved by the court. The report of the referee, if confirmed, shall be as valid and effectual in all respects as if the same had been rendered in a suit commenced by ordinary process.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1507*.
Reference generally, §§ 6835-6841.
Arbitration generally, §§ 6899-6909.

7662. (3865.) Liability of executor on judgment for costs. When a judgment is recovered, with costs, against any executor or administrator, he shall be individually liable for such costs, but they must be allowed him in his administration accounts, unless it appears that the suit or proceeding in which the costs were taxed was prosecuted or defended without just cause.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1509.
Liability of executor, etc., for costs, §§ 7045, 7876.

7663. (3866.) Claims of executors. Presentment. If the executor or administrator is a creditor of the decedent, his claim, duly authenticated by affidavit, must be presented for allowance or rejection to the court, and on its allowance by the court must be paid as other claims. If, however, the judge reject the claim, action thereon may be had against the estate by the claimant, and summons must be served upon the judge, who may appoint an attorney at the expense of the estate, to defend the action. If the claimant recover no judgment, he must pay all costs, including defendant's reasonable attorney's fees, to be fixed by the court.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1510*.
Debt of executor not discharged by his appointment, § 7639.

7664. (3867.) Statement of claims. The executor or administrator must return a statement of all claims against the estate which have been presented to him, when required by the court. In all such statements he must designate the names of the creditors, the nature of each claim, when it became due, or will become due, and whether it was allowed or rejected by him.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1512*.
Statement of claims presented at accounting, § 7747.

7665. (3868.) Presentment of interest-bearing debts. If there is any debt of the decedent bearing interest, whether presented or not, the executor or administrator may, by order of the court, pay the amount then accumulated and unpaid, or any part thereof, at any time when there are sufficient funds properly applicable thereto, whether said claim be then due or not; and interest shall thereupon cease to accrue upon the amount so paid. This section shall not apply to existing debts, unless the creditor consents to accept the amount.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1513.

Deduction of interest, § 7671.

PAYMENT OF DEBTS.

7666. (3869.) Payment of funeral and family expenses. Other debts. The executor or administrator, as soon as he has sufficient funds in his hands, must pay the funeral expenses and expenses of the last sickness and the allowance made to the family of the decedent. He may retain in his hands the necessary expenses of administration, but he is not obliged to pay any other debt or any legacy until the payment has been ordered by the court.

Allen v. Barnes, 5 U. 100; 12 P. 912.

The heirs are not bound to pay the debts of the ancestor, unless they received property from the estate, in which case they are responsible for such debts only to the extent of their inheritance.

Bacon v. Thornton, 16 U. 138; 51 P. 153.

The provisions of this section and §§ 7643, 7644, should be construed together, and where the estate is less than $1500 in value, the expenses of the last sickness, funeral charges, etc., should be paid before any distribution.

In re Thorn's Estate, 24 U. 209; 67 P. 22.

7667. (3870.) Other debts. Order of payment. Other debts of the estate must be paid in the following order:

1. The wages of each employe of the decedent for services rendered within sixty days next preceding his death, not exceeding $100;

2. Debts having preference by the laws of the United States or of the state;

3. All debts which were liens upon the real property occupied, selected, or set apart as a homestead;

4. All other debts which were liens on the property of the decedent at the time of his death;

5. All other demands against the estate.

Cal. C. Civ. P., §§ 1205*, 1643*.

Vouchers must be taken, when, §§ 7749, 7750.

Payment of local creditors of non-resident decedent before transmission of property to foreign representatives, § 7780.

7668. (3871.) Debts secured by liens. Debts secured by liens or incumbrances on the property occupied, selected, or set apart as a homestead must be paid out of the funds of the estate; and such liens or incumbrances shall only be enforced for any deficiency remaining after such payment. The preference given in the preceding section to debts secured by liens on other property shall extend only to the proceeds of the property affected by such liens, and to the extent thereof, and if such proceeds are insufficient to pay the liens, the part remaining unsatisfied must be classed with other demands against the estate.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1644*.

Homestead, distribution of, etc., §§ 6409-6411, 7644.

Presentment of claim, § 7649.

Presentation of contingent claim, § 7649.

No mechanic's lien against homestead, note to § 7643.

7669. (3872.) Dividends to creditors. If the estate is insufficient to pay all the debts of any one class, each creditor must be paid a dividend in proportion to his claim; and no creditor of any one class shall receive any payment until all those of the preceding class are fully paid.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1645.

7670. (3873.) Payment in part. Discharge of executor. Upon the settlement of the accounts of the executor or administrator, the court must make an order for the payment of the debts, as circumstances of the estate require.

If there are not sufficient funds in the hands of the executor or administrator, the court must specify in the decree the sum to be paid to each creditor. If the whole property of the estate be exhausted by such payment or distribution, such account must be considered as a final account, and the executor or administrator is entitled to his discharge on producing and filing the necessary vouchers and proofs showing that such payments have been made and that he has fully complied with the decree of the court.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1647. Final account and settlement, §§ 7751, 7763-7776.

7671. (3874.) Claims contingent or not due. If there is any claim not due, or any contingent or disputed claim against the estate, the amount thereof or such part of the same as the holder would be entitled to if the claim were due, established, or absolute, must be paid into the court and there remain to be paid over to the party when he becomes entitled thereto, or if he fails to establish his claim, to be paid over or distributed as the circumstances of the case require. If any creditor whose claim has been allowed, but is not yet due, appears and assents to a deduction therefrom of the legal interest for the time the claim has yet to run, he is entitled to be paid accordingly. The payments provided for in this section are not to be made when the estate is insolvent, unless a pro rata distribution is ordered.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1648. Payment of interest bearing debts, § 7665.

7672. (3875.) Executor or administrator liable to creditors, when. Execution. When a decree is made by the court for the payment of creditors, the executor or administrator is personally liable to each creditor for his allowed claim, or the dividend thereon, and execution may be issued on such decree, as upon a judgment in the court, in favor of each creditor, and the same proceedings may be had under such execution as in other cases. The executor or administrator is liable therefor on his bond to each creditor.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1649. Judgment against executor or administrator upon claim, payment, § 7659.

7673. (3876.) Claims not included in order for payment. When the accounts of the administrator or executor have been settled, and an order made for the payment of debts and distribution of the estate, no creditor whose claim was not included in the order for payment has any right to call upon the creditors who have been paid, or upon the heirs, devisees, or legatees to contribute to the payment of his claim; but if the executor or administrator has failed to give due notice to the creditors, any such creditor may recover on the bond of the executor or administrator.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1650*. Failure to present claim, bar, § 7648.

CHAPTER 10.

SALES, MORTGAGES, AND LEASES.

SALES IN GENERAL.

7677. (3877.) When sale allowed. When a sale of property of the estate is necessary to pay the allowance of the family, or the debts outstanding against the decedent, or the debts, expenses, or charges of administration, or legacies, or when it appears to the satisfaction of the court that it is for the advantage, benefit, and best interests of the estate and those interested therein that the real or personal estate or some part thereof, be sold, the executor or administrator may sell any real as well as personal property of the estate upon the order of the court; and an application for the sale of property may embrace both real and personal property.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1536. Cal. Sup. (1893) p. 1010.
Mortgage or lease of real property, §§ 7708, 7709.
Limitation on action to recover land sold by executor, etc., § 6461.
Lease and bond of mining claim, §§ 7712.
Sale of property of absent heirs, § 7784.
Property liable for debts, §§ 6311, 6385, 6389, 6408, 7666, 7670, 7761.
Order of probate court for sale of property to pay for improvements made years after death of decedent, and while there was no properly authorized administrator of the estate, is void; no title passes by sale thereunder.

Cain Heirs v. Young, 1 U. 361.
Possessory rights are treated as real estate in the manner of descent and distributions, and cannot be sold by administrators except to pay debts incurred by the ancestor; but if they be treated merely as personal property, they cannot be sold to pay debts not incurred by the ancestor and not allowed by the probate court.
Id.

7678. (3878.) Order for and report of sale. Confirmation. No sale of any property of an estate of a decedent is valid unless made under order of the court, except as otherwise provided in this chapter. All sales must be reported under oath to and confirmed by the court before the title to the property sold passes.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1517. Confirmation of private sale, § 7695.

7679. (3879.) But one sale when estate insolvent. When it appears to the court that the estate is insolvent, or that it will require a sale of all the property of the estate of every character to pay the family allowance, expenses of administration, and debts, there need be but one order of sale made, and but one sale had.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1519*.

7680. (3880.) All may be sold when sale of part injurious. If at any hearing it appears necessary or advantageous to sell a part of the real or personal estate, and that by a sale thereof the residue of the estate, real or personal, or any part thereof, would thereby be injured, or would be so small in quantity or value, or would be of such a character with reference to its future disposition among the heirs or devisees, as clearly to render it for the best interest of all concerned that the same should be sold, the court may authorize the sale of the whole estate, or of any part thereof, as may be necessary for the best interest of all concerned.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1542*. See Cal. Sup. (1893) p. 1012.

7681. (3881.) Sales without order and notice. When property is directed by the will to be sold, or authority is given by the will to sell property, the executor may sell any property of the estate without order of the court, and at either public or private sale, and with or without notice, as the executor may determine, but the executor must make return of such sales as in other cases; and if directions are given in the will as to the mode of selling, or the particular property to be sold, such direction must be observed. In either case, no title passes unless the sale be confirmed by the court.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1561.
Notice generally, §§ 7856-7868.
Under § 4181, C. L. 1888, where will gives executors simply "power to sell either at public or private sale in their discretion," without directions as to notice, sales without statutory notice are invalid.
In re Walker Estate, 6 U. 369; 23 P. 930.

7682. (3882.) Executor liable for neglect at sale. If there is any neglect or misconduct in the proceedings of the executor or administrator in relation to any sale by which any person interested in the estate suffers damage, the party aggrieved may recover the same in an action upon the bond of the executor or administrator, or otherwise.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1571. Executor liable for double damages for fraud in sale, § 7707.

7683. (3883.) Return of sale within thirty days. Penalty. When a sale has been made by an executor or administrator of any property of the estate, real or personal, he must return to the court within thirty days thereafter an account of sales verified by his affidavit. If he neglects to make such return, he may be punished by attachment, or his letters may be revoked, one day's notice having been first given him to appear and show cause why such attachment should not issue or such revocation should not be made.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1575. Revocation generally, §§ 7627-7630.

7684. (3884.) Executor cannot be purchaser. No executor or administrator must, directly or indirectly, purchase any property of the estate he represents, nor be interested in any sale.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1576.
Not to purchase claim against estate, § 7737.
Not to profit or lose by estate, § 7736.
Executor may, however, purchase an heir's or devisee's interest in the estate.
Haight v. Pearson, 11 U. 51; 39 P. 479.

SALES OF PERSONAL PROPERTY.

7685. (3885.) Sale may be ordered on petition. Notice. Proviso. A sale of personal property may be ordered on petition setting forth the facts showing the sale to be necessary or advantageous. Orders authorizing sales of personal property shall be granted, and such sales be made, only after notice, except in the case of perishable and other property likely to depreciate in value, and for the purpose of paying the family allowance, in which cases orders and sales may be made without notice if directed by the court; but it is provided that, when any estate consists in whole or in part of stocks, bonds, or other choses in action likely to fluctuate in value, which have a publicly quoted market value and are regularly sold and purchased on any publicly recognized stock exchange, chamber of commerce, or other like institution, any or all such stocks, bonds, or other choses in action may be, by the personal representative of such estate, sold upon any such stock exchange, chamber of commerce, or other like institution, without either notice or confirmation of such sale, but only upon a verified petition, duly filed, and upon an order of the judge of the court made without notice, both showing that such sale is necessary to pay the legacies or outstanding debts of the estate, or both showing it to be for the best interests or better security of the estate and the persons interested therein that such sale be made; and the title to the property thus sold shall pass upon and by virtue of the sale, and the personal representative of the estate shall pay the costs and expenses of and commissions upon such sale out of the proceeds received thereupon. Am'd '15, p. 102.

Cal. C. Civ. P., §§ 1522-1525*.
Clerk may order sale of perishable property, § 7561.
Notice generally, time, form, etc., §§ 7856-7868.
Under § 7724, providing that, on the death of one partner, the surviving partner shall have the right to continue in possession of the partnership property and to settle its business, the court has no authority or jurisdiction to order a sale of the personal property of a deceased partner, and, although a sale was ordered and made, it was not error to refuse to confirm it.
Wilson v. Meyer, 23 U. 529; 65 P. 488.

7686. (3886.) Id. How and where sold. Personal property must be sold at public auction, unless the court orders a private sale. The court may direct the terms of sale. Public sales of personal property must be made at the courthouse door, or at some other public place, or at the residence of the decedent; but no sale shall be made of personal property not present at the time of sale, unless the court otherwise orders.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1526*.

7687. (3887.) Personalty sold before realty, when. Whenever it appears to the court on any hearing of an application for the sale of real property that it would be for the interest of the estate that personal property of the estate, or some part of such property, should be first sold, the court may decree the sale of the personal property, or any part of it, and the sale thereof shall be conducted in the same manner as if the application had been made for the sale of such personal property in the first instance.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1639.

SALES OF REAL PROPERTY.

7688. (3888.) Petition, form of. To obtain an order for the sale of real property, the executor or administrator must present a verified petition to the court, setting forth the amount of personal estate that has come to his hands, and how much thereof, if any, remains undisposed of; the debts outstanding against the decedent, as far as can be ascertained or estimated; the amount due upon the family allowance, or that will be due after the same has been in force for one year; the debts, expenses, and charges of administration already accrued, and an estimate of what will or may accrue during the administration; a general description of all the real property of which the decedent died seized, or in which he had any interest, or in which the estate has acquired any interest, and the condition and value thereof; and if said order for sale of real estate is petitioned for on the ground that it is for the advantage, benefit, and best interests of the estate and those interested therein that the sale be made, the petition, in addition to the foregoing facts, must set forth in what way an advantage or benefit would accrue to the estate and those interested therein by such sale. If the executor or administrator neglects to apply for an order of sale where it is necessary, any person interested may make application therefor.

Lease of mining claim, with option, § 7711.
Sale of property of absent heir, § 7784.

But if neither petition nor decree shows facts under § 4159, C. L. 1888, order of sale is void for want of jurisdiction. (But see § 7559.)
Needham v. Salt Lake City, 7 U. 319; 26 P. 920.

7689. (3889.) Order for hearing. Notice. Such petitions must be filed and an order thereupon made directing all persons interested in the estate to appear before the court at a time and place specified to show cause why an order should not be granted to sell such real estate of the decedent as is necessary or advantageous. Notice of such hearing shall be given by publication or by posting, as the court may direct, and by mailing notices to the heirs, and to the executor or administrator if he is not the petitioner. Am'd '99, p. 23.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1538*. See Cal. Sup. (1893) p. 1011.
Clerk may set time for hearing and fix notice, § 7561.
Form of notice, etc., §§ 7856-7868.

Posting in three public places, § 7864.
Notice waived in writing, § 7868.
Personal service equivalent to mailing, § 7863.

7690. (3890.) Order in force one year. If the court is satisfied, after a hearing, that the sale of the whole or some portion of the real estate is necessary or advantageous, or if such sale be assented to by all the persons interested, an order must be made to sell the whole, or so much and such parts of the real estate described in the petition as the court shall judge necessary or beneficial; provided, that no order of sale granted in pursuance of this chapter shall continue in force more than one year after granting the same, unless a sale has been made thereunder.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1543*. See Cal. Sup. (1893) p. 1012.

7691. (3891.) Order for sale. Terms. Sale may be on credit. The order of sale must describe the lands to be sold and the terms of sale, which may be for cash or on a credit, which in the opinion of the court is most beneficial to the estate, payable in gross or in instalments, and in such kind of money and with such interest as the court may direct. The land may be sold in one parcel or in subdivisions, as the executor or administrator shall judge most beneficial to the estate, unless the court otherwise specially directs. If it appears that any part of such real estate has been devised, and not charged in such devise with the payments of debts or legacies, the court must order the remainder to be sold before that so devised. Every such sale must be ordered to be made at public auction, unless in the opinion of the court it would benefit the estate to sell the whole or some part of such real estate at private sale. The court may, if the same is asked for in the petition, order or direct such real estate or any part thereof to be sold at either public or private sale, as the executor or administrator shall judge to be most beneficial for the estate. If the executor or administrator neglects or refuses to make a sale under the order and as directed therein, he may be compelled to sell by order of the court, made on motion after due notice by any party interested.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1544. Am'd '15, p. 84.

7692. (3892.) Posting of notice of sale. When a sale is ordered to be made at public auction or at private sale, notice of the time and place of sale must be prominently posted on the property at the highway, if the property abuts on a highway, or, if it does not so abut, at a point on the highway near the property, and must also be published as hereinafter provided, unless otherwise ordered.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1547*. Posting in three public places, § 7864.

7693. (3893.) Public sales, when and where made. Sales at public auction must be made in the county where the land is situated; but when the land is situated in two or more counties, it may be sold in either. The sale must be made between the hours of nine o'clock in the morning and the setting of the sun on the same day, and must be made on the day named in the notice of sale unless the same is postponed.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1548.

7694. (3894.) Time of making private sales. When a sale of real estate is ordered to be made at private sale, the sale shall not be made before the day named, but must be made within six months thereafter.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1549*.

7695. (3895.) Confirmation of private sale. No sale of real estate at private sale shall be confirmed by the court unless the sum offered is at least ninety per cent of the appraised value thereof, nor unless such real estate has been appraised within one year of the time of such sale. If it has not been so appraised, or if the court is satisfied that the appraisement is too high or too low, appraisers must be appointed, and they must make an appraisement thereof, as in the case of an original appraisement. This may be done at any time before the sale or the confirmation thereof.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1550. Confirmation of public sales, § 7700.
All sales must be confirmed, § 7678.

7696. (3896.) Sales on credit. The executor or administrator must, when the sale is made upon a credit, take the notes of the purchaser for the purchase money, with a mortgage on the property to secure their payment; provided, that at least ten per cent of the purchase money shall be paid at time of sale.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1551*.

7697. (3897.) Postponement of public sale. If, at the time appointed for a sale at public auction, the executor or administrator deems it for the interest of all persons concerned that the same be postponed, he may postpone it from time to time, not exceeding in all three months; but in case of postponement, notice thereof must be given by a public declaration at the time and place first appointed for the sale, and if the postponement be for more than one day, further notice must be given by reposting, and by republishing the original notice of sale, with a brief statement appended to each of said notices of the fact of postponement and of the time to which the same is made.

Cal. C. Civ. P., §§ 1557, 1558*.

7698. (3898.) Return and hearing. Notice. The executor or administrator shall, within thirty days after making any sale of real estate, make a return of his proceedings to the court. A hearing upon the return of the proceedings may be asked for in the return or by petition subsequently, and thereupon the court must fix the day for the hearing, of which notice must be given, which notice must briefly indicate the land sold and the terms of sale.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1552*. See Cal. Sup. (1893) p. 1013. Sale under power granted in will, confirmation, § 7681.
Clerk may fix time for hearing, and notice to be given, § 7561.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1552*. See Cal. Sup. (1893) p. 1013.

7700. (3900.) Confirmation. Resale. If it appears to the court that the sale was legally made and fairly conducted, and that the sum bid was not disproportionate to the value of the property sold, and that a greater sum, as above specified, cannot be obtained, or if the increased bid mentioned in the next preceding section is accepted by the court, the court must make an order confirming the sale, and directing conveyances to be executed. The sale from that time is confirmed and valid. If, after the confirmation, the purchaser neglects or refuses to comply with the terms of sale, the court may, on motion of the executor or administrator, and after notice to the purchaser, order a resale of the property to be made. If the amount realized on such resale does not cover the bid and the expenses of the previous sale, such purchaser is liable for the deficiency to the estate.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1554*. Confirmation of private sales, § 7695.
All sales must be confirmed, § 7678.

7701. (3901.) Id. Conveyance. After confirmation, conveyances must be executed to the purchaser by the executor or administrator conveying all the right, title, interest, and estate of the decedent in the premises at the time of his death. If prior to the sale, by operation of law or otherwise, the estate has acquired any right, title, or interest in the premises, other than or in addition to that of the decedent at the time of his death, such right, title, or interest also passes by such conveyances.

Recording of decree, notice, § 7871.
A purchaser at an administrator's sale takes subject to the rule of caveat emptor. Moyle v. Thomas, 46 U. 542; 151 P. 361.

7702. (3902.) Contract for purchase of lands. Sale. If the decedent, at the time of his death, was possessed of a contract for the purchase of lands, his interest in such lands thereunder may be sold in the same manner as if he had died seized of such lands, except as hereinafter provided.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1565*.

7703. (3903.) Id. Conditions. The sale of such an interest must be made subject to all payments that may thereafter become due on such contracts, and the sale must not be confirmed by the court until the purchasers execute a bond in double the whole amount of payments thereafter to become due on such contracts, with sureties to be approved by the court, conditioned that the purchaser will make all payments for such land that become due after the date of the sale, and will fully indemnify the executor or administrator and the persons entitled to the decedent's interest in the land sold against all demands, costs, charges, and expenses by reason of any covenant or agreement contained in such contract.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1566*, 1567*.

7704. (3904.) Id. Assignment of contract. Upon the confirmation of the sale, the executor or administrator must execute to the purchaser an assignment of the contract, which vests in the purchaser, his heirs, and assigns all the right, title, and interest of the estate, or of the persons entitled to the interest of the decedent in the lands sold, at the time of the sale; and the purchaser has the same rights and remedies against the vendor of such land as the decedent would have had if he were living.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1568.

7705. (3905.) Sale of lands under mortgage. Proceeds. When any sale is made by an executor or administrator, pursuant to provisions of this chapter, of lands subject to any mortgage or other lien which is a valid claim against the estate of the decedent and has been presented and allowed, the purchase money must be applied, after paying the necessary expenses of the sale, first, to the payment and satisfaction of the mortgage or lien, and the residue, if any, in due course of administration. The application of the purchase money to the satisfaction of the mortgage or lien must be made without delay, and the land is subject to such mortgage or lien until the purchase money has been actually so applied. The purchase money, or so much thereof as may be sufficient to pay such mortgage or lien, with interest, and any lawful costs and charges thereon, may be paid into the court, to be received by the clerk thereof, whereupon the mortgage or lien upon the land must cease, and the purchase money must be paid over by the clerk of the court without delay, in payment of the expenses of the sale, and in satisfaction of the debt to secure which the mortgage or other lien was taken, and the surplus, if any, at once returned to the executor or administrator, unless, for good cause shown, after notice to the executor or administrator, the court otherwise directs.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1569*.

7706. (3906.) Id. Mortgagee may purchase. At any sale, under order of the court, of lands upon which there is a mortgage or lien, the holder thereof may become the purchaser, and his receipt for the amount due him from the proceeds of the sale is a payment pro tanto. If the amount for which he purchased the property is insufficient to defray the expenses and discharge his mortgage or lien, he must pay to the court, or the clerk thereof, an amount sufficient to pay such expenses.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1570.

7707. (3907.) Liability for fraudulent sales. Any executor or administrator who fraudulently sells any real estate of a decedent contrary to or otherwise than under the provisions of this chapter is liable in double the value of the land sold, as liquidated damages, to be recovered in an action by the person having an estate of inheritance therein.

MORTGAGES A ND LEASES.

7708. (3908.) As to mortgages. Whenever, in any estate now being administered or that may hereafter be administered, it shall appear to the court or judge to be for the advantage of the estate to raise money by a mortgage of the real property or any part thereof, the court, as often as occasion therefor shall arise in the administration of any estate, may, on petition, notice, and hearing, authorize, empower, and direct the executor or administrator to mortgage the real estate or any part thereof, upon such terms and for such length of time as to the court may seem necessary or beneficial. The petition shall be verified, and shall state the purpose sought to be accomplished by the mortgage, the amount to be raised, a general description of the property proposed to be mortgaged, and such other facts as are required in a petition for the sale of real property. Upon filing such petition, the clerk must set the same for hearing, and give notice thereof by publication or by posting, and by mailing notice to the heirs. The order to mortgage shall describe the premises, and shall prescribe the amount of the mortgage, the maximum rate of interest to be paid, the maximum period of time for which the same may be given, and such other terms and conditions as the court may deem advisable. Lease of mining claim with option to purchase, §§ 7710-7712.

7710. (3909x.) May lease mining claims belonging to estates, with option to purchase. When all or any portion of the estate of any person deceased, or of any ward under guardianship, consists of mining claims, coal lands, or other mining property, whether patented or unpatented, or of interests in mining claims, coal lands, or other mining property, the administrator or executor of such deceased person, or the guardian of the property of the ward, may petition the court having jurisdiction of the estate for leave to lease such mining claims, coal lands, or other mining property, or such interests in mining claims, coal lands, or other mining property, belonging to the estate of the deceased or to the ward, with an option to the lessee to purchase the same; and if upon the hearing it appears to the court that it is for the interests of the estate or of the ward, the court may make an order authorizing the administrator, executor, or guardian to lease all or any portion of such mining claims, coal lands, or other mining property, or all or any portion of the interests therein belonging to the estate or to the ward as he shall designate in the order, and to give an option to the lessee to purchase the same within a specified time at a stipulated price; and when such order has been made, the executor, administrator, or guardian may lease the property, or the interests in the property specified in said order, and give the lessee an option to purchase the same, within the time, at the price and on the terms specified in the order. '03, p. 9; am'd '13, p. 107.

Lease of real property, § 7708.

7711. (3909x1.) Id. Bond of administrator, etc. Upon making such order, the court may require the administrator, executor, or guardian to give a bond, with sureties, to be approved by the clerk of said court, and, upon the option being accepted, may require additional bond, with sureties, before the sale is confirmed, as in the case of other sales by an administrator, executor, or guardian. '03, p. 10.

Additional bond on making sale, § 7618.

7712. (3909x2.) When lessee is entitled to deed. If the lessee complies with the terms of the lease, and accepts the option, and tenders the stipulated price, he shall be entitled to a deed for the mining claims, coal lands, or other mining property, or the aforesaid interests therein, upon which the option was given, but no title shall pass under such option until the acceptance of the option and the deed executed pursuant thereto have been reported to and approved by the court. '03, p. 10; am'd '13, p. 107.

CHAPTER 11.

POWERS AND DUTIES OF EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.

7716. (3910.) Acts of part of executors valid, when. When all the executors named are not appointed by the court, those appointed have the same authority to perform all acts and discharge the trust required by the will as effectually for every purpose as if all were appointed, and should act together; where there are two executors or administrators, the act of one alone shall be effectual, if the other is absent from the state or laboring under any legal disability from serving, or if he has given his co-executor or co-administrator authority in writing to act for both; and where there are more than two executors or administrators, the act of a majority is valid.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1355.

Lease for more than one year by one of six executors without written authority from the others, who were not under disability or absent from the territory, is invalid.

Utah Loan & Trust Co. v. Garbutt, 6 U. 342; 23 P. 758.

The sole heir as administrator can not legally bind an estate by agreeing to settle a claim against the estate by paying a stipulated amount from the estate, on condition that the personal estate should be valued at a certain amount, as far as creditors were concerned; but such agreement would be binding upon the interest of the heir.

Dunn v. Wallingford, 47 U. 491; 155 P. 347.

Administrator acting without authority does not bind the estate, but is personally liable.

Id.

7717. (3911.) Authority of administrators with will annexed. Administrators with the will annexed have the same authority over the estates which executors named in the will would have, and their acts are as effectual for all purposes.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1356*.

Letters of administration with will annexed, § 7582.

7718. (3912.) Possession of real and personal estate. Actions for. The executor or administrator is entitled to and must take possession of all the real and personal estate of the decedent, and shall receive the rents and profits of the real estate until the estate is settled, or until delivered over by order of the court to the heirs or devisees; and must keep in good tenantable repair all houses, buildings, and fixtures thereon, which are under his control, and collect all debts due to the decedent or to the estate. The heirs or devisees may themselves, or jointly with the executor or administrator, maintain an action for the possession of the real estate or for the purpose of quieting title to the same, against any one except the executor or administrator; but this section shall not be so construed as requiring them so to do.

Jenkins v. Jensen, 24 U. 108; 66 P. 773.

7719. (3913.) Id. Possession of executor possession of heirs. Exception. For the purpose of bringing suits to quiet title, or for partition of such estate, the possession of the executors or administrators is the possession of the heirs or devisees; such possession by the heirs or devisees is subject, however, to the possession of the executor or administrator for the purposes of administration as provided in this title.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1581*.

7720. (3914.) Actions by and against executors and administrators. Actions for the recovery of any property, real or personal, or for the possession thereof, or to quiet title thereto, or to determine any adverse claim thereon, and all actions founded upon contracts, may be maintained by and against executors and administrators, in all cases in which the same might have been maintained by or against their respective testators or intestates.

L., a resident of Utah, was sued and duly served in Idaho, but died before judgment. His executors, appointed in Utah, were substituted for deceased, entered their appearance, and judgment was obtained against them as such executors. The assignee of this judgment brought suit in Utah against such executors as such; held, that the Idaho judgment was invalid against the estate, but that the executors were liable as executors de son tort. A personal representative cannot bind the estate by his extra-territorial acts.
Nat'l Bank of Hailey v. Lewis, 12 U. 84; 41 P. 712.
Whenever an instrument creating a trust confers upon the trustee any power in trust or imposes any duty relating to management of trust estate, or establishes any agency to be performed by the trustee, the legal title vests in him to enable him to administer the trust, and proceeds of a sale by defendant in carrying out such trust forms no part of decedent's estate, and the administrator cannot maintain an action therefor.
Barrette v. Dooly, 21 U. 81; 59 P. 718.
Where an administrator neglects to bring a suit to recover real property within the prescribed period of limitation, whereby a minor is barred, the heir has a right of action against the administrator and his bondsmen.

7721. (3915.) May maintain action for waste, etc. Executors and administrators may maintain actions against any person who has wasted, destroyed, taken, or carried away, or converted to his own use the goods of their testator or intestate in his lifetime. They may also maintain actions for trespass committed on real estate of the decedent in his lifetime.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1583.
Actions by executors or administrators, § 7720.

7722. (3916.) Against executors for waste by testator. Any person or his personal representative may maintain an action against the executor or administrator of any testator or intestate who in his lifetime has wasted, destroyed, taken, or carried away, or converted to his own use the goods or chattels of any such person, or committed any trespass on the real estate of such person.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1584.
Where an action is against a defendant for misappropriation or misuse of a trust fund and breach of duty occasioned through neglect while acting in a fiduciary capacity, such action survives against the executors of a party defendant at a former trial, who has since died.
Warren v. Robinson, 21 U. 429; 61 P. 28.

7723. (3917.) Decedent's business continued, when. When the interests of creditors are not prejudiced thereby, the court may prescribe that the business in which the deceased was engaged at the time of his death may be continued for such length of time as may be necessary to permit the affairs of the estate to be wound up to the best advantage.

Iowa, McClain's An. C. (1888) § 3611*.
Surviving partner to continue and settle partnership business, § 7724.

7724. (3918.) Surviving partner to settle partnership affairs, and account. When a partnership exists between the decedent, at the time of his death, and any other person, the surviving partner has the right to continue in possession of the partnership and to settle its business, but the interest of the decedent in the partnership must be included in the inventory and be appraised as other property. The surviving partner must settle the affairs of the partnership without delay, and account with the executor or administrator, and pay over such balances as may from time to time be payable to him in right of the decedent. Upon the application of the executor or administrator, the court or judge may, whenever it appears necessary, order the surviving partner to give a bond in a prescribed sum or render an account, and in case of neglect or refusal may, after notice, compel it by attachment; and the executor or administrator may maintain against him any action which the decedent could have maintained.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1585*.
Surviving partner incompetent as administrator, § 7599.
Decedent's business continued, when, § 7723.
Under provisions of this section, where court ordered the personal property of a deceased partner, which was in possession of the surviving partner, to be sold by decedent's executors, since the court had no jurisdiction to order the sale, it was not error to refuse to confirm it.

Bingham Coal & Lbr. Co. v. Blom, 43 U. 584; 137 P. 630.
There can be no decree of final settlement under partnership affairs as between the surviving partner and the deceased partner's estate without an accounting with the administrators and without the necessary facts being presented to the court in a proper manner.
In re Tripp Estate, 51 U. —; 170 P. 975.

7725. (3919.) May sue on bond of prior executor, etc. An administrator may, in his own name, for the use and benefit of all parties interested in the estate, maintain actions on the bond of an executor, or of any former administrator of the same estate.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1586.

7726. (3920.) Executor who has not qualified not made a party. In actions by or against executors, it is not necessary to join those as parties who may have been appointed by the court but who have not qualified.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1587.

7727. (3921.) May compound with debtor with consent of court. Whenever a debtor of the decedent is unable to pay all his debts, the executor or administrator, with the approbation of the court or judge, may compound with him and give a discharge upon receiving a fair and just dividend of his effects. A compromise may also be authorized when it appears to be just, and for the best interests of the estate.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1588.

7728. (3922.) To set aside fraudulent conveyances by decedent. When there is a deficiency of assets in the hands of an executor or administrator, and when the decedent, in his lifetime, has conveyed any real estate, or any rights or interests therein, with intent to defraud his creditors, or to avoid any right, debt, or duty of any person, or has so conveyed such estate that by law the deeds or conveyances are void as against creditors, the executor or administrator must commence and prosecute to final judgment any proper action for the recovery of the same, and may recover for the benefit of the creditors all such real estate so fraudulently conveyed, and may also for the benefit of the creditors sue for and recover all goods, chattels, rights, or credits which have been so conveyed by the decedent in his lifetime, whatever may have been the manner of such fraudulent conveyance.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1589.
Under the provisions of this section and § 7729, creditors of an insolvent estate may not bring an action in their own names to set aside a conveyance made by decedent in his lifetime, without first having made demand on the administrator to bring such suit, and having been met with a refusal by him.
Fehringer v. Com'l Nat. Bank, 23 U. 393; 64 P. 1108.

7729. (3923.) Id. Creditors must pay cost of suit. No executor or administrator is bound to sue for such estate as mentioned in the next preceding section for the benefit of the creditors unless on application of creditors, who must pay such part of the costs and expenses of the suit, or give such security to the executor or administrator therefor, as the court or judge shall direct.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1590.

7730. (3924.) Id. Estate recovered used to pay debts. All real estate so recovered must be sold for the payment of debts in the same manner as if the decedent had died seized thereof, upon obtaining an order therefor from the court; and the proceeds of all goods, chattels, rights, and credits so recovered must be appropriated in payment of the debts of the decedent in the same manner as other property in the hands of the executor or administrator.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1591.

7731. (3925.) Court may order moneys invested. Petition. Notice. Pending the settlement of any estate, on the petition of any party interested therein, and upon good cause shown therefor, the court may upon notice order any moneys in the hands of the executors or administrators to be invested for the benefit of the estate in securities of the United States or other good securities to be approved by the court or judge.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1640*.
May be invested in land mortgage bonds, § 1057.

7732. (3926.) Embezzler liable for double value. If any person embezzles or alienates any of the money, goods, chattels, or effects of a decedent, he shall be liable for double the value of the property so embezzled or alienated, to be recovered by action for the benefit of the estate.

7733. (3927.) Id. Citation to person suspected. Order. The court may require any person suspected of having taken wrongful possession of any of the effects of the deceased, or of having had such effects under his control, to appear and submit to an examination under oath touching such matters; and if on such examination it appears that he has the wrongful possession of any such property, the court may order the delivery of the same to the executor or administrator of the estate.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1459*. Citation generally, § 7865.

7734. (3928.) Id. Contempt. Imprisonment. If, on being duly served with the order of the court requiring him to do so, any person fails to appear in accordance with such order; or if, having appeared, he refuses to answer any question which the court deems proper to put to him in the course of such examination; or if he fails to comply with the order of the court requiring him to deliver the property, he may be committed to the jail of the county until a compliance is yielded.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1460*.

7735. (3929.) Executor charged with estate. Every executor and administrator is chargeable in his account with the whole of the estate of the decedent which may come into his possession at the value of the appraisement contained in the inventory, except as provided in the following sections, and with all the interests, profits, and income of the estate.

Possession of estate, § 7718.

7736. (3930.) Id. Not to profit or lose by estate. He shall not make profit by the increase, nor suffer loss by the decrease or destruction, without his fault, of any part of the estate. He must account for the excess when he sells any part of the estate for more than the appraisement, and if any is sold for less than the appraisement he is not responsible for the loss if the sale has been justly made.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1614.

7737. (3931.) Id. Not to purchase claim. No administrator or executor shall purchase any claim against the estate he represents; and if he pays any claim for less than its nominal value, he is only entitled to charge in his account the amount he actually paid.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1617.
Not to purchase any property of the estate, § 7684.

7738. (3932.) Id. Not accountable for uncollectable debts. No executor or administrator is accountable for any debts due the decedent, if it appears that they remain uncollected without his fault.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1615.

7739. (3933.) Id. Necessary expenses allowed. Compensation. He shall be allowed all necessary expenses in the care, management, and settlement of the estate, including reasonable fees paid to attorneys for conducting the necessary proceedings or suits in courts, and for his services the fees provided in this chapter; but when the decedent, by his will, makes some other provision for the compensation of his executor, that shall be a full compensation for his services, unless, by a written instrument filed in the court, he renounces all claim for compensation provided for by the will.

See Cain Heirs v. Young, 1 U. 361.

Andrus v. Blazzard, 23 U. 233; 63 P. 888.

Where a guardian presented to the probate court, after the death of his ward, an account for services, and his claim was allowed, such claim was a valid claim against the ward's estate, which the guardian was entitled to pay himself on being appointed the ward's administrator.

Reed v. Hume, 25 U. 248; 70 P. 998.

An administrator, whose appointment, though erroneous, was not made without jurisdiction, is entitled to reasonable compensation for services rendered by him.

In re Owen's Estate, 32 U. 469; 91 P. 283.

Where an estate is administered by successive personal representatives, compensation should be apportioned among them according to the services rendered.

Id.

7740. (3934.) Id. Commissions of executor or administrator. When no compensation is provided by the will, or the executor renounces all claim thereto, he must be allowed commissions upon the amount of estate accounted for by him, as follows: For the first $1,000, at the rate of five per cent; for all above that sum, and not exceeding $5,000, at the rate of two and one-half per cent; for all above $5,000, and not exceeding $10,000, at the rate of two per cent; for all above $10,000, at the rate of one per cent. The same commissions shall be allowed to administrators. In all cases such further allowance may be made as the court may deem just and reasonable for any extraordinary service, but the total amount of such extra allowance must not exceed the amount of commissions allowed by this section. All contracts between an executor or administrator and an heir, devisee, or legatee, for a higher compensation than that allowed by this section, shall be void.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1618*.

Under the statute declaring that an administrator shall be allowed commissions on the amount of the estate accounted for by him, there being but one aggregate sum to be allowed as commission, which, in case of successive administrations, must be apportioned by the court, the allowance of commissions to the first of two successive administrators before the closing of the estate was premature.

In re Owen's Estate, 32 U. 469; 91 P. 283.

SPECIFIC PERFORMANCE.

7741. (3935.) Contracts for sale of real or personal property. Specific performance. When a person, who is bound by contract in writing to convey any real estate, or who is bound by contract in writing to assign, transfer, or deliver any personal property, shares of capital stock, bonds, or other choses in action, dies before making the conveyance, assignment, transfer, or delivery, and in all cases when such decedent, if living, might be compelled to make such conveyance, assignment, transfer, or delivery, the court may make a decree authorizing and directing his executor or administrator to convey such real estate, or to assign, transfer, or deliver such personal property, shares of capital stock, bonds, or other choses in action, to the person entitled thereto. Am'd '15, p. 82.

Free v. Little, 31 U. 449; 88 P. 407.

7742. (3936.) Id. Petition. Notice. Hearing. On the presentation of a verified petition by any person claiming to be entitled to such conveyance, assignment, transfer, or delivery from an executor or administrator, setting forth the facts upon which the claim is predicated, the court must appoint a time and place for hearing the petition, which shall be upon notice.

Am'd '15, p. 82.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1598*.

7743. (3937.) Id. Decree authorizing possession. If, after a full hearing upon the petition and objections, and examination of the facts and circumstances of the claim, the court is satisfied that the petitioner is entitled to a conveyance of the real estate described in the petition, or to an assignment, transfer, or delivery of the personal property, shares of capital stock, bonds, or other choses in action described in the petition, a decree authorizing and directing the executor or administrator to execute a conveyance, assignment, transfer, or delivery thereof to the petitioner must be made; but the entry of the decree shall give the person entitled to the conveyance, assignment, or transfer a right to the possession of the lands, personal property, shares of capital stock, bonds, or other choses in action contracted for, and to hold the same according to the terms of the intended contract in like manner as if a conveyance, assignment, or transfer had been made in pursuance of the decree. Am'd '15, p. 82.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1600*.

7744. (3938.) Id. Denied when right doubtful. If, upon a hearing as hereinbefore provided, the right of the petitioner to have a specific performance of the contract is found to be doubtful, the court must dismiss the petition without prejudice to the right of the petitioner, who may, at any time within six months thereafter, proceed by action to enforce specific performance thereof.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1602.

7745. (3939.) Id. Succession to rights and interests. If the person entitled to the conveyance, assignment, transfer, or delivery dies before the commencement of proceedings therefor under this chapter, or before the completion of the conveyance, assignment, transfer, or delivery, any person entitled to succeed to his rights in the contract, or the executor or administrator of such decedent, may, for the benefit of the person so entitled, commence such proceedings or prosecute any already commenced, and the conveyance, assignment, transfer, or delivery must be so made as to vest the estate in the persons entitled to it, or in the executor or administrator, for their benefit.

Substitution of parties generally, § 6513, and note.

7746. (3940.) Id. Decree may direct surrender of possession. The decree provided for in this chapter may direct the possession of the property therein described to be surrendered to the person entitled thereto, upon his producing the deed, assignment, or transfer and certified copy of the decree when, by the terms of the contract, possession is to be surrendered.
Am'd '15, p. 82.

ACCOUNTS.

7747. (3941.) When account to be rendered. Contents. Six months after his appointment, also within thirty days after the expiration of the time within which creditors must present their claims, and at any other time when required by the court, either upon its own motion or upon the application of any person interested in the estate, every executor or administrator must render for the information of the court an account of his administration, under oath, showing the sums of money received by him and from what sources, the amounts expended by him, a statement of all claims presented against the estate and the names of the claimants, and all other matters necessary to show the condition of its affairs.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1631.

7750. (3944.) Id. Oral proof when vouchers not produced. On the settlement of his account, he may be allowed any item of expenditure not exceeding $20 for which no voucher is produced if such item be supported by his own uncontradicted oath positive to the fact of payment, specifying when, where, and to whom it was made; but such allowances in the whole must not exceed $500 against any one estate; and if upon such settlement of accounts it appear that the debts against the deceased have been paid without the affidavit and allowance prescribed by statute, and it shall be proven by competent evidence to the satisfaction of the court that such debts were justly due, were paid in good faith, that the amount paid was the true amount of such indebtedness over and above all payments or set-off, and that the estate is solvent, it shall be the duty of the said court to allow the said sum so paid in the settlement of said accounts.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1632.

7751. (3945.) Id. Final account with petition for distribution. Notice. If the account mentioned in the preceding sections be for a final settlement, and a petition for the final distribution or for final distribution and partition of the estate be filed with said accounts, the notice of the filing of account for settlement must state those facts. On the settlement of said account, distribution or distribution and partition of the estate to all entitled thereto may be had in the manner hereinafter provided without further notice or proceedings.

7752. (3946.) Settlement of account conclusive, when. The settlement of the account and the allowance thereof by the court, or upon appeal, is conclusive against all persons in any way interested in the estate, saving, however, to all persons laboring under any legal disability, their right to move for cause to reopen and examine the account, or to proceed by action against the executor or administrator, either individually or upon his bond, at any time before final distribution; and in any action brought by any such person, the allowance and settlement of the account is prima facie evidence of its correctness.

CHAPTER 12.

DISTRIBUTION AND PARTITION.

PARTIAL DISTRIBUTION.

7758. (3948.) Petition for partial distribution; bond; notice. At any time after the lapse of four months from the issuance of letters testamentary or of administration, any heir, devisee, or legatee may present his petition to the court for the distribution to him of the legacy or share of the estate to which he is entitled, or any person to whom any parcel or parcels of real estate left by deceased may have been conveyed by the heirs or devisees of deceased may present his petition to the court for the distribution to him of such real estate so conveyed. Any partial distribution aforesaid may be made upon such distributee giving bond with security for the payment of his proportion of the debts of the estate as hereinafter provided. Notice of such application for partial distribution must be given. Am'd '01, p. 181.

Cal. C. Civ. P., §§ 1658, 1659*. General distribution, § 7764.

7759. (3949.) Id. When allowed. Bond. Partition. Title. If at the hearing it appears that the estate is but little indebted, and that the share of the party applying, or real estate granted to the party applying, as aforesaid, may be allowed to him without loss to the creditors of the estate, the court must make an order in conformity with the prayer of the applicant requiring:

1. Each heir, legatee, or devisee obtaining such order, before receiving his share or any portion thereof, and each grantee of the heirs or devisees obtaining such order, before receiving distribution of the real estate granted to him as aforesaid, to execute and deliver to the executor or administrator a bond in such sum as shall be designated by the court, with sureties to be approved by the judge or court, payable to the executor or administrator, and conditioned for the payment whenever required of his proportion of the debts due from the estate, not exceeding the value or amount of the legacy or portion or parcel of the estate distributed to him hereunder;

2. The executor or administrator to deliver to the heir, legatee, or devisee or grantee as aforesaid the whole portion of the estate distributed to him as aforesaid, designating it. If in the execution of the order a partition is necessary between two or more of the parties interested, it must be made in the manner hereinafter prescribed. The costs of these proceedings shall be paid by the applicant or, if there be more than one, shall be apportioned equally among them. When any such partial distribution shall be made as herein provided, the title to the estate so distributed shall be freed from the claims of creditors and from the debts, expenses, and obligations of the estate, and of the administration thereof. Am'd '01, p. 181.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1661*.

7760. (3950.) Id. Action on bond. If it becomes necessary that any part of any such bond should be paid, the court, after notice and hearing, must make a decree accordingly, designating the amount and giving a time within which the payment must be made. If the money is not paid as ordered, an action may be maintained by the executor or administrator on the bond.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1662*.

7761. (3951.) Delivery of real estate, when no debts. Unless it satisfactorily appears to the court that the rents, issues, and profits of the real estate for a longer period are necessary to be received by the executor or administrator, wherewith to pay the debts of the deceased, or that it will probably be necessary to sell the real estate for the payment of such debts, the court, at the end of the time limited for the presentation of the claims against the estate, must direct the executor or administrator to deliver possession of all the real estate to the heirs-at-law or devisees.

7762. (3951x.) Petition. Power of court. Bond not required. Further administration. Upon the verified petition of any beneficiary or of the executors or administrators of the estate of any deceased person, and upon proof, showing that the time limited for the presentation of claims against the estate of any deceased person has expired, and that all such claims presented and all inheritance taxes payable by the estate, all debts of the estate, all legacies and expenses of administration then payable, and all state, county, and municipal taxes legally levied upon the personal property of the estate have been paid and satisfied in full, and showing to the satisfaction of the court that it is for the best interests of the beneficiaries of the estate, or that they have in writing requested or consented, that a portion only of the estate be distributed and the remainder of the estate held by the executors or administrators for future administration, or for sale, and that no person interested in the estate will be prejudiced, the district court having jurisdiction of the estate may settle the account of the executors or administrators to the date of such petition, and may at the same time, in its discretion, order such partial distribution of such portion of the estate to the persons entitled thereto without requiring any bond from the distributees, and the undistributed portion of the estate shall be held by the executors or administrators subject to further administration, and to sale if for the best interests of all persons interested therein, and to final distribution thereof or the proceeds thereof at a future time, when proper and required by any beneficiary or by the court.

'17, p. 202.

FINAL DISTRIBUTION AND PARTITION.

7763. (3952.) Petition for final account and settlement, when to be presented. When all debts are paid, or sooner, if before that time all the property of the estate has been sold, or there are sufficient funds in his hands for the payment of all the debts due by the estate, and the estate be in proper condition to be closed, the executor or administrator must render a final account and pray for settlement of his administration. Such petition shall contain the names and addresses of the heirs, devisees, or other persons entitled to participate in such distribution, according to the best knowledge, information, and belief of the executor or administrator. The clerk shall file the petition, and fix the date of hearing thereon, and give the notice provided by law. Am'd '05, p. 68.

7764. (3953.) Distribution, how made. Death of minor heir. Supplementary account. Upon the final settlement of the accounts of the executor or administrator, or at any subsequent time upon the petition of the executor or administrator or of any heir, legatee, or devisee, and upon notice, the court must proceed to distribute the residue of the estate in the hands of the executor or administrator, if any, among the persons who by law are entitled thereto; and if the decedent has left a surviving child, and the issue of other children, and any of them, before the close of the administration, have died while under the age and not having been married, no administration on such deceased child's estate is necessary, but all the estate to which such deceased child was entitled by inheritance must, without administration, be distributed to such child's heirs-at-law. A statement of any receipts and disbursements of the executor or administrator, since the rendition of his final accounts, must be reported and filed at the time of making such distribution, and a settlement thereof, together with an estimate of the expenses of closing the estate, must be made by the court, and included in the order or decree, or the court may order notice of the settlement of such supplementary accounts, and refer the same as in other cases of the settlement of accounts.

7766. (3955.) Id. Advancements considered. Conclusiveness of decree. All questions as to advancements made or alleged to have been made by the decedent to his heirs may be heard and determined by the court, and must be specified in the decree assigning and distributing the estate; and the final judgment or decree of the court is binding on all parties interested in the estate, subject only to be reversed, modified, or set aside on appeal.

7769. (3958.) Partition by commissioners. Whenever it is impracticable or inconvenient for the court to make a complete partition among all the parties in the first instance, or on petition of any interested person, the court, having first ascertained and determined the shares or interests of the persons entitled, may appoint one or more disinterested persons to act as commissioners for the purpose of making the partition. In making the partition, the commissioners must divide the property, and allot the several portions thereof to the several parties, quality and quantity relatively considered, according to the respective rights of the parties as determined by the court, designating the several portions by proper landmarks, and may take testimony and order surveys and take such other steps as may be necessary.

7770. (3959.) Report. Confirmation. Decree. As soon as practicable, the commissioners must make a report to the court in writing, and the court may confirm, change, modify, or set aside the report, and, if necessary, appoint new commissioners. Upon the confirmation of the report, the court may include distribution and partition in one decree.

7772. (3961.) Distribution to grantees of heirs. Partition or distribution of the real estate may be made as provided in this chapter, although some of the original heirs, legatees, or devisees may have conveyed their shares to other persons, and such shares must be assigned to the person holding the same, in the same manner as they otherwise would have been to such heirs, legatees, or devisees.

Conveyance by heirs before distribution, § 6391.

Authority may be conferred on the probate court by statute to determine the interests of grantees of heirs or devisees in the estate.

In an assignment of a part of an estate by an heir, it is always implied that the assignment relates only to what the heir has after the debts and legal expenses of administration are paid.
Dunn v. Wallingford, 47 U. 491; 155 P. 347.

7773. (3962.) Where partition impracticable. Assignment to one or more. When the real estate cannot be divided without prejudice or inconvenience to the owners, the court may assign the whole to one or more of the parties entitled to share therein who will accept it, always preferring the males to the females, and among children preferring the elder to the younger. The parties accepting the whole must pay to the other parties interested their just proportion of the true value thereof, or secure the same to their satisfaction, or in case of the minority of such party, then to the satisfaction of his guardian; and the true value of the estate must be ascertained and reported by the commissioners. When the commissioners appointed to make partition are of the opinion that the real estate cannot be divided without prejudice or inconvenience to the owners, they must so report to the court, and recommend that the whole be assigned as herein provided, and must find and report the true value of such real estate. On filing the report of the commissioners, and on making or securing the payment as before provided, the court, if it appears just and proper, must confirm the report, and thereupon the assignment is complete, and the title to the whole of such real estate vests in the person to whom the same is so assigned.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1680*.

A trustee for the heirs to whom property is distributed may sue, and the order appointing him is not subject to collateral attack.
Kurtz v. Ogden Cany., etc., 37 U. 313; 108 P. 14.

7774. (3963.) Id. When any tract of land or tenement is of greater value than any one's share in the same estate to be divided, and cannot be divided without injury to the same, it may be set off by the commissioners appointed to make partition to any of the parties who will accept it, giving preference as prescribed in the preceding section. The party accepting must pay or secure to the others such sums as the commissioners shall award to make the partition equal, and the commissioners must make their award accordingly; but such partition must not be established by the court until the sums awarded are paid to the parties entitled to the same, or secured to their satisfaction.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1681.

7775. (3964.) Estate sold when division impracticable. When it appears to the court from the commissioners' report that it cannot otherwise be fairly divided and should be sold, the court may order the sale of the whole or any part of the estate, real or personal, by the executor or administrator, or by a commissioner appointed for that purpose, and the proceeds distributed. The sale must be conducted, reported, and confirmed, in the same manner and under the same requirements as provided in chap. 10 of this title.

Filing of decree, notice, § 7871.

7776. (3965.) Executor's discharge on final settlement. When the estate has been fully administered, and it is shown by the executor or administrator, by the production of satisfactory vouchers, that he has paid all sums of money due from him, and delivered up, under the order of the court, all the property of the estate to the parties entitled, and performed all the acts lawfully required of him, the court must make a judgment or decree discharging him from all liability to be incurred thereafter.

7777. (3966.) Distribution of property afterward discovered. Reissue of letters. The final settlement of an estate shall not prevent a subsequent distribution and distribution and partition of property afterwards discovered, upon petition and notice, without a reissue of letters. Letters may be reissued at any time if necessary.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1698*.

7778. (3967.) Partition allowed within two years after distribution. Notice. Costs. Nothing in this chapter contained shall be construed to prevent the partition of any estate after distribution, by further proceedings in the estate, provided a petition for such partition be presented to the court in which the estate was administered, by one of the parties, within two years after distribution. Notice must be given and served as in original applications for distribution, and costs shall be apportioned as the court may deem just.

ABSENT HEIRS AND ESCHEATS.

7779. (3968.) Non-resident decedent. Absent heirs. Delivery or sale of property. Upon application for distribution, after final settlement of the accounts of administration, if the decedent was a non-resident of this state, leaving a will which has been duly proved or allowed in the state of his residence, an authenticated copy whereof has been admitted to probate in this state, and it is necessary, in order that the estate or any part thereof may be distributed according to the will, that the estate in this state should be delivered to the executor or administrator in the state or place of his residence, the court may order such delivery to be made, and, if necessary, order a sale of the real estate, and a like delivery of the proceeds. The delivery, in accordance with the order of the court, is a full discharge of the executor or administrator with the will annexed in this state, in relation to all property embraced in such order, which, unless reversed on appeal, binds and concludes all parties in interest. Sales of real estate, ordered by virtue of this section, must be made in the same manner as other sales of real estate of decedents by order of the court.

7781. (3970.) Appointment of agent for absent heir. When any estate is assigned or distributed by a judgment or decree of the court to any person residing out of and having no agent in this state, and it is necessary that some person should be authorized to take possession and charge of the same for the benefit of such absent person, the court may appoint an agent for that purpose, and authorize him to take charge of such estate, as well as to act for such absent person in the distribution; provided, that if such estate is in money when so assigned or distributed, the executor or administrator of such estate may deposit the share of such person, in his name as far as known, with the state treasurer, who shall give duplicate receipts for the same, one of which must be filed with the state auditor and the other with the county clerk.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1693*. Sales in general, §§ 7677, 7688.

7785. (3974.) Id. Payment to claimant. Escheat. When any person appears and claims the money paid into the treasury, the court making the distribution must inquire into such claim, and, being first satisfied of his right thereto, must grant him a certificate to that effect, under its seal; and, upon presentation of the certificate to him, the county clerk must draw his requisition on the state auditor for the amount, and, upon presentation to him of such requisition, the state auditor shall draw his warrant on the state treasurer in the sum called for in said requisition. If no claimant appears within five years after the decedent's death to claim succession, the property or the proceeds thereof shall escheat to the state, for the benefit of the state school fund. 7786. (3975.) Estates of intestates without heirs. Special administration. When any person has died, or shall hereafter die, intestate and without heirs, leaving property in this state, it shall be the duty of the court, upon notice of that fact, to appoint a special administrator to take charge of such property. The special administrator shall give a bond conditioned for the faithful performance of his trust, and shall annually render to the court appointing him a detailed account of the condition of the estate. The special administrator may sue and be sued, and he shall be allowed by the court, out of the proceeds of the estate, a reasonable sum for his services and expenses.

7787. (3976.) Id. Echeat if no claimant appears in two years. At the expiration of two years after such appointment, if no claimant shall have appeared and established his right to the estate, the same shall be deemed to have escheated to the state, and the court shall direct the sale of all of the property, and shall cause the proceeds thereof, after the payment of debts and expenses, and taxes, to be paid into the state treasury for the benefit of the state school fund. The special administrator shall deposit a receipt for such payment with the state auditor, and a duplicate thereof with the county clerk.

TRUSTEES AFTE R DISTRIBUTION.

7788. (3977.) Shall render annual accounts. Any trustee created by will or appointed to execute any trust so created shall annually, pending the execution of his trust, and at the termination thereof, render his accounts as such trustee to the court in which the will was probated. Such accounts shall be heard by the court upon notice. Any such trustee may, in the discretion of the court, upon application of any beneficiary, be ordered to appear and render his account.

7789. (3978.) Expenses. Compensation. Vacancies. The court shall allow any such trustee his proper expenses, and such compensation as may be reasonable. Unless the will provide for the resignation of a trustee and the manner of filling the vacancy caused by such resignation, the court may determine upon what terms the resignation of a trustee may be effected, and may appoint a successor.

Mont. Civ. P., § 2901*.

7790. (3979.) Final settlements by agents, special administrators, and trustees. Secs. 7776, 7777, relating to final settlements, shall apply to agents, special administrators, and trustees, and to the estates administered by them.

CHAPTER 13.

DETERMINATION OF HEIRSHIP.

7795. (3980.) Petition. Notice. When a person dies intestate leaving real property within this state, and letters of administration have not been applied for, any heir or other person deriving title from or through an heir or heirs of such decedent may, at any time after the expiration of one year from the decedent's death, present to any court that would have jurisdiction to appoint an administrator a verified petition setting forth the name and residence of the decedent, the date of his death, the fact that he died intestate, the names and addresses of the heirs, and a particular description of the real property of the decedent, and praying for a decree determining the right of succession to the same. Upon the presentation of such petition, notice by publication shall be given and notice mailed to all the heirs of the decedent.

N. Dak. (1895) § 6431*.
Notice, time, form, etc., §§ 7856-7868.
An action to determine right of succession, under provisions of this section, was improperly brought where it appeared that letters of administration of the estate of decedent had been issued and the estate was in process of settlement.

Authority may be conferred on the probate court by statute to determine the interests of grantees of heirs or devisees in the estate.
Snyder v. Murdock, 26 U. 233; 73 P. 22.

7796. (3981.) Id. Decree. Nature. Conclusiveness. When the facts are established to the satisfaction of the court, a decree shall be given specifying who are the heirs of the decedent, and what are the interests or shares of the parties, respectively, in the property, and declaring the right of succession accordingly. Such decree is conclusive upon the parties and their successors in interest, subject, however, to such disposition of the property as may be made in any subsequent proceeding in the same court in pursuance of the probate of a will or grant of administration. This section shall not affect a right or interest of any person except an heir unless he becomes a party to the special proceeding.

N. Dak. (1895) § 6343*.

7797. (3982.) Id. Creditors may present claim. Liability of heirs. Any creditor, if he chooses, may present his claim against the decedent at any such hearing, which, if allowed by the court, must be paid by the heirs before the decree is made, or, at the option of the court, may be declared to be a lien upon the real property of the decedent covered by such decree. Any heir and his executors and administrators shall be liable to any creditor for such part of any claim that may be duly allowed in such proceeding, or in a subsequent probate proceeding, as the value of the property received by such heir bears to the whole amount of real property so distributed.

Payment of claims generally, §§ 7657-7673.
Statute of limitations suspended by death, §§ 6481, 6482.

CHAPTER 14.

GUARDIANSHIP.

GUARDIANS IN GENERAL.

7798. (3983.) Guardians, general and special. A general guardian is the guardian of the person, or of all the property of the ward within this state, or of both; every other is a special guardian.

Cal. Civ. C., §§ 239, 240. Power of general guardian, § 7826.

7799. (3984.) Guardian may be appointed by will or by deed. A guardian of the person or estate, or of both, of a child born, or likely to be born, may be appointed by will or by deed, to take effect upon the death of the parent appointing; such appointment may be made by the father, with the written consent of the mother; or by either parent, if the other be dead or incapable of consent.

Cal. Civ. C., § 241*.

7800. (3985.) Guardian of property must be appointed by court. No person, whether a parent or otherwise, shall have any power as a guardian of property, except by apointment as hereinafter provided.

Cal. Civ. C., § 242. Power of guardians, §§ 7826-7833.

7801. (3986.) Guardian controlled by court making appointment. In all cases, the court first making the appointment of a guardian shall have exclusive jurisdiction to control him.

Cal. Civ. C., § 245. As to guardian for non-resident ward, § 7845.

7802. (3987.) More than one may be appointed. Survivor. The court, whenever necessary, may appoint more than one guardian of any person subject to guardianship, who must give bond and be governed and liable in all respects as a sole guardian. On the death of one of two or more joint guardians, the power shall continue to the survivor until a further appointment is made by the court.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1807*. Cal. Civ. P., § 252*. Words giving joint authority construed as giving authority to majority, § 5846.

7803. (3988.) Special conditions in order of appointment. When any person is appointed guardian, the court may insert in the order of appointment conditions not otherwise obligatory, providing for the care, treatment, education, and welfare of the ward. The performance of such conditions shall be a part of the duties of the guardian, for the faithful performance of which he and the sureties on his bond shall be responsible.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1755*.

7804. (3989.) Testamentary guardian. Bond. Powers. Duties Every testamentary guardian must give bond and qualify, and has the same powers and must perform the same duties with regard to the person and estate of his ward as guardians appointed by court, except so far as their powers and duties are legally modified, enlarged, or changed by the will by which such guardian was appointed.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1758.

7805. (3990.) Guardian ad litem not affected hereby. Nothing contained in this title affects or impairs the power of any court to appoint a guardian to defend the interests of any minor interested in any suit or matter pending therein.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1759. Appointment of guardian ad litem, § 6501.

7806. (3991.) Oaths. Bonds. Resignation. Removal. The provisions of this title respecting the oaths of office and bonds of executors and administrators, and their resignation and removal, so far as applicable, shall apply to and govern the oaths of office, bonds, resignation, and removal, respectively, of guardians.

Oaths and bonds, §§ 7616-7626. Removal, resignation, §§ 7627-7630.

7807. (3992.) Discharge of guardian when no longer necessary. The guardian of an insane or other person may be discharged by the court when it appears, on the application of the ward or otherwise, that the guardianship is no longer necessary.

7808. (3993.) Laws relating to estates of decedents made applicable. The provisions of this title relative to the estates of decedents shall, as far as conformable, apply also to guardianship matters.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1808*.

GUARDIANS FOR MINORS.

7809. (3994.) For whom guardian may be appointed. Petition. Notice. The district court for each county, when it appears necessary or convenient, may appoint guardians for the persons and estates, or either of them, of minors who have no guardian legally appointed by will or deed, and who are inhabitants or residents of the county, or who reside without the state and have estate within the county. Such appointment may be made on the petition of a relative or other person on behalf of the minor, or on the petition of the minor, if fourteen years of age. Before making such appointment, the court must cause such notice as such court deems reasonable to be given to any person having the care of such minor, and to such relatives of the minor residing in the county as the court may deem proper.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1747.
Notice, time, form, etc., §§ 7856-7868.
Husband and wife joint guardians, § 7815.
An order of the probate court, directing "the clerk to cause due publication thereof to be given as prescribed by law," was void under § 4347, C. L. 1888, requiring the court, before appointing the guardian, to give notice to all persons interested in such manner as it should order. The notice in pursuance of such order was of no effect, and the order appointing the guardian was void.
Mosby v. Gisborn, 17 U. 257; 54 P. 121.

7810. (3995.) Id. Nomination by ward. Who preferred. In appointing a guardian for a minor, the court shall be guided by the following considerations: If the minor is fourteen years of age, he may nominate his guardian, subject to the approval of the court, but if the court does not approve such nomination, or if the minor resides out of the state, or if, after having been duly cited by the court, he neglects for ten days thereafter to nominate a suitable person, the court may appoint a guardian. If the minor is not fourteen years of age, the court may appoint the guardian, giving due consideration to the preference of the child, if he be of sufficient age to form an intelligent preference, but in such case, the minor, at any time after attaining the age of fourteen years, may appoint his own guardian, subject to the approval of the court. Of persons equally entitled to the custody in other respects, preference shall be given as follows: First, to a parent, but as between parents adversely claiming the guardianship, neither parent shall be entitled to it as of right, but, other things being equal, if the child be of tender age, it shall be given to the mother, or, if it be of an age to require education and preparation for labor or business, then to the father; second, to a person who was indicated by the wishes of a deceased parent; third, to the trustee of a fund applied to the child's support; fourth, to a relative.

Court must prescribe what notice shall be given.
Mosby v. Gisborn, 17 U. 257; 54 P. 121.

7811. (3996.) How guardianship terminated. The power of a guardian shall be terminated: First, by order of the court; second, by the ward's attaining majority; third, by the marriage of the ward; provided, that the guardianship of the estate of the ward may be continued, at the discretion of the court, after the guardianship of his person has been terminated by marriage, and until he reaches the age of majority.

Cal. Civ. C., §§ 254, 255*.
Males are minors until twenty-one; females until eighteen; marriage terminates minority, § 3955.

7812. (3997.) Release of guardian by ward. After a ward has come to his majority, he may settle accounts with his guardian, and give him a release, which shall be valid if obtained fairly and without undue influence.

Cal. Civ. C., § 256.

7813. (3998.) Guardian appointed by court discharged, when. A guardian appointed by a court shall not be entitled to his discharge until one year after the ward's majority.

Cal. Civ. C., § 257.

7814. (3999.) Support of minor out of his own estate directed, when.

If any minor having a father living has property, the income of which is sufficient for his maintenance and education in a manner more expensive than his father can reasonably afford, regard being had to the situation of his father's family and to all the circumstances of the case, the expenses of the education and maintenance of such minor may be defrayed out of the income of his own property, in whole or in part, as judged reasonable, and must be directed by the court; and the charges therefor may be allowed accordingly, in the settlement of the account of his guardian.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1757.

7815. Husband and wife are joint guardians. The husband and wife living together are joint guardians of their minor children, with equal powers, rights, and duties in respect of the control and custody and of the services and earnings of their minor children; and neither the husband nor the wife has any right paramount to that of the other in respect of the custody and control or of the earnings of their minor children. '13, p. 93.

GUARDIANS FOR INSANE AND INCOMPETENT PERSONS.

7816. (4000.) Guardian for insane, etc. Petition. Notice. The district court of each county, when it appears necessary, may appoint guardians for the persons and estates of persons who are insane or from any cause mentally incompetent to manage their property, and who are inhabitants or residents of the county, or who reside without the state and have estate within the county. Such appointment may be made on the petition of a relative or friend, after such notice of the time and place of hearing as the court may direct, to the person supposed to be insane or incompetent and to such other persons as the court may designate.

Neither guardians nor the courts having jurisdiction over the estates of incompetent persons have power to bind the person or estate of such persons, unless expressly authorized to do so by law.

Andrus v. Blazzard, 23 U. 233; 63 P. 888.

7817. (4001.) Definition of terms "incompetent," etc. The phrases "incompetent," "mentally incompetent," and "incapable," as used in this title, shall be construed to mean any person who, though not insane, is, by reason of old age, disease, weakness of mind, or from any other cause, unable, unassisted, to properly manage and take care of himself or his property, and by reason thereof would be likely to be deceived or imposed upon by artful or designing persons.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1767. See Cal. Sup. (1893) p. 1027.

"Insane person" includes what, § 5848.

This section does not alter the ordinary test of contractual mental capacity, which is impairment of the mental faculties to such an extent that the subject has not power to comprehend the matter of the contract, its nature, and probable consequences, and to act with discretion in relation thereto, or to the ordinary affairs of life.

Hatch v. Hatch, 46 U. 218; 148 P. 433.

7818. (4002.) Petition for restoration to capacity. Notice. Hearing. Order. Any person who has been declared insane or incompetent, or the guardian, or any relative of such person within the third degree, or any friend, may apply, by petition, to the district court of the county in which he was declared insane, to have the fact of his restoration to capacity judicially determined. The petition shall be verified, and shall state that such person is then sane and competent. Upon receiving the petition, the court must appoint a day for a hearing before the court, and, if the petitioner requests it, shall order an investigation before the court. The court shall cause notice of the trial to be given to the guardian of the person so declared insane or incompetent, if there be a guardian, and to his or her husband or wife, if there be one, and to his or her father or mother, if living in the county. Witnesses may be required to appear and testify as in civil cases, and may be called and examined by the court on its own motion. If it be found that the person be of sound mind and capable of taking care of himself and his property, his restoration to capacity shall be adjudged, and the guardianship of such person, if such person be not a minor, shall cease.

Petition for restoration to capacity, § 5420.

GUARDIAN FOR INSANE WIFE IN PROCEEDING TO CONVEY DOWER INTEREST.

7819. (4002x.) When wife incurably insane, relinquishment of interest. Whenever the wife of any person shall have become insane, idiotic, or otherwise mentally incompetent to join her husband in the conveyance of real estate, and shall have remained in that condition for more than two years, or when it shall be made to appear to the court that such married woman is incurably insane, idiotic, or otherwise mentally incompetent, her inchoate interest in the real estate of her husband may be relinquished and cut off as hereinafter provided. '03, p. 114.

7822. (4002x3.) Id. Procedure and findings. Decree. At such hearing the said wife may appear by counsel, or in person, or by guardian ad litem, appointed as in other cases, and may answer such petition in the time and manner such court shall direct, and upon the filing of an answer, the case shall be deemed at issue, or if the said wife shall fail to appear as herein provided, the court shall appoint some competent attorney at law to represent the interests of said wife, who, in her behalf, shall be granted time in which to answer or otherwise plead therein, and said cause shall be brought to issue as nearly as may be in the same manner as civil actions. When the case is at issue, the court shall hear and determine the same, and make findings and decree therein, or in its discretion may refer the matter to a referee, to be appointed by the court for that purpose, to take the proofs and report the same to the court with his findings thereon as follows:

1. As to the sanity, idiocy, or mental incompetency of such wife;
2. As to the necessity or propriety of selling said real estate and relinquishing said wife's inchoate interest therein;
3. The cash value, at the time, of such inchoate interest, taking into consideration the respective ages of such husband and wife, and the likelihood of survival.

Upon the coming in of said report the court shall consider the same, and may change or modify said findings, in case, in the court's opinion, they do not conform to the reported testimony, and shall make such decree pursuant to the said findings as may be just and equitable. '03, p. 115.

7823. (4002x4.) Id. Special guardian provided. If said court shall decide that said wife is insane, or idiotic, or otherwise mentally incompetent, and that it is desired that her inchoate interest should be relinquished, it shall fix the then present value of such inchoate interest, and shall thereafter appoint a special guardian for such insane, idiotic, or otherwise mentally incompetent wife, who shall be some person other than her husband, who shall give bond in a sum to be fixed by the court, with sureties to be approved by the court, conditioned to receive and invest any money that may come into his hands, and reserve the same until it shall be disposed of under the order and direction of the court. '03, p. 115.

7824. (4002x5.) Id. Property to be conveyed. Upon the approval of such bond, said special guardian may, upon the payment to him of the amount fixed by the court as the value of such inchoate interest, convey the said inchoate interest, and relinquish the same to the purchaser of such real estate, or to his heirs or assigns, but to no other person. Such conveyance shall be effective as a relinquishment of such inchoate interest in like manner as though the said wife, being of sound mind, had executed such conveyance by joining her husband in a deed to such premises. '03, p. 116.

7825. (4002x6.) Id. Duties of guardian. Disposition of property. Such guardian shall allow said money to accumulate and shall dispose thereof as the court shall direct, and upon the restoration of said married woman to sound mind, shall, upon the order of the court transfer said money to said wife, in the event she shall survive her said husband, or to her heirs if she shall not be restored to sound mind before her death. In the event said wife shall not survive her said husband, then, upon her death, the said money, together with the interest accruing thereon, less the expenses of special guardian as allowed by the court, shall be transferred to said husband. '03, p. 116.

POWERS AND DUTIES OF GUARDIANS.

7826. (4003.) Powers and duties of general guardians. Every general guardian has the care and custody of the person of his ward, and the management of all his estate until such guardianship is legally terminated.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1765*.
Duties of guardian generally, § 7830.
General guardian defined, § 7798.
Guardian for non-resident ward, § 7843.
Guardian for minor, §§ 7809-7814.
Guardian for insane or incompetent, §§ 7816-7825.
Guardian for insane in state mental hospital, § 5408.
Guardian for insane wife in divorce suit, § 2995.
Guardian to convey dower for insane wife, § 7820.

A guardian has no power to make a contract binding upon the ward or upon his estate, without authority, however beneficial to the ward the contract may be; and such contracts made by him impose a personal liability.
Andrus v. Blazzard, 23 U. 233; 63 P. 888.
See Rolfson v. Cannon, 3 U. 232; 2 P. 205.
Cain Heirs v. Young, 1 U. 361.

7827. (4004.) Id. Of guardian appointed by court. A guardian appointed by a court shall have power over the person and property of the ward, unless otherwise ordered.

Cal. Civ. C., § 247.

7828. (4005.) Id. Guardian of the person. A guardian of the person shall be charged with the custody of the ward, and must look to his support, health, and education. He may fix the residence of the ward at any place within the state, but not elsewhere without the permission of the court.

Cal. Civ. C., § 248.

7829. (4006.) Id. Guardian of the property. A guardian of the property must keep safely the property of his ward. He must not permit any unnecessary waste or destruction of the real property, nor make any sale of such property without the order of the court, but must, so far as it is in his power, maintain the same, with its buildings and appurtenances, out of the income or other property of the estate, and deliver it to the ward, at the close of his guardianship, in good condition as he received it, natural wear and tear excepted.

Cal. Civ. C., § 249*.
Action for waste against guardians, treble damages, § 7241.

7830. (4007.) Duties of guardians generally. Management of estate. Every guardian must manage the estate of his ward frugally and without waste, and apply the income and profits thereof, as far as necessary, for the comfortable and suitable maintenance and support of the ward and his family, if there be any; and if such income and profits be insufficient for that purpose, the guardian may sell, mortgage, or lease the real estate, upon obtaining an order of the court therefor, as provided, and must apply the proceeds of such sale, as far as may be necessary, for the maintenance and support of the ward and his family, if there be any.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1770*.
Has general management of the estate, § 7826.
Guardian may be compelled to maintain and educate ward, § 7836.
Sale, mortgage, and lease of property of decedent estates, §§ 7677-7709.
Sale, mortgage, or lease of ward's estate, § 7838.
Lease and bond of mining property by guardian, §§ 7710-7712.
To pay expenses of ward in state mental hospital, §§ 5408, 5417.
Service on guardian is service on ward, § 7877.
A guardian may only mortgage the real estate of his ward when necessary to provide for the suitable maintenance of the ward and his family.
Andrus v. Blazzard, 23 U. 233; 63 P. 888.
No provision in statutes allowing the guardian to mortgage the real property of his ward for the purpose of paying debts, and the guardian who does so binds himself and not the ward.
Id.
Neither guardians nor the courts having jurisdiction over the estates of incompetent persons have power to bind the person or estate of such persons unless expressly authorized to do so by law.
Id.

7831. (4008.) Id. Pay debts out of personalty if possible. Every guardian appointed under the provisions of this title must pay all just debts due from the ward out of his personal estate and the income of his real estate, if sufficient; if not, then out of his real estate.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1768*.
Claims and payment of debts, decedent's estate, §§ 7645-7673.
Under this section and § 7838, where the personal property and income from the real estate are insufficient to pay the ward's debts and the expenses of guardianship, the guardian may sell, upon the order of the court, the ward's real estate for that purpose.
Andrus v. Blazzard, 23 U. 233; 63 P. 888.

7832. (4009.) Settle accounts. Compound debts. Sue and be sued. Every guardian must settle all accounts of the ward, and demand, sue for, and receive all debts due to him, or may, with the approbation of the court, compound for the same and give discharges to the debtor, on receiving a fair and just dividend of his estate and effects; and he must appear for and represent his ward in all legal suits and proceedings, unless another person be appointed for that purpose.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1769.
Service upon guardian is service upon ward, § 7877.
Ward to appear by guardian, §§ 6500, 7439, 7877.
Substitution of guardian for predecessor, § 7875.

7833. (4010.) Inventory within three months. Annual inventory and account. Every guardian must return to the court, within three months after his appointment, an inventory and appraisement of the estate of his ward, which shall be made by the guardian and appraisers in the manner and form hereinbefore provided for the making of the inventory and appraisement of the estate of a decedent. Annually thereafter, or semi-annually if the value of the estate exceeds $20,000, every guardian must present to the court for settlement and allowance an itemized account and inventory, duly verified as to correctness and completeness by himself or by another with the express permission of the court, containing a full and true statement of all the guardian's receipts and disbursements on account of his ward; and of all money and other personal property of the ward, which have come to the hands of the guardian, or have been received by any other person by his order or authority, or for his use, since his appointment, or since the filing of the last annual inventory and account, as the case requires; and of the value of all such property; together with a full and true statement and account of the manner in which he has disposed of the same, and of all the property remaining in his hands, at the time of filing the inventory and account; and a full and true description of the amount and nature of each investment made by him since his appointment, or since the filing of the last annual inventory and account, as the case requires.

Inventory and appraisement, decedent estates, §§ 7635-7639.

7834. (4011.) Id. Special accounting on order of court. Newly discovered property. The court may, upon application made for that purpose by any person, compel the guardian to render an account to the court of the estate of his ward. All the estate of the ward described in the first inventory must be appraised by appraisers appointed, sworn, and acting in the manner provided for regulating the settlement of the estates of decedents; such inventory, with the appraisement of the property therein described, must be recorded by the clerk of the court in a proper book kept in his office for that purpose. Whenever any other property of the estate of any ward is discovered, not included in the inventory of the estate already returned, and whenever any other property has been succeeded to, or acquired by any ward or for his benefit, the like proceedings must be had for the return and appraisement thereof that are herein provided in relation to the first inventory and return.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1773*.

7835. (4012.) Guardian may assent to partition. The guardian may join in and assent to a partition of the real estate of the ward, whenever such assent may be given by any person either when action has been brought or otherwise.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1772*.

Guardian may assent to partition, § 7303.

7836. (4013.) Support and education of ward. When a guardian has advanced for the necessary maintenance, support, or education of his ward, any amount not disproportionate to the value of his estate, or his condition of life, and the same is made to appear to the satisfaction of the court, by proper vouchers and proofs, the guardian must be allowed credit therefor in his settlements. Whenever a guardian fails, neglects, or refuses to furnish suitable and necessary maintenance, support, or education for his ward, the court may order him to do so, and enforce such order by proper process. Whenever any third person, at his request, supplies a ward with such suitable and necessary maintenance, support, or education, and it is shown to have been done after refusal or neglect of the guardian to supply the same, the court may direct the guardian to pay therefor out of the estate, and enforce such payment by due process.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1771.

Support of ward in state mental hospital, §§ 5408, 5417.

This section and section 7837 provide for the expenses and compensation of the guardian and for the allowance of such items in his account.

Andrus v. Blazzard, 23 U. 233; 63 P. 888.

7837. (4014.) Compensation to guardian. Expenses. Every guardian must be allowed the amount of his reasonable expense incurred in the execution of his trust, and he must also have such compensation for his services as the court in which his accounts are settled deems just and reasonable.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1776.

Where a guardian is guilty of negligence in the management of the estate of his ward, he is entitled to no compensation.

Scheib v. Thompson, 23 U. 564; 65 P. 499.

Money actually paid out by guardian for court costs and attorney's fees should be allowed him on accounting.

Id.

Expense of bond allowed, § 1214.

7838. (4015.) Sale, mortgage, or lease. When allowed. When a sale of the property of a ward is necessary to maintain him or his family, or to maintain and educate the ward when a minor, or to pay the debts and expenses of guardianship, or when it appears to the satisfaction of the court that it is for the best interests of the estate that the real or personal property, or some part thereof, be sold, mortgaged, or leased, the guardian may sell, mortgage, or lease the same, upon an order of the court; provided, that if a ward be insane and confined in the state mental hospital, and have a family in this state, the property of such ward exempt from execution shall not be sold nor used for his care and maintenance in the hospital. The provisions of this title respecting the sale, mortgaging, and leasing of the property of decedents, and the powers, duties, rights, and obligations thereby conferred and imposed shall, as far as applicable, govern the sale, mortgaging, and leasing of property under guardianship.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1777*.

Limitation on action to recover land sold by guardian, § 6460.

Sale, mortgage, or lease of estate of ward, § 7830.

Sale, mortgage, or lease of estate of decedent, §§ 7677-7709.

Under this section and § 7831, where the personal property and income from the real estate are insufficient to pay the ward's debts and the expenses of guardianship, the guardian may sell, upon the order of the court, the ward's real estate for that purpose.

Andrus v. Blazzard, 23 U. 233; 63 P. 888.

7839. (4016.) Id. Application of proceeds. If the estate is sold for the purposes mentioned in this title, the guardian must apply the proceeds of the sale to such purposes, as far as necessary, and put out the residue, if any, on interest, or invest it in the best manner in his power, until the capital is wanted for the maintenance of the ward and his family, or the education of his children, or for the education of the ward when a minor, in which case the capital may be used for that purpose, as far as may be necessary, in like manner as if it had been personal estate of the ward.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1779.

7840. (4017.) Id. Investments. If the estate is sold for the purposes of putting out or investing the proceeds, the guardian must make the investment according to his best judgment, or in pursuance of any order that may be made by the court.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1780.

7841. (4018.) Id. Management, investment, and disposition of estate. The court, on the application of a guardian or any person interested in the estate of any ward, after such notice to persons interested therein as the court shall direct, may authorize and require the guardian to invest the proceeds of sales, and any other of his ward's money in his hands, in real estate, or in any other manner most to the interest of all concerned therein; and the court may make such other orders and give such directions as are needful for the management, investment, and disposition of the estate and effects as circumstances require.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1792.

A guardian, without authority of the court, purchased real estate with the money of his ward. The value of the real estate had somewhat depreciated when the ward became of age, and it was shown that during the ward's infancy money could be safely loaned at ten per cent per annum; held, that the ward was entitled to recover from the guardian the amount invested by him in the house, with ten per cent interest, compounded annually.

Scheib v. Thompson, 23 U. 564; 65 P. 499.

7842. (4019.) Embezzlement. Citation to person charged. Order. Upon complaint made by any guardian, ward, creditor, or other person interested in the estate or having a prospective interest therein as heir or otherwise, against any one suspected of having concealed, embezzled, or conveyed away any of the money, goods, or effects, or an instrument in writing belonging to the ward or to his estate, the court may cite such suspected person to appear before such court, and may examine and proceed with him on such charge in the manner provided in this title with respect to persons suspected of and charged with concealing or embezzling the effects of a decedent.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1800. Guardian liable for treble damages, § 7241.

NON-RESIDENT WARDS.

7843. (4020.) Guardians of non-resident wards. Powers. Every guardian appointed for a non-resident ward shall have the same powers and perform the same duties with respect to the estate of the ward found within this state, and with respect to the person of the ward if he shall come to reside therein, as are prescribed with respect to any other guardian appointed under this title.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1794. When both are non-residents, § 7846.

7844. (4021.) Id. Bonds. Every guardian must give bond to the ward in the manner and with the like conditions as hereinbefore provided for other guardians, except that the provisions respecting the inventory, the disposal of the estate and effects, and the account to be rendered by the guardian must be confined to such estate and effects as come to his hands in this state.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1795.

7845. (4022.) Id. Guardian first appointed has exclusive jurisdiction. The guardianship which is first lawfully granted of any person residing without this state extends to all the estate of the ward within this state, and excludes the jurisdiction of the court of every other county.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1796.

7846. (4023.) Non-resident guardians and wards. When the guardian and his ward are both non-residents, and the ward is entitled to property in this state which may be removed to any state or foreign country, without conflict with any restriction or limitation thereupon, or impairing the right of the ward thereto, such property may be removed to the state or foreign country of the residence of the ward, upon the application of the guardian to the court.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1797*.

7847. (4024.) Id. Application for removal of property. Order. The application must be made upon ten days' notice to the resident executor, administrator or guardian, if there be such, otherwise without notice, and upon such application the non-resident guardian must produce and file a certificate, under the hand of the clerk and seal of the court from which his appointment was derived, showing:

1. A transcript of the record of his appointment;
2. That he entered upon the discharge of his duties;
3. A description of the property of the ward with its estimated value;
4. That he is entitled by the laws of the state, territory, or foreign country of his appointment, to the possession of the estate of the ward; or must produce and file a certificate under the hand and seal of the clerk of the court having jurisdiction in the county of his residence of the estates of persons under guardianship, or of the highest court of such country, attested by a minister, consul, or vice-consul of the United States, resident in such country, that by the laws of such country the applicant is entitled to the custody of the estate of his ward, without the appointment of any court. Upon such application, unless good cause to the contrary is shown, the court must make an order granting to such guardian leave to take and remove the property of his ward to the state or place of his residence, which is authority to him to sue for and receive the same in his own name for the use and benefit of his ward.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1798*.
When property of non-resident decedent may be removed, §§ 7777, 7780.

7848. (4025.) Id. Order discharges local guardian, etc. Such order is a discharge of the executor, administrator, local guardian, or other person in whose possession the property may be at the time the order is made, on filing with the court the receipt therefor of the foreign guardian of such ward, and transmitting a duplicate receipt or a certified copy of such receipt to the court from which such non-resident guardian received his appointment.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1799*.

CHAPTER 15.

NOTICES, ORDERS, AND PROCEDURE.

7856. (4026.) Notices. Manner and time of giving. In all cases in which it is provided in this title, or in which the court, judge, or clerk may direct that notice shall be given, and the manner of giving the same is not provided or directed, it shall be sufficient if the notice be published in any newspaper having general circulation in the county; and in any case in which the time is not provided or directed, it shall be sufficient, whether the notice be given by publication or posting, that the notice be given for not less than ten days; but the court or judge, or the clerk when authorized, may order or direct the precise manner of giving notice, or more than one manner of giving the same or may prescribe a longer notice than ten days. The clerk shall give the notice where not otherwise provided.

Clerk may prescribe notice to be given, § 7561.
Party may designate paper, § 7028.
Proof of posting or publication of notice, §§ 7866, 7867.
Notice may be waived by consent in writing, § 7868.
When personal notice ordered, form, service, § 7865.

Where notice insufficient, order appointing guardian void.

Mosby v. Gisborn, 17 U. 257; 54 P. 121.
An order for notice of an application for the appointment of an administrator required that the notice be published in two issues of a newspaper for a period of at least a week prior to Sept. 28th, and by mailing a copy of the notice to the heirs as required by § 7603. The notice was first published on Sept. 20th, and the second and last insertion was on Sept. 27th, the day prior to the time set for hearing, and no notice was mailed; held, that the court acquired no jurisdiction under such notice to appoint an administrator.
In re Bunting's Estate, 30 U. 251; 84 P. 109.
See Wells v. Kelly, 11 U. 421; 40 P. 705.
Where an executor or administrator is appointed on statutory notice the court acquires jurisdiction of the property; the other notices are not jurisdictional and a disregard thereof is a mere irregularity, assailable, in the absence of fraud, in a direct proceeding only.
Barrette v. Whitney, 36 U. 574; 106 P. 522.

7857. (4027.) Publication of notices, how and when made. Newspapers shall publish all probate and guardianship notices under the heading

"Probate and guardianship notices. Consult county clerk or the respective signers for further information." Such notices shall be published as often during the prescribed period as the paper is regularly issued, unless otherwise provided by law or directed by the court, judge, or clerk; and, as far as possible, in one column in the alphabetical order of the surnames of decedents and wards.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1705*. Proof of publication, § 7866.

7858. (4028.) Form of notices in case of petitions. In the case of petitions, the notice shall be substantially in the following form:

Estate of A B—Petition for ("probate of will," "letters of administration," "letters of guardianship," "sale of personal property," "sale of real property," "approval of annual account," "distribution," or "distribution and partition," or other purpose, as the case may be) has been set for hearing at (hour, day, and date), at courthouse (name of city or town). C D, Clerk.

Notice of hearing on petitions for letters of administration, letters testamentary, and for guardianship shall state to whom it is asked to have letters issued. Notices for the hearing of petitions for the sale of real or personal property shall briefly indicate the property sought to be sold.

7859. (4029.) Form of notice to creditors. Notice to creditors shall be substantially in the following form:

Estate of A B—Creditors will present claims with vouchers to the undersigned at (stating place), on or before (stating the last day on which claims may be presented). C D, (administrator or executor).

Time of publication, proof, §§ 7645, 7647, 7866. Time for presentation of claims, §§ 7645-7665.

7860. (4030.) Form of notices of public sales of property. Notices of the sale of personal or real property at public auction shall be substantially in the following form:

Estate of A B—The undersigned will sell at public auction (in case of personal property, describing the articles in general terms; and in the case of real property, stating the number of square rods, or the number of acres, with the lot, block, plat, or quarter section, and city or county in which the same is situated), at (stating the hour, day, and date of sale), at (stating place of sale), for (stating terms of sale as ordered by the court). C D (administrator, executor, or guardian). Dated ....., 19.....

7861. (4031.) Form of notices of private sale of property. Notices of the sale of real or personal property at private sale shall be substantially in the following form:

Estate of A B—The undersigned will sell at private sale (describing the property as hereinbefore prescribed in the case of sales at public auction) on or after (stating the day and date), and written bids will be received at (stating place), terms of sale (describing the same). C D, (administrator, executor, or guardian). Dated ....., 19.....

7862. (4032.) Other notices to conform to foregoing. Other notices shall conform as nearly as may be to the forms hereinbefore prescribed.

Am'd '01, p. 122.

Personal notice, how given, § 7865.

7864. (4033x.) Notices posted in three public places. In all cases in which it is provided in the Probate Code, or in which the court, judge, or clerk may direct that notice be given by posting notices, it shall be sufficient if the notice or order be posted in at least three public places in the county, one of which must be at the courthouse of the county, for the time required by law, or prescribed by the court, judge, or clerk. '01, p. 122.

7865. (4034.) Personal notice. Citation, how and when served. Upon application of any person interested, or where personal notice is required and no mode of giving it is prescribed, the clerk must issue a citation under the seal of the court, containing the title of the proceeding, a brief statement of the nature thereof, and a direction to the person cited to appear at the time and place specified. The citation must be served in the same manner as a summons in a civil action, and when no other time is or may be prescribed, must be served at least five days before the return day thereof.

Cal. C. Civ. P., §§ 1707-1711*.

Personal notice equivalent to mailing, § 7863.

7866. (4035.) Proof of publication or posting. Evidence of the due publication or posting of a notice required to be published or posted may be given by affidavit, respectively, of the publisher or principal clerk of the newspaper in which notice was published, or of the person who posted the notices.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 2010*.
Proof of publication of summons, § 6552.

Posting must be in three public places, § 7864.
Proof of publication generally, § 7155.

7867. (4036.) Proof of notice. Decree is conclusive. In all cases in which notice is required or directed as a prerequisite to the action of the court, judge, or clerk, proof of due notice must be made to the satisfaction, respectively, of the court, judge, or clerk; and the decrees of the court in such cases, showing that due notice was given, shall be conclusive evidence of that fact.

Notices generally, §§ 7856-7868.
Conclusiveness of orders and decrees generally, §§ 7559, 7560, 7564, 7752, 7766, 7796, 7870.

Where notice not published and mailed according to law, court did not acquire jurisdiction.
In re Bunting's Estate, 30 U. 251; 84 P. 109.

7868. (4037.) When notice dispensed with. If all persons interested in the estate join in any petition, or signify in writing their assent thereto, notice may be dispensed with and the hearing had at any time.

Notice of hearing for letters is jurisdictional and statutory notice should be given; failure to give notice of other hearings is an irregularity.
Barrette v. Whitney, 36 U. 574; 106 P. 522.

7869. (4038.) Any interested person has right to be heard. Any person shall have a right to be heard by the court at any hearing on any question affecting a probate or guardianship matter in which he is interested.

Objections available only on direct application or on appeal, § 7560.

Any person interested may appeal.
In re Reese Estate, 9 U. 171; 33 P. 698.

7870. (4039.) Decree need not show jurisdictional facts. Recording. Other papers filed. Orders or decrees made by the court or judge in probate proceedings need not recite the existence of facts or the performance of acts upon which the jurisdiction of the court may depend, but it shall only be necessary that they contain the matters ordered or adjudged, except as otherwise provided. All orders and decrees of the court must be entered at length in the record books of the court provided and kept for that purpose, and all other papers in the matter must be filed.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1704*.
Validity and conclusiveness of orders and decrees, §§ 7559, 7560, 7564, 7752, 7796, 7867, 7870.

An order made without authority of statute is void.
Andrus v. Blazzard, 23 U. 233; 63 P. 888.

7871. (4040.) Decrees affecting real property to be recorded. Notice. When a judgment or decree is made determining any matter affecting the title to real property, a certified copy of the same must be recorded in the office of the recorder of the county in which the property is situated; and from the time of filing the same, notice of the contents thereof is imparted to all persons.

Cal. C. Civ. P., §§ 1601*, 1706*, 1719*.
Recording conveyances, judgments, etc., gives notice, § 4900.

7872. (4041.) Trial of issues of fact. Judgments and executions. All issues of fact joined in probate and guardianship proceedings must be tried in conformity with the requirements of the Code of Civil Procedure, and in all such proceedings the party affirming is the plaintiff, and the one denying or avoiding is defendant. Judgments therein, on the issue joined, as well as for costs, may be entered and enforced by execution or otherwise by the court as in civil actions.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1716*.
Provisions of Code of Civil Procedure applicable, § 3558.
Trial by court; jury trial, § 7873.
A suit to revoke the probate of a will on the ground of undue influence is an action at law.
Miller v. Livingston, 31 U. 415; 88 P. 338.
In a contested application for a guardian of property on grounds of incompetency, findings of fact are essential.
In re Manning, 38 U. 281; 112 P. 167.

7873. (4042.) Trial by court. Jury trial. Reference. If no jury is demanded, the court or judge must try the issues joined. If on written demand a jury is called by either party, and the issues are not sufficiently made up by the written pleadings on file, the court may direct the preparation of more specific pleadings, or, on due notice to the opposite party, may settle and frame the issues to be tried, and submit the same, together with the evidence of each party, to the jury. If the trial of the issues joined requires the examination of an account, the court or judge must try the matter or refer it, and no jury can be called.

Mont. Civ. P., § 2924.
Demand for jury and deposit of fee, §§ 2553, 6782.
Jury waived unless demanded, Con. art. 1, sec. 10; § 6827.
Issues triable by jury, §§ 6781, 7208.
Provisions of Code of Civil Procedure applicable, § 7558.

7874. (4043.) Acts of executor or guardian de facto valid, when. When the judgment or order appointing an executor, or administrator, or guardian is reversed on appeal, for error, and not for want of jurisdiction of the court, all lawful acts in administration upon the estate performed by such executor, or administrator, or guardian, if he have qualified, are as valid as if such judgment or order had been affirmed.

7875. (4044.) Executor, etc., may be substituted for predecessor in action. Executors, administrators, or guardians appointed to fill vacancies may be substituted for their respective predecessors in any action to which such predecessors were parties.

Continuation of action by successor or representative, § 6513.
Actions by guardian, §§ 7832, 7877.
Actions by executors, etc., §§ 6513, 7610, 7718-7721.

7876. (4045.) Costs paid as directed by court. When not otherwise prescribed in this title, the district court or the supreme court on appeal from the district court, may, in its discretion, order costs to be paid by any party to the proceedings, or out of the assets of the estate, as justice may require.

When executor, etc., personally liable; when not, §§ 7045, 7662.

7877. (4046.) Service on guardian equivalent to service on ward. How made. Waiver. Whenever an infant, insane or incompetent person has a guardian of his estate residing in this state, personal service upon the guardian of any process, notice, or order of the court concerning the estate of a deceased person or of any guardianship matter in which the ward is interested is equivalent to service upon the ward. Such guardian may also appear for his ward and waive any process, notice, or order to show cause which an adult or a person of sound mind might do.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1722*.
Guardian for insane wife, §§ 2995, 7822.
Guardian to appear for ward, §§ 6500, 7439, 7832.

7878. (4047.) Construction of words and phrases herein. Unless otherwise defined herein, words and phrases used in this code are to be construed according to the rules and definitions recognized in or prescribed by other statutes applicable thereto.

N. Dak. (1895) § 6165.
Construction of terms generally, §§ 5847,5848.

7879. (4048.) Correction of mistakes in settlements. Mistakes in settlement may be corrected at any time before final settlement and discharge, and, after that time, by equitable proceedings, on such showing as will justify the interference of the court.

Iowa, McClain's An. C. (1888) § 3679*.
Conclusiveness of settlement of account, § 7752.
Validity and conclusiveness of orders and decrees generally, §§ 7559, 7560, 7564, 7752, 7766, 7796, 7867, 7870.
Executor is not prima facie chargeable with interest during the time the law allows for collecting an estate and settling the account, and charging him with interest must be predicated upon his fault or wrong or if he, having made use of the funds in some way, has profited by the delay in final settlement, or withholding them after demand.

In re Raleigh's Estate, 48 U. 128; 158 P. 705.

The allowance of an executor's account before final settlement cannot be assailed upon final settlement, but only in equity.
Id.

7880. (4049.) Service by publication on executor permitted, when. When the court shall make an order affecting an executor or administrator, and it cannot be personally served upon him, service thereof may be made by publication of a notice, stating the substance of such order, for four weeks in some newspaper having a general circulation in the county where such order was made.

Iowa, McClain's An. C. (1888) §§ 3684, 3685.
Service by publication, civil procedure, §§ 6549, 6550.
Where a court ordered a citation to be published once a week for four successive weeks, and the first publication was made October 28th, and the last November 18th, and the hearing was had on the 27th of November, the court has jurisdiction.
Wells v. Kelly, 11 U. 421; 40 P. 705.
See In re Bunting's Estate, 30 U. 251; 84 P. 109.

7881. (4050.) Attorney for minors or non-residents. Failure to appoint does not invalidate. At or before the hearing of petitions and contests for the probate of wills, for letters testamentary or of administration, for sales of real estate and confirmations thereof, settlements, partitions, and distributions of estates, setting apart homesteads, and all other proceedings where notice is required or prescribed, and before any hearing in any guardianship matter, the court may, in its discretion, appoint some competent attorney at law to represent in all such proceedings all persons interested who are minors and have no general guardian in the county, or who are non-residents of the state, and those interested, who, though they are neither such minors nor non-residents, are unrepresented. The order must specify the names of the parties so far as known for whom the attorney is appointed, who is thereby authorized to represent such parties in all such proceedings had subsequent to his appointment. The attorney may receive a fee, to be fixed by the court, for his services, which must be paid in the case of estates of decedents out of the funds of the estate as necessary expenses of administration, and upon distribution may be charged to the party represented by the attorney, and in guardianship matters shall be paid as the court may direct. If for any cause it becomes necessary, the court may substitute another attorney for the one first appointed, in which case the fee must be proportionately divided. The non-appointment of an attorney will not affect the validity of any of the proceedings.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 1718*.
Allowance of attorney's fee, § 7739.

TITLE 119.

PENAL CODE.

CHAPTER 1.

PRELIMINARY PROVISIONS.

7891. (4051.) Title known as Penal Code. This title shall be known as the Penal Code.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1*.

7892. (4052.) Provisions not to be strictly construed. The rule of the common law that penal statutes are to be strictly construed has no application to the revised statutes. The provisions of the revised statutes are to be construed according to the fair import of their terms with a view to effect the objects of the statutes and to promote justice.

Cal. Pen. C., § 4.
Statutes to be liberally construed, § 5839, and note
Decisions on construction of statutes, note to § 5839.
Decisions on enactments and repeals, note to § 5839.
Decisions on interpretation of constitution, note to Con. art. 6, sec. 1.

Liberal construction, civil procedure, §§ 6596, 6622, 6968, and notes.
No part of revised statutes retroactive unless expressly so declared, § 5840.
Effect of repeal on prosecution of offenses already committed, §§ 5835, 5836, 5842.
Non-prejudicial informality in pleading, etc., is not error, §§ 8842, 9365.
Forms of pleading those prescribed by the code, § 8828.
Rules of pleading, §§ 8828-8855, and notes.
Information or indictment sufficient, when, § 8841, and note.
Juvenile court act to be construed in accordance with this section, § 1832.
This rule of construction applies to municipal ordinances.
Salina City v. Lewis, 51 U. —; 172 P. 286.
Salina City v. Neilson, 51 U. —; 172 P. 290.

7893. (4053.) Sense in which certain words are used herein. Whenever the terms mentioned in this section are employed in the Penal Code, they are employed in the senses hereafter affixed to them, except where a different sense plainly appears:

1. The term "wilfully," when applied to the intent with which an act is done or omitted, implies simply a purpose or willingness to commit the act or make the omission referred to. It does not require any intent to violate law, or to injure another, or to acquire any advantage.

2. The terms "neglect," "negligence," "negligent," and "negligently" import a want of such attention to the nature or probable consequences of the act or omission as a prudent man ordinarily bestows in acting in his own concerns.

3. The term "corruptly" imports a wrongful design to acquire or cause some pecuniary or other advantage to the person guilty of the act or omission referred to, or to some other person.

4. The terms "malice" and "maliciously" import a wish to vex, annoy, or injure another person, or an intent to do a wrongful act, established either by proof or by presumption of law.

5. The term "knowingly" imports only a knowledge that the facts exist which bring the act or omission within the provisions of the code. It does not require any knowledge of the unlawfulness of such act or omission.

6. The term "bribe" signifies any money, goods, right in action, property, thing of value, or advantage, present or prospective, or any promise or undertaking to give any, asked, given, or accepted, with a corrupt intent to influence unlawfully the person to whom it is given in his action, vote, or opinion in any public or official capacity.

7. When the term "person" is used in this code to designate the party whose property may be the subject of any offense, it includes this state, and any state, government, or country which may lawfully own any property within this state, and all public and private corporations or joint associations, as well as individuals.

Cal. Pen. C., § 7*.
Construction of terms generally, § 6548.
Intent a necessary element in any crime, §§ 7908, 7909, and notes.
Malice in homicide defined, § 8024, and notes.
Malice in killing of animals defined.
State v. Coleman, 29 U. 417; 82 P. 465.
People v. Olsen, 6 U. 284; 22 P. 163.
Word "knowingly" defined in prosecution for receiving illegal fees.
Skeen v. Chambers, 31 U. 36; 86 P. 492.

7894. (4054.) What intent to defraud is sufficient. Whenever, by any of the provisions of this code, an intent to defraud is required in order to constitute any offense, it is sufficient if an intent appears to defraud any person, association, or body politic or corporate whatever.

Cal. Pen. C., § 8.

7895. (4055.) Civil remedies not affected by penal statutes. The omission to specify or affirm in this code any liability to damages, penalty, forfeiture, or other remedy imposed by law and allowed to be recovered or enforced in any civil action or proceeding, for any act or omission declared punishable herein, does not affect any right to recover or enforce the same.

Cal. Pen. C., § 9.
Civil right not merged in criminal prosecution, § 5841.

7896. (4056.) Power of impeachment or removal not affected hereby. The omission to specify or affirm in this code any ground of forfeiture of a public office, or other trust or special authority conferred by law, or any power conferred by law to impeach, remove, depose, or suspend any public officer or other person holding any trust, appointment, or other special authority conferred by law, does not affect such forfeiture or power, or any proceeding authorized by law to carry into effect such impeachment, removal, deposition, or suspension.

Cal. Pen. C., § 10.
Felonious misconduct in office, forfeiture, disqualification, §§ 7906, 7961, 8237.
Removal by judicial proceedings, §§ 8625-8640.
It is not necessary that the specific acts for which a removal is demanded are specified in some section of the code, but it is enough that the particular acts relied on are specified in the accusation filed and that such acts amount to malfeasance.
Law v. Smith, 34 U. 394; 98 P. 300.

7897. (4057.) Military tribunals and punishment for contempt not affected hereby. This code does not affect any power conferred by law upon any court-martial, or other military authority, or officer, to impose or inflict punishment upon offenders; nor any power conferred by law upon any public body, tribunal, or officer, to impose or inflict punishment for a contempt.

Cal. Pen C., § 11. Powers of courts-martial, §§ 3858-3867.

7898. (4058.) Penalty determined and imposed by the court. The several sections of this code which declare certain crimes to be punishable as therein mentioned devolve a duty upon the court authorized to pass sentence, to determine and impose the punishment prescribed.

Cal. Pen. C., § 12.

7899. (4059.) Penalty between limits determined by the court. Whenever in this code the punishment for a crime is left undetermined between certain limits, the punishment to be inflicted in a particular case must be determined by the court authorized to pass sentence, within such limits as may be prescribed by this code.

Cal. Pen. C., § 13.
Penalty when maximum term not fixed by law, § 8532.

7900. (4060.) Witness never exempt from proceedings for perjury. The various sections of this code which declare that evidence obtained upon the examination of a person as a witness cannot be received against him in any criminal proceedings do not forbid such evidence being proved against such person upon any proceedings founded upon a charge of perjury committed in such examination.

Cal. Pen. C., § 14. Perjury, §§ 7980-7988.

7901. (4061.) Crime defined. A crime or public offense is an act committed or omitted in violation of a law forbidding or commanding it, and to which is annexed, upon conviction, any of the following punishments:

1. Death;
2. Imprisonment;
3. Fine;
4. Removal from office;
5. Disqualification to hold and enjoy any office of honor, trust, or profit in this state.

Cal. Pen. C., § 15.
Removal from office by impeachment, Con. art. 6, secs. 17-20, §§ 8600-8618.
Removal from office by judicial proceedings, Con. art. 6, sec. 21; §§ 8625-8640.
Power of removal not affected hereby, § 7896.

7902. (4062.) Crimes, how divided. Crimes are divided into:

1. Felonies;
2. Misdemeanors.

Cal. Pen. C., § 16.

7903. (4063.) Felony defined. Misdemeanor defined. A felony is a crime which is or may be punishable with death, or by imprisonment in the state prison. Every other crime is a misdemeanor.

Cal. Pen. C., § 17*.
Prohibited acts for which no penalty is imposed are misdemeanors, § 8014.
Wilful omission to perform a duty prescribed by law a misdemeanor, § 8013.

7904. (4064.) Id. Penalty for felony when not prescribed. Corporations. Except in cases where a different punishment is prescribed by law, every offense declared to be a felony is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison not exceeding five years. In all cases where a corporation is convicted of an offense for the commission of which a natural person would be punishable as for a felony, and there is no other punishment prescribed by law, such corporation is punishable by a fine of not less than $500 and not more than $10,000.

N. Dak. (1895) § 6811. Cal. Pen. C., § 18*.
Court to determine and impose penalty, §§ 7898, 7899.
Criminal action against corporation, §§ 9354-9361.

7905. (4065.) Id. Penalty for misdemeanor when not prescribed. Corporations. Except in cases where a different punishment is prescribed by law, every offense declared to be a misdemeanor is punishable by imprisonment in a county jail not exceeding six months, or by a fine in any sum less than $300, or by both. In all cases where a corporation is convicted of an offense for the commission of which a natural person would be punishable as for a misdemeanor, and there is no other punishment prescribed by law, such corporation is punishable by a fine not exceeding $1,000.

Cal. Pen. C., § 19*.
Court to determine and impose penalty, §§ 7898, 7899.

7906. (4066.) Felonious misconduct in office. Forfeiture. Disqualification. The conviction of any state, county, city, town, or precinct officer of a felony involving misconduct in office involves as a consequence, in addition to the punishment prescribed by law, a forfeiture of his office, and disqualifies him ever afterwards from holding any public office in this state.

Mont. Pen. C., § 198*.
Disqualification by crime, §§ 7961, 8237.
Power of removal, etc., not affected hereby, § 7896.
Removal by judicial proceedings, §§ 8625-8640.
See note to § 7896.

7907. (4067.) Who deemed habitual criminal. Penalty. Whoever has been previously twice convicted of crime, sentenced, and committed to prison, in this or any other state, or once in this or once at least in any other state, for terms of not less than three years each, shall, upon conviction of a felony committed in this state other than murder in the first or second degree, be deemed to be a habitual criminal, and shall be punished by imprisonment in the state prison for not less than fifteen years; provided, that if the person so convicted shall show to the satisfaction of the court before which such conviction was had that he was released from imprisonment upon either of said sentences, upon a pardon granted on the ground that he was innocent, such conviction and sentence shall not be considered as such under this section.

7908. (4068.) Union of act and intent to constitute crime. In every crime or public offense, there must exist a union or joint operation of act and intent, or criminal negligence.

Cal. Pen. C., § 20.
Intoxication affecting intent, § 7910, and note.
Assault with intent to commit rape, § 8047.
Assault to commit other felony, § 8048.
Intent, how manifested, § 7909, and note.
Witness' ignorance of materialty of evidence no excuse, § 7985.
Ignorance or mistake of fact, § 7915.
Persons not liable to punishment, § 7915.

A criminal intent is generally an element of crime; but every man is presumed to intend the necessary and legitimate consequences of what he knowingly does. Ignorance of a fact may sometimes be taken as evidence of a want of criminal intent, but not ignorance of the law.

Reynolds v. U. S., 1 U. 319; 98 U. S. 145.

It is no defense to an indictment for charging illegal fees, that the defendant honestly believed the law to be that he could charge fees under the by-laws of the mining district.

People v. Monk, 8 U. 35; 28 P. 1115.

Larceny of horse by convict to assist escape.

People v. Flynn, 7 U. 378; 26 P. 1114.

The intent which the law requires as necessary to the commission of an offense is the intent to commit the act, which is defined as illegal and punishable, but not the having of an evil purpose to commit a crime.

U. S. v. Buford, 8 U. 173; 30 P. 433.
See People v. Colton, 2 U. 457.

In larceny, the intent to steal must exist at the time of taking.

People v. Miller, 4 U. 410; 11 P. 514.
See State v. McKee, 17 U. 370; 53 P. 733.

Where one by threats obtains from the person of another property which he believes to he his own, the felonious intent to commit a robbery is lacking.

People v. Hughes, 11 U. 100; 39 P. 492.

In case of a public nuisance, the intent or motive is immaterial.

People v. Burtleson, 14 U. 258; 47 P. 87.

Where a person violates a statute making an act criminal, and no reference is made in the statute to a criminal intent, the provisions of this section must control, and it is error to withhold the question of intent from the jury.

State v. Blue, 17 U. 175; 53 P. 978.

7909. (4069.) Intent, how manifested. Who are of sound mind. The intent or intention is manifested by the circumstances connected with the offense, and the sound mind and discretion of the accused. All persons are of sound mind who are neither idiots, nor lunatics, nor affected with insanity.

Cal. Pen. C., § 21.
Union of act and intent, § 7908, and note.
Persons incapable of crime, § 7915.

Where it is certain that one of two persons did the criminal act, but it is uncertain which is the guilty agent, neither of them can be convicted, but such is not the rule where the two persons had a common purpose.

People v. Olsen, 6 U. 284; 22 P. 163.

It was not necessary to prove that defendant and others actually intended to convert the sheep to their own use. It was sufficient to prove beyond a reasonable doubt that they took the sheep away against the will of their owners, with the intention of permanently depriving them of their property.

State v. McKee, 17 U. 370; 53 P. 733.

Where intent is the gist of the offense, that intent should be shown by such evidence as, uncontradicted, will authorize it to be presumed beyond a reasonable doubt.

State v. McCune, 16 U. 170; 51 P. 818.

Intent may be shown by circumstantial evidence.

State v. Overson, 30 U. 22; 83 P. 557.

An insane person cannot legally be guilty of a criminal intent.

State v. Brown, 36 U. 46; 102 P. 641.

7910. (4070.) Drunkenness no excuse for crime. Mitigation. No act committed by a person while in a state of voluntary intoxication is less criminal by reason of his having been in such condition. But whenever the actual existence of any particular purpose, motive, or intent is a necessary element to constitute any particular species or degree of crime, the jury may take into consideration the fact that the accused was intoxicated at the time, in determining the purpose, motive, or intent with which he committed the act.

Cal. Pen. C., § 22.
Union of act and intent, § 7908, and note.
Under a statute establishing degrees of murder, and providing that wilful, deliberate, and premeditated killing shall be murder in the first degree, evidence that the accused was intoxicated at the time of the killing is competent for the consideration of the jury upon the question whether he was in such a condition of mind as to be capable of deliberate premeditation.
Hopt v. People, 104 U. S. 631; same case, 4 U. 247; 9 P. 407.
It is error to instruct in a murder trial that evidence of drunkenness was admissible only on the question of premeditation, followed by instructions that in case of premeditated murder, drunkenness is immaterial.
State v. Dewey, 41 U. 538; 127 P. 275.
An instruction in the words of this section is not sufficient; the jury should have been given concrete instructions applicable to the case at bar.
State v. Anselmo, 46 U. 137; 148 P. 1071.

CHAPTER 2.

PERSONS LIABLE TO PUNISHMENT.

7915. (4071.) All persons capable of committing crime, except following. All persons are capable of committing crimes except those belonging to the following classes:

1. Children under the age of seven years;
2. Children between the ages of seven years and fourteen years, in the absence of clear proof that at the time of committing the act charged against them they knew its wrongfulness;
3. Idiots;
4. Lunatics and insane persons;
5. Persons who committed the act or made the omission charged under an ignorance or mistake of fact, which disproves any criminal intent;
6. Persons who committed the act charged without being conscious thereof;
7. Persons who committed the act or made the omission charged, through misfortune or by accident, when it appears that there was no evil design, intention, or culpable negligence;
8. Married women, unless the crime be punishable with death, acting under the threats, command, or coercion of their husbands;
9. Persons, unless the crime be punishable with death, who committed the act or made the omission charged under threats or menaces sufficient to show that they had reasonable cause to believe, and did believe, their lives would be endangered if they refused.

Cal. Pen. C., § 26*.
Intoxication no excuse for crime, § 7910.
Who are of sound mind, § 7909.
Insane person defined, § 5848.
Inquiry into insanity of defendant, §§ 9327-9336.
Power of juvenile courts, §§ 1826-1844.
Intent a necessary element, § 7908, and note.
A corporation may be neither arrested nor imprisoned, though it may be indicted or informed against, and by special process brought into court, and tried and convicted of certain offenses, and be fined in a specific sum of money, and the fine collected by execution.
American Fork v. Charlier, 43 U. 231; 134 P. 739.
The agents of a corporation are subject to the same punishment as other individuals, and for ultra vires acts the agents are the only ones who can be punished and for acts not ultra vires they and the corporation may both be punished.
Id.

7916. (4072.) Persons liable to punishment. The following persons are liable to punishment under the laws of this state:

1. All who commit, in whole or in part, any crime within this state;
2. All who commit larceny or robbery out of this state, and bring or are found with the property stolen within this state;
3. All who, being out of this state, cause or aid, advise or encourage, another person to commit a crime within this state, and are afterward found therein.

Cal. Pen. C., § 27.
Larceny without state; property brought within, § 8298.
Local jurisdiction of public offenses, §§ 8645-8660.

CHAPTER 3.

PARTIES TO CRIME.

7918. (4073.) Classified as principals and accessories. Parties to crimes are classified as:

1. Principals; and
2. Accessories.

Cal. Pen. C., § 30.

7919. (4074.) Id. Principals defined. All persons concerned in the commission of a crime, whether it be felony or misdemeanor, and whether they directly commit the act constituting the offense, or aid and abet in its commission, or, not being present, have advised and encouraged its commission, and all persons counseling, advising, or encouraging children under the age of fourteen years, lunatics, or idiots to commit any crime, and all persons who by fraud, contrivance, or force occasion the drunkenness of another for the purpose of causing him to commit any crime, or who by threats, menaces, command, or coercion compel another to commit any crime, are principals in any crime so committed.

Cal. Pen. C., § 31.

Principals and accessories; certain distinctions abolished, § 8851.

Principals without the state, §§ 7916, 8645.

Jurisdiction over principal and accessory, §§ 8645, 8650, 8651.

Criminal conspiracy, § 8018.

Where two persons are jointly associated in the commission of an offense, it is immaterial which one performed the act.

People v. Olsen, 6 U. 284; 22 P. 163.

When two defendants and another were associated together to rob a person, and such person was killed, the killing, by whichever of the three it was done, was the act of each and all three of the conspirators, and the two defendants were chargeable therewith, whether they or their companion fired the fatal shot.

State v. King, 24 U. 482; 68 P. 418.

State v. Morgan, 22 U. 162; 61 P. 527.

Where two or more were associated together in the commission of an offense, the act of one was the act of each of the conspirators, and each may be convicted therefor.

State v. Morgan, 22 U. 162; 61 P. 527.

State v. King, 24 U. 482; 68 P. 418.

People v. Coughlin, 13 U. 58; 44 P. 94.

People v. Olsen, 6 U. 284; 22 P. 163.

7920. (4075.) Id. Accessories defined. All persons who, after full knowledge that a felony has been committed, conceal it from the magistrate, or harbor and protect the person charged therewith or convicted thereof, are accessories.

Cal. Pen. C., § 32.

Compounding felony, § 8005.

Compromising offenses, §§ 9339-9341.

An accessory after the fact could not be jointly indicted or tried with the principal. He is not an accomplice, and his testimony need not be corroborated.

People v. Chadwick, 7 U. 134; 25 P. 737.

A party persuading a victim of a fraudulent transaction to postpone the institution of a suit until the defrauder had left the state is not an accessory after the fact.

Ex parte Overfield, 152 P. 568 (Nevada).

7921. (4076.) Id. Punishment of accessory when not defined. Except in cases where a different punishment is prescribed, an accessory is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison not exceeding five years, or in the county jail not exceeding one year, or by fine not exceeding $5,000, or by both fine and imprisonment.

Cal. Pen. C., § 33*.

Accessory may be tried and punished though principal not tried, or, if tried, acquitted, § 8852.

CHAPTER 4.

CRIMES AGAINST THE EXECUTIVE POWER.

7923. (4077.) Exercising public office without having qualified. Every person who exercises any of the functions of a public office without having taken and filed the oath of office, or without having executed and filed the required bond, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Cal. Pen. C., § 65*.

7924. (4078.) Qualification of preceding section. The next preceding section shall not be construed to affect the validity of acts done by a person exercising the functions of a public office in fact, where other persons than himself are interested in maintaining the validity of such acts.

Cal. Pen. C., § 66.

Cited in: Peterson v. Benson, 38 U. 286; 112 P. 801.

7925. (4079.) Giving or offering bribe to executive officer. Every person who gives or offers any bribe to any executive officer in this state, with intent to influence him in respect to any act, decision, vote, opinion, or other proceeding as such officer, is guilty of a felony.

Cal. Pen. C., § 67*.
Construction of "bribe," § 7893.
Bribery of judicial officer, §§ 7954-7956.
Bribery of legislative officer, §§ 7940-7942.
Officer asking or receiving a gratuity, § 7928.
Bribery of jurors, §§ 7957, 7958.
Bribery of witnesses, § 7996.
Extortion, § 8323.

7926. (4080.) Executive officer asking or receiving bribe. Every executive officer, or person elected or appointed to an executive office, who asks, receives or agrees to receive any bribe, upon any agreement or understanding that his vote, opinion, or action upon any matter then pending, or which may be brought before him in his official capacity, shall be influenced thereby, is guilty of felony.

Cal. Pen. C., § 69*.

7927. (4081.) Interfering with or resisting officer. Every person who attempts, by means of any threat or violence, to deter or prevent an executive officer from performing any duty imposed upon such officer by law, or who knowingly resists, by the use of force or violence, such officer in the performance of his duty, is punishable by fine not exceeding $1,000 and imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding one year.

Cal. Pen. C., § 69*.
Retaking goods from officer, § 7965.
Resisting or obstructing officer, § 8002.

7928. (4082.) Officer asking or receiving gratuity. Every executive or ministerial officer who asks or receives any emolument, gratuity, or reward, or any promise thereof, excepting such as may be authorized by law, for doing any official act, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Cal. Pen. C., § 70.
Giving or offering bribe, § 7925, and note.
Gratuity to judicial officer, § 7956.

7929. (4083.) Presentation of unlawful claim. Every person who, with intent to defraud, presents for allowance or for payment to any state board or officer or to any county, city, town, or district board or officer, authorized to allow or pay the same, if genuine, any false or fraudulent claim, bill, account, voucher, or writing is guilty of felony.

Cal. Pen. C., § 72.
County commissioners personally liable for allowing false claims, § 1381.
Claims against the county, §§ 1427-1434.
One presenting false claim for bounty may be prosecuted hereunder without reference to § 143x11, C. L. 1907.
State v. Swan, 31 U. 336; 88 P. 12.
Where the claim presented is one which on its face purports to be a charge against the political division for which the officer acts in allowing or paying it, the mere fact that the claim is unauthorized by law, and that the officer cannot legally allow or pay it, is not decisive; and so long as the claim, if valid, is one that could or should be allowed or paid, it is within the statute, though the claim itself may be for a matter which the law does not authorize or even forbids, the word "genuine" referring to a real claim as distinguished from a counterfeit.
Law v. Smith, 34 U. 394; 98 P. 300.
Presentation for allowance and payment of a false claim against the county for expense in performing certain duties after he presented a claim therefor to the state, and which claim had been allowed and paid, states facts authorizing conviction for violation of this section, but it is a question for the jury to determine whether he proffered the claim knowing that he had no legal right to claim it.
Id.

7930. (4084.) Buying appointment to office. Every person who gives or offers any gratuity or reward, in consideration that he or any other person shall be appointed to any public office, or shall be permitted to exercise or discharge the duties thereof, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Cal. Pen. C., § 73.

7931. (4085.) Selling appointment to office. Every public officer who, for any gratuity or reward, appoints another person to a public office, or presents another person to exercise or discharge any of the duties of his office, is punishable by a fine not exceeding $1,000.

Cal. Pen. C., § 74*.

7932. (4086.) Wrongful exercise of functions of public office. Every person who wilfully and knowingly intrudes himself into any public office to which he has not been elected or appointed, and every person who, having been an executive officer, wilfully exercises any of the functions of his office after his term has expired and a successor has been elected or appointed, and has qualified, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Cal. Pen. C., § 75.

7933. (4087.) Officer withholding records, etc., from successor. Every officer whose office is abolished by law, or who, after the expiration of the time for which he may be appointed or elected, or after he has resigned or been legally removed from office, wilfully and unlawfully withholds or detains from his successor or other person entitled thereto the official seal or any records, papers, documents, or other writing appertaining or belonging to his office, or mutilates, destroys, or takes away the same, is guilty of a felony.

Cal. Pen. C., § 76*. Mutilating or destroying public records, §§ 7976, 7977, 8235.

7934. (4088.) Officer withholding books, etc., from successor. Every officer whose office is abolished by law, or who, after the expiration of the time for which he may be appointed or selected, or after he has resigned or been legally removed from office, who wilfully or unlawfully withholds or detains from his successor or other person entitled thereto any volume of the laws, or of supreme court reports, or of other like books belonging to the office, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor.

CHAPTER 5.

CRIMES AGAINST THE LEGISLATIVE POWER.

7936. (4089.) Preventing meetings of legislature or members thereof. Every person who wilfully, and by force or fraud, prevents the legislature of this state, or either of the houses composing it, or any of the members thereof, from meeting or organizing, is guilty of a felony.

Cal. Pen. C., § 81.

7937. (4090.) Disturbing the legislature. Every person who wilfully disturbs the legislature of this state, or either of the houses composing it, while in session, or who commits any disorderly conduct in the immediate view and presence of either house, tending to interrupt its proceedings or impair the respect due its authority, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Cal. Pen. C., § 82.

7938. (4091.) Altering draft of bill. Every person who fraudulently alters the draft of any bill or resolution which has been presented to either of the houses composing the legislature, to be passed or adopted, with intent to procure it to be passed or adopted by either house, or certified by the presiding officer of either house, in language different from that intended by such house, is guilty of a felony.

Cal. Pen. C., § 83.

7939. (4092.) Altering engrossed copy of bill. Every person who fraudulently alters the engrossed copy or enrollment of any bill or resolution which has been passed or adopted by the legislature of this state, with intent to procure it to be approved by the governor, or certified by the secretary of state, or printed or published by the printer of statutes, in language different from that in which it was passed or adopted by the legislature, is guilty of a felony.

Cal. Pen. C., § 84.

7940. (4093.) Giving or offering bribe to member. Every person who gives or offers a bribe to any member of the legislature or to another person for him, or attempts by menace, deceit, suppression of truth, or any corrupt means to influence a member in giving or withholding his vote, or in not attending the house or any committee of which he is a member, is guilty of a felony.

Cal Pen. C., § 85.
"Bribe" defined, § 7893.
Corruption of executive officers, §§ 7923-7934.
Corruption of judicial officers, §§ 7954-7961.
Corruption of jurors, § 7957; of witnesses, § 7996.

7941. (4094.) Members asking or receiving bribe. Every member of either of the houses composing the legislature of this state who asks, receives, or agrees to receive any bribe, upon any understanding that his official vote, opinion, judgment, or action shall be influenced thereby, or shall be given in a particular manner, or upon any particular side of any question or matter upon which he may be required to act in his official capacity, or gives or offers, or promises to give any official vote in consideration that another member of the legislature shall give any such vote, either upon the same or another question, is guilty of a felony.

Cal. Pen. C., § 86*.

7942. (4095.) Member promising to trade vote or influence. Every person elected to either house of the legislature who offers or promises to give his vote or influence in favor of or against any measure or proposition pending or proposed to be introduced into the legislature, in consideration or upon condition that any other person elected to the same legislature will give, or will promise or assent to give, his vote or influence in favor of or against any other measure or proposition pending or proposed to be introduced into such legislature, the person making such offer or promise is guilty of a felony.

Mont. Pen. C., § 166.

7943. (4096.) Members trading votes or influence. Every member of the legislature who gives his vote or influence for or against any measure or proposition pending or proposed to be introduced in such legislature, or offers, promises, or assents to give, upon condition that any other member will give, or will promise or assent to give, his vote or influence in favor of or against any other measure or proposition pending or proposed to be introduced in such legislature, or in consideration that any other member has given his vote or influence for or against any other measure or proposition in such legislature, is guilty of a felony.

Mont. Pen. C., 167.

7944. (4097.) Corruptly soliciting official action of public officer. Every person who corruptly solicits, directly or indirectly, the official action of any member of the legislature or of any public officer of the state, or of any municipal division thereof, is guilty of a felony.

Mont. Pen. C., § 169.

7945. (4098.) Member failing to disclose personal interest in bill. Every member of the legislature who has a personal or private interest in any measure or bill proposed or pending before the legislature of which he is a member, and does not disclose the fact to the house of which he is a member, and votes thereon, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Mont. Pen. C., § 170.

7946. (4099.) Vote in consideration of governor's action on bill. Every person elected to either house of the legislature who gives, or offers or promises to give, his official vote or influence in favor of or against any measure or proposition pending or proposed to be introduced into, or that has already passed or been passed by, either house of the legislature, in consideration or on condition that any person, being governor of this state, shall approve or disapprove, veto or sign, or agree to approve or disapprove, veto or sign, any such measure or proposition, or any measure, proposition, bill, or act or proposed law that has already passed or been passed by said legislature, or either house thereof, or in consideration or upon condition that any person, being or acting governor of this state, shall nominate for appointment or appoint or remove any person or persons to or from any office or position under the laws of this state, shall be deemed guilty of a felony.

N. Dak. (1895) § 6930*.

7947. (4100.) Id. Vote of senator in consideration of appointment. Every person elected to the senate of this state who shall offer or agree to give his official vote or influence for or against the confirmation of any person or persons nominated or to be nominated for appointment, or appointed or to be appointed to any office in this state, in consideration or upon condition that the person being governor of this state shall nominate for appointment or appoint or refuse to appoint or nominate for appointment any person or persons to or for any office or position in this state, shall be guilty of a felony.

N. Dak. (1895) § 6931*.

7948. (4101.) Witness refusing to attend or testify before legislature. Every person who, being summoned to attend as a witness before either house of the legislature or any committee thereof, refuses or neglects, without lawful excuse, to attend pursuant to such summons, and every person who, being present before either house of the legislature, or any committee thereof, wilfully refuses to be sworn, or to answer any material and proper question, or to produce, upon reasonable notice, any material and proper books, papers, or documents in his possession or under his control, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Cal. Pen. C., § 87.

7949. (4102.) Lobbying for hire. Every person who obtains, or seeks to obtain, money or other thing of value from another person upon a pretense, claim, or representation that he can or will improperly influence in any manner the action of any member of any legislative body in regard to any vote or legislative matter, is guilty of a felony.

Mont. Pen. C., § 172.

7950. (4103.) Testimony must be given though incriminating. Upon the trial, no person, otherwise competent as a witness, shall be excused from testifying as such concerning any offense charged under this chapter, on the ground that such testimony may criminate himself, or subject him to public infamy, but such testimony shall not afterward be used against him in any judicial proceeding, except for perjury in giving such testimony.

Mont. Pen. C., § 172.

CHAPTER 6.

CORRUPTION OF JUDICIAL OFFICERS.

7954. (4104.) Giving bribes to judicial officers, etc. Every person who gives or offers to give a bribe to, or who attempts corruptly to influence, any judicial officer, juror, referee, arbitrator, umpire, appraiser, or any person who may be authorized by law to hear and determine any question or controversy, with intent to influence his vote, opinion, or decision upon any matter or question which is or may be brought before him for decision, is guilty of a felony.

Cal. Pen. C., § 92*.
"Bribe" defined, § 7893.
Corruption of executive officers, §§ 7923-7934.
Corruption of legislative power, §§ 7936-7950.
Corruption of witnesses, §§ 7995-7997; of jurors, § 7957.

7955. (4105.) Judicial officer, etc., receiving bribe. Every judicial officer, juror, referee, arbitrator, umpire, appraiser, or other person authorized by law to hear or determine any question or controversy, who asks or receives, or agrees to receive, any bribe, upon any agreement or understanding that his vote, opinion, or decision upon any matter or question which is or may be brought before him for decision shall be influenced thereby, is guilty of a felony.

Cal. Pen. C., § 93*.

7956. (4106.) Judicial officer receiving gratuity, etc. Every judicial officer who asks or receives any emolument, gratuity, or reward, or any promise thereof, except such as may be authorized by law, for doing any official act, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Executive or ministerial officer asking or receiving a gratuity, § 7928.

7957. (4107.) Attempt to corruptly influence juror, referee, etc. Every person who corruptly attempts to influence a juror, or any person summoned or drawn as a juror, or chosen as an arbitrator or umpire, or appointed a referee, in respect to his verdict in, or decision of, any cause or proceeding pending or about to be brought before him, either:

1. By means of any communication, oral or written, had with him except in the regular course of proceedings; or

2. By means of any book, paper, or instrument exhibited otherwise than in the regular course of proceedings; or

3. By means of any threat, intimidation, persuasion or entreaty; or

4. By means of any promise, or assurance of any pecuniary or other advantage,—is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Cal. Pen. C., § 95*.

7958. (4108.) Misconduct of juror, referee, etc. Every juror or person drawn or summoned as a juror, or chosen arbitrator or umpire, or appointed referee, who:

1. Makes any promise or agreement to give a verdict or decision for or against any party; or

2. Wilfully and corruptly permits any communication to be made to him or receives any book, paper, instrument, or information relating to any cause pending before him, except according to the regular course of proceedings upon the trial of such cause,—is punishable by fine not exceeding $1,000, or by imprisonment in the state prison not exceeding one year.

Cal. Pen. C., § 96*.

7959. (4109.) Drawing of jurors fraudulently. Every person authorized by law to assist at the drawing of any jurors to attend any court, who wilfully puts or consents to the putting upon any list of jurors as having been drawn, any name which shall not have been drawn for that purpose in the manner prescribed by law; or who omits to place on such list any name that shall have been drawn in the manner prescribed by law; or who signs or certifies any list of jurors as having been drawn which was not drawn according to law; or who is guilty of any other unfair, partial, or improper conduct in the preparation or drawing of any list of jurors, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

N. Dak. (1895) § 6942. Jurors, how drawn, §§ 3609-3612.

7960. (4110.) Justice or constable purchasing judgment. Every justice of the peace or constable of the same precinct who purchases, or is interested in the purchase of any judgment or part thereof, on the docket of, or on any docket in possession of, such justice, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Cal. Pen. C., § 97. Justice or constable not to be interested in action as attorney, agent, etc., penalty, § 8015.

7961. (4111.) Officer convicted to forfeit office. Every officer convicted of any crime defined in this chapter, in addition to the punishment prescribed, forfeits his office.

Cal. Pen. C., § 98*. Disqualification by crime, §§ 7906, 8237.

CHAPTER 7.

RESCUES.

7964. (4112.) Rescuing prisoners. Every person who rescues, or attempts to rescue, or aids another person in rescuing or attempting to rescue, any prisoner from any prison or jail, or from any officer or person having him in lawful custody, is punishable as follows:

1. If such prisoner was in custody upon a conviction of felony punishable with death, by imprisonment in the state prison not less than one nor more than five years;

2. If such prisoner was in custody upon a conviction of any other felony, by imprisonment in the state prison not less than six months nor more than one year;

3. If such prisoner was in custody upon a charge of felony, by fine not exceeding $500, or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding one year, or by both;

4. If such prisoner was in custody otherwise than upon a charge or conviction of felony, by fine in any sum less than $300, or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding six months, or by both.

Cal. Pen. C., § 101*. Retaking after rescue, §§ 8732, 8733.

7965. (4113.) Taking or destroying goods in possession of officer. Every person who wilfully injures or destroys, or takes or attempts to take, or assists any person in taking or attempting to take, from the custody of any officer or person any personal property which such officer or person has in charge under any process of law, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Cal. Pen. C., § 102.
Resisting or interferiing with officer, §§ 7927, 8002.

CHAPTER 8.

ESCAPES AND DELIVERY OF DRUGS, ETC.

7967. (4114.) Penalty for escape. Information. Trial. Every prisoner confined in the state prison for a term less than for life, and every such prisoner who, while in custody of the warden, deputy warden, or any keeper or guard in any convict camp, or any other place where he may be at work or housed or kept while outside the state prison walls, who escapes, or attempts to escape from such prison, convict camp, or place of work, house, or from any keeper or guard, or from any other place where such prisoner may be kept, shall, upon conviction, be imprisoned in the state prison for a term of not more than ten years, said second term of imprisonment to commence from the time he would otherwise have been discharged from said prison. All information filed under this section shall be filed in the county in which the alleged offense is committed, and the case shall be tried in such county unless a change of venue is allowed as provided by law. Am'd '15, p. 2.

Mont. Pen. C., §§ 220, 221*. Jurisdiction of escape, §§ 8657, 8658.
Retaking after escape, §§ 8732, 8733.

7968. (4115.) Escaping from other than state prison. Every prisoner confined in any prison other than the state prison, who escapes or attempts to escape therefrom, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Mont. Pen. C., § 222.

7969. (4116.) Officer aiding or permitting escape. Every keeper of a prison, sheriff, deputy sheriff, constable, or jailer, or person employed as a guard, who fraudulently contrives, procures, aids, connives at, or voluntarily permits, the escape of any prisoner in custody, is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison not exceeding three years, and by fine not exceeding $1000.

Cal. Pen. C., § 108*.

7970. (4117.) Assisting prisoner to escape. Every person who wilfully assists any prisoner confined in any prison, or in the lawful custody of any officer or person, to escape, or in an attempt to escape, from such prison or custody, is punishable as provided in the next preceding section.

Cal. Pen. C., § 109.

7971. (4118.) Furnishing implements, etc., to aid in escape. Every person who carries or sends into a prison anything to aid a prisoner in making his escape, with intent thereby to facilitate the escape of any prisoner confined therein, is punishable as provided in § 7969.

Cal. Pen. C., § 110.

7972. Delivery of poisons, weapons, etc., prohibited. Penalty. Every person who, without the consent of the warden of the Utah state prison, shall deliver to any convict or person within the state prison, or who shall give or deliver to any convict when outside of the state prison, or leave, deposit, or place at or near any camp or other place where convicts are kept at work on public roads or otherwise, or who shall leave within the Utah state prison grounds, or within any cell or cell-house or buildings of any kind belonging to said state prison, or who shall leave, deposit, or place at or near any such buildings, grounds, or premises any explosives or explosive substance of any kind or character, or any poison of any kind, or any opium, or any preparation of like character, or any preparation commonly called "dope," or any substitute therefor, or any deleterious drug of any kind, or any knife, dirk, or any weapon of any kind or character whatsoever, including firearms of all kinds, or any implement, instrument, or substance which can be used by any convict, or any person in said state prison, as a means of injuring the warden, his deputy, or any guard, convict, or any person whomsoever, or which can be used as a means of escape from said state prison by any such convict or person, shall be deemed guilty of a felony, and upon conviction shall be punished by imprisonment in the Utah state prison at hard labor for a term of not more than ten years. '15, p. 18.

7973. Copies of section to be posted. The warden of the Utah state prison shall cause to be posted and maintained in conspicuous places outside and within the buildings and upon the grounds of said state prison, and at and near any camp where convicts are at work, copies of § 7972. '15, p. 18.

CHAPTER 9.

PUBLIC RECORDS.

7976. (4119.) Larceny or mutilation of records, etc., by a custodian. Every officer having the custody of any record, map, or book, or of any paper or proceedings of any court, filed or deposited in any public office, or placed in his hands for any purpose, who is guilty of stealing, wilfully destroying, mutilating, defacing, altering, falsifying, removing, or secreting the whole or any part of such record, map, book, paper, or proceeding, or who permits any other person so to do, is guilty of a felony.

Cal. Pen. C., § 113*.
No limitation upon prosecution for falsification of public records, § 8665.
Forgery, §§ 8270-8276.
Falsifying evidence, §§ 7991-7997.
Withholding records from successor or mutilating or destroying records, §§ 7933, 8235.

7977. (4120.) Id. By other than custodian. Every person, not an officer such as is referred to in the preceding section, who is guilty of any of the acts specified in that section, is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison not exceeding three years, or in a county jail not exceeding one year, or by a fine not exceeding $100, or by both.

Cal. Pen. C., § 114*.

7978. (4121.) Offering false or forged instrument for record. Every person who knowingly procures or offers any false or forged instrument to be filed, registered, or recorded in any public office within this state, which instrument, if genuine, might be filed, or registered, or recorded under any law of this state or of the United States, is guilty of a felony.

Cal. Pen. C., § 115.

CHAPTER 10.

PERJURY.

7980. (4122.) Perjury defined. Every person who, having taken an oath that he will testify, declare, depose, or certify truly before any competent tribunal, officer, or person, in any of the cases in which such an oath may by law be administered, wilfully and contrary to such oath, states as true any material matter which he knows to be false, is guilty of perjury.

Cal. Pen. C., § 118.
Indictment for perjury, proof, § 8848.
The testimony of a witness may always be used against him in a prosecution for perjury, § 7900.
Defined under liquor prohibition act, § 3373; fraternal insurance society act, §§ 3303.
Perjury before public utility commission, sub. 4, § 4822.
It is perjury to testify falsely before a grand jury.
People v. Greenwell, 5 U. 112; 13 P. 89.
Indictment for perjury set out and held good.
State v. Anderson 35 U. 496; 101 P. 385.
Id.
Defendant was indicted for perjury for swearing upon his voir dire that he believed polygamy to be wrong, and afterward explaining to several witnesses that he did not believe polygamy to be right because he went further and knew it to be right.
U. S. v. Brown, 6 U. 115; 21 P. 461.
The proof of falsity of any one of several matters alleged in the information charging perjury and containing several assignments of perjury supports a general verdict of guilt, though the other assignments are not sustained by the evidence.
State v. Anderson, 35 U. 496; 101 P. 385.
Information in perjury which alleged successive statements made by accused while testifying as a witness, which statements were so related to the subject matter and were so linked together in point of time as to constitute but one act, states but one offense, and is good.

Id.

Perjury and subornation of perjury are separate and distinct offenses, and one charged with subornation of perjury is not an accessory of one committing perjury.
State v. Justensen, 35 U. 105; 99 P. 457.

7981. (4123.) Term "oath" defined. The term "oath," as used in the next preceding section, includes an affirmation, and every other mode authorized by law of attesting the truth of that which is stated.

Cal. Pen. C., § 119. "Oath" defined, § 5848.

7982. (4124.) Oath of office, part not included. So much of an oath of office as relates to the future performance of official duties is not such an oath as is intended by the two preceding sections.

Cal. Pen. C., § 120.

7983. (4125.) Irregularity in administering oath no defense. It is no defense to a prosecution for perjury that the oath was administered or taken in an irregular manner.

Cal. Pen. C., § 121.

7984. (4126.) Incompetency of witness no defense. It is no defense to a prosecution for perjury that the accused was not competent to give the testimony, deposition, or certificate of which falsehood is alleged. It is sufficient that he did give such testimony or make such deposition or certificate.

Cal. Pen. C., § 122.

7985. (4127.) Witness' ignorance of materialty no defense. It is no defense to a prosecution for perjury that the accused did not know the materiality of the false statement made by him; or that it did not, in fact affect the proceeding in or for which it was made. It is sufficient that it was material and might have been used to affect such proceeding.

Cal. Pen. C., § 123. Ignorance of law no excuse, note to § 7908.

7986. (4128.) Deposition deemed complete, when. The making of a deposition or certificate is deemed to be complete, within the provisions of this chapter, from the time when it is delivered by the accused to any other person with the intent that it be uttered or published as true.

Cal. Pen. C., § 124.

7987. (4129.) Penalty for perjury. Perjury is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison not less than one nor more than ten years.

Cal. Pen. C., § 126*.

7988. (4130.) Subornation of perjury. Every person who wilfully procures another person to commit perjury is guilty of subornation of perjury, and is punishable in the same manner as he would be if personally guilty of the perjury so procured.

Cal. Pen. C., § 127.
On a trial for subornation of perjury, the record of the plea of guilty of perjury by the person alleged to have been procured to commit the perjury is inadmissible.
State v. Justensen, 35 U. 105; 99 P. 457.

CHAPTER 11.

FALSIFYING EVIDENCE.

7991. (4131.) Offering false documentary evidence. Every person who, upon any trial, proceeding, inquiry, or investigation whatever, authorized or permitted by law, offers in evidence as genuine or true, any book, paper, document, record, or other instrument in writing, knowing the same to have been forged or fraudulently altered or antedated, is guilty of a felony.

Cal. Pen. C., § 132. Mutilating or falsifying public records, §§ 7933, 7976, 8235.
Forgery, §§ 8270-8276.

7992. (4132.) Unlawfully influencing witness. Every person who practices any fraud or deceit, or knowingly makes or exhibits any false statement, representation, token, or writing, to any witness or any person about to be called as a witness upon any trial, proceeding, inquiry, or investigation whatever authorized by law, with intent to affect the testimony of such witness, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Cal. Pen. C., § 133.

7993. (4133.) Preparing false evidence. Every person guilty of preparing any false or antedated book, paper, record, instrument in writing, or other matter or thing, with intent to produce or allow it to be produced for any fraudulent or deceitful purpose, as genuine or true, upon any trial, proceeding, or inquiry whatever authorized by law, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Cal. Pen. C., § 134.

7994. (4134.) Destroying or concealing evidence. Every person who, knowing that any book, paper, instrument in writing, or other matter or thing is about to be produced in evidence upon any trial, inquiry, or investigation whatever authorized by law, wilfully destroys or conceals the same, with intent thereby to prevent it from being produced, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Cal. Pen. C., § 135.

7995. (4135.) Preventing or dissuading witness from attending. Every person who wilfully prevents or dissuades any person who is or may become a witness from attending upon any trial, proceeding, or inquiry authorized by law, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Cal. Pen. C., § 136.

7996. (4136.) Bribing witness. Every person who gives, or offers, or promises to give to any witness, or person about to be called as a witness, any bribe, upon any understanding or agreement that the testimony of such witness or person about to be called as a witness shall be thereby influenced, or who attempts by any other means fraudulently to induce any witness or person about to be called as a witness to give false or to withhold true testimony, is guilty of a felony. Am'd '05, p. 56.

Cal. Pen. C., § 137.
"Bribe" defined, § 7893.
Corruption of jurors, § 7957.
Corruption of executive officers, §§ 7923-7934.
Corruption of legislative officers, §§ 7940-7942.
Corruption of judicial officers, §§ 7954-7961.

7997. (4137.) Receiving or offering to receive bribe. Every person who is a witness, or is about to be called as such, who receives or offers to receive any bribe, upon any understanding that his testimony shall be influenced thereby or that he will absent himself from the trial or proceeding upon which his testimony is required, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Cal. Pen. C., § 138*.

CHAPTER 12.

OTHER OFFENSES AGAINST PUBLIC JUSTICE.

7998. (4138.) Officer refusing to receive or arrest criminal. Every sheriff, keeper of a jail, constable, or other peace officer who wilfully refuses to receive or arrest any person charged with a criminal offense is punishable by fine not exceeding $1000, and imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding one year.

Cal. Pen. C., § 142*.

7999. (4139.) Delay in taking arrested person before magistrate. Every public officer or other person, having arrested any person upon a criminal charge, who wilfully delays taking such person before a magistrate having jurisdiction to take his examination, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Cal. Pen. C., § 145.
Defendant to be taken before magistrate without delay, §§ 8701, 8727.

8000. (4140.) Making arrest, etc., without lawful authority. Every public officer, or person pretending to be a public officer, who, under the pretense or color of any process or other legal authority, arrests any person or detains him against his will, or seizes or levies upon any property, or dispossesses any one of any lands or tenements, without a regular process or other lawful authority therefor, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Cal. Pen. Ci., § 146.

8001. (4141.) Inhumanity to prisoner. Every officer who is guilty of wilful inhumanity or oppression toward any prisoner under his care or in his custody is punishable by fine not exceeding $1000, or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding one year.

Cal. Pen. C., § 147*.
Assault by officer, § 8003.
Inhumanity to prisoner, § 8536.
Arrested person not to be treated with unnecessary rigor, Con. art. 1, sec. 9.

8002. (4142.) Resisting or obstructing officer. Every person who wilfully resists, delays, or obstructs any public officer in the discharge or attempt to discharge any duty of his office, when no other punishment is prescribed, is punishable by fine not exceeding $1000, or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding one year, or by both.

Cal. Pen. C., § 148*.
Interfering with or resisting officer, §§ 7927, 8240.

8003. (4143.) Assaults by officer under color of authority. Every public officer who, under color of authority, without lawful necessity, assaults or beats any person, is punishable by a fine not exceeding $1000, or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding one year.

Cal. Pen. C., § 149*.
Inhumanity to prisoner, §§ 8001, 8536.

8004. (4144.) Refusing to aid officer in arrest, etc. Every male person over eighteen years of age who neglects or refuses to join the posse comitatus or power of the county, by neglecting or refusing to aid and assist in taking or arresting any person against whom there may be issued any process, or by neglecting to aid and assist in retaking any person who, after being arrested or confined, may have escaped from such arrest or imprisonment, or by neglecting or refusing to aid and assist in preventing any breach of the peace, or the commission of any criminal offense, being thereto lawfully required by any sheriff, deputy sheriff, constable, judge, or justice of the peace, or other officer concerned in the administration of justice, is punishable by a fine of not exceeding $100.

Cal. Pen. C., § 150*.
Officer may command assistance, § 8591.

8005. (4145.) Compounding or concealing crimes, etc. Every person who, having knowledge of the actual commission of a crime, takes money or property of another, or any gratuity or reward, or any engagement or promise thereof, upon any agreement or understanding to compound or conceal such crime, or to abstain from any prosecution thereof, or to withhold any evidence thereof, except in the cases provided for by law in which crimes may be compromised by leave of court, is punishable as follows:

1. By imprisonment in the state prison not exceeding five years, or in a county jail not exceeding one year, where the crime was punishable by death or imprisonment in the state prison for life;

2. By imprisonment in the state prison not exceeding three years, or in the county jail not exceeding six months, where the crime was punishable by imprisonment in the state prison for any other term than for life;

3. By imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding six months, or by fine not exceeding $100, where the crime was a misdemeanor.

Cal. Pen. C., § 153*.
Certain offenses may be compromised with leave of court, §§ 9339-9341.
When person concealing a crime an accessory, § 7920.

8006. (4146.) Debtor fraudulently selling or concealing property. Every debtor who fraudulently removes his property or effects out of this state, or fraudulently sells, conveys, assigns, or conceals his property with intent to defraud, hinder, or delay his creditors of their rights, claims, or demands, is punishable by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding one year, or by fine not exceeding $1000, or by both.

Cal. Pen. C., § 154*.
Fraudulently conveying lands or chattels, § 8343.
Conveyances to hinder and delay creditors, § 5821, and note.
Sales of personalty without delivery, § 5135, and note.
Arrest of absconding debtor, §§ 6630-6664.

8007. (4147.) Defendant fraudulently selling or concealing property. Every person against whom any action is pending, or against whom a judgment has been rendered, for the recovery of any personal property, who fraudulently conceals, sells, or disposes of such property, with intent to hinder, delay, or defraud the person bringing such action or receiving such judgment, or with such intent removes such property beyond the limits of the county in which it may be at the time of the commencement of such action or the rendering of such judgment, is punishable as provided in the next preceding section.

Cal. Pen. C., § 155. See notes to § 8006.

8008. (4148.) Common barratry. Common barratry is the practice of exciting groundless judicial proceedings, and is punishable by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding six months, or by a fine in any sum less than $300, or by both.

Cal. Pen. C., § 158*. Champerty, etc., notes to §§ 331, 346.

8009. (4149.) Id. Proof required. No person can be convicted of common barratry except upon proof that he has excited suits or proceedings at law in at least three instances, and with a corrupt and malicious intent to vex and annoy.

Cal. Pen. C., § 159.

8010. (4150.) Grand juror acting after allowance of challenge. Every grand juror who, with knowledge that a challenge interposed against him by a defendant has been allowed, is present at, or takes part in, or attempts to take part in, the consideration of the charge against the defendant who interposed the challenge, or the deliberations of the grand jury thereon, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Cal. Pen. C., § 164. Punishable as contempt, § 8795.

8011. (4151.) Disclosure of indictment for felony. Every grand juror, prosecuting attorney, clerk, judge, or other officer who, except by issuing or in executing a warrant of arrest, wilfully discloses the fact of a presentment of an indictment having been made for a felony, until the defendant has been arrested, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Cal. Pen. C., § 168. Similar section, § 8854.

8012. (4152.) Grand juror disclosing proceedings. Every grand juror who, except when required by a court, wilfully discloses any evidence adduced before the grand jury, or anything which he himself or any other member of the grand jury may have said, or in what manner he or any other grand juror may have voted on a matter before them, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Cal. Pen. C., § 169. Grand juror not to be questioned for vote, etc., § 8816.
Disclosure on order of court, § 8815.

8013. (4153.) Omission of duty by public officer. Every wilful omission to perform any duty enjoined by law upon any public officer, or person holding any public trust or employment, where no special provision shall have been made for the punishment of such delinquency, is punishable as a misdemeanor.

Cal. Pen. C., § 176.

8014. (4154.) Prohibited acts are misdemeanors. Where the performance of any act is prohibited by any statute, and no penalty for the violation of such statute is imposed by any statute, the doing of such act is a misdemeanor.

Cal. Pen. C., § 177*.

8015. (4155.) Justice or constable not to be interested in suit. No justice of the peace or constable shall be interested in any suit or action in any court of any justice of the peace , as attorney, agent, collector, or otherwise, except when a plaintiff or defendant in action. Every justice of the peace or constable who shall violate any of the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and in addition to the penalty prescribed shall forfeit his office.

Justice or constable not to purchase judgment, § 7960. Judicial officers not to practice law, §§ 1796, 7438.

CHAPTER 13.

CONSPIRACY.

8018. (4156.) Criminal conspiracy. If two or more persons conspire:

1. To commit a crime; or,

2. Falsely and maliciously to indict or convict another for any crime, or to procure another to be charged or arrested for any crime; or,

3. Falsely to move or maintain any suit, action, or proceeding; or,

4. To cheat and defraud any person of any property by any means which are in themselves criminal, or by any means which, if executed, would amount to a cheat, or to obtaining money or property by false pretenses; or,

5. To commit any act injurious to the public health, to public morals, or to trade or commerce, or for the perversion of obstruction of justice or the due administration of the laws,—they are punishable by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding one year, or by fine not exceeding $1000.

Cal. Pen. C., § 182*.

Conspiracy, pleading and proof, § 8985.

Conspiracy to rob, resulting in murder, note to § 7919.

Larceny by two or more, note to § 8285.

An indictment charging defendant with entering into a conspiracy with one F. to keep a house of ill fame, and that between the 20th day of June, 1885, and the 1st day of October, 1885, the said F., in pursuance of such conspiracy, did keep such house; held, to sufficiently charge a public offense.

People v. Hampton, 4 U. 258; 9 P. 508.

Conspiracy of officers to entrap defendants into committing crime not shown.

People v. Morton, 4 U. 407; 11 P. 512.

Where two or more were associated together in the commission of an offense, the act of one was the act of each of the conspirators, and each may be convicted therefor.

State v. Morgan, 22 U. 162; 61 P. 527.

State v. King, 24 U. 482; 68 P. 418.

People v. Coughlin, 13 U. 58; 44 P. 94.

People v. Olsen, 6 U. 284; 22 P. 163.

Where defendant's answer alleged that a justice of the supreme court had conspired with plaintiff and used the weight of his personal as well as judicial influence to induce plaintiff to bring the suit, that it was not bona fide, and was brought solely for the purpose of gratifying the malicious instincts of the justice, the language charged a conspiracy rendering the justice, if true, liable to removal from office.

In re Snow, 27 U. 265; 75 P. 741.

Declaration made by one co-conspirator out of the presence of another, after the conspiracy has been carried out, is inadmissible against the other conspirator.

State v. Barretta, 47 U. 479; 155 P. 343.

Evidence on trial for larceny by taking money through fixed card game, held to authorize finding that there was conspiracy among the persons concerned in the taking.

State v. Donaldson, 35 U. 96; 99 P. 447.

To constitute a criminal conspiracy it is not necessary that the acts agreed to be done would be criminal, if done, if they would amount to a civil wrong; as inducing the purchase of worthless mining stock by false representation as to the value.

State v. Blake, 36 U. 605; 105 P. 910.

While a conspiracy cannot be established by the acts or declaration of only one of the alleged co-conspirators, so as to render such act or declaration admissible against accused, yet a conspiracy may be established by circumstantial evidence, and in such case the acts of one co-conspirator are admissible against the other.

State v. Inlow, 44 U. 485; 141 P. 530.

In determining whether accused and his wife were co-conspirators, their relationship may be considered.

Id.

In a trial of two parties for murder, the admission of evidence of a statement made by a third party already convicted for the same offense was not error where the evidence showed the statement was made within the hearing of both defendants.

State v. Romeo, 42 U. 46; 128 P. 530.

On the trial of two conspirators, evidence admissible as to one could not be excluded, though inadmissible as to the other.

State v. Gillies, 40 U. 541; 123 P. 93.

Where two or more persons conspire together to committ a crime, and either accomplish or abandon their designs, no one of them can, by subsequent act or declaration, affect the co-conspirators.

State v. Justensen, 35 U. 105; 99 P. 457.

8019. (4157.) Conspiracies not enumerated not punishable. No conspiracies other than those enumerated in the next preceding section are punishable criminally.

Cal. Pen. C., § 183.

8020. (4158.) Overt act necessary to conspiracy. Exceptions. No agreement, except to commit a felony upon the person of another, or to commit arson or burglary, amounts to a conspiracy, unless some act, besides such agreement, be done to affect the object thereof by more of the parties to such agreement.

Cal. Pen. C., § 184.

CHAPTER 14.

HOMICIDE.

8023. (4159.) Murder defined. Murder is the unlawful killing of a human being with malice aforethought.

Cal. Pen. C., § 187.

Attempts to kill, §§ 8045, 8046.

Under §§ 4928, 4938, C. L. 1888, it was sufficient to allege facts presenting a clear case of unlawful killing without employing the word "unlawful."

Davis v. People, 151 U. S. 262; see People v. Davis, 8 U. 412; 32 P. 670.

Judge may instruct as to statutory definition of murder.

People v. Thiede, 11 U. 241; 39 P. 837; affirmed 159 U. S. 510.

Where the defendant and another were associated together to rob, and one of the persons attempting arrest was killed, the killing, by whomsoever done, was the act of each and both of the conspirators, and defendant is chargeable therewith whether he or his companion fired the fatal shot.

State v. Morgan, 22 U. 162; 61 P. 527.

State v. King, 24 U. 482; 68 P. 418.

People v. Coughlin, 13 U. 58; 44 P. 94.

Where the evidence showed that the killing occurred during an attempt to perpetrate a robbery, though the defendant claimed the gun was accidentally discharged, held on instruction that the defendant could be convicted even though the information did not set out the killing under such circumstances was not erroneous.

State v. Thorn, 39 U. 208; 117 P. 58.

8024. (4160.) Malice may be express or implied. Such malice may be express or implied. It is express when there is manifested a deliberate intention unlawfully to take the life of a fellow creature. It is implied when no considerable provocation appears, or when the circumstances attending the killing show an abandoned and malignant heart.

Cal. Pen. C., § 188.

"Malice" defined, § 7893.

Union of act and intent, §§ 7908, 7909, and notes.

Malice defined. "Malice," as used in § 8023, is malice as defined in sub. 4 of § 7893.

People v. Callaghan, 4 U. 49; 6 P. 49.

On a trial for murder, the homicide of itself does not imply malice, still the circumstances attending the homicide are to be considered by the jury in ascertaining whether there was malice.

People v. Tracy, 1 U. 343.

An indictment alleging that defendant, with premeditated malice, assaulted deceased with a revolver, and beat her upon the head, inflicting a wound from which she instantly died, is not rendered insufficient by alleging in terms an attempt to kill, when murder as defined by the statute may consist in an unlawful killing without any considerable provocation or under circumstances showing an abandoned or malignant heart.

Davis v. People, 151 U. S. 262; same case, 8 U. 412; 32 P. 670.

It is not necessary for a court in its charge to use all the words in the description of a statutory definition, and the use of the words "without just cause or excuse" was sufficient without adding the words "or when no considerable provocation appeared."

State v. McDonald, 14 U. 173; 46 P. 872.

See People v. Fairbanks, 7 U. 3; 24 P. 538.

State v. Williamson, 22 U. 248; 62 P. 1022.

A person who uses a deadly weapon in an unlawful manner must be taken to intend the natural and usual consequences resulting from such use.

People v. Davis, 8 U. 412; 32 P. 670; affirmed 161 U. S. 262.

People v. Halliday, 5 U. 467; 17 P. 118.

Statement by defendant made five days before the killing, when informed that officers were after him, "Let them come; I am ready for them," was admissible as showing malice against all who might attempt to arrest him.

People v. Coughlin, 13 U. 58; 44 P. 94.

Evidence of an attempt to kill the sheriff while attempting to arrest the defendant four days before the killing for which he was on trial was admissible as showing a deliberate intention to kill any person attempting his arrest.

Id.

To convict of murder it is not essential that intent and malice be shown by direct evidence; they may be presumed from the fact of a killing where no attendant and explanatory facts and circumstances are shown, and where the attendant facts and circumstances are shown, they may be inferred.

State v. Dewey, 41 U. 538; 127 P. 275.

8025. (4161.) Degrees of murder. Every murder perpetrated by poison, lying in wait, or any other kind of wilful, deliberate, malicious, and premeditated killing; or committed in the perpetration of, or attempt to perpetrate, any arson, rape, burglary, or robbery; or pereptrated from a premeditated design unlawfully and maliciously to effect the death of any human being other than him who is killed; or perpetrated by any act greatly dangerous to the lives of others and evidencing a depraved mind, regardless of human life,—is murder in the first degree. Any other homicide committed under such circumstances as would have constituted murder at common law is murder in the second degree.

Cal. Pen. C., § 189*.

No limitation on prosecution for murder, § 8665.

In capital case, right of trial by jury inviolate, Con. art. 1, sec. 10.

Burden of proof on trial for murder, § 8986.

Local jurisdiction of public offenses, §§ 8645-8660.

When doubt as to degree, conviction to be of lowest, § 9979, and note.

Information or indictment shall charge but one offense, § 8834, and notes.

"Premeditated" means thought of beforehand, for any length of time, however short; it is not inconsistent with premeditation that no appreciable space of time should lapse between the intent to kill and the act of killing.

People v. Callaghan, 4 U. 49; 6 P. 49.

State v. Morgan, 22 U. 162; 61 P. 527.

It is improper to charge a jury that premeditated means thought of beforehand, for any length of time, however short, and there need be no appreciable space of time between the intention to kill and the act, the instruction practically not giving any time for premeditation.

State v. Anselmo, 46 U. 137; 148 P. 1071.

INDICTMENT; INFORMATION:

Murder in the first and second degree are not two distinct offenses, but a common law indictment is insufficient to charge the offense of murder in the first degree; all the elements entering into murder in the first degree should be alleged; but an indictment in charging the offense need not follow the language of the statute if other equivalent words are used; therefore an indictment charging that the offense of murder was committed "feloniously, deliberately, wilfully, and of malice aforethought," omitting the word of the statute "premeditated," charges murder in the first degree.

Brannigan v. People, 3 U. 488; 24 P. 767.

Indictment charging a wilful, felonious assault, beating, bruising, and wounding with a revolver, all of deliberately premeditated malice, then and there inflicting a mortal wound, of which the deceased instantly died, charges murder in the first degree.

People v. Davis, 8 U. 412; 32 P. 670; 151 U. S. 262.

People v. Halliday, 5 U. 467; 17 P. 118.

Any kind of wilful, deliberate, malicious, and premeditated killing is sufficient to constitute murder in the first degree, and ...e wilful, deliberate, and malicious intent may be formed the instant the criminal act is done.

State v. Morgan, 22 U. 162; 61 P. 527.

An information charging a killing by shooting to have been done unlawfully, wilfully, intentionally, feloniously, and with malice aforethought; held, sufficient to sustain a verdict of murder in the first degree, and the accused was entitled to a jury of twelve under Con. art. 1, sec. 10.

State v. Campbell, 24 U. 103; 66 P. 771.

An information charging a killing by shooting to have been done feloniously, unlawfully, wilfully, and with deliberate, premeditated malice aforethought, sufficiently charges murder in the first dgree.

State v. Haworth, 24 U. 398; 68 P. 155.

An information for murder alleging that the accused wilfully, deliberately, maliciously, and with premeditated malice killed and murdered decedent, is sufficient to charge murder in the first degree, and evidence tending to show that the murder was committed in the perpetration of robbery was properly admissible.

State v. King, 24 U. 482; 68 P. 418.

It is not error for the court to instruct that, though the killing was done in the perpetration, or in the attempt to perpetrate, a robbery, though the information did not show allegations of the killing under such circumstances, and the accused could, under the allegations contained in the information, be convicted of first degree murder.

State v. Sirmay, 40 U. 525; 122 P. 748.

State v. Thorn, 39 U. 208; 117 P. 58.

INSTRUCTIONS AS TO DECREE:

Instructions generally, note to § 8975.

In murder case, failure of court to charge jury as to the different degrees of the offense, and as to manslaughter, and to state punishment for various degrees of homicide, is error. The fact that counsel has read the statutes on these subjects to the jury does not cure omission.

Brannigan v. People, 3 U. 488; 24 P. 767.

A charge defining murder in the first degree as murder, cannot be taken advantage of by defendant because he is not prejudiced thereby.

People v. Halliday, 5 U. 467; 17 P. 118.

In murder case court should not instruct jury that facts do not bring case within any of higher degrees of homicide unless the testimony reducing the degree is clear, positive, and uncontradicted.

People v. Callaghan, 4 U. 49; 6 P. 49.

Where it is for the jury to say whether the facts make a case of murder in the first degree or murder in the second degree, it is error for the court to say, in its charge, that the offense, by whomsoever committed, was that of murder in the first degree.

Hopt v. People, 110 U. S. 574; same case, 4 U. 247; 9 P. 407.

Where the court fully instructed as to the different degrees of homicide, and a verdict was returned for first degree without any recommendation, the defendant was not prejudiced by the court's failure to instruct as to the punishment appropriate to each degree of homicide.

State v. Dye, 44 U. 190; 138 P. 1193.

A charge defining first degree murder in the language of the statute is not erroneous.

State v. Morris, 40 U. 431; 122 P. 380.

Where the information is framed on the theory of a premeditated murder committed during an attempt to commit robbery, and where the evidence was to this effect, the refusal to instruct on second degree murder was not error.

State v. Mewhinney, 43 U. 135; 134 P. 632.

8026. (4162.) Penalty for murder. Every person guilty of murder in the first degree shall suffer death, or, upon the recommendation of the jury, may be imprisoned at hard labor in the state prison for life, in the discretion of the court. Every person guilty of murder in the second degree shall be imprisoned at hard labor in the state prison for a term which shall be not less than ten years and which may be for life.

Cal. Pen. C., § 190*.

On conviction for murder in the first degree; held, that the court erred in not directing the attention of the jury to the provision of the Penal Code as to their right to recommend imprisonment for life, at hard labor in the penitentiary, in place of the punishment of death. By such action of the court the prisoner was deprived of a substantial right.

Calton v. People, 130 U. S. 83; same case, 5 U. 451; 16 P. 902.

Where the court advised the jury that the making or withholding of a recommendation was entirely within their discretion and gave them no intimation or direction as to what should control or influence in reaching a conclusion, the imposition of the death penalty, upon a verdict of murder in the first degree without recommendation, was proper.

State v. Morris, 44 U. 31; 122 P. 380.

The power to make or withhold a recommendation is conferred on the jury, and the court cannot instruct on matters to be considered in making such determination.

State v. Thorne, 39 U. 208; 117 P. 58.

State v. Thorne, 41 U. 414; 126 P. 286.

8027. (4163.) Manslaughter defined. Voluntary and involuntary. Manslaughter is the unlawful killing of a human being without malice. It is of two kinds:

1. Voluntary, upon a sudden quarrel or heat of passion;

2. Involuntary, in the commission of an unlawful act not amounting to a felony, or in the commission of a lawful act which might produce death, in an unlawful manner, or without due caution and circumspection.

Cal. Pen. C., § 192.

Burden of proof, § 8986.

An information charging an accused with having operated a motor vehicle upon a public street at a higher rate of speed than was safe, and so as to endanger life, without having it under immediate control, and driving it past and in close proximity to a street car when the same was standing still for the purpose of letting off passengers, and while operating the vehicle in such unlawful manner, without due caution and circumspection, is insufficient to charge involuntary manslaughter.

State v. Gesas, 49 U. 181; 162 P. 366.

8028. (4164.) Penalty for manslaughter. Voluntary manslaughter is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison for a term not less than one nor more than ten years. Involuntary manslaughter is punishable by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding one year.

Cal. Pen. C., § 193*.

8029. (4165.) Death must result within a year and a day. To make the killing either murder or manslaughter, it is requisite that the party die within a year and a day after the stroke received or the cause of death administered; in the computation of which the whole of the day on which the act was done shall be reckoned the first.

Cal. Pen. C., § 194.

8030. (4166.) Excusable homicide. Homicide is excusable in either of the following cases:

1. When committed by accident and misfortune, in doing any lawful act by lawful means, with usual and ordinary caution and without any unlawful intent;

2. When committed by accident and misfortune, in the heat of passion, upon any sudden and sufficient provocation, or upon a sudden combat, when no undue advantage is taken nor any dangerous weapon used, and when the killing is not done in a cruel or unusual manner.

Cal. Pen. C., § 195*.
Burden of proving homicide excusable, § 8986.
A mere assault, not directed at life or chastity, etc., cannot excuse a homicide committed with a deadly weapon.
People v. Olsen, 4 U. 413; 11 P. 577.
Words of reproach or abuse, or irritating and provoking gestures do not render homicide excusable hereunder when committed with a deadly weapon.
Id.

8031. (4167.) Justifiable homicide by officers. Homicide is justifiable when committed by public officers and those acting by their command in their aid and assistance in either of the following cases:

1. In obedience to any judgment of a competent court;

2. When necessarily committed in overcoming actual resistance to the execution of some legal process, or in the discharge of any other legal duty;

3. When necessarily committed in retaking felons who have been rescued or who have escaped, or when necessarily committed in arresting persons charged with felony and who are fleeing from justice or resisting such arrest.

Cal. Pen. C., § 196.
Escape, rescue, retaking, §§ 7964, 7971, 8732, 8733.
Burden of proving homicide justifiable, § 8986.
Lawful resistance, § 8560.

8032. (4168.) Id. By other persons. Homicide is also justifiable when committed by any person in either of the following cases:

1. When resisting any attempt to murder any person, or to commit a felony, or to do some great bodily injury upon any person;

2. When committed in defense of habitation, property, or person, against one who manifestly intends or endeavors, by violence or surprise, to commit a felony; or against one who manifestly intends and endeavors, in a violent, riotous, or tumultuous manner, to enter the habitation of another for the purpose of offering violence to any person therein;

3. When committed in the lawful defense of such person, or of a wife, husband, parent, child, master, mistress, or servant of such person, when there is a reasonable ground to apprehend a design to commit a felony or to do some great bodily injury, and there is imminent danger of such design being accomplished; but such person, or the person in whose behalf the defense was made, if he was the assailant or engaged in mortal combat, must really and in good faith have endeavored to decline any further struggle before the homicide was committed;

4. When committed in a sudden heat of passion caused by the attempt of the deceased to commit a rape upon or to defile the wife, daughter, sister, mother, or other female relative or dependent of the accused, or when the defilement has actually been committed;

5. When necessarily committed in attempting, by lawful ways and means, to apprehend any person for any felony committed, or in lawfully suppressing any riot, or in lawfully keeping and preserving the peace.

Cal. Pen. C., § 197*.
Lawful resistance, §§ 8560-8562.
Excusable homicide, § 8030.
Defense of homicide in attempting to arrest; evidence.
Brannigan v. People, 3 U. 488; 24 P. 767.
Where the defendant seeks the deceased with the intention of having a difficulty with him, he is required to decline in good faith any further difficulty before killing the deceased, and if he does wrongfully bring on the difficulty, and does not in good faith decline any further difficulty, he cannot justify himself on the grounds of self defense.
People v. Hite, 8 U. 461; 33 P. 254.
One making an unprovoked assault upon another for the purpose of committing a felony must, before he can claim the right of self defense, in good faith withdraw from the contest and notify his adversary of such abandonment so as to remove all just apprehension that such withdrawal may be only a ruse.
State v. Shockley, 29 U. 25; 80 P. 865.

The instruction given held to correctly state the law of self defense.
People v. Callaghan, 4 U. 49; 6 P. 49.
Sub. 4 does not justify homicide committed after twenty-four hours' deliberation over the fact of a wife's adultery, defendant having gone a considerable distance to seek deceased.
People v. Halliday, 5 U. 467; 17 P. 118.
This statute only applies to a killing done in a sudden heat of passion, and does not shield one who, because of mere rumors or appearances of improper relations with wife, has sought out another and deliberately taken his life.
State v. Botha, 27 U. 289; 75 P. 731.
One who, after remonstrating with another who was in the act of committing a robbery, went away and armed himself and returned and approached the robber with a gun in his hand just as the robbery was being completed, and the person robbed forced to leave at the point of the gun, was justified in so doing, and the robber thereupon shot and killed him, was not entitled to claim self defense, regardless of who fired the first shot.
State v. White, 40 U. 342; 121 P. 579.
While the person need not actually have been armed to justify shooting in self defense, the shooting must not have been without apparent cause, and a mere showing that the person shot made a motion towards his hip pocket will not necessarily excuse his assailant from criminal liability for his act.
State v. Nolitz, 40 U. 443; 122 P. 86.

8033. (4169.) Id. Bare fear does not justify killing. A bare fear of the commission of any of the offenses mentioned in subs. 2 and 3 of the preceding section, to prevent which homicide may be lawfully committed, is not sufficient to justify it. But the circumstances must be sufficient to excite the fears of a reasonable person, and the party killing must have acted wholly under the influence of such fears.

Cal. Pen. C., § 198.

8034. (4170.) Id. Justifiable or excusable homicide not punishable. When the homicide appears to be justifiable or excusable, the person indicted must, upon his trial, be fully acquitted and discharged.

Cal. Pen. C., § 199.
Burden of proving homicide justifiable or excusable, § 8986.

CHAPTER 15.

MAYHEM.

8037. (4171.) Mayhem defined. Every person who unlawfully and maliciously deprives a human being of a member of his body, or disables or renders it useless, or who cuts out or disables the tongue, puts out an eye, slits the nose, ear, or lip, is guilty of mayhem.

Cal. Pen. C., § 203*. Assault with intent to commit, § 8047.

8038. (4172.) Id. Penalty. Mayhem is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison not exceeding ten years.

Cal. Pen. C., § 204.

CHAPTER 16.

KIDNAPING.

8040. (4173.) Kidnaping defined. Penalty. Every person who wilfully:

1. Seizes, confines, inveigles, or kidnaps another with intent to cause him, without authority of law, to be secretly confined or imprisoned within this state, or to be sent out of the state, or in any way held to service or kept or detained against his will; or,

2. Leads, takes, entices away, or detains a child under the age of twelve years with intent to keep or conceal it from its parent, guardian, or other person having lawful care or control thereof, or to extort or obtain money or reward for the return or disposition of the child, or with intent to steal any article about or on the person of the child; or,

3. Abducts, entices, or by force or fraud unlawfully takes or carries away another, at or from a place without the state, or procures or advises, aids or abets such an abduction, enticing, taking, or conveying away, and afterwards sends, brings, has, or keeps such person, or causes him to be kept or secreted within this state,—is guilty of kidnaping, and is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison not less than one nor more than ten years.

Mont. Pen. C., § 380.
Jurisdiction of indictment for kidnaping, § 8655.

8041. (4174.) Consent of person kidnaped no defense. Upon a trial for a violation of the offense mentioned in the next preceding section, the consent of the person kidnaped or confined is not a defense, unless it appear that such person was above the age of twelve years, and that the consent was not extorted by threats or duress.

Mont. Pen. C., § 382.

CHAPTER 17.

ROBBERY.

8043. (4175.) Robbery defined. Robbery is the felonious taking of personal property in the possession of another, from his person, or immediate presence, and against his will, accomplished by means of force or fear.

Cal. Pen. C., § 211.
Assault with intent to commit, § 8047.
Indictment when property taken to another county, § 8656.
Jurisdiction when committed without state and property brought within, § 8656.
Information or indictment may also contain a count for larceny, § 8834.

Indictment charging a felonious taking by defendant by means of force, violence and fear, from the immediate presence of and against the will of a party is sufficient to charge robbery, where no objection was taken until after verdict.
People v. Kern, 8 U. 268; 30 P. 988.

Burglary and robbery in same house at nearly the same time.
Id.

Where a man under bona fide belief that the property is his own obtains it by menaces, there is trespass but no robbery.
People v. Hughes, 11 U. 100; 39 P. 492.

The defendant may testify that at the time of the alleged robbery he thought the money was his own, and that he had a right to take it.
Id.

The provisions of this section and § 8715, subs. 2, 3, are sufficient warrant for the members of a sheriff's posse, although private citizens and non-residents of the county, to follow and capture the persons who committed the crime, using sufficient force to accomplish the capture.
State v. Morgan, 22 U. 162; 61 P. 527.
People v. Coughlin, 13 U. 58; 44 P. 94.

Conspiracy to rob, resulting in murder; all conspirators equally liable.
State v. King, 24 U. 482; 68 P. 418.
State v. Morgan, 22 U. 162; 61 P. 527.

An indictment for robbery failing to state that the property taken from the person of the prosecutor was taken "by means of force or fear" was insufficient.
State v. Davis, 28 U. 10; 76 P. 705.

An indictment not alleging the value of the money taken "in current U. S. silver coin" was sufficient, and an amendment inserting these terms was not prejudicial to defendant.
State v. LaChall, 28 U. 80; 77 P. 3.

The indictment having charged that the robbery was "from the person and immediate presence of one R., and by means of force and fear, and by threatening to shoot and kill him," and that defendants feloniously took a certain sum from the possession of said R., was sufficient, and the insertion of the words "and against his will" was unnecessary and not prejudicial.
Id.

Evidence held insufficient to connect accused with a bank robbery.
State v. Bridwell, 48 U. 97; 158 P. 710.

8044. (4176.) Penalty. Robbery is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison for a term not less than five years, and which may be for life.

Am'd '11, p. 9.

Cal. Pen. C., § 213*

CHAPTER 18.

ATTEMPTS TO KILL.

8045. (4177.) Administering poison. Every person who, with intent to kill, administers, or causes or procures to be administered to another, any poison or other noxious or destructive substance or liquid, but by which death is not caused, is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison not less than five nor more than twenty years.

Cal. Pen. C., § 216*.
Homicide, §§ 8023-8034.
Mingling poison with food or drink, penalty, § 8171.
"Attempt" defined, penalty, §§ 8527, 8528.

8046. (4178.) Assault with intent to murder. Every person who assaults another with intent to commit murder is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison not less than one nor more than twenty years.

Cal. Pen. C., § 217*.
Felonious assaults, §§ 8047-8048.
Assault with caustic chemical, § 8069.
Assault with deadly weapon, § 8070.
Where defendant shot at L. intending to kill him, but accidentally hit H. instead, he cannot be convicted of assault with intent to murder H.
People v. Robinson, 6 U. 101; 21 P. 403.

Indictment held to charge assault only.
People v. Chalmers, 5 U. 201; 14 P. 131.
An allegation in an indictment that an assault was unlawful, and that it was done with intent to murder, excludes the existence of "just cause" or "excuse" or "considerable provocation," and renders the use of such words in the indictment unnecessary.
State v. McDonald, 14 U. 173; 46 P. 872.

CHAPTER 19.

FELONIOUS ASSAULTS.

8047. (4179.) Assault with intent to commit rape, etc. Punishment. Every person who assaults another with intent to commit rape, the infamous crime against nature, or mayhem is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison not less than one nor more than ten years. Am'd '11, p. 9.

Cal. Pen. C., § 220*.
Assault with intent to commit murder, § 8046.
Assault defined, § 8065.
Assault with deadly weapon, § 8070.
Assault by convicts, §§ 8051, 8052.
Assault with intent to commit rape; intent; violence; resistence; consent; reasonable doubt.
State v. McCune, 16 U. 170; 51 P. 818.

8048. (4180.) Assault with intent to commit other felony. Exceptions. Every person who is guilty of an assault with intent to commit any felony, except an assault with intent to commit murder, and except assaults enumerated in the next preceding section, is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison not exceeding five years, or in a county jail not exceeding one year, or by fine not exceeding $300, or by both.

Cal. Pen. C., § 221*.
Attempts, penalties, §§ 8527, 8528.
Assault with caustice chemical, § 8041.

8049. Indecent assault defined. Every person who shall assault a child, whether male or female, under the age of fourteen years, and shall take indecent liberties with or on the person of such child, without committing, intending, or attempting to commit the crime of rape, or the crime of assault with intent to commit rape, upon such child, with or without the child's consent, shall be deemed guilty of an indecent assault, and on conviction thereof shall be guilty of a felony. '09, p. 25.

An indictment in the language of the statute is sufficient; and the terms "indecent assault" and "indecent liberties" are convertible and self defining.
State v. McMillan, 46 U. 19; 145 P. 833.
State v. Therkelsen, 48 U. 629; 161 P. 59.

8050. (4181.) Administering narcotics to further felony. Every person guilty of administering to another chloroform, ether, laudanum, or other narcotic, anæsthetic, or intoxicating agent, with intent thereby to enable or assist himself or any other person to commit a felony, is guilty of felony.

Cal. Pen. C., § 222*.
Administering poison, etc., § 8045.
Administering narcotics, etc., to accomplish rape, § 8105.

8051. To punish certain convicts for committing assaults. Any convict sentenced to imprisonment in the state prison for a term less than life imprisonment, who commits an assault upon any other convict, or upon the warden, or any guard, or other person whomsoever, with a deadly weapon or instrument, or by means of force, or by administering any poisonous or other substance which is likely to produce great bodily harm or injury, shall be deemed guilty of a felony, and, upon conviction thereof, be punished by imprisonment in the state prison for not less than three nor more than twenty years. '09, p. 5.

8052. Punishment of life convicts for committing assaults. Every convict undergoing a life sentence in the state prison of the state of Utah, who, with malice aforethought, commits an assault upon any other convict, or upon the warden, or any guard, or upon any other person whomsoever, with a deadly weapon, or instrument of any kind, or by means of force, or by administering any poisonous or deleterious substance, which will likely produce great bodily injury, shall, upon conviction, be punishable with death. '09, p. 8.

CHAPTER 20.

DUELS AND CHALLENGES.

8055. (4182.) Duel defined. A duel is any combat with deadly weapons fought between two or more persons, by previous agreement or upon a previous quarrel.

Cal. Pen. C., § 225.
Leaving state to engage in duel, jurisdiction, §§ 8646, 8647.

8056. (4183.) Murder, when death ensues. Every person guilty of fighting any duel, from which death ensues within a year and a day, is guilty of murder in the first degree.

Cal. Pen. C., § 226*.

8057. (4184.) Dueling punishable though no death or wound ensues. Every person guilty of fighting any duel, although no death or wound ensues, is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison not exceeding one year.

Cal. Pen. C., § 227*, 228*.

8058. (4185.) Sending or accepting challenge, etc. Seconds. Every person guilty of sending or accepting a challenge to fight a duel, or who acts as a second therein, or who posts or publishes another for not fighting a duel, or for not sending or accepting a challenge to fight a duel, or who uses any reproachful or contemptuous language, verbal, written, or printed, to or concerning another for not sending or accepting a challenge to fight a duel, or with intent to provoke a duel, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Cal. Pen. C., §§ 227*, 228*, 229*.

8059. (4186.) Officer failing to prevent a duel. Every judge, justice of the peace, sheriff, or other officer bound to preserve the public peace, who has knowledge of the intention on the part of any person to fight a duel, and who does not exert his official authority to arrest the party and prevent the duel, is punishable by a fine not exceeding $500.

Cal. Pen. C., § 230*.

8060. (4187.) Testimony must be given though incriminating. No person shall be excused from testifying or answering any question upon any investigation or trial for a violation of any of the provisions of this chapter, upon the ground that his testimony might tend to convict him of a crime. But no evidence given upon any examination of a person so testifying shall be received against him in any criminal prosecution or proceeding.

Cal. Pen. C., § 232*.

CHAPTER 21.

FALSE IMPRISONMENT.

8062. (4188.) False imprisonment defined. False imprisonment is the unlawful violation of the personal liberty of another.

Cal. Pen. C., § 236.
False imprisonment is the unlawful arrest and detention of the person of another, with or without a warrant or other process, or an unlawful restraint on his person, or control over the freedom of his movements, by force or threats.
Smith v. Clark, 37 U. 116; 106 P. 653.

8063. (4189.) Id. Penalty. False imprisonment is punishable by a fine not exceeding $3000, or by imprisonment in the county jail not more than one year, or by both.

Cal. Pen. C., § 237*.

CHAPTER 22.

ASSAULT AND BATTERY.

8065. (4190.) Assault defined. An assault is an unlawful attempt, coupled with a present ability, to commit a violent injury on the person of another.

Cal. Pen. C., § 240.
Felonious assaults, §§ 8046-8050.

Attempt must be unlawful.
Ganaway v. S. L. Dram. Ass'n, 17 U. 37; 53 P. 830.

8066. (4191.) Id. Penalty. An assault is punishable by fine in any sum less than $300, or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding three months.

Cal. Pen. C., § 314.

8067. (4192.) Battery defined. A battery is any wilful and unlawful use of force or violence upon the person of another.

Cal. Pen. C., § 242.
Indictment alleging unlawful and felonious assault and shooting with a pistol charges a battery.
People v. Chalmers, 5 U. 201; 14 P. 131.

8068. (4193.) Id. Penalty. A battery is punishable by a fine in any sum less than $300, or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding six months, or by both.

Cal. Pen. C., § 243*.

8069. (4194.) Assault with caustic chemical. Every person who wilfully and maliciously places or throws, or causes to be placed or thrown upon the person of another, any vitriol, corrosive acid, or caustic chemical of any nature with intent to injure the flesh or disfigure the body of such person, is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison not less than one nor more than ten years.

Cal. Pen. C., § 244*.
Felonious assaults, §§ 8046-8050.

8070. (4195.) Assault with deadly weapon. Every person who, with intent to do bodily harm, and without just cause or excuse, or when no considerable provocation appears, or when the circumstances show an abandoned or malignant heart, commits an assault upon the person of another, with a deadly weapon, instrument, or other thing, is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison not exceeding five years, or by fine not exceeding $1000, or by both.

Cal. Pen. C., § 245.
Having deadly weapon with intent to assault another, § 8265.
Exhibiting deadly weapon in angry and threatening manner, § 8229.
Assault with intent to murder, § 8046.
Assaults by convicts, §§ 8051, 8052.
Felonious assaults, §§ 8047-8050.
Indictment must allege act to have been committed "without just cause or excuse."
People v. Fairbanks, 7 U. 3; 24 P. 538.
People v. Parman, 7 U. 7; 24 P. 539.
See State v. McDonald, 14 U. 173; 46 P. 872, and State v. Williamson, 22 U. 248; 62 P. 1022.
The intent to do bodily harm is the very essence of the offense.
State v. Potello, 42 U. 396; 132 P. 14.
Where the defendant contends that the complaining witness, a man of known bad reputation, who had been making threats against his life, assaulted him and was about to draw a revolver when defendant shot, an instruction that great bodily harm meant something more than injury ordinarily resulting from battle inflicted by hand or fist, without a weapon, is improper, having no basis in the evidence.
State v. Kakarikos, 45 U. 470; 146 P. 750.
This offense is not necessarily included in the crime of assault with intent to murder.
State v. Jukanovich, 45 U. 372; 146 P. 289.

CHAPTER 23.

CRIMINAL LIBEL AND SLANDER.

8072. (4196.) Libel defined. A libel is a malicious defamation, expressed either by printing, or by signs, or pictures, or the like, tending to blacken the memory of one who is dead, or to impeach the honesty, integrity, virtue, or reputation, or publish the natural defects, of one who is alive, and thereby to expose him to public hatred, contempt, or ridicule.

Cal. Pen. C., § 248*.
Imputing unchastity to females, §§ 8082, 8083.
Civil actions for libel or slander, §§ 3692, 6604, 6605.
Sending threatening letter, § 8325.
Conveying false reports to newspapers, § 8084.
A candidate for a public office is amenable to public and private criticism made in good faith and based upon a reasonable and practical cause, and when he becomes such a candidate he is regarded in law as putting his character in issue in respect to his qualifications and fitness for the office for which he is a candidate.

People v. Glasmann, 12 U. 238; 42 P. 956.
A conviction for criminal libel is sustained by evidence that defendant circulated a letter capable of the construction that the person libeled was guilty of maladministration of the affairs of the corporation and that, in order to conceal the same, resort was had to fraudulent practices.
People v. Ritchie, 12 U. 180; 42 P. 209.

8073. (4197.) Id. Penalty. Every person who wilfully, and with a malicious intent to injure another, publishes or procures to be published any libel is punishable by fine not exceeding $1000, or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding one year.

Cal. Pen. C., § 249*.

8074. (4198.) Libel presumed malicious. An injurious publication is presumed to have been malicious if no justifiable motive for making it is shown.

Cal. Pen. C., § 250.

8075. (4199.) Truth may be given in evidence. Jury to determine law and fact. In all criminal prosecutions for libel, the truth may be given in evidence to the jury, and, if it shall appear to the jury that the matter charged as libelous is true, and was published with good motives and for justifiable ends, the party shall be acquitted. The jury shall have the right to determine the law and the fact.

Cal. Pen. C., § 251.
Constitutional provisions, Con. art. 1, sec. 15.
Libel; retraction, damages, § 3692.
Truth and mitigating circumstances, §§ 6605, 6606.
In a prosecution for criminal libel of a candidate for public office, the evidence upon which the publication was made is admissible to rebut malice.
People v. Glasmann, 12 U. 238; 42 P. 956.
In a prosecution for criminal libel, during the proceedings of the trial the court said: "Now, then, the defendants in this case are charged with publishing certain matter with respect to a citizen of this town which is libel. It is libelous by its terms and charges not only crimes but charges matters which are intended to make a man infamous and ridiculous in the eyes of the community;" held, error.
Id.
When a grand jury is investigating as to whether a libel has been published, the facts as to whether the publication was true or false and the motive for its publication are "material matters" hereunder.
People v. Greenwell, 5 U. 112; 13 P. 89.
Where a publication referred to the record in a criminal case to support certain defamatory statements, the testimony given in said case is admissible in a prosecution for libel to show that the publication was a fair report of said testimony.
People v. Glasmann, 12 U. 238; 42 P. 956.

8076. (4200.) Libel need not be seen or read. To sustain a charge of publishing a libel, it is not needful that the words or things complained of should have been read or seen by another. It is enough that the accused knowingly parted with the immediate custody of the libel under circumstances which exposed it to be read or seen by any other person than himself.

Cal. Pen. C., § 252.
Indictment for libel, sufficiency, § 8846.

8077. (4201.) Liability of authors, editors, and proprietors. Each author, editor, and proprietor of any newspaper, or serial publication, is chargeable with the publication of any words contained in any part of such book or number of such newspaper or serial.

Cal. Pen. C., § 253*.

8078. (4202.) Privilege of fair report of public proceedings. No reporter, editor, or proprietor of any newspaper is liable to any prosecution for a fair and true report of any judicial, legislative, or other public official proceedings, or of any statement, speech, argument, or debate in course of the same, except upon proof of malice in making such report, which shall not be implied from the mere fact of publication.

Cal. Pen. C., § 254.
Libel published in good faith, retraction, damages, § 3692.
Libel and slander, how pleaded in civil action, §§ 6604, 6605.

8079. (4203.) Id. Privilege does not extend to libelous matter. Libelous remarks or comments connected with matter privileged by the next preceding section receive no privilege by reason of their being so connected.

Cal. Pen. C., § 255.

8080. (4204.) Privileged communication to interested person. A communication made to a person interested in the communication, by one who was also interested or who stood in such relation to the former as to afford a reasonable ground for supposing his motive innocent, is not presumed to be malicious, and is a privileged communication.

Cal. Pen. C., § 256.
Where defendants, husband and wife, unrelated to plaintiff, wrote to plaintiff's wife in such terms as to imply that he had illicit relations with another woman, the communications were not conditionally privileged, having been made merely on the assumption that plaintiff's wife would regard the act as friendly.

Burton v. Mattson, 50 U. —; 166 P. 979.

8081. (4205.) Threat to publish libel. Blackmail. Every person who threatens another to publish a libel concerning him, or any parent, husband, wife, or child of such person, or member of his family, and every person who offers to prevent the publication of any libel upon another person, with intent to extort any money or other valuable consideration from any person, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Cal. Pen. C., § 257. Extortion by means of threats, §§ 8320, 8325.

8082. (4206.) Slander. Imputing unchastity to females. If any person shall orally or otherwise, falsely and maliciously, or falsely and wantonly impute to any female, married or unmarried, a want of chastity, he shall be deemed guilty of criminal slander, and upon conviction shall be punished by a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $1000, or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding one year, or by both.

Texas Pen. C., (1895) art. 750*. Criminal libel and slander, §§ 8072-8075.

8083. (4207.) Id. Evidence. Imputation need not be false. Justification. In any prosecution under the next preceding section, it shall not be necessary for the state to show that such imputation was false, but the defendant may in justification show the truth of the imputation, and the general reputation for chastity of the female alleged to have been slandered may be inquired into.

8084. Conveying false news to newspaper. Any person who wilfully states, conveys, delivers, or transmits, by any means whatsoever, to the manager, editor, publisher, or reporter of any newspaper, magazine, periodical, or serial, for publication therein, any false or libelous statement concerning any person, persons, companies, or corporations, and thereby secures actual publication of the same, is hereby declared guilty of a misdemeanor.

CHAPTER 24.

POLYGAMY, ETC.

8086. (4208.) Polygamy defined. Exceptions. Every person who has a husband or wife living, who hereafter marries another, whether married or single, and any man who hereafter simultaneously, or on the same day, marries more than one woman, is guilty of polygamy, and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $500, and by imprisonment in the state prison for a term of not more than five years; but this section shall not extend to any person by reason of former marriage whose husband or wife by such marriage shall have been absent for five successive years, and is not known to such person to be living, and is believed by such person to be dead, nor to any person by reason of any former marriage which shall have been dissolved by a valid decree of a competent court, nor to any person by reason of any former marriage which shall have been pronounced void by a valid decree of a competent court, on the ground of nullity of the marriage contract.

Polygamous or plural marriages to be forever prohibited, Enabling Act, sec. 3.

Polygamous or plural marriages forever prohibited, Con. art. 3, sec. 1.

This chapter declared in force by the constitution, Con. art. 24, sec. 2.

Counts for polygamy and unlawful cohabitation may be joined, § 8091.

When wife competent witness against her husband charged with polygamy, note to § 9278.

The constitutional guaranty of religious freedom was not intended to prohibit legislation in respect to polygamy. Religious belief cannot be accepted as a justification of an overt act made criminal by the law of the land.

Reynolds v. U. S., 98 U. S. 145; same case, 1 U. 319.

Miles v. U. S., 103 U. S. 304; same case, 2 U. 19.

On an indictment for bigamy, the first marriage may be proved by the admissions of the prisoner.

Miles v. U. S., 103 U. S. 304; same case, 2 U. 19.

Or by facts from which it may be inferred.

Miles v. U. S., 103 U. S. 304; same case, 2 U. 19.

See also U. S. v. Simpson, 4 U. 227; 7 P. 257.

In a prosecution for polygamy, the polygamous marriage may be proven by the confessions of the defendant and by circumstances tending to corroborate the confessions.

U. S. v. Basset, 5 U. 131; 13 P. 237.

See U. S. v. Miles, 2 U. 19; 103 U. S. 304, U. S. v. Harris, 5 U. 621; 19 P. 197.

It was not error in the court in its charge to the jury to call their attention to the evil consequences of bigamy or to remind them of the duty they had to perform.

Reynolds v. U. S., 98 U. S. 145; same case, 1 U. 319.

8087. (4209.) Unlawful cohabitation. If any male person hereafter cohabits with more than one woman, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $300, or by imprisonment in the county jail for not more than six months, or by both said punishments, in the discretion of the court.

As to competency of wife as witness, § 9278.

As to testimony of accomplice, § 8992.

As to joinder of offenses in same indictment, § 8091, 8834.

The offense of cohabiting with more than one woman is complete when a man to all outward appearances lives and associates with two or more women as wives in the habit and repute of marriage, and sexual intercourse is not a necessary ingredient of this offense.

U. S. v. Snow, 4 U. 280; 9 P. 501; see 118 U. S. 346.

A man is guilty of unlawful cohabitation even though he deserts the lawful wife and cohabits exclusively with the plural wife.

U. S. v. Clark, 6 U. 120; 21 P. 463.

A continuing offense such as that of cohabiting with more than one woman, in the sense of sec. 3 of the Edmunds-Tucker act, can be committed but once for the purposes of the indictment or prosecution prior to the time the prosecution is instituted. (Overruling U. S. v. Snow, 4 U. 295; 9 P. 686.)

In re Lorenzo Snow, 120 U. S. 274.

Ex parte Neilsen, 131 U. S. 176.

But where offense was committed after indictment, there can be a subsequent prosecution.

U. S. v. Eldredge, 5 U. 161; 13 P. 673.

If a man has a legal wife living, the presumption of fact is that he cohabits with her, but this is a disputable presumption, which may be rebutted. But if a man having a legal wife living makes habitual visits to her at her house, the presumption of law is that he makes the visits as a husband, and he should not be permitted to say that the visits were made by him in any character other than as a husband.

U. S. v. Smith, 5 U. 273; 15 P. 1.

U. S. v. Peay, 5 U. 263; 14 P. 342.

If a relationship is formed, which in its inception is unlawful, it is not presumed to cease on the enacting of a law providing for its punishment; otherwise, if the relationship be lawful when formed.

U. S. v. Musser, 4 U. 153; 7 P. 389.

While it is not necessary to show actual sexual relations, yet a defendant cannot be convicted upon proof of affirmative acts upon his part from which the jury might infer guilt.

State v. Graham, 23 U. 278; 64 P. 557.

The deliberate confession of defendant that he committed the offense, which confession was proven by two witnesses, is sufficient to sustain a conviction.

U. S. v. Schow, 6 U. 381; 24 P. 30.

An indictment for unlawful cohabitation need not state that the defendant is a male person.

U. S. v. Cannon, 4 U. 122; 7 P. 369; affirmed 116 U. S. 55.

U. S. v. Eldredge, 5 U 161; 13 P. 673.

Sexual intercourse is not a necessary element in the crime of unlawful cohabitation.

State v. Springer, 40 U. 471; 121 P. 976.

8088. (4210.) Adultery; punishment. Whoever commits adultery shall be punished by imprisonment in the state prison not exceeding three years; and when the act is comitted between a married woman and a man who is unmarried, both parties to such act shall be deemed guilty of adultery; and when such act is committed between a married man and a woman who is unmarried, the man shall be deemed guilty of adultery.

Counts for adultery and fornication may be joined, § 8092.

A conviction for unlawful cohabitation bars a prosecution for adultery under the act of March 3, 1887, when the latter offense is a part of a continuous cohabitation with the women named in the first indictment, though the time of its commission is laid after the period during which the cohabitation was alleged to have continued.

Ex parte Neilsen, 131 U. S. 176.

In re Barton, 6 U. 264; 21 P. 998.

In re Maughan, 6 U. 167; 21 P. 1088.

But see U. S. v. West, 7 U. 437; 27 P. 84.

Sec. 3, chap. 7, laws of 1892, respecting polygamy, adultery, and other offenses, is not in conflict with any act of congress, was a valid law of the territory, and was continued in force under the state government. Under § 3 of said act, adultery became a crime against laws of the state.

State v. Norman, 16 U. 457; 52 P. 986.

Acts of congress defining "adultery," and prescribing punishment therefor in the territories, as a crime against the United States, did not prevent the territorial legislature from punishing by statute the same act as an offense against the territorial government and its laws.

Id.

In a prosecution for adultery, evidence of subsequent acts of association not amounting to crime are admissible as tending to show the probability of guilt in the crime charged, and this rule is not in violation of the rule announced in State v. Hilberg, 22 U. 27; 61 P. 215.

State v. Snowden, 23 U. 318; 65 P. 479.

Complaint for adultery held sufficient.

State v. Thompson, 31 U. 228; 87 P. 709.

Evidence held sufficient to sustain a conviction.

State v. Kimball, 45 U. 443; 146 P. 313.

In a prosecution for adultery, testimony that the accused was the first man with whom the woman involved had intercourse was irrelevant and prejudicial.

State v. Hansen, 40 U. 418; 122 P. 375.

The testimony of the woman identifying her child in court is competent to corroborate her testimony that she gave birth to a child.

State v. Cluff, 48 U. 102; 158 P. 701.

A confession of accused is not alone sufficient to prove the corpus delicti, and mere admission of intimacy with the prosecutrix, not amounting to an acknowledgment of guilt of the act relied on for conviction or any other specific act within the period of limitation, was not a confession of guilt.

State v. Sheffield, 45 U. 426; 146 P. 306.

The corpus delicti was sufficiently shown by proof that the prosecutrix, an unmarried woman, gave birth to a child, and accused's admission that he had sexual intercourse with her.
State v. Greene, 38 U. 389; 115 P. 181.

MARRIAGE MAY BE PROVED BY:

A deed signed and acknowledged by defendant and the woman as husband and wife.
State v. Greene, 33 U. 497; 94 P. 987.

A certified copy of a marriage record showing accused's marriage with a woman other than one he is charged to have had intercourse with, where the party is identified as the one named in the certificate.
State v. Springer, 40 U. 471; 121 P. 976.

Evidence held sufficient to support a jury finding that accused was married.
State v. Park, 44 U. 360; 140 P. 768.

8089. (4211.) Incest. If any person related to another person within and not including the fourth degree of consanguinity, computed according to the rules of the civil law, shall marry or cohabit with, or have sexual intercourse with, such other so related person, knowing her or him to be within said degree of relationship, the person so offending shall be deemed guilty of incest, and, on conviction thereof, shall be punished by imprisonment in the state rison not less than three years and not more than fifteen years.

A father having intercourse with his daughter may be convicted of incest, or of attempt to commit incest, though the daughter did not consent and the intercourse was had by force.
State v. Winslow, 30 U. 403; 85 P. 433.

The words "within and not including the fourth degree of consanguinity," etc., as used in this section, relating to the crime of incest, are descriptive of the class of persons who are prohibited from marrying, cohabiting, or having sexual intercourse with each other, and are intended to group together all of the different degrees of relationship to which the statute applies, and thereby to avoid the necessity of specifically enumerating them.
State v. James, 32 U. 152; 89 P. 460.

8090. (4212.) Fornication. If an unmarried man or woman commits fornication, each of them shall be punished by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding six months, or by a fine not exceeding $100.

Carnal knowledge of female under eighteen, § 8109.

Sec. 5, chap. 7, Laws 1892, respecting polygamy, adultery, fornication, and other offenses, is not in conflict with any act of congress, was a valid law of the territory, and was continued in force under the state government. Under the provisions of said section, fornication became a crime against the laws of the state.
State v. Pierpont, 16 U. 476; 52 P. 992.

Evidence sufficient to identify the woman named in the information, though under the wrong christian name, as the one with whom the act was committed.
State v. Chipman, 40 U. 549; 123 P. 89.

8091. (4213.) Counts for polygamy and unlawful cohabitation may be joined. Counts for any or all offenses named in §§ 8086, 8087, may be joined in the same information or indictment.

8092. (4214.) Counts for adultery and for fornication may be joined. Counts for any or all offenses named in §§ 8088, 8090, may be joined in the same information or indictment.

8093. (4215.) Acquittal or conviction under U. S. law a bar. In all cases where there has been a prosecution, acquittal, or conviction under any of the laws of the United States, for any of the crimes defined in this chapter, such prosecution, acquittal, or conviction shall operate as a bar for any prosecution for the same offenses under the provisions of this chapter.

8094. (4216.) Jurisdiction in district court. In all prosecutions under this chapter, the district court shall have exclusive original jurisdiction.

CHAPTER 25.

PANDERING.

('11, p. 178.)

8095. Pandering prohibited. Penalty. Any person who shall procure a female inmate for a house of prostitution; or who shall induce, persuade, encourage, inveigle, or entice a female person to become a prostitute; or who by promises, threats, violence, or by any device or scheme, shall cause, induce, persuade, encourage, take, place, harbor, inveigle, or entice a female person to become an inmate of a house of prostitution or assignation place, or any place where prostitution is practiced, encouraged, allowed; or any person who shall, by promises, threats, violence, or by any device or scheme, cause, induce, persuade, encourage, inveigle, or entice an inmate of a house of prostitution or place of assignation to remain therein as such inmate; or any person who by promises, threats, violence, or by any device or scheme, or by fraud or artifice, or by duress of person or goods, or by abuse of any position of confidence or authority, or having legal charge, shall take, place, harbor, inveigle, entice, persuade, encourage, or procure any female person to enter any place within this state in which prostitution is practiced, encouraged, or allowed, for the purpose of prostitution or, not being her husband, for the purpose of sexual intercourse, or to inveigle, entice, persuade, encourage, or procure any female person to come into this state or to leave this state for the purpose of prostitution or, not being her husband, for the purpose of sexual intercourse; or who takes or detains a female with the intent to compel her by force, threats, menace, or duress to marry him or to marry any other person or to be defiled; or upon the pretense of marriage takes or detains a female person for the purpose of sexual intercourse; or who shall receive or give, or agree to receive or give, any money or thing of value for procuring or attempting to procure any female person to become a prostitute or to come into this state or leave this state for the purpose of prostitution or, not being her husband, for the purpose of sexual intercourse, shall be guilty of pandering, and upon conviction shall be punished by imprisonment in the state prison for a term of not more than twenty years.

An information in the language of the statutes is insufficient, it must set forth the facts constituting the threats, promises, etc.
State v. Topham, 41 U. 39; 123 P. 888.
The fact that accused told an inmate that, if the inmate's mother were willing to let her stay there, accused would fit the inmate out with nice clothes and send her to another house of prostitution run by accused, did not show a promise within the statute.
Id.

8096. Id. Any person who, by force, fraud, intimidation, or threats, places or leaves, or procures any other person or persons to place or leave, his wife in a house of prostitution or to lead a life of prostitution shall be guilty of a felony, and upon conviction thereof shall be sentenced to the state prison for not more than ten years.

8097. Definition. Penalty. Any person who shall knowingly accept, receive, levy, or appropriate any money or other valuable thing, without consideration, from the proceeds of the earnings of any woman engaged in prostitution, shall be deemed guilty of a felony, and on conviction thereof shall be punished by imprisonment for a period of not less than two nor more than twenty years. Any such acceptance, receipt, levy, or appropriation of such money or valuable thing shall, upon any proceeding or trial for violation of this section, be presumptive evidence of lack of consideration; any person who shall procure a female person for the purpose of prostitution for another male person by either personal solicitation, messenger, telephone call, or other means, or who shall send or direct any female person to the sleeping apartment or lodging room of any male person, or to any other place for the purpose of prostitution, whether for hire or for a commission of the proceeds of the prostitution, or for any other consideration of value, from either the man for whom such female was procured, sent, or directed, or from the female so procured, sent, or directed, whether collected at the time or not; every messenger, every hotel or rooming house proprietor, clerk, or other employe of such place, and every chauffeur or hack driver, or any other person, who by any means sends, directs, takes, or conveys any female person to any room or other place for the purpose of prostitution with or for another male person, or any person who keeps a list of female persons to call or to be called for the purpose of prostitution, shall be deemed guilty of a felony, and on conviction thereof shall be punished by imprisonment for not less than two nor more than ten years. Any cafe, restaurant, or coffee house proprietor, manager, waiter, or other employe having full or temporary charge of such place, or any proprietor, manager, or other person having charge of any road house or assignation house, or any other person who knowingly permits prostitutes to solicit patronage for prostitution in their place of business, or any place over which such person has control, or aids or abets such prostitutes in so soliciting or securing patronage for prostitution in any place or in any manner whatsoever; and every hotel, rooming house, lodging house, or boarding house keeper, proprietor, or manager, or other person having charge of such place, or any other person who knowingly rents any of the rooms of such a place, or any other room or rooms of any place for the purpose of prostitution, or knowingly permits any of such rooms or any other room or rooms over which they have control to be used for the purpose of prostitution, shall be deemed guilty of a felony, and on conviction thereof shall be punished by imprisonment for a period of not less than one nor more than five years; provided, that, in the case of the procuring of a female for the purpose of prostitution, such female being under the age of twenty-one years at the time of procurement, and such female being procured, sent, or directed by any of the persons or by any of the methods in this section described, or by any other person or method for the purpose of prostitution, and whether or not such female be of chaste character at the time of such procurement, or, if the procurer be the lawful husband of such female, such person shall on conviction be punished by imprisonment for a period of not less than five nor more than twenty years. Am'd '15, p. 4.

8098. Detention of female in house of prostitution. Penalty. Any person or persons who attempts to detain any female person in a disorderly house or house of prostitution because of any debt or debts she has contracted, or is said to have contracted, while living in said house, shall be guilty of a felony, and upon conviction thereof shall be sentenced to the state prison for not more than ten years.

8099. Obtaining transportation for prostitutes prohibited. Penalty. Any person who shall knowingly transport or cause to be transported, or aid or assist in obtaining transportation for, by any means of conveyance into, through, or across this state, any female person for the purpose of prostitution, or with intent and purpose to induce, entice, or compel such female person to become a prostitute, shall be deemed guilty of a felony, and upon conviction thereof be sentenced to the state prison for not more than ten years. Any person who may commit the crime in this section mentioned may be prosecuted, indicted, tried, and convicted in any county or city in or through which he shall so transport or attempt to transport any female person, as aforesaid.

8100. Where acts are committed, no defense. It shall not be a defense to a prosecution for any of the acts prohibited in the foregoing sections that any parts of such act or acts shall have been committed outside this state, and the offense shall in such case be deemed and alleged to have been committed and the offender tried and punished in any county in which the prostitution was intended to be practiced or in which the offense was consummated, or any overt act in furtherance of the offense shall have been committed.

Jurisdiction in case of kidnaping, § 8655.

8101. Witnesses. Any such female person referred to in the foregoing sections shall be a competent witness in any prosecution under this chapter to testify for or against the accused as to any transaction or as to any conversation with the accused or by him with another person or persons in her presence, notwithstanding her having married the accused before or after the violation of any of the provisions of this chapter, whether called as a witness during the existence of the marriage or after its dissolution.

Husband and wife incompetent witnesses, generally, § 9278.

CHAPTER 26.

RAPE, ETC.

8105. (4217.) Rape defined. Rape is an act of sexual intercourse accomplished with a female, not the wife of the perpetrator, under either of the following circumstances:

1. When the female is under the age of thirteen years;

2. Where she is incapable, through lunacy or any other unsoundness of mind, whether temporary or permanent, of giving legal consent;

3. Where she resists, but her resistence is overcome by force or violence;

4. Where she is prevented from resisting by threats of immediate and great bodily harm, accompanied by apparent power of execution, or by any intoxicating, narcotic, or anæsthetic substance administered by or with the privity of the accused;

5. When she is at the time unconscious of the nature of the act, and this is known to the accused;

6. Where she submits under the belief that the person committing the act is her husband, and this belief is induced by any artifice, pretense, or concealment practiced by the accused, with intent to induce such belief.

Cal. Pen. C., § 261*. Cal. Sup. (1889) § 261, p. 259.

Assault with intent to commit, § 8047, and note.

Administering narcotics, etc., with intent to commit felony, § 8050.

Carnal knowledge of female under eighteen, § 8109.

Rape and assault to commit rape defined.

State v. McCune, 16 U. 170; 51 P. 818.

A charge of rape includes the lesser offense of assault with intent to commit rape.

State v. Blythe, 20 U. 378; 58 P. 1108.

In a prosecution for rape, it is not necessary to show in the information that the person ravished was not the wife of defendant.

State v. Williamson, 22 U. 248; 62 P. 1022.

In the absence of threats, no act of defendant constitutes an assault, if consented to by the woman, provided she had the capacity to consent.

State v. McCune, 16 U. 170; 51 P. 818.

No more resistance in any case is required by law than the condition of the woman will permit her to make.

State v. McCune, 16 U. 170; 51 P. 818.

State v. Halford, 17 U. 475; 54 P. 819.

A motion in arrest of judgment, where information charged that accused unlawfully, forcibly, feloniously, and against the will and without the consent of the prosecutrix, ravished her, but did not allege resistance overcome by fear or violence, was properly overruled.

State v. Delvecchio, 25 U. 18; 69 P. 58.

In prosecution for rape, prosecutrix may testify that she made complaint, to whom, when and where, but not to particulars thereof.

State v. Neel, 21 U. 151; 60 P. 510.

State v. Halford, 17 U. 475; 54 P. 819.

When the complaint of the prosecutrix is part of the res gestae, the particulars thereof are admissible in evidence on the part of the state.

State v. Imlay, 22 U. 156; 61 P. 557.

State v. Neel, 21 U. 156; 60 P. 510.

State v. Halford, 17 U. 475; 54 P. 819.

Circumstances affecting credibility of prosecutrix.

State v. Halford, 17 U. 475; 54 P. 819.

8106. (4218.) When physical ability of boy must be proved. No conviction for rape can be had against one who was under the age of fourteen years at the time of the act alleged, unless his physical ability to accomplish penetration is proved as an independent fact, and beyond a reasonable doubt.

Cal. Pen. C., § 262.

8107. (4219.) Any penetration is sufficient. The essential guilt of rape consists in the outrage to the person and feelings of the female. Any sexual penetration, however slight, is sufficient to complete the crime.

Cal. Pen. C., § 263.

8108. (4220.) Penalty for rape. Rape is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison not less than five years.

Cal. Pen. C., § 264.

8109. (4221.) Carnal knowledge of female under eighteen. Any person who shall carnally and unlawfully know any female over the age of thirteen years and under the age of eighteen years shall be guilty of a felony.

Fornication, § 8090.

Sexual intercourse constitutes the offense named in this section, even if prosecutrix consented to the act.

State v. Hilberg, 22 U. 27; 61 P. 215.

In prosecutions under this section, great care should be exercised in eliciting the truth from the witness, so that innocent parties may not be punished.

Id.

In a prosecution under this section, where but a single offense is charged, and on the trial, six different offenses are proven, four of them prior to the offense charged, and the prosecution fails to elect no which offense to stand, the law makes the election and chooses the first offense of which evidence is offered to secure a conviction, and the prosecution could not prove any other act of the kind as a substantial offense upon which a conviction could be had.

State v. Hilberg, 22 U. 27; 61 P. 215.

The provisions of this section make the male participant the only guilty party, the female, although consenting, is not liable to indictment for the offense charged; she is therefore not an accomplice, and her evidence does not, under § 8992, need corroboration.

Id.

State v. Hoben, 36 U. 186; 102 P. 1000.

State v. Brazes, 47 U. 474; 155 P. 334.

State v. Carter, 52 U. —; 173 P. 459.

Evidence tending to show a want of chastity in the prosecutrix is inadmissible.

State v. Williamson, 22 U. 248; 62 P. 1022.

State v. Hilberg, 22 U. 27; 61 P. 215.

State v. Burns, 168 P. 955.

Admissions of defendant as to paternity of child of prosecutrix admissible in a prosecution hereunder.

State v. Neel, 23 U. 541; 65 P. 494.

The child of prosecutrix may be brought into court to corroborate her testimony, but not to show a resemblance to defendant.

Id.

Evidence of improper familiarity between defendant and prosecutrix, before the commission of the alleged criminal act, but not thereafter, is admissible on behalf of the state in a prosecution hereunder.

State v. Neel, 23 U. 541; 65 P. 494.

State v. Hilberg, 22 U. 27; 61 P. 215.

The offense being one that only a male person could commit, the information need not specify the sex of defendant.

State v. Williamson, 22 U. 248; 62 P. 1022.

Information hereunder following the language of the statute is sufficient, and need not allege that the person with whom the offense was committed was not the wife of defendant.

Id.

Under the provisions of this section and § 8527, providing that any act done with intent to commit a crime but failing to effect its commission is an attempt to commit a crime, an information charging that accused did attempt to have sexual intercourse with a female under the age of consent sufficiently charges a public offense as against an attack made after verdict.

State v. Evans, 27 U. 12; 73 P. 1047.

In a prosecution for rape on a child of ten, evidence of prosecutrix, that after the assault had been completed defendant stated that there were other female children that had come to his house with whom he had committed the same offense, was inadmissible.

State v. Williams, 36 U. 273; 103 P. 250.

Where prosecutrix for a rape delays making complaint for three years, the jury should be instructed that they might consider this delay.

Id.

In an indictment alleging that the defendand "did lay hold upon the person of said , and threw her to the ground," etc., is not improper as embodying unnecessary allegations tending to prejudice the jury.

State v. Benson, 46 U. 74; 148 P. 445.

A skirt, worn and torn at the time of the assault, and worn afterwards and washed, is admissible to show the extent of the tear as bearing on the violence.

Id.

8110. (4223.) Id. Of female under eighteen. Every person who takes away any female under the age of eighteen years from her father, mother, guardian, or other person having the legal charge of her person, with or without their consent, for the purpose of prostitution, is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison not exceeding five years, or by a fine not exceeding $1000, or by both.

Cal. Pen. C., § 267*.

CHAPTER 27.

ABANDONMENT OR WILFUL NEGLECT OF WIFE OR MINOR CHILDREN.

('11, p. 149.)

8112. (4224.) Wilful neglect. Penalty. Disposition of fines. Any person who shall, without just cause, desert or wilfully neglect or refuse to provide for the support and maintenance of his wife in destitute or necessitous circumstances, or any person who shall, without just excuse, desert or wilfully neglect or refuse to provide for the support and maintenance of his or her minor child or children under the age of sixteen years, in destitute or necessitous circumstances, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and proceeded against by indictment or information, and on conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $500 or by imprisonment in the county jail at hard labor for not more than six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment, and should a fine be imposed, it may be directed by the court to be paid in whole or in part into the county treasury, to be used for the support of the dependents involved as hereinafter provided; provided, that before the trial, with the consent of the defendant, or after conviction, instead of imposing the punishment hereinbefore or hereinafter provided, the court in its discretion, having regard to the circumstances and financial ability or earning capacity of the defendant, shall have the power to make an order which shall be subject to change by it from time to time, as circumstances may require, directing the defendant to pay a certain sum weekly, for the space of one year, into the county treasury, to be used for the support of the dependents involved, as hereinafter provided, and to release the defendant from custody on probation for the space of one year upon his entering into a recognizance with or without security in such sum as the court may direct. The condition of the recognizance shall be such that if the defendant shall make his or her personal appearance in court whenever ordered to do so within the year, and shall further comply with the terms of the order and any subsequent modifications thereof, then the recognizance shall be void, otherwise of full force and effect. If the court be satisfied by information and due proof under oath that, at any time during the year, the defendant has violated the terms of such order, it may forthwith proceed with the trial of the defendant under the original charge, or sentence him under the original conviction, or enforce the original sentence, as the case may be. In the case of forfeiture of recognizance and the enforcement thereof by execution, the sum recovered may, in the discretion of the court, be paid in whole or in part into the county treasury, to be used for the support of the dependents involved, as hereinafter provided. Am'd '13, p. 118.

Husband and wife competent witnesses, § 9278.
Adoption of deserted child, § 20.
Power of juvenile court, §§ 1814-1823.
Dependent neglected childhen, §§ 1853-1859.
Employment of children, §§ 1860-1873.
Support of poor by relatives, § 5853.

Not much evidence is required to sustain a judgment which inflicted no punishment upon an able-bodied man and only required him to pay $5 a week toward the support of a wife and child.
State v. Smith, 45 U. 381; 146 P. 286.

In the prosecution of the father for non-support of child, it is no defense that the destitution of the child was relieved by the charitable acts of third persons.
State v. Bess, 44 U. 39; 137 P. 828.

There can be no conviction unless the neglect and refusal to provide be wilful and without cause.
Id.

8113. Evidence. Proof. No other evidence shall be required to prove the marriage of such husband and wife, or that such person is the legal father or mother of such child or children, than is or shall be required to prove such fact in civil action. In all prosecutions under §§ 8112-8115, any existing provisions of law prohibiting the disclosure of confidential relations between husband and wife shall not apply, and both husband and wife shall be competent witnesses to testify to any and all relevant matters, including the fact of such marriage, and the parentage of such child or children. Proof of the desertion of such wife, child, or children, in destitute or necessitous circumstances, or of neglect to furnish such wife, child, or children necessary and proper food, clothing, or shelter, is prima facie evidence that such desertion or neglect is wilful.

Husband or wife incompetent witness against other, § 9278.
Marriage, how proven, note § 8088.

8114. Duty of county treasurer. It shall be the duty of the county treasurer, in the event money is paid into the county treasury by order of the court under the provisions of §§ 8112-8115, to have an account of such funds kept separate from that of all other funds of the county, and the amount so deposited in each case, unless otherwise ordered by the court, shall be subject to the written order of the board of county commissioners, or the written order of some clerk or employe of their office authorized by them to act in the matter, such orders to be drawn only in support of dependents involved as designated by the court.

8115. Regulation of prisoner's labor. Allowance. The board of county commissioners shall have the right to make such use of the labor of any person confined under the provisions of §§ 8112-8115 as they may see fit, under the direction of the sheriff or road commissioner, and it shall be the duty of the sheriff or road commissioner to furnish the board of county commissioners with a weekly report of all such prisoners as are in his care, by reason of the enforcement of the provisions of §§ 8112-8115, and the board of county commissioners shall have an amount equal to $1 per day for each day of actual labor performed by each of these prisoners passed to the credit of the dependents involved according to the order of the court in the case, such an amount to be supplied from any funds that may be available in the county treasurer's hands for this purpose, and the same to be paid over upon order of the board of county commissioners, or such clerk or employe of their office as may be authorized to make such order, in favor of the wife, or the person who has legal custody of the dependent children involved in the order of the court governing the case.

8116. (4225.) Desertion of child. Every parent of any child under the age of six years, and every person to whom any such child has been confided for nurture or education, who deserts such child in any place whatever, with intent wholly to abandon it, is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison not exceeding five years, or in a county jail not exceeding six months.
Cal. Pen. C., § 271*

CHAPTER 28.

ABORTION.

8118. (4226.) Administering drugs, etc. Using instruments. Every person who provides, supplies, or administers to any pregnant woman, or procures any such woman to take any medicine, drug, or substance, or uses or employs any instrument or other means whatever, with intent thereby to procure the miscarriage of such woman, unless the same is necessary to preserve her life, is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison not less than two nor more than ten years.

Cal. Pen. C., § 274*.

Conviction cannot be had on testimony of woman alone, § 8988, and note.

It is competent for a doctor giving expert testimony to give his opinion, from an examination of the body after death, and from his previous knowledge of the deceased, that it was not necessary to produce an abortion in order to save her life.

State v. McCoy, 15 U. 136; 49 P. 420.

Where an indictment for murder contains allegations concerning an abortion and miscarriage and the instruments and drugs used to produce the miscarriage, which merely show the manner of and the means used in perpetrating the offense, it is not bad for duplicity.

State v. Carrington, 15 U. 480; 50 P. 526.

The terms "procuring a miscarriage" and "procuring an abortion" mean, in common language and under the statute, substantially the same thing in characterizing the crime; but in charging the criminal act of destroying the foetus at any time before birth, it is necessary to charge the offense named in the statute which declares the act a crime.

State v. Crook, 16 U. 212; 51 P. 1091.

A contention in an action on a bail bond given by one charged with an abortion that no such crime was known to the law of the state was without merit.

State v. Davis, 27 U. 368; 75 P. 857.

Evidence on a prosecution for abortion held insufficient to show the production of the miscarriage was not necessary to save the woman's life, the burden of proof being on the state.

State v. Wells, 35 U. 400; 100 P. 681.

For the purpose of showing intent, evidence that the defendant performed operations on others who were in good health is admissible.

State v. McCurtain, 51 U. —; 172 P. 481.

The person on whom the criminal operation is performed, though at her request and at her consent, is not an accomplice.

Id.

8119. (4227.) Woman producing miscarriage on self. Penalty. Every woman who solicits of any person any medicine, drug, or substance whatever, and takes the same, or who submits to any operation, or to the use of any means whatever, with intent thereby to procure a miscarriage, unless the same is necessary to preserve her life, is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison not less than one nor more than five years.

Cal. Pen. C., § 275.

CHAPTER 29.

CRIME AGAINST NATURE.

8121. (4228.) Penalty. Every person who is guilty of the infamous crime against nature, committed with mankind or with any animal, is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison not less than three years nor more than twenty years.

Cal. Pen. C., § 286*.

Assault with intent to commit, § 8047.

Sodomy may only be committed per anum, not in the mouth.

State v. Johnson, 44 U. 18; 137 P. 632.

Evidence held sufficient to support a conviction of assault with intent to commit a crime against nature, evidence of substance found on underwear worn by the boy at the time was admissible.

State v. Morasco, 42 U. 5; 128 P. 571.

8122. (4229.) Any penetration sufficient. Any sexual penetration, however slight, is sufficient to accomplish the crime against nature.

Cal. Pen. C., § 287.

CHAPTER 30.

VIOLATING SEPULCHER.

8124. (4230.) Mutilation or removal of dead bodies. Every person who mutilates, disinters, or removes from the place of sepulture the dead body of a human being without authority of law, is guilty of felony. But the provisions of this section do not apply to any person who removes the dead body of a relative or friend for reinterment, nor to any physician who shall make a post mortem examination with the consent of relatives or friends of the deceased.

Cal. Pen. C., § 290*.

8125. (4231.) Removal of dead body for dissection, etc. Every person who removes any part of the dead body of a human being from any grave or other place where the same has been buried, or from any place where the same is deposited while awaiting burial, with intent to sell the same or to dissect it without authority of law, or from malice or wantonness, is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison not exceeding five years.

Cal. Pen C., § 291.
Unknown dead to University medical department, §§ 5558-5561.

8126. (4232.) Removal or mutilation of gravestones, etc. Every person who wilfully and maliciously defaces, breaks, destroys, or removes any tomb, monument, or gravestone erected to any deceased person, or any memento or memorial, or any ornamental plant, tree, or shrub appertaining to the place of burial of a human being, or who shall mark, deface, injure, destroy, or remove any fence, post, rail, or wall of any cemetery or graveyard, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Cal. Pen. C., § 296.

CHAPTER 31.

CRIMES AGAINST GOOD MORALS.

8128. (4233.) Barbarous and noisy amusements on Sunday. Every person who on Sunday gets up, exhibits, opens, or maintains, or aids in getting up, exhibiting, opening, or maintaining, any bull, bear, cock, or prize fight, horse race, circus, gambling house, or saloon, or any barbarous and noisy amusement; or who keeps, conducts, or exhibits any theater, melodeon, dance cellar, or other place of musical, theatrical, or operatic performance, spectacle, or representation, where any wines, liquors, or intoxicating drinks are bought, sold, used, drank, or given away; or who purchases any ticket of admission, or directly or indirectly pays any admission fee to or for the purpose of witnessing or attending any such place, amusement, spectacle, performance, or representation, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Cal. Pen. C., § 299.
Fighting or baiting animals a misdemeanor, § 8417.
Prize fighting generally, penalty, §§ 8225, 8226.

8129. (4234.) Keeping open place of business on Sunday. Every person who keeps open on Sunday any store, workshop, bar, saloon, banking house, or other place of business for the purpose of transacting business therein, is punishable by a fine not less than $5 nor more than $100.

Cal. Pen. C., § 300*.
This section, as applied to a barber's shop, is not unconstitutional as being an undue restraint of personal liberty, but is a proper exercise of the police power of the state.
State v. Sopher, 25 U. 318; 71 P. 482.
This section is not unconstitutional as special legislation, based on an arbitrary classification, by § 8130 excepting from such prohibition hotels, baths, etc.
Id.

8130. (4235.) Id. Hotels, boarding houses, baths, etc., excepted. The provisions of the preceding section do not apply to persons who, on Sunday, keep open hotels, boarding houses, baths, restaurants, taverns, livery stables, or retail drug stores, for the legitimate business of each, or such manufacturing establishments as are usually kept in continuous operation.

Cal. Pen. C., § 301*.
The keeping open on Sunday of a barber's shop connected with a hotel is not a work of necessity.
State v. Sopher, 25 U. 318; 71 P. 482.

8131. (4236.) Disturbing religious meetings. Every person who wilfully disturbs or disquiets any assemblage of people met for religious worship, by noise, profane discourse, rude or indecent behavior, or by any unnecessary noise, either within the place where such meeting is held or so near it as to disturb the order and solemnity of the meeting, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Cal. Pen. C., § 302. Disturbing any lawful meeting, § 8217.

8132. (4237.) Selling liquors at theaters, etc. Every person who sells or furnishes any malt, vinous, or spirituous liquors to any person in the auditorium or lobbies of any theater, melodeon, museum, circus, or caravan, or place where any farce, comedy, tragedy, ballet, opera, or play is being performed, or any exhibition of dancing, juggling, wax-work figures, and the like is being given for public amusement, and every person who employs or procures, or causes to be employed or procured, any person to sell or furnish any malt, vinous, or spirituous liquors at such place, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Cal. Pen. C., § 303. Selling liquor near camp meeting, etc., § 8136, and note.
Selling intoxicating liquors prohibited, §§ 3341-3378.

8133. (4238.) Performing unnecessary labor or business on Sunday. Every person who performs any unnecessary labor or does any unnecessary business on Sunday is guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be fined in any sum not exceeding $25.

8134. (4239.) Id. Exception. Labor performed by employes of such works as are usually kept in constant operation, and in irrigating, is not included in the foregoing section.

8135. (4240.) When Sunday begins and ends. For the purposes of this title, Sunday shall commence at midnight Saturday and terminate the following midnight.

8136. (4241.) Selling liquors near camp meeting. Every person who erects or keeps a booth, tent, stall, or other contrivance for the purpose of selling or otherwise disposing of any wine, or spirituous or intoxicating liquors, or any drink of which wines, or spirituous or intoxicating liquors form a part, or for selling or otherwise disposing of any article of merchandise, or who peddles or hawks about any such drink or article, within one mile of any camp or field meeting for religious worship, during the time of holding such meeting, is punishable by fine of not less than $5 nor more than $500.

Sale of liquor to Indians, or near reservation, §§ 8208, 8209. Sale of liquor prohibited, §§ 3341-3373.

8137. (4243.) Procuring females to play musical instruments at saloons, etc. Every person who causes, procures, or employs any female to play for hire, drink, or gain upon any musical instrument in any drinking saloon, dance room, or dance cellar, public garden, or any public highway, common, or street, or on a vessel, steamboat, or railroad car, or in any lewd house, or disorderly place whatsoever, where two or more persons are assembled together, is punishable by a fine in any sum less than $300, or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding three months, or by both; and any female so playing upon any musical instrument whatsoever is punishable by fine not exceeding $100, or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding one month or by both.

Cal. Pen. C., § 306*.

8138. (4244.) Procuring females to dance at saloons, etc. Every person who causes or procures or employs any female to dance, promenade, or otherwise exhibit herself for hire, drink, or gain in any drinking saloon, dance cellar, or dance room, public garden, public highway, or in any place whatsoever, theaters excepted, where two or more persons are assembled together, is punishable by a fine in any sum less than $300, or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding three months, or by both; and every female so dancing, promenading, or exhibiting herself is punishable by a fine not exceeding $100, or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding one month, or by both.

Cal. Pen. C., § 306*.

CHAPTER 32.

INDECENT EXPOSURE, EXHIBITIONS, ETC.

8144. (4247.) Indecent exposure, exhibiting, writings, etc. Every person is guilty of a misdemeanor who wilfully and lewdly, either:

1. Exposes his person or the private parts thereof in any public place or in any place where there are present other persons to be offended or annoyed thereby; or,

2. Procures, counsels, or assists any person so to expose himself, or to take part in any model artist exhibition, or to make any other exhibition of himself to public view, or to the view of any number of persons, such as is offensive to decency, or is adapted to excite to vicious or lewd thoughts or acts; or,

3. Writes, composes, stereotypes, prints, publishes, sells, distributes, keeps for sale, or exhibits any obscene, or indecent writing, paper, book, picture, print, design, figure, or device; or designs, copies, draws, engraves, paints, or otherwise prepares any obscene or indecent picture or print, or moulds, cuts, casts, or otherwise prepares any obscene or indecent figure; or,

4. Writes, composes, or publishes any notice or advertisement of any such writing, paper, book, picture, print, or figure; or any notice or advertisement of any article, prescription, or preparation for producing or facilitating a miscarriage; or,

5. Sings any lewd or obscene song, ballad, or other words in any public place, or in any place where there are persons present to be annoyed thereby.

Am'd '09, p. 26.

Cal. Pen. C., § 311*.

Obscene literature, sufficient allegation, § 8850.

Printing, having, or selling obscene books, etc., indictment, § 8850.

8145. (4248.) Seizure of indecent books, pictures, etc. Every person who is authorized or enjoined to arrest any person for a violation of sub. 3 of the next preceding section is equally authorized and enjoined to seize any obscene or indecent writing, paper, book, picture, print, or figure found in possession or under the control of the person so arrested, and to deliver the same to the magistrate before whom the person so arrested is required to be taken.

Cal. Pen. C., § 312.

8146. (4249.) Id. Summary destruction of. The magistrate to whom any obscene or indecent writing, paper, book, picture, print, or figure is delivered, pursuant to the foregoing section, must, upon the examination of the accused, or, if the examination is delayed or prevented, without awaiting such examination, determine the character of such writing, paper, book, picture, print, or figure, and if he finds it to be obscene or indecent, he must deliver one copy to the prosecuting attorney of the county in which the accused is liable to complaint or trial, and must at once destroy all the other copies.

Cal. Pen. C., § 313.

8147. (4250.) Id. Destruction of books, etc., remaining after trial. Upon the final conviction of the accused, such attorney must cause any writing, paper, book, picture, print, or figure, in respect whereof the accused stands convicted, and which remains in the possession or under the control of such attorney, to be destroyed.

Cal. Pen. C., § 314.

8148. (4251.) Keeping, residing in, resorting to, owning, or having control of house of ill-fame. It shall be unlawful for any person within the limits of the state of Utah:

1. To keep a house of ill-fame resorted to for the purpose of prostitution or lewdness; or to wilfully reside in such house; or to resort thereto for lewdness; or,

2. To be the owner of any building or tenement, the whole or any part of which is used for any of the purposes mentioned in the first subdivision of this section;

3. Or to have control of such building or tenement as agent, guardian, or lessee of such owner; after written notice to such owner, agent, guardian, or lessee that such building or tenement is being used for the purposes mentioned in sub. 1;

4. To let any building or tenement, knowing that the lessee intends using the same, or any part thereof, for any of the purposes mentioned in the first subdivision of this section; or to harbor or keep about his or her premises any person known to be guilty of following a lewd course of life.

Any person violating any of the provisions of this section shall be punished by a term of imprisonment in the county jail which shall not be less than three months nor more than one year. Any corporation violating any of the provisions of this section shall be punished by a fine which shall not be less than $1000 nor more than $10,000. Am'd '09, p. 186.

8149. (4252.) Keeping disorderly house. Every person who keeps any diorderly house or any house of public resort, by which the peace, comfort, or decency of the immediate neighborhood is habitually disturbed, or who keeps any inn in a disorderly manner, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Cal. Pen. C., § 316*.
Disturbing the peace, § 8227.

CHAPTER 33.

LOTTERIES.

8153. (4253.) Lottery defined. A lottery is any scheme for the disposal or distribution of property by chance, among persons who have paid or promised to pay any valuable consideration for the chance of obtaining such property or a portion of it, or for any share, or any interest in such property, upon any agreement, understanding, or expectation that it is to be distributed or disposed of by lot or chance, whether called a lottery, raffle, or gift enterprise, or by whatever name the same may be known.

Cal. Pen. C., § 319.
Legislature not to authorize lottery, Con. art. 6, sec. 28.

8154. (4254.) Contriving or drawing lottery. Every person who contrives, prepares, sets up, proposes, or draws any lottery, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Cal. Pen. C., § 320.

8155. (4255.) Vending lottery tickets. Every person who sells, gives, or in any manner whatever furnishes or transfers to or for any other person any ticket, chance, share, or interest, or any paper, certificate, or instrument purporting or understood to be or to represent any ticket, chance, share, or interest in, depending upon the event of, any lottery, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Cal. Pen. C., § 321.
Signing and issuance of lottery ticket, evidence, § 8990.

Sale of lottery tickets, a joint criminal enterprise and civil relief refused.
Mexican Int. B. C. v. Lichtenstein, 10 U. 338; 37 P. 574.

8156. (4256.) Aiding or assisting lottery. Every person who aids or assists, either by printing, writing, advertising, publishing, or otherwise in setting up, managing, or drawing any lottery, or in selling or disposing of any ticket, chance, or share therein, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Cal. Pen. C., § 322.

8157. (4257.) Keeping office for sale of lottery tickets. Advertising. Every person who opens, sets up, or keeps, by himself or by any other person, any office or other place for the sale of, or for registering the number of, any ticket in any lottery, or who, by printing, writing, or otherwise, advertises or publishes the setting up, opening, or using of any such office, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Cal. Pen. C., § 323.

8158. (4258.) Insuring lottery tickets. Every person who insures or receives any consideration for insuring for or against the drawing of any ticket in any lottery whatever, whether drawn or to be drawn within the state or elsewhere, or who receives any valuable consideration upon any agreement to repay any sum, or deliver the same, or any other property, if any lottery ticket or number of any ticket in any lottery shall prove fortunate or unfortunate, or shall be drawn or not be drawn, at any particular time or in any particular order, or who promises or agrees to pay any sum of money, or to deliver any goods, things in action, or property, or to forbear to do anything for the benefit of any person with or without consideration, upon any event or contingency dependent on the drawing of any ticket in any lottery, or who publishes any notice or proposal of any of the purposes aforesaid, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Cal. Pen. C., § 324.

8159. (4259.) Forfeiture of lottery property to state. All money and property offered for sale or distribution in violation of any of the provisions of this chapter are forfeited to the state, and may be recovered by information filed or by an action brought by the attorney-general, or by any county attorney, in the name of the state. Upon the filing of the information or complaint, the clerk of the court, or if the suit be brought in a justice's court, the justice, must issue an attachment against the property mentioned in the complaint or information, which attachment has the same force and effect against such property, and is issued in the same manner as attachments issued from the respective courts in civil cases.

Cal. Pen. C., § 325.

8160. (4260.) Letting building for lottery purposes. Every person who lets, or permits to be used, any building or vessel, or any portion thereof, knowing that it is to be used for setting up, managing, or drawing any lottery, or for the purpose of selling or disposing of lottery tickets, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Cal. Pen. C., § 326.

CHAPTER 34.

POOL SELLING AND BOOK MAKING A FELONY.

8161. Offenses defined. Penalty. Any person who engages in pool selling or book making, with or without writing, at any time or place; or any person who keeps or occupies any room, shed, tenement, tent, booth, or building, float or vessel, or any part thereof, or who occupies any place or stand of any kind upon any public or private grounds within this state, with books, papers, apparatus, or paraphernalia for the purpose of recording, reporting, or registering bets or wagers, or of selling pools; and any person who records, reports, or registers bets or wagers, or sells pools, or makes books, with or without writing, upon the result of trial or contest of skill, speed, or power of endurance of man or beast; or upon the result of lot, chance, casualty, unknown or contingent event whatsoever, or any person who receives, registers, reports, or records or forwards, or purports or pretends to receive, register, report, or forward, in any manner whatsoever, any money, thing, or consideration of value, bet or wagered, or offered for the purpose of being bet or wagered, by or for any other person, or sells pools upon such result or pretended result; or any person who, being the owner, lessee, or occupant of any room, shed, tenement, tent, booth, or building, float or vessel, or any part thereof, or of any grounds within this state, knowingly permits the same to be used or occupied for any of these purposes, therein keeps, exhibits, or employs any device or apparatus for the purpose of recording, reporting, registering, transmitting, communicating, or transferring such bets or wagers or the selling of such pools, or becomes the custodian, stakeholder, or depositary for gain, hire, or reward of any money, property, or thing of value, stake, wagered or pledged, or to be wagered or pledged, on any such result; or any person who aids, assists, or abets in any manner in any of the said acts which are hereby forbidden, is guilty of a felony, and upon conviction is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison for a period not exceeding one year, or by a fine in any sum not exceeding $2000, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

CHAPTER 35.

GAMING.

8162. (4261.) Gaming defined. Seizure and destruction of device, etc. Every person who deals or carries on, opens or causes to be opened, or who conducts, either as owner or employe, whether for hire or not, any game of faro, monte, roulette, lansquenet, rouge et noir, rondo, or any game played with cards, dice, or any other device, for money, checks, credit, or any other representative of value shall be deemed guilty of a felony, and it shall be the duty of all sheriffs, constables, police, and other peace officers whenever it shall come to the knowledge of such officer that any person has in his possession any cards, tables, checks, balls, wheels, slot machines, or gambling devices of any nature or kind whatsoever used or kept for the purpose of playing for money or for tokens redeemable in money at any of the games mentioned in this chapter, or that any cards, tables, checks, balls, wheels, slot machines, or gambling devices used or kept for the purposes aforesaid may be found in any place, to seize and take such cards, tables, checks, balls, wheels, slot machines, or other gambling devices, and convey the same before a magistrate of the county in which said devices shall be found; and it shall be the duty of such judge to inquire of such witnesses as he shall summon or as may appear before him in that behalf, touching the nature of such gambling devices, and if such judge shall determine that the same are used or kept for the purpose of being used at any game or games of chance described in this chapter, it shall be his duty to destroy the same. Am'd '11, p. 265.

8165. (4264.) Refusal to attend as witness a misdemeanor. Every person duly summoned as a witness for the prosecution, on any proceedings had under this chapter, who neglects or refuses to attend, as required, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Cal. Pen. C., § 333.

8166. (4265.) Witness not privileged from answering. No person otherwise competent as a witness is disqualified from testifying as such concerning the offense of gaming on the ground that such testimony may criminate himself; but no prosecution can afterwards be had against him for any offense concerning which he is compelled to testify.

Cal. Pen. C., § 334*.
But where a witness was testifying before the grand jury concerning another offense, and voluntarily admitted himself guilty of gaming, he may be prosecuted therefor.
People v. Reggel, 8 U. 21; 28 P. 955.

8167. (4266.) Officers must prosecute. Penalty. Every prosecuting attorney, sheriff, constable, or police officer must inform against and diligently prosecute persons whom they have reasonable cause to believe offenders against the provisions of this chapter, and every such officer refusing or neglecting so to do is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Cal. Pen. C., § 335.

CHAPTER 36.

INJURIES TO PERSONS.

8170. (4267.) Intoxicated physician endangering life. Every physician who, in a state of intoxication, does any act as such physician to another person, by which the life or health of such other person is endangered, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Cal. Pen. C., § 346*.

8171. (4268.) Mingling poison with food or drink. Every person who wilfully mingles any poison with any food, drink, or medicine, with intent that the same shall be taken by any human being, to his injury, and every person who wilfully poisons any spring, well, stream, or reservoir of water is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison for a term not less than one nor more than ten years.

8176. (4273.) Cruelly treating insane, etc. Every person guilty of any unnecessarily harsh, cruel, or unkind treament of, or any neglect of duty towards, any idiot, lunatic, or insane person, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Cal. Pen. C., § 361*.

UNAUTHORIZED USE OF NAMES OR PICTURES.

('09, p. 83.)

8178. Id. Any person who uses for advertising purposes, or for purposes of trade, or upon any postal card, the name, portrait, or picture of any person, if such person be living, without first having obtained the written consent of such person, or, if a minor, of his parent or guardian, of if such person be dead, without the written consent of his heirs or personal representatives, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

8179. Action to prevent or restrain. Damages. Any living person, or the heirs or personal representatives of any deceased person, whose name, portrait, or picture is used within this state for advertising purposes, or for purposes of trade, without the written consent first obtained as herein provided, may maintain an action against such person so using his name, picture, or portrait, to prevent and restrain the use thereof; and may in the same action recover damages for any injuries sustained by reason of such use, and if the defendant shall have knowingly used such person's name, portrait, or picture in such manner as is declared to be unlawful by this chapter, the jury or court, if tried without a jury, in its discretion, may award exemplary damages.

CHAPTER 37.

PUBLIC HEALTH AND SAFETY.

PUBLIC NUISANCES.

8184. (4274.) Befouling waters. Any person who shall either:

1. Construct or maintain any corral, sheep-pen, stable, pig-pen, chicken-coop, or other offensive yard or outhouse, where the waste or drainage therefrom shall flow directly into the waters of any stream, well, or spring of water used for domestic purposes; or,

2. Deposit, pile, unload, or leave any manure heap, offensive rubbish, or the carcass of any dead animal, where the waste or drainage therefrom will flow directly into the waters of any stream, well, or spring of water used for domestic purposes; or,

3. Dip or wash sheep in any stream, or construct, maintain, or use any pool or dipping vat for dipping or washing sheep in such close proximity to any stream used by the inhabitants of any city, town, or village for domestic purposes as to make the waters thereof impure or unwholesome; or,

4. Construct or maintain any corral, yard, or vat to be used for the purpose of shearing or dipping sheep within twelve miles of any city, town, or village, where the refuse or filth from said corral or yard would naturally find its way into any stream of water used by the inhabitants of any city, village, or town for domestic purposes; or,

5. Establish and maintain any corral, camp, or bedding place for the purpose of herding, holding, or keeping any cattle, horses, sheep, or hogs within seven miles of any city, town, or village, where the refuse or filth from said corral, camp, or bedding place will naturally find its way into any stream of water used by the inhabitants of any city, town, or village for domestic purposes,—shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

This section does not impliedly repeal section 8185.
People v. Burtleson, 14 U. 258; 47 P. 87.

The complaint by Salt Lake City, which charged that defendant unlawfully, wilfully, and continuously for ten days or more, permitted twenty-seven head of horses to run at large on defendant's fifteen acres of land and to be at all times accessible to the stream from which the city secured its water supply, charges an offense which the city should prohibit by ordinance.
Salt Lake City v. Young, 45 U. 349; 145 P. 1047.

8185. (4275.) Id. Public nuisance defined. A public nuisance is a crime against the order and economy of the state, and consists in unlawfully doing any act, or omitting to perform any duty, which act or omission either:

1. Annoys, injures, or endangers the comfort, repose, health, or safety of three or more persons; or,

2. Offends public decency; or

3. Unlawfully interferes with, obstructs, or tends to obstruct, or renders dangerous for passage any lake, stream, canal, basin, or any public park, square, street, or highway; or

4. In any way renders three or more persons insecure in life or the use of property.

Infected orchard and crop, § 1899.
Where a party so uses his property as to annoy, injure, or endanger the comfort, repose, health, or safety of three or more persons, his acts are unlawful, and he is liable to prosecution, even though he may be in pursuit of a lawful business and conducting it in a reasonable and careful manner.
People v. Burtleson, 14 U. 258; 47 P. 87.
In determining the question of a nuisance, under this section, the motive or intent with which the act complained of was committed cannot be considered.
Id.
The befouling of waters of a canal, from which a number of persons obtained water for irrigation, domestic and other purposes, so that it is unfit for use, creates a public nuisance, and the right to maintain it cannot be gained by prescription.
North Point C. I. Co. v. Utah & S. L. C. Co., 16 U. 246; 52 P. 168.
Crane v. Winsor, 2 U. 248.
Though an encroachment on a public street is a "public nuisance," it will not always be abated at suit of a private person sustaining special damages; but the court must determine whether it is equitable to compel an abatement or permit the encroachment to remain and award damages only.
Lewis v. Pingree, 47 U. 35; 151 P. 558.

8186. (4276.) Id. Unequal effects not material. An act which affects three or more persons in either of the ways specified in the next preceding section is not less a nuisance because the extent of the annoyance or damage inflicted on individuals is unequal.

Cal. Pen. C., § 371*.

8187. (4277.) Maintaining nuisance or failing to perform duty. Every person who maintains or commits any public nuisance, the punishment for which is not otherwise prescribed, or who wilfully omits to perform any legal duty relating to the removal of a public nuisance, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

'03, p. 121.

8212. (4299x2.) Id. Penalty. Any person or persons who shall fail or refuse to comply with the provisions of §§ 8210, 8211, shall be fined in any sum not less than $100 nor more than $1000. '03, p. 121.

CHAPTER 38.

CRIMES AGAINST PUBLIC PEACE.

8217. (4300.) Disturbing meetings. Every person who, without authority of law, wilfully disturbs or breaks up any assembly or meeting, not unlawful in its character, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Cal. Pen. C., § 403*. Disturbing religious meetings, § 8131.

8218. (4301.) Riot defined. Any use of force or violence, disturbing the public peace, or any threat to use such force or violence, if accompanied by immediate power of execution, by two or more persons acting together and without authority of law, is a riot.

Cal. Pen. C., § 404.

The terms "force" and "violence" in this section do not necessarily mean the actual use of physical force accompanied with violence. People v. O'Loughlin, 3 U. 133; 1 P. 653.

If, by the assembly, resolution, marching, and demand of defendants and their companions, and the manner and circumstances accompanying the same, well-grounded fear of injury would be raised in the minds of men of ordinary courage by a resistance to such demands, and if well-grounded fears existed in the minds of the residents of the town for the safety of life or property, the same constituted a breach of the public peace by force and violence. Id.

8219. (4302.) Id. Penalty. Every person who participates in any riot is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison not exceeding two years, or by fine not exceeding $1000, or by both.

Cal. Pen. C., § 405*.

8220. (4303.) Rout defined. Whenever two or more persons, assembled and acting together, make any attempt or advance towards the commission of an act which would be a riot if actually committed, such assembly is a rout.

Cal. Pen. C., § 406.

8221. (4304.) Unlawful assembly defined. Whenever two or more persons assemble together to do any unlawful act, and separate without doing or advancing toward it, or do a lawful act in a violent, boisterous or tumultuous manner, such assembly is an unlawful assembly.

Cal. Pen. C., § 407.

8222. (4305.) Penalty for rout or unlawful assembly. Every person who participates in any rout or unlawful assembly is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Cal. Pen. C., § 408.

8223. (4306.) Remaining at riot after warning to disperse. Every person remaining present at the place of any riot, rout, or unlawful assembly, after the same has been lawfully warned to disperse, except public officers and persons assisting them in attempting to disperse the same, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Cal. Pen. C., § 409. Suppression of riots, etc., §§ 8591-8595.

8224. (4307.) Officer neglecting to suppress riotous assembly. If a magistrate or officer, having notice of an unlawful or riotous assembly mentioned in this chapter, neglects to proceed to the place of assembly, or as near thereto as he can with saftey, and to exercise the authority with which he is invested for suppressing the same and arresting the offenders, he is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Cal. Pen. C., § 410.

8225. (4308.) Prize fighting. Every person who engages in, instigates, encourages, or promotes any ring or prize fight, or any other premeditated fight or contention, without deadly weapons, either as principal, aid, second, umpire, surgeon, or otherwise, is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison not exceeding two years.

Cal. Pen. C., § 412*. Prize fighting on Sunday, § 8128.

8226. (4309.) Id. Witnessing. Every person wilfully present as a spectator at any fight or contention mentioned in the next preceding section is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Cal. Pen. C., § 413.

8227. (4310.) Disturbing the peace. Penalty. Every person who maliciously and wilfully disturbs the peace or quiet of any neighborhood, family, or person by loud or unusual noise, or by discharging firearms, or by tumultuous or offensive conduct, or by threatening, traducing, quarreling, challenging to fight, or fighting, is punishable by a fine not exceeding $200, or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding two months, or by both such fine and imprisonment. Am'd '09, p. 60; '13, p. 22.

Cal. Pen. C., § 415*. Keeping disorderly house, § 8149.
Security to keep the peace, §§ 8567-8583.

8228. (4311.) Unlawful assembly refusing to disperse. If two or more persons assemble for the purpose of disturbing the public peace or committing any unlawful act, and do not disperse on being desired or commanded so to do by a public officer, the persons so offending are severally guilty of a misdemeanor.

Cal. Pen. C., § 416.

8229. (4312.) Exhibiting deadly weapon. Every person who, not in necessary self defense, in the presence of two or more persons, draws or exhibits any deadly weapon in an angry and threatening manner, or who, in any manner, unlawfully uses the same in any fight or quarrel, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Cal. Pen. C., § 417. Having deadly weapon with intent to commit assault, § 8265.
Assault with deadly weapon, § 8070.

8230. Unlawful to carry concealed weapons. It shall be unlawful for any person, except a peace officer, without the written consent of a peace officer, to carry any slingshot, brass knuckles, revolver, dagger, stilletto, or other concealed deadly weapon. Any person found guilty of violating any provision of this section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor. '09, p. 16.

8231. (4313.) Forcible entry or detainer. Every person using, or procuring, encouraging, or assisting another to use any force or violence in entering upon or detaining any lands or other possessions of another, except in the cases and in the manner allowed by law, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Cal. Pen. C., § 418.
Forcible entry and detainer, civil procedure, §§ 7313-7327.

8232. (4314.) Returning to lands after removal by lawful process. Every person who has been removed from any lands by process of law, or who has removed from any lands pursuant to the lawful adjudication or direction of any court, tribunal, or officer, and who afterwards unlawfully returns to settle, reside upon, or take possession of such lands, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Cal. Pen. C., § 419. And is guilty of contempt, § 7059.

CHAPTER 39.

CRIMES AGAINST PUBLIC PROPERTY.

8235. (4315.) Misusing public money or falsifying public accounts. Every officer of this state, or of any county, city, town, precinct, or district of this state, and every other person charged with the receipt, safe keeping, transfer, or disbursement of public money, who either:

1. Without authority of law appropriates the same or any portion thereof to his own use, or to the use of another; or,
2. Loans the same or any portion thereof without authority of law; or,
3. Fails to keep the same in his possession until disbursed or paid out by authority of law; or,
4. Unlawfully deposits the same or any portion thereof in any bank, or with any banker or other person; or,
5. Knowingly keeps any false account, or makes any false entry or erasure in any account of or relating to the same; or,
6. Fraudulently alters, falsifies, conceals, destroys, or obliterates any such account; or,
7. Wilfully refuses or omits to pay over, on demand, any public moneys in his hands, upon the presentation of a draft, order, or warrant drawn upon such moneys by competent authority; or,

8. Wilfully omits to transfer the same, when such transfer is required by law; or,

9. Wilfully omits or refuses to pay over, to any officer or person authorized by law to receive the same, any money received by him under any duty imposed by law so to pay over the same,—is guilty of a felony.

Cal. Pen. C., § 424*.
Mutilating or destroying public records, §§ 7933, 7976, 7977, 8271.
Forgery defined, § 8270.
Larceny of public records, § 7976.

Various objections to an indictment hereunder discussed and overruled.
People v. Rogerson, 4 U. 231; 7 P. 255, 410.
Felonious intent is an essential element of an offense hereunder.
State v. Blue, 17 U. 175; 53 P. 978.

8236. (4316.) Failure to keep and pay over public money. Every officer charged with the receipt, safe keeping, or disbursement of public money who neglects or fails to keep and pay over the same, in the manner prescribed by law, is guilty of a felony.

Cal. Pen. C., § 425.

8237. (4317.) Making profit out of public money, etc. The making of profit out of public money, or using the same for any purpose not authorized by law, by any public officer, shall be deemed a felony, and, upon conviction thereof, any such officer, in addition to the punishment provided by law, shall be disqualified to hold public office.

Prohibited by Con. art. 13, sec. 8.
Felony involving misconduct in office, disqualification to hold office, §§ 7906, 7961.

8238. (4318.) "Public money" defined. The phrase "public money," as used in the three preceding sections, includes all bonds and evidences of indebtedness and all money belonging to the state, or to any town, city, county, precinct, or district therein, and all money, bonds, and evidences of indebtedness received or held by state, county, district, city, town, or precinct officers in their official capacity.

Cal. Pen. C., § 426.

8239. (4319.) Failing to pay over fines or fees. If any public officer who receives any fine, forfeiture, or fee refuses or neglects to pay over the same within the time prescribed by law, he is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Cal. Pen. C., § 427*
Charging or receiving illegal fees, § 2589.
Failure to keep fee book, etc., a misdemeanor § 2587.

8240. (4320.) Obstructing collection of revenue. Every person who wilfully obstructs or hinders any public officer from collecting any revenue, taxes, or other sums of money in which the people of this state are interested, and which such officer is by law empowered to collect, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Cal. Pen. C., § 428.
Interfering with or obstructing officer, §§ 7927, 8002.

8241. (4321.) Refusing list or giving false information to assessor. Every person who unlawfully refuses, upon demand, to give to any district or county assessor a list of his property subject to taxation, or to swear to such list, or who gives a false name, or fraudulently refuses to give his true name to any assessor, when demanded by such assessor in the discharge of his official duties, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Cal. Pen. C., § 429*.

8242. (4322.) Using false tax or license receipt. Failing to give receipt. Every person who uses or gives any receipt except that prescribed by law, as evidence of the payment of any poll tax, road tax, or license of any kind, or who receives payment of such tax or license without delivering the receipt prescribed by law, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Cal. Pen. C., § 431*.
Poll tax, §§ 4465-4470.

8243. (4323.) Refusing names of employes to tax collector, etc. Every person who, when requested by the assessor or collector of taxes or licenses, refuses to give to such assessor or collector the name and residence of each man in his employment, or to give such assessor or collector access to the building or place where such men are employed, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Cal. Pen. C., § 434*.

8244. (4324.) Doing business without license. Every person who commences or carries on any business, trade, profession, or calling, for the transaction or carrying on of which a license is required by any law of this state, or by any county, city, or town regulation, without taking out the license required by law or by the county regulation, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Cal. Pen. C., § 435*.

8245. (4325.) Officer discounting warrants. No state, county, city, town, or district officer shall, either directly or indirectly, contract for or purchase any warrant or order issued by the state, county, city, town, or district of which he is an officer, at any discount whatever upon the sum due on such warrant or order, and if any state, county, city, town, or district officer shall so contract for or purchase any such order or warrant, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

CHAPTER 40.

ARSON.

8248. (4326.) Arson defined. Arson is the wilful and malicious burning of a building with intent to destroy it.

Cal. Pen. C., § 447.

8249. (4327.) "Building" defined. Any house, edifice, structure, vessel, or other erection, railroad car, capable of affording shelter for human beings or for storage of goods, or appurtenant to or connected with any erection so adapted, is a "building" within the meaning of this chapter.

Am'd '07, p. 83.

Cal. Pen. C., § 448*.
Agreement to commit arson a conspiracy, § 8020.
Destruction of insured property, §§ 8360, 8361.
Burning property not the subject of arson, §§ 8389, 8395.

8250. (4328.) "Inhabited building" defined. Any building which has usually been occupied by any person lodging therein at night is an "inhabited building" within the meaning of this chapter.

Cal. Pen. C., § 449.

8251. (4329.) "Night time" defined. The phrase "night time," as used in this chapter, means the period between sunset and sunrise.

Cal. Pen. C., § 450.

8252. (4330.) "Burning" defined. To constitute burning, within the meaning of this chapter, it is not necessary that the building set on fire shall have been destroyed. It is sufficient that fire is applied so as to take effect upon any part of the substance of the building.

Cal. Pen. C., § 451.

8253. (4331.) Ownership or possession as affecting arson. To constitute arson it is not necessary that a person other than the accused should have had ownership in the building set on fire. It is sufficient that at the time of the burning another person was rightfully in possession of, or was actually occupying such building or any part thereof.

Cal. Pen. C., § 452.

8254. (4332.) Degrees of arson. Arson is divided into two degrees. Maliciously burning in the night time an inhabited building in which there is, at the time, some human being, is arson in the first degree; all other kinds of arson are of the second degree.

Cal. Pen. C., §§ 453, 454.

8255. (4333.) Penalty for arson. Arson is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison as follows:

1. Arson in the first degree, for a term not less than two years nor more than fifteen years;

2. Arson in the second degree, for a term not less than one year nor more than ten years.

Cal. Pen. C., § 455*.

CHAPTER 41.

BURGLARY AND HOUSEBREAKING.

8257. (4334.) Burglary in first degree. Every person who, in the night time, forcibly breaks and enters, or without force enters an open door, window, or other aperture of any house, room, apartment, tenement, shop, warehouse, store, mill, barn, stable, outhouse, or other building, or any tent, vessel, water craft, or railroad car, with intent to commit larceny or any felony by the use of nitro-glycerine, dynamite, gunpowder, or any other explosive, is guilty of burglary in the first degree. When in a prosecution for burglary in the first degree the question as to whether or not nitro-glycerine, dynamite, gunpowder, or any other explosive was used or intended to be used by the defendant in the commission of the crime cannot be definitely arrived at by the jury, a verdict of guilty of burglary in the second degree, as defined in § 8259, may be found; provided, the other elements of the crime of burglary in the second degree, as defined in § 8259, have been proved.

Am'd '05, p. 16; '07, p. 50.

Burglarious tools, § 8264.
Information or indictment may also contain a count for larceny and a count for housebreaking, § 8834.
Agreement to commit burglary a conspiracy, § 8020.
Jurisdiction where property is taken to another county, § 8656.

8258. (4334x.) Id. Penalty. Burglary in the first degree is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison for a term not less than twenty-five years nor more than forty years. '07, p. 51.

Evidence held not sufficient to connect accused with the burglary.
State v. Karas, 43 U. 506; 136 P. 788.

8259. (4334x1.) Burglary in second degree. Every person who, in the night time, forcibly breaks and enters, or without force enters an open door, window, or other aperture of any house, room, apartment, tenement, shop, warehouse, store, mill, barn, stable, outhouse, or other building, or any tent, vessel, water craft, or railroad car, with intent to commit larceny or any felony, is guilty of burglary in the second degree. Where, in a prosecution for burglary in the second degree, the question as to whether the crime has been committed in the night time or in the day time cannot be definitely arrived at by the jury, a verdict of guilty of burglary in the third degree, as defined in § 8261, may be found; provided, the other elements of the crime of burglary in the third degree, as defined in § 8261, have been proved.

'07, p. 51.

Cal. Pen. C., § 459*.
Where one, learning of a plot to burglarize his property, permits officers to occupy the premises in order to make arrests should the crime be committed, and makes no effort to prevent the entry, but does not offer any encouragement or inducement, he does not thereby consent and the entry is burglarious.
People v. Morton, 4 U. 407; 11 P. 512.
Evidence examined and held sufficient to sustain conviction for burglary.
Id.
A burglary by entering a house through a window on the second floor, with intent to steal the goods of H., is not the same offense or part of the same transaction as an entering from the outside of a room on the first floor, and the committing of a robbery on W., although it was the same house, the same day, with just enough time intervening between the two acts to permit defendant to pass from the upper story to the lower one.
People v. Kerm, 8 U. 268; 30 P. 988.
Burglary, which under this section and section 8263, must be committed between sunset and sunrise, is not proven by evidence that goods were stolen from the building between 9:30 p. m. and 6:30 a. m., the sun rising at 4:38 a. m.
State v. Miller, 24 U. 312; 67 P. 790.
Under this section and section 8263, a larceny, to constitute burglary, must be committed in the night time, and affirmative proof that it was so committed must be adduced; but such proof need not be direct, but may be circumstantial, in character.
State v. Richards, 29 U. 310; 81 P. 142.
Evidence examined and held insufficient to sustain a conviction for burglary.
State v. Hutchings, 30 U. 319; 84 P. 893.
See People v. Hart, 10 U. 204; 37 P. 330.
Information not stating value upheld. An information charging the breaking and entering a building at night with intent to steal goods, without stating their value, sufficiently charges a burglary in the first degree.
State v. Hows, 31 U. 168; 87 P. 163.

8260. (4335.) Id. Penalty. Burglary in the second degree is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison for a term not less than one year nor more than twenty years. Am'd '05, p. 16; '07, p. 51.

Cal. Pen. C., § 461*.

8261. (4336.) Burglary in third degree. Every person who, in the day time, enters any dwelling house, room, apartment, tenement, shop, warehouse, store, mill, barn, stable, outhouse, or other building, or any tent, vessel, water craft, or railroad car, with intent to steal or to commit any felony whatever therein, is guilty of burglary in the third degree. Am'd '05 p. 16; '07, p. 51.

8262. (4337.) Id. Penalty. Burglary in the third degree is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison for a term not less than six months nor more than three years. Am'd '05, p. 17; '07, p. 51.

8263. (4338.) "Night time" defined. The phrase "night time," as used in §§ 8257, 8259, means the period of time between sunset and sunrise. Am'd '05, p. 16; '07, p. 51.

Cal. Pen. C., § 463*.

CHAPTER 42.

BURGLARIOUS TOOLS AND DEADLY WEAPONS.

8264. (4339.) Having or making burglarious tools. Every person having upon him or in his possession a picklock, crow, key, bit, or other instrument or tool with intent feloniously to break into or enter any building; or who shall knowingly make or alter, or shall attempt to make or alter, any key or other instrument above named so that the same will fit or open the lock of a building, without being requested so to do by some person having the right to open the same, or who shall make, alter, or repair any instrument or thing, knowing or having reason to believe that it is intended to be used in committing a misdemeanor or felony, is guilty of a misdemeanor. Any of the structures mentioned in § 8257 shall be deemed to be a building within the meaning of this section.

Cal. Pen. C., § 466*. Mont. Pen. C., § 830.

8265. (4340.) Having deadly weapon with intent to assault. Every person having upon him any deadly weapon, with intent to assault another, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Cal. Pen. C., § 467*. Mont. Pen. C., § 831.
Assault with deadly weapon, § 8070.
Exhibiting deadly weapon angrily, § 8229.
Attempt to commit crime, § 8527.

CHAPTER 43.

ENTERING RAILROAD CARS.

8266. (4341.) Unlawfully entering car. Every person who clandestinely enters into or upon any railroad car, for the purpose and with the intention of riding or being transported thereon, or who, having entered into or upon any railroad car, rides over any railroad line or portion thereof in this state, without the knowledge and consent of the company or person owning or operating such car or railroad, and with the intention to defraud such company or person of the fare or compensation for such transportation, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding fifty days, or by fine in any sum less than $50, or by both.

8267. (4342.) Id. Employes aiding in. Every person, being at the time a servant or employe of any railroad company, who aids, abets, assists, counsels, advises, or encourages another person to enter into or ride upon any railroad car for the purpose, with the intention, and in a manner specified in the preceding section, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Negligence, etc., of railroad employes, §§ 8201-8204. Injuries to railroads, § 8383.

CHAPTER 44.

FORGING AND COUNTERFEITING.

8270. (4343.) Forgery defined. Every person who, with intent to defraud another, falsely makes, alters, forges, or counterfeits any charter, letters patent, deed, lease, indenture, writing obligatory, will, testament, codicil, annuity, bond, covenant, bank bill or note, money order, check, draft, bill of exchange, contract, promissory note, due bill for the payment of money or property, receipt for money or property, passage ticket, power of attorney; or any certificate of any share, right, or interest in the stock of any corporation or association; or any auditor's warrant for the payment of money at the treasury; or any state, county, city, or town order or warrant; or request for the payment of money, or the delivery of goods or chattels of any kind, or for the delivery of any instrument of writing or acquittance, release, or receipt for money or goods; or any acquittance, release, or discharge for any debt, account, suit, action, demand, or other thing, real or personal; or any transfer or assurance of money, certificates of shares of stock, goods, chattels, or other property whatever; or any letter of attorney or other power to receive money, or to receive or transfer certificates of shares of stock or annuities; or to let, lease, dispose of, alien, or convey any goods, chattels, lands, or tenements, or other estate, real or personal; or any acceptance or indorsement of any bill of exchange, promissory note, draft, order or assignment of any bond, writing obligatory, promissory note for money or other property; or any letter of service, clearance card, or union labor card; or time checks, or other evidence of indebtedness; or any card of any lodge of any benevolent, charitable, or fraternal order, or any post of the Grand Army of the Republic or commandery of the Royal Legion; or counterfeits or forges the seal or handwriting of another, or any official certificate; or utters, publishes, passes, or attempts to pass as true or genuine any of the above-named false, altered, forged, or counterfeited matters, as above specified and described, knowing the same to be false, altered, forged, or counterfeited, with intent to prejudice, damage, or defraud any person; or who, with intent to defraud, alters, corrupts, or falsifies any record of any will, codicil, conveyance, or other instrument, the record of which is by law evidence; or any record of any judgment of a court, or the return of any officer to any process of any court, is guilty of forgery. Am'd '05, p. 2.

Cal. Pen. C., § 470*.
Penalty for forgery, § 8273.
Indictment or information may contain a count for uttering a forged instrument knowing it to be a forgery, § 8834.
Expert testimony to prove forgery, etc., § 8987.
Allegation when instrument withheld or destroyed, § 8847.
Altering or falsifying public records, §§ 7933, 7976, 7977, 8235.
Falsifying evidence, §§ 7991-7997.
Proof of incorporation of bank or company, § 8987.

Person whose signature is alleged to be forged is a competent but not indespensable witness. A clerk or other person acquainted with his handwriting is competent to prove that the signature to the note is a forgery.
People v. Mahon, 1 U. 205.
The allegation that a company was a corporation, in an information charging that the defendant, knowing the instrument to be forged, and with intent to damage a certain company, incorporated and organized under certain laws, uttered and passed as true to the bank, a writing purporting to be a check, is a material allegation.
State v. Brown, 33 U. 109; 93 P. 52.

8271. (4344.) Altering record. Every person who, with intent to defraud another, makes, forges, or alters any entry in any book of record, or any instrument purporting to be any record or return specified in the preceding section, is guilty of forgery.

Cal. Pen. C., § 471.
Falsifying public accounts, § 8235.
Mutilating or destroying public records, §§ 7933, 7976, 7977.

8272. (4345.) Counterfeiting seal. Every person who, with intent to defraud another, forges or counterfeits the seal of this state, the seal of any public officer authorized by law, the seal of any court of record, or the seal of any corporation, or any other public seal authorized or recognized by the laws of this state or of any state, government, or country, or who falsely makes, forges, or counterfeits any impression purporting to be an impression of any such seal, or who has in his possession any such counterfeited seal or impression thereof, knowing it to be counterfeited, and wilfully conceals the same, is guilty of forgery.

Cal. Pen. C., § 472.

8273. (4346.) Penalty for forgery. Forgery is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison for a term not less than one nor more than twenty years.

Cal. Pen. C., § 473*.

8274. (4347.) False or forged messages by telegraph or telephone. Penalty. Every person who knowingly and wilfully sends by telegraph or telephone to any person a false or forged message purporting to be from such telegraph or telephone office, or from any other person, or who wilfully delivers or causes to be delivered to any person any such message falsely purporting to have been received by telegraph or telephone, or who furnishes, or conspires to furnish, or causes to be furnished, to any agent, operator, or employe to be sent by telegraph or telephone, or to be delivered, any such message, knowing the same to be false or forged, with the intent to deceive, injure, or defraud another, is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison not exceeding five years, or in the county jail not exceeding one year, or by fine not exceeding $1000, or by both such fine and imprisonment. Am'd '07, p. 24.

Cal. Pen. C., § 474*.
Notices, checks, instruments, etc., sent by telegraph or telephone, §§ 6117-6119.
Summons, writs, etc., may be sent by telegraph or telephone, § 7032.
Altering or disclosing contents of telegraphic or telephonic messages, §§ 8403-8405.

8275. (4348.) Having or using forged note or bill. Every person who has in his possession, or receives from another person, any forged promissory note or bank bill, for the payment of money or property, with the intention to pass the same, or permit, cause, or procure the same to be uttered or passed, with the intention to defraud any person, knowing the same to be forged or counterfeited, or has or keeps in his possession any blank or unfinished note or bank bill made in the form or similitude of any promissory note or bill for payment of money or property, made to be issued by any incorporated bank or banking company, with intention to fill up or complete such blank and unfinished note or bill, or to permit, or cause, or procure the same to be filled up or completed in order to utter or pass the same, or to permit, or cause, or procure the same to be uttered or passed, or to defraud any person, is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison for not less than one nor more than ten years.

Cal. Pen. C., § 475*.

8276. (4349.) Making or using fictitious bill, check, etc. Every person who makes, passes, utters, or publishes, with intention to defraud any other person, or who, with the like intention, attempts to pass, utter, or publish, or who has in his possession, with like intent to utter, pass, or publish, any fictitious bill, note, or check, purporting to be the bill, note, check, or other instrument in writing for the payment of money or property of some bank, corporation, co-partnership, or individual when in fact there is no such bank, corporation, co-partnership, or individual in existence, knowing the bill, note, check, or instrument in writing to be fictitious, is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison for not less than one nor more than ten years.

Cal. Pen. C., § 476*.

8277. (4350.) Counterfeiting coin or precious metal. Every person who counterfeits any of the species of gold or silver coin current in this state, or any kind or species of gold dust, gold or silver bullion, or bars, lumps, pieces, or nuggets, or who sells, passes, or gives in payment such counterfeited coin, dust, bullion, bars, lumps, pieces, or nuggets, or permits, causes, or procures the same to be sold, uttered, or passed, with intention to defraud any person, knowing the same to be counterfeited, is guilty of counterfeiting.

Cal. Pen. C., § 477.

8278. (4351.) Penalty for counterfeiting. Counterfeiting is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison for not less than one nor more than ten years.

Cal. Pen. C., § 478*.

8279. (4352.) Possession of counterfeit coin or bullion. Every person who has in his possession, or receives from any other person, any counterfeit gold or silver coin of the species current in this state, or any counterfeit gold dust, gold or silver bullion, or bars, lumps, pieces, or nuggets, with the intention to sell, utter, put off, or pass the same, or permits, causes, or procures the same to be sold, uttered, or passed, with intention to defraud any person, knowing the same to be counterfeit, is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison for a term not less than one nor more than ten years.

Cal. Pen. C., § 479*.

8280. (4353.) Possession of dies for counterfeiting. Every person who makes, or knowingly has in his possession, any die, plate, or any apparatus, paper, metal, machine, or other thing whatever, made use of in counterfeiting coin current in this state, or in counterfeiting gold dust, gold or silver bars, bullion, lumps, pieces, or nuggets, or in counterfeiting bank notes or bills, is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison for a term not less than one nor more than ten years; and all such dies, plates, apparatus, paper, metal, or machines, intended for the purpose aforesaid, must be destroyed.

Cal. Pen. C., § 480*.

8281. (4354.) Using note, check, etc., as money. Any person who issues or circulates any note, check, memorandum, token, or other obligation for use as money in lieu of lawful money or other lawful medium of exchange shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall, on conviction thereof in any court having jurisdiction, be punished for each offense by fine not exceeding $1000, to be paid into the state treasury, or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

Cal. Pen. C., § 648*.

CHAPTER 45.

LARCENY.

8285. (4355.) Larceny defined. Larceny is the felonious stealing, taking, carrying, leading, or driving away the personal property of another. Possession of property recently stolen, when the party in possession fails to make a satisfactory explanation, shall be deemed prima facie evidence of guilt.

Am'd '05, p. 70.

Cal. Pen. C., § 484*.

Information or indictment may contain a count for obtaining money by false pretenses, a count for embezzlement, and a count for receiving or buying stolen property knowing it to be stolen, § 8834.

INDICTMENT; DESCRIPTION:

Indictment for larceny of two "horses" is sufficient description of property stolen. Not necessary to use technically descriptive words designating sex or artificial character of animal.

People v. Sensabaugh, 2 U. 473.

Proof that one animal was a gelding, one a mare, supports an indictment for stealing two horses.

People v. Butler, 2 U. 504.

In prosecution for larceny, indictment charging the property stolen belonged to the husband is supported by proof that it was money furnished by him to his wife, and in her possession.

People v. McCarty, 5 U. 280; 17 P. 734.

The alleged larceny of several distinct articles may be joined in the same count, although such several articles belonged to different owners, where the time and the taking of each are the same.

People v. Lyman, 2 U. 30.

Where many articles are stolen at one time, there is but one larceny, whether the ownership is in one person or many.

State v. Mickel, 23 U. 507; 65 P. 484.

State v. Spencer, 15 U. 149; 49 P. 302.

Evidence that a railroad was in possession of goods, transporting them as a common carrier, was sufficient to show title in it.

State v. Reese, 44 U. 256; 140 P. 126.

INTENT:

Union of act and intent to constitute a crime, § 7908, and note.

In larceny, the intent to steal must exist at the time of the taking, and where the defendant took the property innocently, under a mistake of facts, and thereafter converted it to his use without a felonious intent, he is not guilty of larceny.

People v. Miller, 4 U. 410; 11 P. 514.

Where convict took a horse to assist escape, it was larceny.

People v. Flynn, 7 U. 378; 26 P. 1114.

If by means of fraud or trick the owner is induced to part with the possession of personal property only, still meaning to retain the right of property, and the person using the fraud has at the time the intention of converting the property to his own use without the consent of the owner, the crime is larceny. But if the owner intended to part with the title as well as possession, there is no larceny.

People v. Berlin, 9 U. 383; 35 P. 498.

It is not necessary to prove that defendant intended to convert the sheep to his own use. It is sufficient that he took the sheep against the will of the owners, with the intention of permanently depriving them of their property; and the fact that he killed many, wounded others, and never returned the rest was sufficient proof of such intention.

State v. McKee, 17 U. 370; 53 P. 733.
Obtaining money under pretext of betting at cards, where everything is fixed so that only one can win, is larceny.
State v. Donaldson, 35 U. 96; 99 P. 447.

PROOF:

Evidence that, at or about the time of the alleged taking, a third person had offered for sale stock similar to that which defendant was accused of stealing, and that defendant had stated that he had purchased such stock of such third person is proper as tending to disprove felonious taking.
Territory v. Woolsey, 3 U. 470; 24 P. 765.
The evidence examined and held not to justify a verdict of guilty, and therefore should be set aside.
People v. Swasey, 6 U. 93; 21 P. 400.
State v. Nelson, 39 U. 238; 117 P. 71.
State v. Morrell, 39 U. 498; 118 P. 215.
Evidence held insufficient to show that accused knew, or had reason to believe when he branded the calf, that it was not his property.
State v. Chynoweth, 41 U. 354; 126 P. 302.
Evidence held insufficient to establish grand larceny of horses.
State v. Gordon, 28 U. 15; 76 P. 882.
Evidence held sufficient to support a verdict of guilty of larceny.
People v. Wright, 11 U. 41; 39 P. 477.
State v. Overson, 30 U. 27; 83 P. 577.
Larceny of a heifer.
State v. Frisby, 49 U. 227; 162 P. 616.
Where C. and M. went to a store during the night and C. remained outside and M. entered by the back door, and was arrested near the safe, and the drill purchased by C. that day was found near M. when arrested; held, that there was an attempt to commit larceny on the part of C. and M., and that the entry was burglarious.
People v. Morton, 4 U. 407; 11 P. 512.
"Prima facie" means presumptive evidence; the term not meaning that unless rebutted by other evidence or discredited by the circumstances, the proof becomes conclusive as to guilt.
State v. Potello, 40 U. 56; 119 P. 1023.
In a prosecution for larceny of a cow, evidence by a butcher, that shortly after the date of the larceny he purchased from the defendant a slaughtered cow, is admissible.
State v. Tidwell, 44 U. 248; 139 P. 863.
Defendant, being charged with larceny of a cow, and the hide of the cow being found on his premises, evidence of the finding of other hides on his premises is inadmissible in the absence of evidence that the animals from which the other hides had been taken had been stolen.
State v. Bowen, 43 U. 111; 134 P. 623.

POSSESSION OF STOLEN PROPERTY:

The provision concerning possession is constitutional.
State v. Converse, 40 U. 70; 119 P. 1030.
State v. Potello, 40 U. 56; 119 P. 1023.
The possession of personal property recently stolen, and the possession of which is not explained is a circumstance which the jury can consider in connection with other circumstances indicative of guilt, in arriving at their verdict.
People v. Garns, 2 U. 260.
The recent possession of stolen property seems not in this western country to be sufficient to warrant a conviction, or, at any rate, if the identification of the property was not positive, the rule of recent possession should not apply.
People v. Swasey, 6 U. 93; 21 P. 400.
If a reasonable explanation of the possession of alleged stolen property is made, and the explanation is not challenged, the defendant is entitled to an acquittal.
Id.
The defendant pointed out a certain animal in the pound to be poundkeeper and sold it to him as his own; the keeper took the animal out of the pound and turned it upon the range. Subsequently it was learned that the defendant never owned the animal and had never had it in his possession; held, that there was no trespass nor asportation, and hence no larceny.
People v. Gillis, 6 U. 84; 21 P. 404.
Possession of stolen property, if unexplained, may constitute prima facie evidence of guilt, but this presumption weakens with time; but when possession is accompanied with denials, efforts to conceal, contradictory statements, etc., it may raise a strong presumption of guilt.
People v. Chadwick, 7 U. 134; 25 P. 737.
The fact that stolen property was found in the possession of the defendant six hours after it had been stolen, even though no attempt was made to explain such possession, is not sufficient evidence to warrant a conviction.
People v. Hart, 10 U. 204; 37 P. 330.
See People v. Kerm, 8 U. 266; 30 P. 998.
But conviction sustained largely upon evidence of recent possession of stolen property.
People v. Wright, 11 U. 41; 39 P. 477.
State v. Overson, 30 U. 22; 83 P. 577.
Where the accused produces a bill of sale for the cattle, duly witnessed, and the witnesses testify as to the execution thereof, also corroborate defendant with reference to other statements, and his explanation of his possession of the cattle, not denied nor the witness impeached, held this did not entirely overcome prima facie evidence of guilt established by recent possession, and required the submission of the question to the jury.
State v. Gurr, 40 U. 162; 120 P. 209.
It is improper to charge that the possession of recently stolen property shall be deemed prima facie evidence of guilt when the party in the possession fails to make a satisfactory explanation; the burden remains with the state to prove defendant's guilt beyond a reasonable doubt.
State v. Barretta, 47 U. 479; 155 P. 343.
Where it was proven that the hide in defendant's possession was that of a stolen cow, and that the defendant stated that it was the hide of a cow belonging to him, there was sufficient evidence of the possession of a cow, within this section.
State v. Bowen, 45 U. 130; 143 P. 134.
The jury is to determine whether possession is recent or too remote.
Id.
The state cannot rely on accused's recent possession of the property, if the only evidence of the larceny is afforded by the defendant's evidence, and that shows that the larceny was committed by another.
State v. Potello, 40 U. 56; 119 P. 1023.

8286. (4356.) Larceny from mining claim, etc. Every person who shall feloniously steal, take, and carry away, or attempt to take, steal, and carry away, from any mining claim, tunnel, sluice, under-current, riffle box, or sulphuret machine, any gold dust, amalgam, or quicksilver, the property of another, shall be deemed guilty of larceny.

Cal. Pen. C., § 495s*.
Wrongful taking of ores, arrest, damages, §3938.

8287. (4357.) Larceny of lost property. Every person who finds lost property under circumstances which give him knowledge of a means of inquiry as to the true owner, and who appropriates such property to his own use, or to the use of another person not entitled thereto, without first making reasonable and just efforts to find the owner and restore the property to him, is guilty of larceny.

Cal. Pen. C., § 485.

8288. (4358.) Degrees of larceny. Larceny is divided into two degrees, the first of which is termed grand larceny; the second, petit larceny.

Cal. Pen. C., § 486.

When statute does not define degrees of larceny, jury need not find value of property stolen.

People v. Gough, 2 U. 70.

8289. (4359.) Grand larceny defined. Grand larceny is committed in either of the following cases:

1. When the property taken is of a value exceeding $50;
2. When the property taken is from the person of another;
3. When the property taken is a horse, mare, colt, gelding, cow, heifer, steer, ox, bull, calf, sheep, mule, jack, or jenny. Am'd '99, p. 50.

Cal. Pen. C., § 487*.

Under R. S. 1898, sub. 3 of above section was omitted. The next legislature re-enacted it.

Decision pointing out the distinction between § 4643 and § 2209, C. L. 1888.

In re Gannett, 11 U. 283; 39 P. 496.

A phonographic report of testimony taken upon a trial and having no intrinsic value except for such report may be the subject of larceny as personal property.

People v. McGrath, 5 U. 525; 17 P. 116.

Such phonographic report, having no market value, its value to the person who can use the testimony is the proper standard of value.

Id.

Although section 4643, C. L. 1888, was repealed by section 4359, R. S. 1898, its provisions were continued in force by § 5835, as to all offenses committed before the revised statutes went into effect, and all penalties incurred thereunder may be enforced the same as if the revised statutes had never taken effect.

State v. Woolsey, 19 U. 486; 57 P. 426.

An indictment charging the defendants with having stolen twenty mares and three horses, the property of different owners, with the names of the several owners, and specifying the number of animals belonging to each owner, and stating that "all then and there being found, unlawfully, wilfully, and feloniously did steal, take, and drive away," charges one offense, and states the facts with sufficient certainly to notify the defendants as to what they would be called on to answer.

State v. Mickel, 23 U. 507; 65 P. 484.

Under provisions of this section, it is not error in prosecution for grand larceny to instruct that the value of the stolen animal is immaterial.

State v. Bates, 25 U. 1; 69 P. 70.

Where accused was employed to solicit advertising contracts, and within about thirty-eight days collected $235 from various persons, and appropriated it to his own use, but $48 was the largest amount collected from one person at one time the taking of $235 was one embezzlement, and is grand larceny.

State v. Gibson, 37 U. 330; 108 P. 349.

8290. (4360.) Petit larceny defined. Larceny in other cases is petit larceny.

Cal. Pen. C., § 488.

8291. (4361.) Penalty for grand larceny. Grand larceny is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison for a term not less than one year nor more than ten years, and by a fine of not less than $50 nor more than $1000, or by imprisonment only. Am'd '03, p. 4.

Cal. Pen. C., § 489*.

8292. (4362.) Penalty for petit larceny. Petit larceny is punishable by a fine in any sum less than $300, or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding six months, or by both.

Cal. Pen. C., § 490*.

8293. (4363.) Larceny of written instrument. Value. If the thing stolen consists of any evidence of debt, or other written instrument, the amount of money due thereupon, or secured to be paid thereby, and remaining unsatisfied, or which in any contingency might be collected thereon, or the value of the property the title to which is shown thereby, or the sum which might be recovered in the absence thereof, is the value of the thing stolen.

Cal. Pen. C., § 492.

8294. (4364.) Larceny of passage ticket. Value. If the thing stolen is any ticket or other paper or writing entitling or purporting to entitle the holder or proprietor thereof to a passage upon any railroad, or vessel, or other public conveyance, the price at which tickets entitling a person to a like passage are usually sold by the proprietors of such conveyance is the value of such ticket, paper, or writing.

Cal. Pen. C., § 493.

8295. (4365.) Provisions apply to undelivered instrument. All the provisions of this chapter apply where the property taken is an instrument for the payment of money, evidence of debt, public security, or passage ticket, completed and ready to be issued or delivered, although the same has never been issued or delivered by the makers thereof to any person as a purchaser or owner.

Cal. Pen. C., § 494.
Indictment need not recite denomination of coin, number of security, etc., § 8849.

8296. (4366.) Provisions apply to thing severed from realty. The provisions of this chapter apply where the thing taken is any fixture or part of the realty, and is severed at the time of the taking, in the same manner as if the thing had been severed by another person at some previous time.

Cal. Pen. C., § 495. See malicious mischief, § 8390.

8297. (4367.) Receiving stolen property. Every person who, for his own gain, or to prevent the owner from again possessing his property, buys or receives any personal property exceeding $50 in value, knowing the same to have been stolen, is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison not exceeding five years; if the value of the property so bought or received be $50 or less in value, he is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Cal. Pen. C., § 496*.
Indictment hereunder describing offense in language of statute is sufficient, common law strictness not required.
People v. Gough, 2 U. 70.

8298. (4368.) Bringing stolen property into the state. Every person who, in another state or country, steals the property of another, or receives such property knowing it to have been stolen, and brings the same into this state may be convicted and punished in the same manner as if such larceny or receiving had been committed in this state.

Cal. Pen C., § 497.
Persons liable to punishment, § 7916.
Jurisdiction in such case, § 8660.
Jurisdiction where property stolen in one county is brought into another, § 8656.

8299. (4369.) Butcher failing to keep record. Every licensed butcher who fails to faithfully record and keep subject to public inspection, in a book kept by him for that purpose, a true description of the age, size, color, earmarks, and brands of all cattle killed by him, together with the name of the person from whom received, and the date of the killing of the same, upon conviction thereof, is punishable by a fine in any sum not exceeding $100 for each offense.

Cal. Pen. C., § 498*. Injury to gas main, § 8408.

8301. (4371.) Larceny of electricity. Every person who, with intent to injure or defraud, makes or causes to be made any connection by wire or other instrument with any cable or wire used for conducting or supplying electricity for power, lighting, heating, or other purpose to any burner or orifice by or at which such electricity is used or consumed for lighting, heating, power, or any other purpose, around or without passing through the meter provided for measuring and registering the quantity used or consumed, or in any other manner so as to evade payment therefor, and every person who, with like intent, injures or alters any electric meter, or obstructs its action, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Injury to electrical apparatus, etc., penalty, §§ 8408, 8435, 8436-8438.

8302. (4372.) Larceny of water. Every person who, with intent to injure or defraud, connects or causes to be connected any pipe, tube, or other instrument with any main, service-pipe, or other pipe, or conduit, or flume used for conducting water, for the purpose of taking water from such main, service-pipe, conduit, or flume without the knowledge of the owner thereof, and with intent to evade payment therefor, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Cal. Pen. C., § 499.
Larceny of water, §§ 8409, 8410.
Interfering with flow of water in stream, etc., § 8514.
Injuring canal, dam, etc., § 8394.

8303. (4373.) Larceny of goods saved from fire. Every person who saves from fire, or from a building endangered by fire, any property, and for two days thereafter corruptly neglects to notify the owner, or the chief police officer of the city or town, or sheriff of the county, in which such property is situated, is guilty of larceny.

Cal. Pen. C., § 500*.

8304. Penalty for stealing, etc., journals, brasses, etc. Any person or persons who shall unlawfully remove, take, steal, change, add to, take from, or in any manner interfere with any journal bearings or brasses, or any parts or attachments of any locomotive, tender, or car, or any fixture or attachment belonging thereto, connected with, or used in operating any locomotive, tender, or car owned, leased, or used by any railway or transportation company in this state, is guilty of a felony. '09, p. 32.

8305. Id. Penalty for buying or receiving. Every person who buys or receives any of the property described in § 8304, knowing the same to have been stolen, is guilty of a felony. '09, p. 32.

CHAPTER 46.

EMBEZZLEMENT.

8306. (4374.) Embezzlement defined. Embezzlement is the fraudulent appropriation of property by a person to whom it has been intrusted.

Cal. Pen. C., § 503.
Jurisdiction where property embezzled in one county and brought into another, § 8656.
Denomination of coin, number of security, etc., need not be pleaded, § 8849.
Complaint for embezzlement held sufficient.
State v. Blue, 17 U. 175; 53 P. 978.
Complaint for embezzlement held to charge but one offense.
Id.

8307. (4375.) Id. By officer, agent, etc. Every officer, director, trustee, clerk, servant, or agent of any association, society, or corporation, public or private, who fraudulently appropriates, to any use or purpose not in the due and lawful execution of his trust, any property which he has in his possession or under his control by virtue of his trust, or secretes the same, with a fraudulent intent to appropriate it to such use or purpose, is guilty of embezzlement.

Cal. Pen. C., § 504*.
No limitation upon prosecution for embezzlement of public money, § 8665.
An agent is guilty of embezzlement though he did not have authority from his principal to collect the money due.
State v. Gibson, 37 U. 330; 108 P. 349.

8308. (4376.) Id. By carrier. Every carrier or other person having under his control personal property for the purpose of transportation for hire, who fraudulently appropriates it to any use or purpose inconsistent with the safe keeping of such property and its transportation according to his trust, is guilty of embezzlement, whether he has broken the package in which such property is contained, or has otherwise separated the items thereof, or not.

Cal. Pen. C., § 505.

8309. (4377.) Id. By banker, trustee, etc. Every trustee, banker, merchant, broker, attorney, agent, assignee in trust, executor, administrator, or collector, or person otherwise intrusted with or having in his control property for the use of any other person, who fraudulently appropriates it to any use or purpose not in the due and lawful execution of his trust, or secretes it with a fraudulent intent to appropriate it to such use or purpose, is guilty of embezzlement.

Cal. Pen. C., § 506.

8310. (4378.) Id. By bailee, tenant, attorney in fact. Every person intrusted with any property as bailee, tenant, or lodger, or with any power of attorney for the sale or transfer thereof, who fraudulently converts the same, or the proceeds thereof, to his own use, or secretes it or them with a fraudulent intent to convert to his use, is guilty of embezzlement.

Cal. Pen. C., § 507.

8311. (4379.) Id. Bank officer overdrawing account. Every officer, agent, teller, or clerk of any savings bank who knowingly overdraws his account with such bank and thereby wrongfully obtains the money, note, or funds of such bank, is guilty of embezzlement.

Cal. Pen. C., § 561.

8312. (4380.) By clerk, agent, or servant. Every clerk, agent, or servant of any person who fraudulently appropriates to his own use, or secretes with a fraudulent intent to appropriate to his own use, any property of another which has come into his control or care by virtue of his employment as such clerk, agent, or servant, is guilty of embezzlement.

Cal. Pen. C., § 508.

Where an attorney entered into an arrangement with a firm of attorneys to supervise their collection business, without any right, indorsed and deposited to his account, checks payable to the firm's clients, neither he nor the firm had any right to the funds, hence he was not guilty of appropriating the firm's money.

State v. Harcombe, 48 U. 89; 158 P. 1096.

8313. (4381.) Distinct act of taking unnecessary. A distinct act of taking is not necessary to constitute embezzlement.

Cal. Pen. C., § 509.

8314. (4382.) Embezzlement of any evidence of debt. Any evidence of debt, negotiable by delivery only, and actually executed, is the subject of embezzlement, whether it has been delivered or issued as a valid instrument or not.

Cal. Pen. C., § 510.

8315. (4383.) Claim of title, ground of defense. Upon any indictment for embezzlement, it is a sufficient defense that the property was appropriated openly and avowedly, and under a claim of title preferred in good faith, even though such claim is untenable.

Cal. Pen. C., § 511*.

Where one defends on the ground of title, evidence that he openly offered to sell the property, and his testimony to such effect, is admissible.

State v. Coyle, 41 U. 320; 126 P. 305.

8316. (4384.) Embezzlement punishable as larceny. Every person guilty of embezzlement is punishable in the manner prescribed for feloniously stealing property of the value of that embezzled, and, where the property embezzled is an evidence of debt or right of action, the sum due upon it, or secured to be paid by it, shall be taken as its value.

Cal. Pen. C., § 514*.

Larceny, § 8285; penalty for larceny, §§ 8291, 8292; count for embezzlement, § 8834.

Cited in: State v. Gibson, 37 U. 330; 108 P. 349.

CHAPTER 47.

EXTORTION.

8320. (4385.) Extortion defined. Extortion is the obtaining of property from another with his consent, induced by a wrongful use of force or fear, or under color of official right.

Cal. Pen. C., § 518.

8321. (4386.) Id. Fear induced by threats. Fear, such as will constitute extortion, may be induced by a threat, either:

1. To do an unlawful injury to the person or property of the individual threatened, or to any relative of his, or member of his family; or,
2. To accuse him, or any relative of his, or member of his family, of any crime; or,
3. To expose or impute to him or them any deformity or disgrace; or,
4. To expose any secret affecting him or them.

Cal. Pen. C., § 519.

Threat to publish libel, penalty, § 8081.

8322. (4387.) Extortion by means of force or threat. Every person who extorts any money or other property from another, under circumstances not amounting to robbery, by means of force, or any threat, such as is mentioned in the next preceding section, is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison for a term not exceeding three years.

Cal. Pen. C., 520*.

8323. (4388.) Extortion under color of official right. Every person who commits any extortion under color of official right, in cases for which a different punishment is not prescribed in this code, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Cal. Pen. C., § 521.
Bribery, §§ 7926-7961.
Penalty for receiving illegal fees, §§ 2587-2589.

8324. (4389.) Obtaining signature by extortion. Transfer. Every person who, by any extortionate means, obtains from another his signature to any paper or instrument whereby, if such signature were freely given any property would be transferred, or any debt, demand, charge, or right of action created, is punishable in the same manner as if the actual delivery of such debt, demand, charge, or right of action were obtained.

Cal. Pen. C., § 522.

8325. (4390.) Sending threatening letter. Every person who, with intent to extort any money or other property from another, sends or delivers to any person any letter or other writing, whether subscribed or not, expressing or implying, or adapted to imply, any threat, such as is specified in § 8321, is punishable in the same manner as if such money or property were actually obtained by means of such threat.

Cal. Pen. C., § 523.
Sending threatening letter, § 8402.
Offense of sending letter deemed complete, when, § 8525.

8326. (4391.) Unsuccessful verbal threat. Every person who unsuccessfully attempts, by means of any verbal threat, such as is specified in § 8321, to extort money or other property from another is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Cal. Pen. C., § 524.

8327. (4392.) Overcharge by railroad employe. Every officer, agent, or employe of a railroad company who asks or receives a greater sum than is allowed by law for the carriage of passengers or freight is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Cal. Pen. C., § 525.

8328. Penalty for receiving or soliciting money from employes. Any superintendent, foreman, assistant, boss, or any other person or persons who shall receive or solicit, or cause to be received or solicited, any sum of money or other valuable consideration from any person for or on account of the employment, or the continuing of the employment, of such person, or of any one else, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor. '09, p. 62.

CHAPTER 48.

COERCION.

8329. Unlawful coercion. It shall be unlawful for any person to exact, by threat or coercion, any money, tribute, or support whatsoever from any person; or to induce him, by threats or coercion, to join any organization.

Interference with personal rights, penalty, § 3688.
Workers may organize, § 3651.

8330. Penalty. Any person violating any of the provisions of the preceding section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor; provided, that any person who commonly practices, or who follows the occupation of exacting money, tribute, or support from any person by means of threats or coercion, for any purpose whatsoever, shall be deemed a common vagrant and punished accordingly. '11, p. 104.

CHAPTER 49.

UNFAIR CAMPETITION AND DISCRIMINATION.

8333. Unfair competition and discrimination prohibited. Any person, firm, or corporation, foreign or domestic, doing business in the state of Utah, and engaged in the production, manufacture, or distribution of any commodity in general use, that intentionally, for the purpose of destroying the competition of any regular, established dealer in such commodity, or to prevent the competition of any person who in good faith intends and attempts to become such dealer, shall discriminate between different sections, communities, or cities of this state by selling such commodity at a lower rate in one section, community, or city, or any portion thereof, than such person, firm, or corporation, foreign or domestic, charges for such commodity in another section, community, or city, after equalizing the distance from the point of production, manufacture, or distribution and freight rates therefrom, shall be deemed guilty of unfair discrimination.

8335. Penalty. Any person, firm, or corporation violating the provisions of § 8333 shall, upon conviction thereof, be fined not less than $100, nor more than $3000 for each offense. '13, p. 53.

8336. Unfair discrimination. Penalty. Any person, firm, company, association, or corporation, foreign or domestic, doing business in the state of Utah and engaged in the business of buying milk, cream, or butter fat for the purpose of manufacture or sale, or of buying poultry or eggs for the purpose of sale or storage, that shall, for the purpose of creating a monopoly or destroying the business of a competitor, discriminate between different sections, communities, localities, cities, or towns of this state by purchasing such commodity or commodities at a higher price or rate in one section, community, location, city, or town than is paid for the same commodity by said person, firm, company, association, or corporation in another section, community, locality, city, or town, after making due allowance for the difference, if any, in the grade or quality, and in the actual cost of transportation from the point of purchase to the point of manufacture, sale, or storage, shall be deemed guilty of unfair discrimination, which is hereby prohibited and declared to be unlawful; and any person, firm, company, association, or corporation, or any officer, agent, receiver, or member of such firm, company, association, or corporation, found guilty of unfair discrimination, as herein defined, shall be punished by a fine in any sum not more than $5000, or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment. '13, p. 16; am'd '17, p. 30.

CHAPTER 50.

FALSE PERSONATION AND CHEATS.

8340. (4393.) Marrying under false personation. Every person who falsely personates another, and in such assumed character marries, or pretends to marry, or to sustain the marriage relation toward another, with or without the connivance of such other, is guilty of a felony.

Cal. Pen. C., § 528.

8341. (4394.) False personation in other cases. Every person who falsely personates another, and in such assumed character either:

1. Becomes bail or surety for any party in any proceeding whatever, before any court or officer authorized to take bail or surety; or,

2. Verifies, publishes, acknowledges, or proves, in the name of another person, any written instrument, with intent that the same may be recorded, delivered, and used as true; or,

3. Does any other act whereby, if it were done by the person falsely personated, he might, in any event, become liable to any suit or prosecution, or to pay any sum of money, or to incur any charge, forfeiture, or penalty, or whereby any benefit might accrue to the party personating, or to any other person,—is punishable by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding one year, or by fine not exceeding $1000, or by both.

Cal. Pen. C., § 529*.

8342. (4395.) Receiving property under false personation. Every person who falsely personates another, and in such assumed character receives any money, or property, knowing that it is intended to be delivered to the individual so personated, with intent to convert the same to his own use, or to that of another person, or to deprive the true owner thereof, is punishable in the same manner and to the same extent as for larceny of the money or property so received.

Cal. Pen. C., § 530. Penalty for larceny, § 8291, 8292.

8343. (4396.) Fraudulently conveying lands or chattels. Every person who is a party to any fraudulent conveyance of any lands, tenements, or hereditaments, goods, or chattels, or any right or interest issuing out of the same, or to any bond, suit, judgment, or execution, contract, or conveyance, had, made, or contrived, with intent to deceive and defraud others, or to defeat, hinder, or delay creditors or others of their just debts, damages, or demands, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Cal. Pen. C., § 531*. Conveyances to hinder or defraud, §§ 5134, 5135, 5821.
Debtor fraudulently selling or concealing property, §§ 8006, 8007.

8344. (4397.) Obtaining money by fraud punishable as larceny. Every person who knowingly and designedly, by false or fraudulent representations or pretenses, shall obtain from any other person any chose in action, money, goods, wares, chattels, effects, or other valuable thing, with intent to cheat or defraud any person of the same, if the value of the property so obtained does not exceed $50, is punishable as in cases of petit larceny, and when the property so obtained is of the value of more than $50, the person so offending shall be punishable as in cases of grand larceny.

Cal. Pen. C., § 532*. Cal. Sup. (1889) p. 466.
Penalty for larceny, §§ 8291, 8292.
Evidence on prosecution for obtaining money or property by means of false pretenses, § 8891.
An information alleging that stock subscriptions were obtained by falsely representing the corporation's condition, etc., is sufficient, although the stock was delivered, and its value may have been as represented; but if the information does not allege the value of a $250 promissory note obtained by accused, it is insufficient, and a verdict finding accused guilty as charged does not cure the failure to allege in the information the value of the property secured.
State v. Seymour, 49 U. 285; 163 P. 789.

OBTAINING CREDIT BY FALSE REPRESENTATIONS.

8345. (4397x.) Obtaining credit by false representations unlawful. Penalty.

1. Any person who shall knowingly make or cause to be made, either directly or indirectly, or through any agency whatsoever, any false statement in writing respecting the financial condition, or means of ability to pay, of himself or any other person, firm, or corporation in whom he is interested, or for whom he is acting, and thereby fraudulently procure in any form whatsoever, either the delivery of personal property, the payment in cash, the making of a loan or credit, the extension of a credit, the discount of an account receivable, or the making, acceptance, discount or indorsement of a bill of exchange, promissory note, either for the benefit of himself or such person, firm or corporation; or,

2. Who, knowing that a false statement in writing has been made, respecting the financial condition or means or ability to pay of himself, or other person, firm, or corporation in which he is interested, or for whom he is acting, procures, upon the faith thereof, either for the benefit of himself or such person, firm, or corporation, either or any of the things of benefit mentioned in the first subdivision of this section; or,

3. Who, knowing that a statement in writing has been made, respecting the financial condition or means or ability to pay of himself, or such person, firm, or corporation in which he is interested, or for whom he is acting, represents on a later day, either orally or in writing, that such statement theretofore made, if then again made on said day, would be true, and procures upon the faith thereof, either for the benefit of himself or such person, firm, or corporation either or any of the things of benefit mentioned in the first subdivision of this section, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1000, or by imprisonment in the county jail for not more than six months, or by both.

'05, p. 102; am'd '13, p. 55.

Obtaining food, etc., under false pretenses, § 8444.

8346. (4398.) Fraud in sale or mortgage without wife's assent. Every person who falsely represents himself as competent to sell or mortgage any real estate, to the validity of which sale or mortgage the assent or concurrence of his wife is necessary, and under such representation wilfully conveys or mortgages the same, is guilty of a felony.

Mont. Pen. C., § 936.
Wife's consent to mortgage exempt chattels, § 486.
Homestead, §§ 2862-2882.
Wife's statutory interest in husband's real property, §§ 6311, 6406.

ISSUING CHECKS WITHOUT SUFFICIENT FUNDS FOR PAYMENT.

8347. Issuing fraudulent check unlawful. Any person who, with intent to defraud, shall make or draw or utter or deliver any check, draft, or order for the payment of money upon any bank or other depositary, knowing at the time of such making, drawing, uttering, or delivery that the maker or drawer has not sufficient funds in or credit with such bank or other depositary for the payment of such check, draft, or order in full upon its presentation, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. The making, drawing, uttering or delivering of such check, draft, or order as aforesaid shall be prima facie evidence of intent to defraud. The word "credit" as used herein shall be construed to mean an arrangement or understanding with the bank or depositary for the payment of such check, draft or order. '13, p. 28.

SALTING MINES; FALSE ASSAYS.

8348. (4399.) Salting mines. Fraudulent assay. Every person who, with intent to cheat, wrong, or defraud, places in or upon any mine or mining claim any ores or specimens of ores not extracted therefrom, or exhibits any ore or certificate of assay of ore not extracted therefrom, for the purpose of selling any mine or mining claim or interest therein, or who obtains any money or property by any such false pretense or artifice, is guilty of a felony.

Mont. Pen. C., § 942*.
Wrongful taking of ores, § 3938.

8349. (4400.) Changing samples or assay certificate. Every person who interferes with or in any manner changes samples of ores or bullion produced for sampling, or changes or alters samples or packages of ores or bullion which have been purchased for assaying, or who shall change or alter any certificate of sampling or assaying, with intent to cheat, wrong, or defraud, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

8350. (4401.) Making or publishing false assay. All assayers, samplers, and dealers in ores are required to keep records containing the amount of ore received by them, the assay value thereof, the amount paid therefor or advanced thereon, the mine or prospect from which said ore was extracted or the person from whom procured, a general description of the person from whom purchased, together with his name and address and the date of the transaction. Every person who, with intent to cheat, wrong, or defraud, knowingly makes or publishes a false sample of ore or bullion, or who makes, or publishes, or causes to be published a false assay of ore or bullion, or violates any provision of this section, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor.

Am'd '07, p. 19.

FRAUDULENT ADVERTISING.

('13, p. 25.)

8351. Fraudulent advertising unlawful. Every person, whether in his own behalf or as an officer of a corporation or as an agent, employe, or representative of another person, firm, or corporation, who shall knowingly produce, publish, print, use, circulate, display, or transport, or cause to be produced, published, printed, used, circulated, displayed, or transported, any false, fraudulent, or misleading advertisement, or any advertisement which is objectionable or pernicious, as hereinafter defined, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

8352. Construction. Within the meaning of §§ 8351-8353, an advertisement shall be defined to be any notice or announcement made by a handbill placard, sign, newspaper, magazine, or other public print, or by an oral proclamation, of any article or thing, whether real or personal, for sale or exchange, or of any entertainment, exhibit, or amusement to which an admission fee is charged.

8353. Definition. The following kinds of advertisement shall be deemed objectionable and pernicious within the meaning of §§ 8351-8353: Advertisements of sales of "damaged goods," of "fire sales," of "bankrupt sales," of "wreck sales," and the like, where merchandise not a part of such "damaged," "fire damaged," "bankrupt stock," "wreckage stock," or other stock represented in the advertisement is offered, represented or sold as a part of such stock, and all other advertisements wilfully designed or calculated to deceive or to mislead the persons to whom they are directed.

SALE OF COAL UNDER FALSE NAME.

8354. Unlawful to sell coal under false name. No person shall sell or exchange, or offer or expose for sale or exchange, coal of any particular name or designation, or as the output of any particular mine under the name or designation of another coal or mine. '15, p. 62.

8355. Penalty. Any person who shall violate any provision of § 8354 shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. '15, p. 62.

CONFIDENCE GAME.

8356. Punishment prescribed. Every person who shall obtain or attempt to obtain from any other person or persons, any money or property, by any means, instrument, or device, commonly called confidence game, shall be imprisoned in the state prison not more than ten years. '17, p. 252.

8357. Content of indictment, information, or complaint. In every indictment, information, or complaint under the preceding section, it shall be deemed and held a sufficient description of the offense, to charge that the accused did, on, etc., unlawfully and feloniously obtain or attempt to obtain (as the case may be) from A B (here insert the name of the person or persons defrauded or attempted to be defrauded) his money (or property, in case it be not money), by means and by use of such confidence game. '17, p. 252.

CHAPTER 51.

DESTRUCTION OF PROPERTY INSURED.

8360. (4402.) Injury or destruction of insured property. Every person who wilfully burns, or in any manner injures or destroys any property which is at the time insured against loss or damage by fire or by any other casualty, with intent to defraud or prejudice the insurer, whether the same be the property of or in possession of such person or of any other, is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison not less than one nor more than ten years.

Cal. Pen. C., § 548. Arson, §§ 8248-8255.

8361. (4403.) Fraudulent claim for loss of insured property. Every person who presents, or causes to be presented, any false or fraudulent claim, or any proof in support of any such claim, upon any contract of insurance for the payment of any loss, or who prepares, makes, or subscribes any account, certificate of survey, affidavit, proof of loss, or other book, paper, or writing, with intent to present or use the same, or to allow it to be presented or used in support of any such claim, is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison not exceeding three years, or by a fine not exceeding $1000, or by both.

Cal. Pen. C., § 549.

CHAPTER 52.

FRAUDS RELATING TO CORPORATIONS.

8365. (4408.) Fraud in subscriptions for stock. Every person who signs the name of a fictitious person to any subscription for or agreement to take stock in any corporation existing or proposed, and every person who signs to any such subscription or agreement the name of any person, knowing that such person has not means or does not intend in good faith to comply with all the terms thereof, or under any understanding or agreement that the terms of such subscription or agreement are not to be complied with or enforced, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Cal. Pen. C., § 557. Formation of corporations, §§ 860-870.

8366. (4409.) Fraud in organizing corporation or increasing capital stock. Every officer, agent, or clerk of any corporation, or of any person proposing to organize a corporation, or to increase the capital stock of any corporation, who knowingly exhibits any false, forged, or altered book, paper, voucher, security, or other instrument of evidence, to any public officer or board authorized by law to examine the organization of such corporation, or to investigate its affairs, or to allow an increase of its capital, with intent to deceive such officer or board in respect thereto, is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison not less than one year nor more than ten years.

Cal. Pen. C., § 558*. Limitation on issuance and increase of capital stock, Con. art. 12, sec. 5.

8367. (4410.) Unauthorized use of name in prospectus. Every person who, without being authorized so to do, subscribes the name of another to, or inserts the name of another in, any prospectus, circular, or other advertisement or announcement of any corporation or joint stock association, existing or intended to be formed, with intent to permit the same to be published, and thereby to lead persons to believe that the person whose name is so subscribed is an officer, agent, member, or promoter of such corporation or association, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Cal. Pen. C., § 559.

8368. (4411.) Misconduct of directors. Every director of any stock corporation who concurs in any vote or act of the directors of such corporation or any of them, by which it is intended either:

1. To make any dividend, except from the surplus profits arising from the business of the corporation, and in the cases and manner allowed by law, or,

2. To divide, withdraw, or in any manner, except as provided by law, pay to the stockholders, or any of them, any part of the capital stock of the corporation; or,

3. To discount or receive any note or other evidence of debt in payment of any instalment actually called in and required to be paid, or with the intent to provide the means of making such payment; or,

4. To receive or discount any note or other evidence of debt, with the intent to enable any stockholder to withdraw any part of the money paid in by him, or his stock; or,

5. To receive from any other stock corporation in exchange for the shares, notes, bonds, or other evidences of debt of their own corporation, shares of the capital stock of such other corporation, or notes, bonds, or other evidences of debt issued by such corporation,—is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Cal. Pen. C., § 560.
Dividends may be paid out of profits earned and on hand, § 869.
Civil liability of directors, note to § 871.
Bank may purchase bank stock, § 968.
Irrigation company may take stock in another irrigation company, § 1228, sub. 11.
Railroad company may purchase or exchange stock, § 1228, sub. 11.
Capital stock means the capital stock of the corporation on which it transacts business, whether it consists of moneys, properties, or other valuable commodities, and the transfer of all the property rights, except the franchises to exist, of the corporation, to another corporation, on an agreement that the consideration of the transfer must be distributed to the stockholders of the selling corporation, is, as to the creditors of the selling corporation, not only fraudulent, but unlawful.
Cooper v. Utah Light & Ry. Co., 35 U. 570; 102 P. 202.

8369. (4412.) Agent of insolvent bank receiving deposits. Every officer, agent, teller, or clerk of any bank, and every individual banker, or agent, teller, or clerk of any individual banker, who receives any deposits, knowing that such bank or banker is insolvent, is guilty of a felony.

Cal. Pen. C., § 562.
Legal reserve, §§ 996-998.

8370. (4413.) Fraud or misconduct of officer or agent of corporation. Every director, officer, or agent of any corporation or association who knowingly receives or possesses himself of any property of such corporation or association, otherwise than in payment of a just demand, and who, with intent to defraud, omits to make, or to cause or direct to be made, a full and true entry thereof in the books or accounts of such corporation or association; and every director, officer, agent, or member of any corporation or association who embezzles, abstracts, or wilfully misapplies any of the money, funds, or credits of the corporation or association; or who, without authority from the directors, issues or puts in circulation any of the notes of the corporation or association; or who, without such authority, issues or puts forth any certificate of deposit, draws any order or bill of exchange, makes any acceptance, assigns any note, bond, draft, bill of exchange, mortgage, judgment, or decree; or who makes any false entry in any book, report, or statement of the corporation or association; or who issues any fraudulent, fictitious, or illegal stock in any such corporation or association, with intent in either case to injure or defraud the corporation or association, or any other company, body politic or corporate, or any individual person, or to deceive any officer of the corporation or association, or any agent appointed to examine the affairs of any such corporation or association; and every person who, with like intent, aids or abets any officer, clerk, or agent in any violation of this section, shall be deemed guilty of a felony, and, on conviction thereof, shall be imprisoned in the state prison for not less than one year nor more than ten years, and be fined in any sum less than $10,000. Am'd '01, p. 60.

R. S. U. S. (1878) § 5209*. Cal. Pen. C., § 563*.

8371. (4414.) Making false reports of corporation or bank. Every director, officer, or agent of any corporation or joint stock association, and every private banker who knowingly makes or concurs in making or publishing any written report, exhibit, or statement of its affairs or pecuniary condition, containing any material statement which is false, other than such as are mentioned in this chapter, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Cal. Pen. C., 564*.
Bank reports to secretary of state, §§ 1002, 1003.

8372. (4415.) Refusal of inspection of corporate books. Every officer or agent of any corporation, having or keeping an office within this state, who has in his custody or control any book, paper, or document of such corpration, and who refuses to give to a stockholder or member of such corporation, lawfully demanding, during office hours, to inspect or take a copy of the same, or of any part thereof, a reasonable opportunity so to do, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Cal. Pen. C., § 565.
Books subject to inspection of bona fide stockholders, § 876.
The stockholder has a right to inspect the corporate books, regardless of his purpose.
Kimball v. Dern, 39 U. 181; 116 P. 28.
He may do so by an agent, the only qualification being that he must examine them at a reasonable time and not unnecessarily interfere with the corporation's work.
Clawson v. Clayton Inv. Co., 33 U. 266; 93 P. 729.

8373. (4416.) Railroad creating debt in excess of available means. Every officer, agent, or stockholder of any railroad company who knowingly assents to, or has an agency in contracting, any debt by or on behalf of such company, unauthorized by a special law for the purpose, the amount of which debt, with other debts of the company, exceeds its available means for the payment of its debts, in its possession, under its control and belonging to it at the time such debt is contracted, including its bona fide and available stock subscriptions and exclusive of its real estate, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Cal. Pen. C., § 566.

8374. (4417.) Id. Validity of debt not affected. The next preceding section does not affect the validity of a debt created in violation of its provisions, as against the company.

Cal. Pen. C., § 567.

8375. (4418.) Director presumed to have knowledge. Every director of a corporation or joint stock association is deemed to possess such a knowledge of the affairs of his corporation as to enable him to determine whether any act, proceeding, or omission of its directors is a violation of this chapter.

Cal. Pen. C., § 568.
Director liable for good faith and diligence, note to § 871.

8376. (4419.) Concurrence of director presumed if present. Every director of a corporation or joint stock association who is present at a meeting of the directors at which any act, proceeding, or omission of such directors in violation of this chapter occurs, is deemed to have concurred therein, unless he at the time causes, or in writing requires, his dissent therefrom to be entered in the minutes of the directors.

Cal. Pen. C., § 569.

8377. (4420.) When assent presumed if director absent. Every director of a corporation or joint stock association, although not present at a meeting of the directors at which any act, proceeding, or omission of such directors in violation of this chapter occurs, is deemed to have concurred therein, if the facts constituting such violation appear on the records or minutes of the proceedings of the board of directors, and he remains a director of the same company for six months thereafter, and does not within that time cause, or in writing require, his dissent from such illegality to be entered in the minutes of the directors.

Cal. Pen. C., § 570.

8378. (4421.) Foreign corporation on same footing as local. It is no defense to a prosecution for a violation of any of the provisions of this chapter that the corporation was one created by the laws of another state, government, or country, if it was one carrying on business or keeping an office therefor within this state.

Cal. Pen. C., § 571.
Foreign corporations, Con. art. 12, sec. 6; §§ 914, 915, 917.

8379. (4422.) "Director" defined. The term "director," as used in this chapter, embraces any of the persons having by law the direction or management of the affairs of a corporation, by whatever name such persons are described in its charter or known by law.

Cal. Pen. C., § 572.

CHAPTER 53.

INJURIES TO RAILROADS, HIGHWAYS, ETC.

8383. (4423.) Injuring or obstructing railroads. Every person who maliciously either:

1. Removes, disables, injures, or in any way interferes with, changes, or destroys any part of any railroad, whether for cars propelled by steam or any other motive power, or any track of any railroad, or any branch or branch-way, switch, block, or other signal or signaling device, turnout, bridge, viaduct, culvert, embankment, station house, or other structure or fixture, or any part thereof, attached to or connected with any railroad; or,

2. Places any obstruction upon the rails or track of any railroad, or of any switch, branch, branch-way, or turnout connected with any such railroad, —is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison not exceeding ten years, or in the county jail not exceeding one year. Am'd '07, p. 59.

Cal. Pen. C., § 587*.

Negligence, etc., of railroad employes, §§ 8201-8204.

Entering, etc., railroad cars, §§ 8266, 8267.

An information under this section which failed to allege that the cars were connected with the railroad and propelled by steam or other motive power was insufficient.
State v. McKenna, 24 U. 317; 67 P. 815.

The provisions of Con. art. 8, sec. 9, authorize an appeal by the state on the discharge of one accused of a violation of the provisions of this section.
Id.

8384. (4424.) Injuring highway. Every person who maliciously digs up, removes, displaces, breaks, or otherwise injures or destroys any public highway or bridge, or any private way laid out by authority of law, or bridge upon such highway or private way, is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison not exceeding three years, or in the county jail not exceeding six months.

Cal. Pen. C., § 588*.

CHAPTER 54.

MALICIOUS MISCHIEF.

8385. (4425.) Malicious mischief defined. Every person who maliciously injures or destroys any real or personal property not his own, in cases otherwise than such as are specified in this code, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Cal. Pen. C., § 594.

8386. (4426.) Succeeding sections not restrictive. The specification of the acts enumerated in the following sections of this chapter is not intended to restrict or qualify the interpretation of the preceding section.

Cal. Pen. C., § 595.

8387. (4427.) Poisoning animals. Cruelty to animals, § 8388; docking horses' tails, § 8423.

8417. (4454.) Fighting or baiting animals. Witnessing. Any person who shall keep or use any bull, bear, dog, cock, or other animal, fowl, or bird, for the purpose of fighting or baiting, and any person who shall be a party to or be present as a spectator at any such fighting or baiting of any bear, bull, dog, cock, or other animal, fowl, or bird, and any person who shall rent any building, shed, room, yard, ground, or premises for the purpose of fighting or baiting any animal, fowl, or bird, as aforesaid, or shall knowingly suffer or permit the use of any building, shed, room, yard, ground, or premises belonging to him or under his control for either or any of the purposes aforesaid, shall, on conviction thereof, be adjudged guilty of a misdemeanor.

abled animal to die in any public place; or who shall carry, or cause to be carried, any live animal in or upon any vehicle ,or otherwise, without providing suitable racks, cars, crates, or cages, in which such animals may stand or lie down during transportation, and whilst awaiting slaughter, shall, upon conviction thereof, be adjudged guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished for every such offense in the manner provided in § 8416.

8419. (4456.) Id. Arrest of violators. Seizure of animals. Any person found violating any of the provisions of this chapter may be arrested and held without warrant in like manner as in the case of persons found breaking the peace, and it shall be the duty of the sheriff, constable, or other officer witnessing a violation of any of the provisions of this chapter, or upon request of any person who did witness a violation of any of the provisions of this chapter, to make such arrest; and it shall be the duty of the person making the arrest to seize all animals found in the keeping or custody of the person arrested, and which are then being used or held for use in violation of any of the provisions of this chapter, and the person making such seizure shall cause such animals or fowls to be at once delivered to a poundmaster of the town, village, or city in which the same may be, and it shall be the duty of such poundmaster to receive such animals or fowls, and to hold the same to be delivered to the owner or his agent upon the payment of all charges for the maintenance of said animals or fowls. Am'd '07, p. 229.

8420. (4457.) Id. Search warrant. Arrest. Destruction of implements. When complaint is made, on oath or affirmation, to any magistrate of competent jurisdiction, that the complainant believes that any of the provisions of this chapter are being, or are about to be, violated in any particular building or place, such magistrate, if satisfied that there is reasonable cause for such belief, shall issue and deliver a search warrant to any sheriff, constable, or police officer, authorizing him to search such building or place, and to arrest any person engaged in violating any of the provisions of this chapter, as well as any person there present and aiding or abetting therein, and to bring such persons before some magistrate of competent jurisdiction, to be dealt with according to law. Such officer shall, at the same time, seize and bring to said magistrate every article or instrument found in said building or place especially designed or adapted to torture or inflict wounds upon any animal, or to aid in the fighting or baiting of any animal; and unless, within ten days after the trial of the person or persons so arrested, the owner of such article or instrument shall show to the satisfaction of said magistrate that the same is not designed or adapted to the wounding or torture of animals, or, if so designed or adapted, is not intended to be used or employed for such purpose, the magistrate shall destroy such article or instrument.

8421. (4458.) Society for prevention of cruelty to animals may nominate deputy sheriff. Any society incorporated in this state for the purpose of preventing cruelty to animals may designate one or more persons in each county of the state to discover and prosecute all cases of the violation of the provisions of this chapter; and it shall be the duty of the sheriff of such county to appoint each person so designated a deputy sheriff, provided such person shall be of good moral character, and each person so appointed by the sheriff shall possess all the powers of a sheriff of the county in the enforcement of the provisions of this chapter. The sheriff, however, shall not be responsible for any acts of such person, but the society, if incorporated, and, if not, then the officers and members of the society, on the request of which such person was appointed, shall be liable in the degree of a principal for the acts of an agent. Such deputy so appointed shall receive no compensation from the county for such services.

8422. (4459.) Words in this chapter defined. Acts of agents. In this chapter the word "animal" or "animals" shall be held to include all brute creatures, and the words "owner" and "person" and "whoever" shall be held to include corporations as well as individuals; and the knowledge and acts of agents of, and persons employed by, corporations in regard to animals transported, owned, or employed by, or in custody of, such corporations, shall be held to be the acts and knowledge of such corporations.

DOCKING HORSES' TAILS.

8423. (4459x.) Penalty for docking horse's tail. Whoever cuts the bone of the tail of any horse for the purpose of docking the tail, or whoever causes or knowingly permits it to be done upon premises of which he is the owner, lessee, proprietor, or user, or whoever assists in the operation, shall be punished by fine of not less than $25 nor more than $100. '01, p. 182.

8424. (4459x1.) Id. Prima facie evidence. If a horse is found with its tail so cut, and with the wound resulting from such cutting unhealed, upon the premises of any person, such fact shall be prima facie evidence that the person who occupies or has the use of the premises on which such horse is so found has committed the offense described in § 8423. '01, p. 182.

8425. (4459x2.) Id. If a horse is found with his tail so cut, and with the wound resulting from such cutting unhealed, in the charge or custody of any person, such fact shall be prima facie evidence that the person having charge or custody of such horse has committed the offense charged in § 8423. '01, p. 182.

8426. (4459x3.) Id. Fines collected for cruelty to animals paid to Utah Humane Society. In all cases of prosecution for cruelties inflicted upon dumb animals, the fines collected upon or resulting from the complaint or information of any officer or agent of the Utah Humane Society shall be paid to said society, less a sum equal to the expense of prosecution, which sum shall be determined by the court or trial justice. '01, p. 182.

APPRAISEMENT AND DISPOSITION OF USELESS ANIMALS.

8427. (4459x4.) Disposal of abandoned diseased or disabled animal. Any officer or agent of the Utah Humane Society may take charge of any animal found abandoned that may appear to be diseased or disabled beyond recovery for any useful purpose; and thereupon shall, as quickly as may be, cause such animal to be appraised under oath by two reputable citizens who shall view the same in his presence and determine its value, and if such appraised value does not exceed $5, such officer may at once cause said animal to be killed in a humane manner. Said society shall thereupon be indebted to the owner for the amount of its value, except when the appraisers determine that the death of the animal was rendered necessary by the owner's wilful abandonment or cruelty; and said society shall pay to the appraisers a reasonable compensation for their services. '01, p. 182.

CHAPTER 56.

MISCELLANEOUS OFFENSES.

TELEGRAPHIC, ETC., MESSAGES; OFFENSES.

'07, p. 17.

8499. (4487x16.) Sterling silver on certain articles. Stamping. Any person, firm, corporation, or associatian who makes or sells, or offers to sell or dispose of, or has in his, her, or its possession with intent to sell or dispose of, any article of merchandise comprised of leather, shell, ivory, celluloid, pearl, glass, porcelain, pottery, steel, or wood to which is applied or attached a metal mounting marked, stamped, or branded with the words "sterling" or "sterling silver," or any other word or words, figure or figures, or combination of letters or figures, or abbreviation in any manner simulating the words "sterling" or "sterling silver," or any article of merchandise composed of works or movements and a case or covering applied or attached thereto, wholly or partially concealing said works or movements, marked, stamped, or branded "sterling" or "sterling silver," or any other word or words, figure or figures, or combination of letters or figures, or abbreviation in any manner simulating the words "sterling" or "sterling silver," unless said applied or attached metal mounting, case, or covering shall contain not less than nine hundred and twenty-five one-thousandths parts of pure silver, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor. '07, p. 17.

8500. (4487x17.) Id. Coin or coin silver. Stamping. Any person, firm, corporation, or association who marks or sells or offers to sell or dispose of, or has in his or her possession with intent to sell or dispose of, any article of merchandise marked, stamped, or branded with the words "coin" or "coin silver," whose component parts are made of the same metal soldered together, which article is marked, stamped, or branded with the words "coin" or "coin silver," or encased or enclosed in any box, package, cover, or wrapper, or other thing in, by, or with which the said article is packed, enclosed, or otherwise prepared for sale or disposition, having thereon any engraving or printed label, stamp, imprint, mark, or trade mark indicating or denoting by such engraving, printing, stamping, marking, or branding that such article is coin or coin silver, unless nine hundred one-thousandths parts of the component parts of the metal of which the said article is manufactured is pure silver, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor. '07, p. 18.

8501. (4487x18.) Id. Any person, firm, corporation, or association who makes or sells, or offers to sell or dispose of, or has in his, her, or its possession with intent to sell or dispose of, any article of merchandise comprised of leather, shell, ivory, celluloid, pearl, glass, porcelain, pottery, steel, or wood to which is applied or attached a metal mounting marked, stamped, or branded with the words "coin" or "coin silver," or any article of merchandise comprised of works or movements and a case or covering applied or attached thereto, wholly or partially concealing said works or movements, marked, stamped, or branded "coin" or "coin silver," unless said applied or attached metal mounting, case, or covering shall contain not less than nine hundred one-thousandths parts of pure silver, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor. '07, p. 18.

PROTECTION OF CLIFF DWELLERS' RELICS.

8505. (4487x19.) Removing relics. Effacing hieroglyphics. Any person or persons who shall take from, remove, or carry off from any public land in this state, or any land not his own and without permission of the owner thereof, any relics, consisting of baskets, jars, cups, urns, utensils, bones, bodies, mummies, or any other relics known as cliff dwellers' relics, or the relics of any ancient races of people, or who shall destroy or efface any hieroglyphics, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. '07, p. 33.

UNLAWFUL USE OF MEDALS, ETC.

8506. (4487x20.) Unlawful to use or wear certain medals. It shall be unlawful for any person to wear the badge, insignia, or rosette of the Grand Army of the Republic, or of the military order of the Loyal Legion of the United States, or the Spanish War Veterans, or the medals presented by the state to the Utah Volunteers, and Indian War Veterans, or the charm, badge, button, or emblem of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks of the United States of America, or of the order of the Knights of Pythias, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, or of any society, order, or organization of ten years' standing in the state of Utah, or to use same to obtain aid or assistance within this state, or wilfully to use the name of such society, order, or organization, the title of its officers or its insignia, ritual, or ceremonies, unless entitled to use or wear the same. Any person convicted of a violation of any of the provisions of this section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor. '07, p. 35.

NEGLIGENT USE OF BARBED WIRE.

8507. (4487x21.) Negligent use of unbaled barbed wire. It shall be unlawful for any person, firm, or corporation to leave any unbaled barbed wire loose upon any lane, street, road, highway, range, or public place, or, in using barbed wire for fencing purposes, to permit the same to become loose or unfastened and allow it to so remain as to endanger the public. Any person violating any of the provisions of this section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and be fined in a sum not exceeding $100. '07, p. 37.

COMMENCING ACTION IN WRONG PRECINCT.

8510. (4487x22.) Commencement of actions in wrong precinct. Any party to any suit or proceeding, or any attorney or agent for such party, who knowingly commences, prosecutes, or maintains any action, suit, or proceeding in any justice's court, other than as provided by § 7426, is guilty of a misdemeanor. '07, p. 86.

8511. (4487x23.) Assuming joint liability to confer jurisdiction. Any person who binds himself, or voluntarily becomes liable jointly or jointly and severally with any other person, for the purpose of conferring jurisdiction of any cause upon any justice of the peace in any precinct or city that would be without jurisdiction except for such liability of such joint obligor, and any person, or his attorney or agent, who induces such person to assume such liability for the purpose of conferring jurisdiction upon the court of such justice of the peace is guilty of a misdemeanor. '07, p. 86.

WRONGFUL ISSUANCE OF ATTACHMENT.

8512. (4487x24.) Unlawful to issue writ of attachment, when. It is hereby declared and made unlawful for any justice of the peace to issue any writ of attachment, and for any party, and any agent or attorney of such party, to advise, induce, or procure the issuance thereof in any action, suit, or proceeding before the affidavit therefor is filed, or where the affidavit filed therefor does not conform substantially with the requirements of § 6706. Any person violating any of the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be liable to the person whose property, credits, money, or earnings are so attached for double the value thereof, together with all costs paid by him, and all damages incurred in such attachment proceedings. '07, p. 122.

COERCING EMPLOYE TO BOARD OR TRADE.

8513. (4487x25.) No person must compel employe to board at particular house or trade at particular store. Every person, body corporate, agent, manager, or employer doing business in the state of Utah who, by coercion, intimidation, threats, or undue influence, compels his employes to board at a particular boarding house, or to trade with or at a particular store, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor. '01, p. 39.

8514. (4487x26.) Penalty for interfering with flow of water. Every person who in any way interferes with or alters the flow of water in any stream, ditch, or lateral, while under the control or management of any water commissioner, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor. '07, p. 57.

Interfering with water faucets, etc., §§ 8408, 8409.

Interference with or larceny of water, §§ 8302, 8410.

Injury to canal, dam, etc., § 8394.

CHAPTER 57.

GENERAL PROVISIONS.

8520. (4488.) A crime punishable under one provision only. An act or omission which is made punishable in different ways by different provisions of this code may be punished under either of such provisions, but in no case can it be punished under more than one; an acquittal or conviction and sentence under either one bars a prosecution for the same act or omission under any other.

Cal. Pen. C., § 654.

A person shall not be twice put in jeopardy for the same offense, Con. art. 1, sec. 12.

Decisions on twice in jeopardy, note to § 8905.

A conviction for unlawful cohabitation is a bar to prosecution for adultery, where the act charged was part and incident of the unlawful cohabitation for which a conviction was had.

Ex parte Neilsen, 131 U. S. 176.

This section cannot be considered to authorize the enforcement of both § 8208, making the sale of liquors to an Indian a felony, and chap. 106, Laws 1911, making it a misdemeanor.

State v. Carman, 44 U. 353; 140 P. 670.

8521. (4489.) Act punishable under foreign law also. Effect. An act or omission declared punishable by this code is not less so because it is also punishable under the laws of another state, government, or country, unless the contrary is expressly declared.

Cal. Pen. C., § 655.

8522. (4490.) Foreign acquittal or conviction a bar. Whenever on the trial of an accused person it appears that upon a criminal prosecution under the laws of a state, government, or country, founded upon the act or omission in respect to which he is on trial, he has been acquitted or convicted, it is a sufficient defense.

Cal. Pen. C., § 656.
Similar section, § 8652.
Conviction, acquittal, or once in jeopardy a bar, § 8905, and note.

8523. (4491.) When act both crime and contempt. A criminal act is not less punishable as a crime because it is also declared to be punishable as a contempt.

Cal. Pen. C., § 657.
Contempt generally, §§ 7058-7073.

8524. (4492.) Id. Mitigation if contempt has been punished. When it appears at the time of passing sentence upon a person convicted upon indictment or information, that such person has already paid a fine or suffered an imprisonment for the act of which he stands convicted, under an order adjudging it a contempt, the court authorized to pass sentence may mitigate the punishment to be imposed, in its discretion.

Cal. Pen. C., § 658*.

8525. (4493.) Unlawfully sending letter. When offense complete. In the various cases in which the sending of a letter is made criminal by this code, the offense is deemed complete from the time when such letter is deposited in any postoffice, or any other place, or delivered to any person, with intent that it shall be forwarded.

Cal. Pen. C., § 660.
Sending threatening letter, §§ 8325, 8402.

8526. (4494.) Where act has been performed by one for another. Effect. No person is punishable for an omission to perform an act where such act has been performed by another person acting in his behalf and competent by law to perform it.

Cal. Pen. C., § 662.

8527. (4495.) Attempt defined. Conviction although crime committed. Any act done with intent to commit a crime, and tending but failing to effect its commission, is an attempt to commit a crime. Any person may be convicted of an attempt to commit a crime, although it appears on the trial that the crime intended or attempted was perpetrated by such person in pursuance of such attempt, unless the court, in its discretion, discharges the jury and directs such person to be tried for such crime.

Cal. Pen. C., § 663*.
Description in indictment of person upon whom injury attempted, § 8838.
Attempts to kill, §§ 8045, 8046, and note.
Assaults with intent to commit felonies, §§ 8047-8050.
Failure of attempt but commission of another crime, § 8529.
Under this section, and the provisions of § 8109, making it a felony to have sexual intercourse with a female under the age of consent, an information charging that accused did attempt to have sexual intercourse with a female under the age of consent sufficiently charges a public offense as against an attack made after verdict.
State v. Evans, 27 U. 12; 73 P. 1047
It is proper to prove just what the accused did when he is charged with an attempt at carnal knowledge.
State v. Benson, 46 U. 74; 148 P. 445.

8528. (4496.) Id. Penalties for attempts. Every person who attempts to commit any crime, but fails, or is prevented or intercepted in the perpetration thereof, is punishable, where no provision is made by law for the punishment of such attempt, as follows:

1. If the offense so attempted is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison for five years or more, or by imprisonment in a county jail, the person guilty of such attempt is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison, or in a county jail, as the case may be, for a term not exceeding one-half the longest term of imprisonment prescribed upon a conviction of the offense so attempted; provided, that in case such longest term be for life, the imprisonment shall be for not more than twenty years;

2. If the offense so attempted is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison for any term less than five years, the person guilty of such attempt is punishable by imprisonment in the county jail for not more than one year;

3. If the offense so attempted is punishable by a fine, the offender convicted of such attempt is punishable by a fine not exceeding one-half the largest fine which may be imposed upon a conviction of the offense so attempted;

4. If the offense so attempted is punishable by imprisonment and by a fine, the offender convicted of such attempt may be punished by both imprisonment and fine not exceeding one-half the longest term of imprisonment and one-half the largest fine which may be imposed upon a conviction for the offense so attempted.

Cal. Pen. C., § 664.
When agreement to commit a crime is a conspiracy, §§ 8018-8020.
Petitioner was sentenced to imprisonment for twelve years for an attempt to commit murder; held, that under § 4744, C. L. 1888, providing that a person attempting to commit a crime may be sentenced to imprisonment not exceeding half of the longest term for which he might have been imprisoned had he committed the crime, the petitioner might be sentenced for twelve years, although it was uncertain that he would have lived twenty-four years had be committed the crime and been sentenced for life.
In re De Camp, 15 U. 158; 49 P. 823.
Attempts to murder otherwise than by poisoning or assault are included in the general description of attempted crimes defined in § 4744, C. L. 1888.
Id.

8529. (4497.) Id. Failure of attempt, but commission of other crime. The next two preceding sections do not protect a person who, in attempting unsuccessfully to commit a crime, accomplishes the commission of another and different crime, whether greater or less in guilt, from suffering the punishment prescribed by law for the crime committed.

Cal. Pen. C., § 665.
Conspiracy to rob resulting in murder, note to § 8043.

8530. (4498.) When imprisonment commences. When any person is convicted of two or more crimes, either before or after sentence has been pronounced upon him for either, the imprisonment to which he is sentenced upon the second or other subsequent conviction must commence at the termination of the first term of imprisonment to which he shall be adjudged, or at the termination of the second or other subsequent term of imprisonment, as the case may be. Am'd '17, p. 46.

Cal. Pen. C., § 669. Similar section, § 9054, and note.

8531. (4499.) Id. When term of imprisonment begins. Temporary release. The term of imprisonment fixed by the judgment in a criminal action commences to run only upon the actual delivery of the defendant at the place of imprisonment, and if thereafter during such term the defendant by any legal means is temporarily released from such imprisonment and subsequently returned thereto, the time during which he was at large must not be computed as part of such term.

Cal. Pen. C., § 670. Delivery of defendant after judgment, §§ 9169, 9170.
Conviction of two or more offenses, § 9054.

8532. (4500.) Penalty when maximum imprisonment not fixed. Whenever any person is declared punishable for a crime by imprisonment in the state prison for a term not less than any specified number of years, and no limit to the duration of such imprisonment is declared, the court authorized to pronounce judgment upon such conviction may, in its discretion, sentence such offender to imprisonment during his natural life, or for any number of years not less than that prescribed.

Cal. Pen. C., § 671.
Court to determine and impose punishment, §§ 7898, 7899.

8533. (4501.) Civil rights suspended by term less than life. A sentence of imprisonment in the state prison for any term less than for life suspends all civil rights of the person so sentenced during such imprisonment, and forfeits all private trusts and all public offices, authority, or power.

Cal. Pen. C., § 673*.

8534. (4502.) Id. Prisoner for life thereafter deemed civilly dead. A person sentenced to imprisonment in the state prison for life is thereafter deemed civilly dead.

Cal. Pen. C., § 674.

8535. (4503.) Id. Two preceding sections qualified. The provisions of the two next preceding sections must not be construed to render the persons therein mentioned incompetent as witnesses upon the trial of a criminal action or proceeding, or incapable of making and acknowledging a sale or conveyance of property, or to make a last will and testament or to do such other acts as are permitted by law.

Cal. Pen. C., § 675*.

8536. (4504.) Person of convict under protection of law. The person of a convict sentenced to imprisonment in the state prison is under the protection of the law, and any injury to his person, not authorized by law, is punishable in the same manner as if he were not convicted or sentenced.

Cal. Pen. C., § 676.
Inhumanity to prisoner, §§ 8001, 8003.
Persons imprisoned not to be treated with unnecessary rigor, Con. art. 1, sec. 9.

8537. (4505.) No forfeiture unless expressly provided. No conviction of any person for crime works any forfeiture of any property, except in cases in which a forfeiture is expressly imposed by law, and all forfeitures to this state in the nature of a deodand, or where any person shall flee from justice, are abolished.

Cal. Pen. C., § 677.
Bill of attainder forbidden, Con. art. 1, sec. 18.

TITLE 120.

CODE OF CRIMINAL PROCEDURE.

CHAPTER 1.

PRELIMINARY PROVISIONS.

8546. (4506.) Name of title. This title shall be known as the Code of Criminal Procedure.

8547. (4507.) Criminal procedure shall be as herein prescribed. The procedure in criminal cases in the courts of this state shall be as prescribed in this code.

Prosecutions pending when repeal takes effect to be conformed to provisions of revised statutes, as far as consistent, § 5836.
No part of revised statutes retroactive, § 5840.
No ex post facto law shall be passed, Con. art. 1, sec. 18.
Rules of pleading in criminal cases, §§ 8828-8855, and notes.

8548. (4508.) Legal conviction must precede punishment. No person shall be punished for a public offense, except upon a legal conviction in a court having jurisdiction thereof.

Cal. Pen. C., § 681.
No person shall be deprived of life or liberty without due process of law, Con. art. 1, sec. 7.

8549. (4509.) Prosecution by information or indictment. Other prosecutions. Every public offense must be prosecuted by information after examination and commitment by a magistrate, unless the examination be waived by the accused with the consent of the state, or by indictment, with or without such examination and commitment, except:

1. Where proceedings shall be had for the removal of a civil officer of the state, of a political subdivision thereof, of a municipality, or of a school district;

2. Offenses arising in the militia when in actual service, and in the land and naval forces in time of war or public danger, or which the state may keep, with the consent of congress, in time of peace;

3. Offenses triable in justices' and police courts.

Cal. Pen. C., § 682*.
Prosecution by information or indictment after examination and commitment, or waiver, Con. art. 1, sec. 13, and note.
Removal of civil officer, Con. art. 6, sec. 21; §§ 8625-8640.
Powers of courts-martial not affected by Penal Code, § 7897.
Powers of courts-martial, §§ 3858-3862.
All offenses prosecuted by information or indictment, except, § 8773.
Preliminary examination, §§ 8737-8769.
The information filed, when, §§ 8779, 8780.
Rules of pleading, forms of informations and indictments, §§ 8828-8850, and notes.
Finding of indictment, §§ 8820-8823.

By waiving examination, accused waives defects in complaint.
U. S. v. Eldredge, 5 U. 161; 13 P. 673.
It is not necessary that proof be offered at the trial that accused was bound over by a magistrate for the offense charged. Having waived this objection when called upon to plead, it is too late to review it on appeal.
State v. Spencer, 15 U. 149; 49 P. 302.
A prisoner has the right, with consent of the state, to waive examination before committing magistrate; and if none was had and he goes to trial without objection, the examination will be presumed to have been waived, and after trial he will be precluded from insisting on the objection.
State v. Norman, 16 U. 457; 52 P. 986.
State v. Pierpont, 16 U. 476; 52 P. 992.
An information charging that there was inflicted upon the body of deceased one mortal wound, from which mortal wound deceased languished a short time, and then on a certain date died, is not defective in failing to charge that deceased languished and died from the wound inflicted.
State v. Inlow, 44 U. 485; 141 P. 530.

8550. (4510.) Criminal action defined. The proceeding by which a person charged with a public offense is accused and brought to trial and punishment is known as a criminal action.

Cal. Pen. C., § 683.

8551. (4511.) Prosecutions to be in the name of the state. A criminal action shall be prosecuted in the name of the state of Utah, as a party, against the person charged with the offense.

Cal. Pen. C., § 684*.
All prosecutions to be conducted in the name and by the authority of "The State of Utah," Con. art. 8, sec. 18.

8552. (4512.) Party prosecuted known as defendant. The party prosecuted in a criminal action is designated in this code as the defendant.

Cal. Pen. C., § 685.

8553. (4513.) Rights of the defendant. In criminal prosecutions, the defendant shall be entitled:

1. To appear and defend in person and by counsel;
2. To demand the nature and cause of the accusation against him, and to have a copy thereof;
3. To testify in his own behalf;
4. To be confronted by the witness against him, except that where the charge has been preliminarily examined before a committing magistrate and the testimony taken down by question and answer, in the presence of the defendant, who has, either in person or by counsel, cross-examined, or has had an opportunity to cross-examine, the witness, or where the testimony of a witness on the part of the state, who is unable to give security for his appearance, has been taken conditionally in like manner in the presence of the defendant, who has, either in person or by counsel, cross-examined, or has had an opportunity to cross-examine, the witness, the deposition of such witness may be read, upon it being satisfactorily shown to the court that he is dead or insane, or cannot, with due diligence, be found within the state;
5. To have compulsory process to compel the attendance of witnesses in his own behalf;
6. To have a speedy public trial by an impartial jury of the county or district in which the offense is alleged to have been committed;
7. To the right of appeal in all cases.

Cal. Pen. C., § 686*.
When reported testimony may be used on subsequent trial, § 9277.
Testimony of witnesses on preliminary may be taken, use as evidence, §§ 8765-8767, and note.
Constitutional rights of accused, Con. art. 1, secs. 7-13, and notes.
Decisions on twice in jeopardy, etc., note to § 8905.
Right to testify; right to refuse to answeer incriminating questions, Con. art. 1, sec. 12, and note.
Right to speedy public trial, and to be confronted by witnesses, Con. art. 1, sec. 12, and note.
In a criminal prosecution, the general rule is that the right to refuse to answer incriminating questions is a personal privilege of the witness, which he can either exercise or waive, and, if he chooses to answer, neither defendant nor his counsel can legally object.
State v. Shockley, 29 U. 25; 80 P. 865.
But a defendant on taking the witness stand does not abandon his constitutional rights to "appear and defend in person and by counsel," and may claim the privilege through his counsel.
Id.
An order of the trial court permitting witness to turn her back to accused and directing removal of defendant so far that he could neither see nor hear the witness nor see the jury, denied defendant a constitutional right, and prevented him from having a fair trial.
State v. Mannion, 19 U. 505; 57 P. 512.
Where, in prosecution for homicide, defendant entered into a stipulation in open court at the trial, admitting that, if a certain witness were present, he would testify to certain facts and agreeing that it should be received in evidence and considered by the jury, he could not subsequently contend that the admission of such was erroneous, on the ground that it was a violation of his right to be confronted by witnesses, conferred by this section, and Con. art. 1, sec. 12, as such right can be waived.
State v. Mortensen, 26 U. 312; 73 P. 562.
A view is not the taking of testimony within the meaning of the constitution, but its sole purpose and object is to enable the jurors to more accurately understand and more fully appreciate the testimony of witnesses given before them.
State v. Mortensen, 26 U. 312; 73 P. 562, 633.
The provisions of section 8553, sub. 4, are not in conflict with Con. art. 1, sec. 12, guaranteeing that an accused shall have the right to be confronted by witnesses against him.

State v. King, 24 U. 482; 68 P. 418.
Proceedings for contempt for violation of an injunction as to a trade mark are civil, and it was proper to admit a deposition in evidence.
Davidson v. Munsey, 29 U. 181; 80 P. 743.
A person charged with a crime has a constitutional right to have his case tried by a court having jurisdiction, and his mere silence or failure, during the trial, to object to the jurisdiction assumed by the court does not constitute a waiver of that right, or prevent him from raising the question at any subsequent stage of the proceedings, or after trial.
State v. Morrey, 23 U. 273; 64 P. 764.
Where a defendant, in the progress of a case in open court, discharges his attorney and announces he will conduct his own case, and the court agreed he had the right so to do, the action of court in appointing defendant's former attorney amici curiae to conduct examinations for him and protect his interest, was proper.
State v. Hillstrom, 46 U. 341; 150 P. 935.
The constitutional right of the defendant to be confronted by witnesses is not violated by permitting a transcript of the testimony, at a preliminary hearing, given in the presence of the defendant with opportunity of cross-examination, to be received at a trial, where the witness is absent from the state.
State v. Vance, 38 U. 1; 110 P. 434.
And it is not required to further prove that a special effort was made to find the witness within the state.
State v. De Pretto, 48 U. 249; 155 P. 336.
Where the defendant, at the solicitation of the sheriff, voluntarily places his foot in the tracks left by the criminal, or surrenders his shoes to the sheriff for comparison, he cannot object to testimony as to the comparison.
State v. Sirmay, 40 U. 525; 122 P. 748.

8554. (4514.) Defendant not compelled to advance fees. In no instance shall any accused person, before final judgment, be compelled to advance money or fees to secure the rights herein guaranteed.

Constitutional provision, Con. art. 1, sec. 12.
Stenographer's fees on appeal paid by state for defendant in criminal case, when, § 1906.
Subpoena of witnesses for impecunious defendant in criminal case, § 2555.
Actions without payment of fees by impecunious suitors, §§ 2576-2578.

8555. (4515.) Defendant need not testify. Husband or wife as witness. Twice in jeopardy. The accused shall not be compelled to give evidence against himself; a wife shall not be compelled to testify against her husband, nor a husband against his wife, nor shall any person be twice put in jeopardy for the same offense.

Cal. Pen. C., §§ 687*, 688*.
Decisions on rights of defendant, note to § 8553.
Refusal of accused to testify not to prejudice him, § 9279.
Husband or wife not competent as witness for or against each other without consent, § 9278, in civil action, § 7124.
Defendant as a witness, examination, § 9279.
Constitutional provisions as to rights, Con. art. 1, sec. 12.
Acquittal or conviction a bar, §§ 8520, 8522, 8652, 8653, 8898, 8904, 8905.
What acquittal not a bar, § 8903.
Plea of once in jeopardy, § 8898, and note.
Decisions on conviction, acquittal, or once in jeopardy, note to § 8905.

8556. (4516.) No person convicted except on verdict or judgment. No person shall be convicted of a public offense unless by the verdict of a jury, accepted and recorded by the court, or upon a plea of guilty, or upon a judgment against him upon a demurrer when he refuses to plead, or upon a judgment of a court for a public offense not amounting to felony, a jury having been waived.

Cal. Pen. C., § 689*.
Waiver of jury in criminal case not amounting to felony, § 8925.
Due process of law, Con. art. 1, sec. 7, and note.

CHAPTER 2.

LAWFUL RESISTANCE.

8560. (4517.) Who may make lawful resistance. Lawful resistance to the commission of a public offense may be made:
1. By the party about to be injured;
2. By other parties.

Cal. Pen. C., § 692.
Justifiable homicide, §§ 8031, 8032.

8561. (4518.) Party may protect person, family, and property. Resistance sufficient to prevent the offense may be made by the party about to be injured:
1. To prevent an offense against his person, or his family, or some member thereof;
2. To prevent an illegal attempt by force to take or injure property in his lawful possession.

Cal. Pen. C., § 693.
Right to protect the person.
People v. Olsen, 4 U. 413; 11 P. 577.

8562. (4519.) When third party may assist. Any other person, in aid or defense of the person about to be injured, may make resistance sufficient to prevent the offense.

Cal. Pen. C., § 694.

CHAPTER 3.

INTERVENTION OF OFFICERS.

8563. (4520.) Officers may prevent public offenses, how. Public offenses may be prevented by the intervention of the officers of justice:

1. By requiring security to keep the peace;
2. By forming a police in cities, towns, or counties, and by requiring their attendance in exposed places;
3. By suppressing riots.

Cal. Pen. C., § 697*.

8564. (4521.) When person justified in assisting officers. When the officers of justice are authorized to act in the prevention of public offenses, other persons who, by their command, act in their aid, are justified in so doing.

Cal. Pen. C., § 698.
Justifiable homicide, §§ 8031, 8032.
Officer may command assistance, §§ 8004, 8591, 8693, 8717.
Arrest, by whom and how made, §§ 8712-8731.

CHAPTER 4.

SECURITY TO KEEP THE PEACE.

8567. (4522.) Complaint of threatened injury. A complaint may be made before any magistrate that a person has threatened to commit an offense against the person or property of another.

Cal. Pen. C., § 701*.
Complaint, form, etc., §§ 8680-8682.
Complaint for offense within justice's jurisdiction, § 9420.

8568. (4523.) Examination of complainant and witnesses. The magistrate must examine on oath the complainant and any witnesses he may produce, and may take their depositions in writing.

Cal. Pen. C., § 702*.

8569. (4524.) Complaint defined. A complaint within the meaning of this chapter is a statement in writing of the jurisdictional facts, clearly specifying the threatened offense, and subscribed and sworn to by the complainant.

N. Dak. (1895) § 7765*.

8570. (4525.) Warrant of arrest issued, when. Form. If it appears that there is just reason to fear the commission of the offense threatened, the magistrate may issue a warrant directed generally to any peace officer, reciting the substance of the complaint and commanding the officer forthwith to arrest the person complained of and bring him before such magistrate, or, in case of his absence or inability to act, before the nearest and most accessible magistrate of the county.

Cal. Pen. C., § 703*.
Warrant generally, §§ 8688-8707.

8571. (4526.) Procedure if defendant taken before different magistrate. When the person arrested is taken before a magistrate other than the one who issued the warrant, the peace officer who executed the warrant must deliver it to the magistrate with his return indorsed thereon. The complaint, and deposition, if any, on which the warrant was issued must be sent to the magistrate before whom the person arrested is taken.

Iowa, McClain's An. C., § 5498*.

8572. (4527.) Change of venue as in preliminary examinations. When the person complained of is brought before the magistrate, a change of venue may be had as in preliminary examinations.

Iowa, McClain's An. C., § 5499*. Change of venue, § 8740.

8573. (4528.) The hearing. Testimony reduced to writing, when. At the time set for the hearing of the charge, the magistrate must take the testimony in relation thereto, and the evidence, on demand of the person complained of, must be reduced to writing, and subscribed by the witnesses.

Cal. Pen. C., § 704*.

8574. (4529.) Discharge. When complainant to pay costs. If it appears that there is no just reason to fear the commission of the offense alleged to have been threatened, the person complained of must be discharged, and the complainant may be ordered to pay the costs of the proceedings if the magistrate regards the complaint as unfounded and frivolous, and judgment may be entered and execution issued therefor.

Cal. Pen. C., § 705*. Iowa, McClain's An. C., § 5500*.

8575. (4530.) Security to keep peace required, when. If, however, there is just reason to fear the commission of the offense, the person complained of may be required to enter into an undertaking in such sum, not exceeding $3,000, as the magistrate may direct, with one or more sufficient sureties, to keep the peace toward the people of this state, and particularly toward the complainant. The undertaking shall be valid and binding for six months and may, upon the renewal of the complaint, be extended for a longer period, or a new undertaking may be required.

Cal. Pen. C., § 706*.

One who unlawfully attempts to enter upon land in the lawful possession of another cannot ask to have the one in possession put under bonds. Johnston v. Meaghr, 14 U. 426; 47 P. 861.

8576. (4531.) Discharge on giving security. Commitment otherwise. If the undertaking required by the next preceding section is given, the party complained of must be discharged. If he does not give it, the magistrate must commit him to prison, specifying in the warrant of commitment the requirement to give security, the amount thereof, and the omission to give the same.

Cal. Pen. C., § 707.

8577. (4532.) Discharge after commitment, on giving security. If the person complained of is committed for not giving the undertaking required, he may be discharged by any magistrate upon giving the same.

Cal. Pen. C., § 708.

8578. (4533.) Undertaking to be filed in district court. The undertaking must be filed by the magistrate in the office of the clerk of the district court of the county.

Cal. Pen. C., § 709.

8579. (4534.) Assault in presence of magistrate. Security. A person who, in the presence of a court or magistrate, assaults or threatens to assault another or to commit an offense against his person or property, or who contends with another with angry words, may be ordered by the court or magistrate to give security, as in this chapter provided, and if he refuses to do so, may be committed as provided in § 8576.

Cal. Pen. C., § 710. Arrest by magistrate in such case, § 8716.
Contempts in justices' courts, §§ 7525-7529, 9465. Contempts generally, §§ 7058-7073.

8580. (4535.) Undertaking broken by conviction. Upon the conviction of the person complained against of a breach of the peace, the undertaking is broken.

Cal. Pen. C., § 711.

8581. (4536.) Undertaking prosecuted by county attorney. Upon the county attorney producing evidence of such conviction to the district court where the undertaking was filed, the court must order the undertaking to be prosecuted, and the county attorney must thereupon commence an action upon it in the name of the state.

Cal. Pen. C., § 712*.

8582. (4537.) Id. Record of conviction conclusive evidence. In such action, the offense stated in the record of conviction must be alleged as a breach of the undertaking, and such record is conclusive evidence thereof.

Cal. Pen. C., § 713.

Judgment in case of security to keep the peace not conclusive.
Johnston v. Meaghr, 14 U. 426; 47 P. 861.

8583. (4538.) Security required only as herein prescribed. Security to keep the peace or to be of good behavior cannot be required except as prescribed in this chapter.

Cal. Pen. C., § 714.

CHAPTER 5.

POLICE AND THEIR ATTENDANCE.

8586. (4539.) Police governed by special statutes. The organization and regulation of the police in the cities, towns, and counties of this state are governed by special statutes.

Cal. Pen. C., § 719*

Police in cities, §§ 646, 665; in towns, § 786.

8587. (4540.) Ordering police to preserve peace at public meeting. The mayor or other officer having the direction of the police of a city, town, or county must order a sufficient force to preserve the peace to attend any public meeting, when he is satisfied that a breach of the peace is reasonably apprehended.

Cal. Pen. C., § 720*.

CHAPTER 6.

SUPPRESSION OF RIOTS.

8591. (4541.) Officer may command assistance to execute process. When a sheriff or other public officer authorized to execute process finds, or has reason to apprehend, that resistance will be made to the execution of the process, he may command as many male inhabitants of his county as he may think proper to assist him in overcoming the resistance, and, if necessary, in seizing, arresting, and confining the persons resisting and their aiders and abettors.

Cal. Pen. C., § 723.
Riot and unlawful assembly, §§ 8218-8224.
Refusing to assist officers, penalty, § 8004.

Authority of persons assisting officer, § 8564.
Mayor may order out the police, § 8587.

8592. (4542.) Persons resisting process to be reported to the court. The officer must certify to the court from which the process issued the names of the persons resisting, and their aiders and abetters, to the end that they may be proceeded against for their contempt of court.

Cal. Pen. C., § 724.
Contempt of court generally, §§ 7058-7072; in justices' courts, §§ 7525-7529, 9465.

8593. (4543.) Officer to command rioters to disperse. When any number of persons, whether armed or not, are unlawfully or riotously assembled, the sheriff of the county and his deputies, the officials governing the precinct or city, or the justices of the peace and constables thereof, or any of them, must go among the persons assembled, or as near to them as possible, and command them, in the name of the state, immediately to disperse.

Cal. Pen. C., § 726.

8594. (4544.) Id. Arrest on refusal to disperse. If the persons assembled do not immediately disperse, such magistrates and officers must arrest them, and to that end may command the aid of all persons present or within the county.

Cal. Pen. C., § 727.

8595. (4545.) Person refusing to assist officer, etc., deemed a rioter. If a person present, being commanded by any of the magistrates or officers mentioned in the preceding section to aid or assist in seizing and securing such rioters or persons so unlawfully assembled, or in suppressing such riot or unlawful assembly, refuses or neglects to obey such command, or, when required by such magistrate or officer to depart from the place, refuses, or neglects so to do, he shall be deemed one of the rioters or persons unlawfully assembled, and may be prosecuted and punished accordingly.

Mass., p. 1163, § 2.

CHAPTER 7.

IMPEACHMENTS.

8600. (4546.) Officers liable to impeachment. The governor and other state and judicial officers, except justices of the peace, shall be liable to impeachment for high crimes and misdemeanors, or malfeasance in office.

Mont. Pen. C., § 1500.
Provisions of constitution relating to impeachments, Con. art. 6, secs. 16-21.
Removal by judicial proceedings, §§ 8625-8640.
Power of impeachment, etc., not affected by penal code, § 7896.
Felonious misconduct in office, disqualification, §§ 7906, 7961, 8237.

8601. (4547.) Impeachment by house by two-thirds vote. Trial. The house of representatives shall have the sole power of impeachment, but, in order to impeach, two-thirds of all the members elected must vote therefor. All impeachments shall be tried by the senate sitting for that purpose, and the senators shall be upon oath or affirmation to do justice according to law and the evidence.

Mont. Pen. C., § 1501*.

8602. (4548.) Two-thirds of senators to convict. Chief justice to preside, when. When the governor is on trial, the chief justice of the supreme court shall preside, and, in case he is disqualified or unable to act, the senate shall select some other judge of that court. No person shall be convicted without a concurrence of two-thirds of the senators elected.

Mont. Pen. C., § 1501*.

8603. (4549.) House to elect managers to conduct proceedings. Articles. All impeachments must be by resolution adopted, originated in, and conducted by managers elected by, the house of representatives, who must prepare articles of impeachment, present them at the bar of the senate, and prosecute the same.

Cal. Pen. C., § 738*; Mont. Pen. C., § 1502.

8604. (4550.) Articles of impeachment delivered to senate. When an officer is impeached by the house of representatives, the articles of impeachment must be delivered to the president of the senate.

Cal. Pen C, § 739*; Mont Pen. C., § 1503.

8605. (4551.) House to have notice of hearing. Defendant served with articles. The senate must assign a day for the hearing of the impeachment, and inform the house of representatives thereof. The president of the senate must cause a copy of the articles of impeachment, with a notice to appear and answer the same at the time and place appointed, to be served on the defendant not less than ten days before the day fixed for the hearing.

Cal. Pen C., § 740; Mont. Pen. C., § 1504.

8606. (4552.) Service upon defendant, how made. The service must be made upon the defendant personally, or if he cannot, upon diligent inquiry, be found within the state, the senate, upon proof of that fact, may order publication to be made, in such manner as it may deem proper, of a notice requiring him to appear at a specified time and place and answer the articles of impeachment.

Cal. Pen. C., 741; Mont. Pen. C,, § 1505.

8607. (4553.) Proof of service if defendant does not appear. Trial. If the defendant does not appear, the senate, upon proof of service or publication, as provided in the next two preceding sections, may, of its own motion or for cause shown, assign another day for hearing the impeachment, or may proceed, in the absence of the defendant, to trial and judgment.

Cal. Pen. C., § 742; Mont. Pen. C., § 1506.

8608. (4554.) Counsel for defendant appointed, when. If the defendant appears, and is unable to procure the assistance of counsel, it is the duty of the president of the senate to appoint some suitable person to assist him in his defense; if the defendant is served by publication and fails to appear, it is the duty of the president of the senate to appoint some person or counsel to appear in his behalf and make defense for him.

Mont Pen. C., § 1507.

8609. (4555.) Demurrer to be in writing. Plea of not guilty. When the defendant appears, he may in writing object to the sufficiency of the articles of impeachment, or he may answer the same by an oral plea of not guilty, which plea must be entered upon the journal, and which puts in issue every material allegation of the articles of impeachment.

Cal. Pen. C., § 743; Mont Pen. C., § 1508.

8610. (4556.) Procedure when demurrer overruled. If the objection to the sufficiency of the articles of impeachment is not sustained by a majority of the members of the senate elected, the defendant must be ordered forthwith to answer the articles of impeachment. If he then pleads guilty, the senate must render judgment of conviction against him. If he pleads not guilty, or refuses to plead, the senate must, at such time as it may appoint, proceed to try the impeachment.

Cal. Pen. C., § 744*; Mont. Pen. C., § 1509.

8611. (4557.) Trial. Senators to be sworn. At the time and place appointed, and before the senate proceeds to act on the impeachment, the secretary must administer to the president of the senate, and the president of the senate to each of the members of the senate then present, an oath or affirmation to do justice according to law and the evidence; and no member of the senate can act or vote upon the impeachment, or upon any question arising thereon, without having taken such oath or affirmation.

Cal. Pen. C., § 745*; Mont. Pen. C., § 1510*.

8612. (4558.) Two-thirds vote necessary to convict. The defendant shall not be convicted on impeachment without the concurrence of two-thirds of the members elected, voting by ayes and noes, and if two-thirds of the members elected do not concur in a conviction, he must be acquitted.

Cal. Pen. C., § 746; Mont. Pen. C., § 1511.

8613. (4559.) Judgment pronounced by resolution. Entry. After conviction the senate must, at such time as it may appoint, pronounce judgment, in the form of a resolution entered upon the journal of the senate.

Cal. Pen. C., § 747; Mont. Pen C., § 1512.

8614. (4560.) Majority may adopt resolution. On the adoption of the resolution by a majority of the members present who voted on the question of acquittal or conviction, it becomes the judgment of the senate.

Cal. Pen. C., § 748; Mont. Pen. C., § 1513.

8615. (4561.) Judgment may be of suspension or removal. The judgment may be that the defendant be suspended, or that he be removed from office and disqualified to hold any office of honor, trust, or profit in the state.

Cal. Pen. C., § 749; Mont. Pen. C., § 1514.

8616. (4562.) Judgment of suspension. Effect. If judgment of suspension is given, the defendant, during the continuance thereof, is disqualified from receiving the salary, fees, or emoluments of the office.

Cal. Pen. C., § 750; Mont. Pen. C., § 1515.

8617. (4563.) Suspension on filing articles. Vacancy, how filled. Whenever articles of impeachment against any officer subject to impeachment are presented to the senate, and such officer shall have been served a copy of the articles thereof, such officer shall be temporarily suspended from his office, and shall not act in his official capacity until he is acquitted. Upon such suspension of any officer, other than the governor, his office must be at once temporarily filled by an appointment made by the governor, with the advice and consent of the senate, until the acquittal of the party impeached; or, in case of his removal, until the vacancy is filled at the next election as required by law.

Cal. Pen. C., § 751*; Mont. Pen. C., § 1516*.

8618. (4564.) Conviction or acquittal does not bar prosecution. The defendant, whether convicted or acquitted, shall nevertheless be liable to prosecution, trial, and punishment according to law.

Cal. Pen. C., § 753*; Mont. Pen. C., § 1518*.

CHAPTER 8.

REMOVAL BY JUDICIAL PROCEEDINGS.

8625. (4565.) Officers not liable to impeachment may be removed. All officers not liable to impeachment shall be subject to removal for high crimes, misdemeanors, or malfeasance in office, as in this chapter provided.

Mont. Pen. C., § 1530*.
Authorized by Con. art. 6, sec. 21.
Impeachments, §§ 8600-8618.
Removal not affected by Penal Code, § 7896.
Felonious misconduct in office, disqualification, § 7906.
Where an officer presents a bill to the state, and is paid for certain expenses, and thereafter presents a bill for the same expenses to the county, proof of his wrongful intent is essential for removal.
Law v. Smith, 34 U. 394; 98 P. 300.
Proof that a county officer proffered a fraudulent claim against the county and received payment therefor, with knowledge that he had no right to the money, shows his guilt of malfeasance under §§ 7896, 7929.
Id.
It is necessary that the act of which the officer is accused is positively unlawful or involves some evil or wrongdoing on his part which must be known to him to be such when he committed the act.
Id.

8626. (4566.) Accusation presented by grand jury or county attorney. An accusation in writing against any district, county, precinct, municipal, or school district officer, or officer of any board of education, for any high crime, misdemeanor, or malfeasance in office, may be presented by the grand jury or by the county attorney of the county in which the officer accused is elected or appointed.

Mont. Pen. C., § 1531*.
Accusation may be presented to court by taxpayer, § 8640.

8627. (4567.) Accusation must state the offense. The accusation must state the offense charged in ordinary and concise language.

Mont. Pen. C., § 1532*.
Action for removal from office begun by accusation, § 8774.

8628. (4568.) Accusation by grand jury. County attorney to prosecute. Notice. When found by the grand jury, the accusation must be delivered by the foreman to the county attorney, except when he is the officer accused. The county attorney must thereupon cause a copy of the accusation to be served upon the defendant, and require, by notice in writing of not less than ten days, that he appear before the district court of the county, at a time mentioned in the notice, and answer to the accusation. The original accusation must then be filed with the clerk of the court.

Mont. Pen. C., § 1533*.

8629. (4569.) Defendant must appear. Procedure on default. The defendant must appear at the time appointed, and answer the accusation, unless for some sufficient cause the court assign another for that purpose. If he does not appear, the court may proceed to hear and determine the accusation in his absence.

Mont. Pen. C., § 1534*.

8630. (4570.) Defendant's answer. The defendant may answer the accusation either by objecting to the sufficiency thereof, or of any article therein, or by denying the truth of the same.

Mont. Pen. C., § 1535.

8631. (4571.) Objections to accusation for insufficiency. If he objects to the legal sufficiency of the accusation, the objection must be in writing, but need not be in any specific form, it being sufficient if it presents intelligently the grounds of the objection.

Mont. Pen .C., § 1536.

8632. (4572.) Denial may be oral. Entry. If he denies the truth of the accusation, the denial may be oral and without oath, and must be entered upon the minutes.

Mont. Pen. C., § 1537.

8633. (4573.) Objection overruled. Answer. If an objection to the sufficiency of the accusation is not sustained, the defendant must answer thereto forthwith.

Mont. Pen. C., § 1538.

8634. (4574.) Judgment on plea of guilty. Trial on denial. If the defendant pleads guilty, the court must render judgment of conviction against him. If he denies the matters charged or refuses to answer the accusation, the court must immediately, or at such time as it may appoint, proceed to try the accusation.

Mont. Pen. C., § 1539.

8635. (4575.) Trial by jury. Criminal procedure governs. The trial must be by jury, and shall be conducted in all respects in the same manner as the trial of an indictment or information for a felony.

Mont. Pen. C., § 1540*.

The accused is entitled to a jury trial, and the court cannot direct a verdict against him. Law v. Smith, 34 U. 394; 98 P. 300.

8636. (4576.) Process for witnesses. The county attorney and the defendant shall be respectively entitled to such process as may be necessary to enforce the attendance of witnesses as upon the trial of an indictment or information for a felony.

Mont. Pen. C., § 1541*.

8637. (4577.) Judgment on conviction. Removal. Upon a conviction, the court must, at such time as it may appoint, pronounce judgment that the defendant be removed from office; but, to warrant a removal, a judgment must be entered upon the minutes, and the causes of removal must be assigned therein.

Mont. Pen. C., § 1542.

Officer convicted of felony disqualified, § 7906.

8638. (4578.) Appeal allowed. Suspension from office. Vacancy. From a judgment of removal, an appeal may be taken to the supreme court, in the same manner as from a judgment in a civil action; but, until such judgment is reversed, the defendant shall be suspended from his office. Pending the appeal, the office must be filled as in case of a vacancy.

Mont. Pen. C., § 1543.

Where an accusation against a county attorney charged acts not prohibited by § 8639, under which it was brought, and the court had no jurisdiction, his remedy by appeal being inadequate, he could bring prohibition. Parker v. Morgan, 48 U. 405; 160 P. 764.

8639. (4579.) Procedure for removal of county attorney. The same proceedings may be had on like grounds for the removal of a county attorney, except that the accusation must be made by the grand jury or by the attorney general of the state, and must be delivered by the foreman of the grand jury or the attorney-general to the clerk, and by him to the judge of the district court of the county, who must thereupon appoint some one to act as prosecuting officer in the matter, or place the accusation in the hands of the county attorney of an adjoining county and require him to conduct the proceedings.

Mont. Pen. C., § 1544*.

8640. (4580.) Accusation of misconduct by public officer. Notice. Trial. When an accusation in writing, verified by the oath of any taxpayer, shall be presented to the district court, alleging that any officer within the jurisdiction of the court has been guilty of knowingly, wilfully, and corruptly charging and collecting illegal fees for service rendered or to be rendered in his office, or has knowingly, wilfully, and corruptly refused or neglected to perform the official duties pertaining to his office, the court must cite the party charged to appear before the court at a time not more than ten nor less than five days from the time the accusation was presented; and on that day, or some subsequent day not more than twenty days from that on which the accusation was presented, must proceed to impanel a jury, and hear the accusation and evidence offered in support of the same, and the answer and evidence offered by the party accused; provided, that if said accusation is presented when a setting of the cases under the rules of the court has already been had, then the said twenty days shall begin to run from the date on which the last case is set; and if, on such hearing, it shall appear by the verdict of the jury that the charge is sustained, the court must enter a judgment that the party accused be deprived of his office, and taxed with such costs as are allowed in civil cases. Am'd '07, p. 5.

Mont. Pen. C., § 1545*.
Charging or receiving illegal fees, § 2589.
Fee book, fee table, statement, §§ 2583-2589.
Accusation, information, or indictment against an officer must be presented to or filed or found in the district court, § 8775.

While there is no provision for taxing costs where defendant is successful, that does not invalidate the statute.
Skeen v. Chambers, 31 U. 36; 86 P. 493.

Word "knowingly" defined in prosecution for receiving illegal fees.
Id.

Under Con. art. 6, sec. 21, providing that removals of officers for misconduct might be made "in such manner as may be provided by law," the legislature was authorized to pass this section, providing for removal proceedings at the instance of a private person, notwithstanding Con. art. 8, sec. 18, providing that prosecutions shall be in the name of "the State of Utah."
Skeen v. Paine, 31 U. 295; 90 P. 440.

A proceeding under this section is civil, not criminal, and the accusation need not be in name of state of Utah, as provided by Con. art. 8, sec. 18.
Skeen v. Craig, 31 U. 20; 86 P. 487.

Officer receiving salary unlawfully may be proceeded against the same as one paid in fees.
Id.

The proceedings specified by this section for the removal of public officers for misconduct are civil and not criminal, so that, where the facts are not in dispute, the trial court may direct a verdict of guilty on the law applicable to the facts.
Skeen v. Paine, 31 U. 295; 90 P. 440.

In proceedings to remove a city councilman for receiving illegal fees as provided by this section, it was no defense that, after the fees had been declared illegal, he had made restitution thereof to the city.
Id.

Provisions of this section have no application to heads of fire and police departments.
Skeen v. Browning, 31 U. 164; 89 P. 642.

Presentation of a claim to the county for money paid out in discharge of an official duty, for which the law provided no compensation other than salary, does not subject the one presenting such claim to the charge of collecting illegal fees.
Law v. Smith, 34 U. 394; 98 P. 300.

A county attorney charging more for stenographic work than he pays is not covered by this section.
Parker v. Morgan, 48 U. 405; 160 P. 764.

The county commissioners may direct prosecutions for officer's delinquencies, in the name of a taxpayer.
Carbon County v. Hamilton, 48 U. 503; 160 P. 765.

CHAPTER 9.

LOCAL JURISDICTION OF PUBLIC OFFENSES.

8645. (4581.) Jurisdiction of offense consummated within the state. Every person shall be liable to punishment, by the laws of this state, for any public offense committed by him therein. When the commission of a public offense, commenced without the state, shall have been consummated within its boundaries, the defendant shall be liable to punishment therefor in this state, though he was out of the state at the time of the commission of the offense charged. If he shall have consummated it in this state through the intervention of an innocent or a guilty agent, or by any other means proceeding directly from himself, in such case the jurisdiction shall be in the county in which the offense was consummated.

Cal. Pen. C., §§ 777, 778.
Persons liable to punishment, § 7916.
Criminal jurisdiction of district court, Con. art. 8, sec. 5; § 1667.
Place of trial, note to Con. art. 8, sec. 5.

8646. (4582.) Duel without state. Jurisdiction where death occurs. When an inhabitant or resident of this state, by previous appointment or engagement, fights a duel, or is concerned as a second or surgeon therein, out of the jurisdiction of this state, and, in the duel, a wound is inflicted upon a person whereof he dies in this state, the jurisdiction of the offense shall be in the county where the death happens.

Mont. Pen. C., § 1562.
Duels and challenges, §§ 8055-8060.

8647. (4583.) Leaving state to duel. Jurisdiction in county of residence. When an inhabitant or resident of this state leaves the same for the purpose of evading the operation of the law relating to dueling and challenges to fight, with the intent or for the purpose of doing any of the acts prohibited therein, the jurisdiction shall be in the county of which the offender was an inhabitant or resident when the offense was committed.

Mont. Pen. C., § 1563.

8648. (4584.) Offense committed in more than one county or near boundary. When a public offense shall have been committed in part in one county and in part in another, or the acts or effects thereof constituting or requisite to the consummation of the offense shall have occurred in two or more counties, the jurisdiction shall be in any of such counties. When a public offense shall have been committed near the boundaries of two or more counties, the jurisdiction shall be in any of such counties.

Cal. Pen. C., § 781*.
Proceeding when, on trial, jurisdiction found to lie in another county, § 8996.
Jurisdiction in two or more counties, §§ 8653, 8656.
Place of trial, Con. art. 8, sec. 5, and note.
When warrant issued in county where accused is found, § 8703.

Offense committed near boundary line; instructions erroneous.

State v. Alexander, 20 U. 322; 62 P. 1119.

Before the provisions of this section can become operative in any criminal case, outside of those committed near the boundary line of two counties, the offense must be divisible and each part be unlawful in and of itself and committed at a different time and place; or, the offense must consist of more than one act, each of which acts or effect of such acts must constitute an unlawful element of the offense, without the presence of which an offense could not be consummated.

State v. Graham, 23 U. 278; 64 P. 557.

The mere existence in some county other than the county of the trial of acts or conditions of the defendant, lawful themselves, but necessary to be alleged under § 8830, and proven, in order to establish the crime charged, do not invoke the provisions of this section.

Id.

8649. (4585.) Injury in one county, death in another. The jurisdiction of a criminal action for murder or manslaughter, when the injury which caused the death shall have been inflicted in one county and the party injured shall have died in another, or out of the state, shall be in the county where the injury was inflicted.

Cal. Pen. C., § 790.

8650. (4586.) Jurisdiction over accessory. In the case of an accessory in the commission of a public offense, the jurisdiction shall be in the county where the offense of the accessory was committed, notwithstanding the principal offense was committed in another county.

Cal. Pen. C., § 791.
Principal and accessory, §§ 7918-7921, 8851, 8852.

8651. (4587.) Jurisdiction over absent principal. The jurisdiction of a criminal action against a principal in the commission of a public offense, when such principal shall not have been present at the commission thereof, shall be in the same county in which it would have been under this code if he were so present and aiding and abetting therein.

Cal. Pen. C., § 792.

8652. (4588.) Conviction or acquittal in another state is a bar. When an act charged as a public offense shall be within the jurisdiction of a territory or another state or country, as well as of this state, a conviction or acquittal thereof in the former shall be a bar to the prosecution therefor in this state.

Cal. Pen. C., 793.
Similar section, § 8522.
Decisions on twice in jeopardy, note to § 8905.

8653. (4589.) Id. Conviction or acquittal in another county a bar. When an offense shall be within the jurisdiction of two or more counties, a conviction or acquittal thereof in one county shall be a bar to a prosecution therefor in any other.

Cal. Pen. C., § 794.
Decisions on twice in jeopardy, note to § 8905.
Offense within jurisdiction of two or more counties, §§ 8648, 8656, 8996.

8654. (4590.) Jurisdiction of offense committed on vessel. When an offense shall have been committed in this state on board a vessel navigating a river, bay, slough, canal, or lake, or lying therein in the prosecution of her voyage, the jurisdiction shall be in any county through which the vessel is navigated in the course of her voyage, or in the county where the voyage shall terminate.

Cal. Pen. C., § 783*.
See note under § 8648.

8655. (4591.) Jurisdiction for kidnaping, etc. The jurisdiction of a criminal action:

1. For forcibly and without lawful authority seizing and confining another, or inveigling or kidnaping him with intent, against his will, to cause him to be secretly confined or imprisoned in this state, or to be sent out of the state, or from one county to another; or,

2. For decoying, taking, or enticing away a child under the age of twelve years, with intent to detain and conceal it from its parent, guardian, or other person having lawful charge of the child; or,

3. For inveigling, enticing, or taking away any female of previous chaste character, for the purpose of prostitution; or,

4. For taking away any female under the age of eighteen years, from her father, mother, guardian, or other person having the legal charge of her person, with or without their consent, for the purpose of prostitution,—shall be in the county in which the offense shall have been committed, or out of which the person upon whom the offense shall have been committed may, in the commission of the offense, have been brought, or in which an act shall have been done by the defendant in instigating, procuring, promoting, or aiding in the commission of the offense, or in abetting the parties concerned therein.

Cal. Pen. C., § 784*. Abduction for purposes of prostitution, § 8110; proof, § 8988.
Kidnaping, § 8040.

8656. (4592.) Property stolen in one county and taken to another. When property taken in one county by burglary, robbery, larceny, or embezzlement shall have been brought into another, the jurisdiction of the offense shall be in either county. But if at any time before the conviction of the defendant in the latter, he shall be indicted in the former county, the sheriff of the latter county must, upon demand, deliver him to the sheriff of the former.

Cal. Pen. C., § 786. Offense within jurisdiction of two or more counties, §§ 8648, 8653.
Warrant of arrest, §§ 8688-8707.

8657. (4593.) Jurisdiction of escape from state prison. The jurisdiction of a criminal action for escaping from or breaking the state prison with intent to escape therefrom, or for attempting by force or violence, or in any other manner, to escape from said prison, is in the county where the same is located.

N. Dak. (1895) § 7870. Escape from state prison, § 7967.

8658. (4594.) Jurisdiction of escape from city or county jail. The jurisdiction of a criminal action for breaking or escaping from the jail of any county, or of any city or town, is in the county where said jail is located.

N. Dak. (1895) § 7871. Escape from other than state prison, § 7968.

8659. (4595.) Jurisdiction of treason. Overt act committed out of state. The jurisdiction of a criminal action for treason, when the overt act is committed out of the state, shall be in any county of the state.

Cal. Pen. C., § 788. Treason, proof, Con. art. 1, sec. 19.

8660. (4596.) Jurisdiction when property stolen brought into state. The jurisdiction of a criminal action for stealing in any territory or other state the property of another, or receiving it, knowing it to have been stolen, and bringing the same into this state, shall be in any county into or through which such solen property shall have been brought.

Cal. Pen. C., § 789*.
Larceny without the state; property brought within, §§ 7916, 8298, 8656.

CHAPTER 10.

LIMITATIONS.

8665. (4597.) No limitation for murder, embezzlement of public money, or falsification of public records. There shall be no limitation of time within which a prosecution for murder, the embezzlement of public moneys, and the falsification of public records must be commenced. Prosecution for murder may be commenced at any time after the death of the person killed, and for the embezzlement of public moneys or the falsification of public records, at any time after the discovery of the crime.

Cal. Pen. C., § 799; Cal. Sup. (1893) p. 1064. Limitations not affected by general repeal, § 5835. Limitations, civil procedure, §§ 6445-6492.

8666. (4598.) Felony other than murder, etc. Four years. For any felony other than murder, the embezzlement of public moneys, or the falsification of public records, an indictment must be found or an information filed within four years after its commission.

Cal .Pen. C., § 800; Cal. Sup. (1893) p. 1064.

8667. (4599.) Indictable misdemeanor. Three years. An indictment for any misdemeanor must be found or an information filed within three years after its commission.

Cal. Pen. C., § 801*. State v. Jensen, 34 U. 166; 96 P. 1085.

8668. (4600.) Time of defendant's absence no part of limitation. If, when the offense is committed, the defendant is out of the state, the indictment may be found or an information filed within the term herein limited after his coming within the state, and no time during which the defendant shall not be an inhabitant of, or usually resident within, the state, shall be part of the limitation.

Cal. Pen. C., § 802.

8669. (4601.) When indictment deemed found. An indictment is found, within the meaning of this chapter, when it is presented by the grand jury in open court, and there received and filed.

Cal. Pen. C., § 803.

8670. (4602.) Misdemeanor within justice's jurisdiction. Two years. A complaint for a misdemeanor, of which justices of the peace have jurisdiction, must be filed within two years after the commission of the offense.

8671. (4603.) Action begun when complaint filed. An action on a complaint is commenced when a verified complaint is filed with the magistrate.

Complaint defined, § 8674; form, §§ 8680, 9420.

CHAPTER 11.

DEFINITIONS.

8674. (4604.) Complaint defined. A complaint is a statement in writing, made to a court or magistrate, that a person has been guilty of some designated offense.

Cal. Pen. C., § 806; Mont. Pen. C., § 1370. What complaint must state, §§ 8680, 9420. Action begun when complaint filed, § 8671.

8675. (4605.) Indictment defined. An indictment is an accusation in writing, presented by a grand jury to a competent court, charging a person with a public offense.

Cal. Pen. C., § 917.

8676. (4606.) Information defined. An information is an accusation in writing in form and substance like an indictment for the same offense, charging a person with a public offense, presented and signed by the district attorney, or by the attorney pro tem. for the state, and filed in the office of the clerk of the district court. Am'd '01, p. 26.

Mont. Pen. C., § 1372*. Prosecution by information or indictment, except, Con. art 1, sec. 13; § 8549. Filing of information, §§ 8779-8782.

8677. (4607.) Magistrate defined. A magistrate is an officer having power to issue a warrant for the arrest of a person charged with a public offense.

Cal. Pen. C., § 807; Mont. Pen. C., § 1373.

8678. (4608.) Magistrates enumerated. The following persons are magistrates:

1. The justices of the supreme court;

2. The judges of the district courts;
3. Justices of the peace.

Cal. Pen. C., § 808*.

8679. (4609.) Peace officers enumerated. A peace officer is a sheriff of a county or his deputy, or a constable, or a marshal or policeman of any incorporated city or town.

Mont. Pen. C., § 1375*.

CHAPTER 12.

COMPLAINT.

8680. (4610.) What a complaint must state. The complaint must state:

1. The name of the person accused, if known, or if not known and it is so stated, he may be designated by any other name;
2. The county in which the offense was committed;
3. The general name of the crime or public offense;
4. The acts or omissions complained of as constituting the crime or public offense named;
5. The person against whom or against whose property the offense was committed, if known;
6. If the offense is against the property of any person, a general description of such property.

The complaint must be subscribed and sworn to by the complainant.

N. Dak. (1895) § 7886; Mont. Pen. C., § 1590*.
Complaint defined, § 8674.
Complaint for offense within justice's jurisdiction, § 9420.
Complaint of commission of crime in another county, § 8703.
Complaint in action to compel security to keep the peace, §§ 8567, 8569.
Proceeding against corporation, complaint, etc., §§ 9354-9361.

Information or complaint must show that a crime has been committed.

In re Catherine Wiseman, 1 U. 39.

Criminal complaint may be sworn to upon information and belief.

U. S. v. Eldredge, 5 U. 161; 13 P. 673.

A complaint which states the name of the crime charged, the time and place of its commission, the name of the accused, and which sets out in general terms the acts constituting the crime, is sufficient.

State v. Anderson, 35 U. 496; 101 P. 385.

It need not state the offense in technical language or in such specific terms as is required in the information.

State v. Pay, 45 U. 411; 146 P. 300.

Accused, failing to object to the complaint when arraigned before the committing magistrate, waived all objections that might have been urged against it.

State v. Anderson, 35 U. 496; 101 P. 385.

A verified complaint is essential to a preliminary examination.

State v. Sheffield, 45 U. 426; 146 P. 306.

Where it develops that a crime committed was different from that charged in the complaint, a magistrate may direct the county attorney to prepare a new complaint, and direct the rearrest of the accused, and give him an opportunity to either waive or insist on examination on the new charge.

State v. Pay, 45 U. 411; 146 P. 300.

8681. (4611.) Any person having knowledge must make complaint. Every person who has reason to believe that a crime or public offense has been committed must make complaint against such person before some magistrate having authority to make inquiry of the same.

N. Dak. (1895) § 7887; Mont. Pen. C., § 1591*
When person concealing crime an accessory, § 7920.

8682. (4612.) Magistrate must examine complainant. Witnesses. When a complaint is made before a magistrate, charging a person with the commission of a crime or public offense, such magistrate must examine the complainant, under oath, as to his knowledge of the commission of the offense charged, and he may also examine any other persons, and may take their depositions.

N. Dak. (1895) § 7888; Mont. Pen. C., § 1592*.
complainant must name witnesses, § 8684.
Witnesses may be required to give bonds for appearance at preliminary, § 8766.
Depositions of witnesses unable to give bonds, §§ 8765, 8767.
Preliminary examination, §§ 8737-8768.

Under chap. 23, laws of 1896, a magistrate has authority to examine and commit a prisoner charged with commission on an offense to answer the charge in proper court.

State v. Pierpont, 16 U. 476; 52 P. 992.

A writ of prohibition will not issue to restrain criminal proceedings on the ground that § 8682, providing that when a complaint is made before a magistrate, charging a crime, the magistrate must examine the complainant under oath and may also examine other persons and take their depositions, and § 8688, providing that where a complaint is made by a person other than the county attorney, the complaint and other evidence taken by the magistrate must be submitted to the county attorney before a warrant issues—were not complied with; the decision of the question being within the jurisdiction of the trial court, and the accused's remedy for an erroneous ruling being by appeal.

State, ex rel Brown v. Third District Court, 27 U. 336; 75 P. 739.

8683. (4613.) When arrest made without warrant, complaint to be filed. When any officer or other person shall bring any person he has arrested without a warrant before a magistrate, it is the duty of such officer or person to specify the charge upon which he has made the arrest. It is then the duty of the magistrate or the county attorney to make a complaint of the offense charged, and cause the officer or person, or some other person, to subscribe and make oath to such complaint, and file it.

N. Dak. (1895) § 7889; Mont. Pen. C., § 1593*.

8684. (4614.) Complainant must name witnesses. Subpœna. Every person making complaint charging the commission of a crime or public offense must inform the magistrate of all persons whom he believes to have any knowledge of its commission, and the magistrate, at the time of issuing the warrant, may issue subpœnas for such persons. requiring them to attend at a specified time and place as witnesses.

N. Dak. (1895) § 7890; Mont. Pen. C., § 1594.

CHAPTER 13.

WARRANT OF ARREST.

8688. (4615.) Issuance of warrant. Consent of county attorney. When a complaint, verified by oath or affirmation, is made before a magistrate, charging the commission of a crime or public offense, he must, if satisfied therefrom that the offense complained of has been committed, and that there is reasonable ground to believe that the accused committed it, issue a warrant for his arrest; but when the magistrate before whom the complaint is made is a justice of the peace, before issuing the warrant, the complaint, if made by any person other than the county attorney of the county, and other evidence taken by such magistrate relating to the offense charged, must be submitted to such county attorney, and he must examine into the charge and enter either his approval or disapproval of the issuance of a warrant upon such complaint. If the county attorney disapproves, no warrant shall be issued, but if he approves the issuance of a warrant, such magistrate shall proceed accordingly; provided, that in cases when it appears from statements of the complaint or other written evidence submitted to the magistrate that the accused is likely to escape from the county before the approval of the county attorney can be had, as hereinbefore prescribed, a warrant may issue without the approval of the county attorney. No justice of the peace shall receive any fees or allowances whatever for any act done or services rendered in a criminal action or proceeding commenced or prosecuted in disregard of the provisions of this section.

N. Dak. (1895) § 7891*.
Form of complaint, § 8680.
Magistrate defined, § 8677; magistrates enumerated, § 8678.
Cited in : State v. Pay, 45 U. 411; 146 P. 300.
A writ of prohibition will not issue to restrain criminal proceedings upon the ground that the provisions of this section and § 8682 were not complied with, the accused's remedy being by appeal.
State, ex rel. Brown v. Third District Court, 27 U. 336; 75 P. 739.

8689. (4616.) Warrant defined. Form. A warrant of arrest is an order in writing in the name of the state, signed by a magistrate, commanding the arrest of the defendant, and may be substantially in the following form:

State of Utah, county of .....

The state of Utah to any sheriff, constable, marshal, or policeman of said state, or of the county of .....

Complaint on oath having been this day made before me, by A B, that the crime of (designating it) has been committed, and accusing C D thereof, you are therefore commanded forthwith to arrest the above named C D, and bring him before me at (naming the place), or in case of my absence or inability to act, before the nearest or most accessible magistrate in this county.

Dated at ..... this ..... day of ....., 19.....

When necessary, the magistrate may insert therein a clause to the effect that, if the accused has fled from justice, the peace officer pursue him into any other county of this state and there arrest him.

Cal. Pen. C., § 814*.

8690. (4617.) Id. Requisites. The warrant must specify the name of the defendant, or, if it is unknown to the magistrate, the defendant may be designated therein by any name. It must also state the time of issuing it, and the county, city, or precinct where issued, and be signed by the magistrate with his name of office.

Cal. Pen. C., § 815.

8691. (4618.) Warrant directed to and executed by peace officer. The warrant must be directed to and executed by a peace officer.

Cal. Pen. C., § 816. Peace officers enumerated, § 8679.

8692. (4619.) Id. Issued by supreme or district judge. If a warrant is issued by a justice of the supreme court, or judge of a district court, it may be directed generally to any sheriff, constable, marshal, or policeman in the state, and may be executed by any of those officers to whom it may be delivered in any part of the state.

Mont. Pen. C., § 1603; N. Dak. (1895) § 7896. Magistrates enumerated, § 8678.

8693. (4620.) Id. Issued by justice of the peace. If a warrant is issued by any other magistrate, it may be directed generally to any sheriff, constable, marshal, or policeman in the county in which it is issued, and may be executed by such officer in any part of the state.

Mont. Pen. C., § 1604; N. Dak. (1895) § 7897.

8694. (4621.) Officer may call for aid in any county. An officer pursuing a person for whom he has a warrant, into another county than the one in which he holds office, may, in the county where he finds such person, call for assistance, and command aid, and exercise authority as if in his own county.

Mont. Pen. C., § 1605; N. Dak. (1895) § 7898. Authority of person assisting, § 8564. Officer may command assistance, §§ 8004, 8564, 8591. Arrest, by whom and how made, §§ 8712-8731.

8695. (4622.) Return of prisoner if offense a felony. If the offense charged is a felony, the officer making the arrest must take the defendant before the magistrate who issued the warrant, or some other magistrate of the same county.

Mont. Pen. C., § 1606; N. Dak. (1895) § 7899; Cal. Pen. C., § 821. Arrest, general provisions, §§ 8712-8731, and notes.

8696. (4623.) Id. If offense a misdemeanor not triable by justice. If the offense charged in the warrant is a misdemeanor not within the jurisdiction of the magistrate who issued it to try and punish upon conviction, and the defendant is arrested in another county, the officer must, upon being required by the defendant, take him before a magistrate in that county, who must admit the defendant to bail and take bail from him accordingly.

Cal. Pen. C., § 822*. Rights to admission to bail, Con. art. 1, secs. 8, 9. Bail, qualifications of sureties, etc., §§ 9243-9270.

8697. (4624.) Procedure when bail taken. On taking the bail, the magistrate must certify that fact on the warrant, and deliver the warrant and undertaking of bail to the officer having charge of the defendant. The officer must then discharge the defendant from arrest, and must, without delay, deliver the warrant and undertaking to the clerk of the court at which the defendant shall be required to appear.

Cal. Pen. C., § 823.

8698. (4625.) Return and bail if offense triable by justice. If the offense charged in the warrant be within the jurisdiction of the magistrate who issued it to try and punish upon conviction, and the defendant be arrested in another county, the officer must, upon being required so to do by the defendant, take him before the most convenient magistrate in that or any adjoining county, who must admit the defendant to bail, and take bail from him accordingly, naming therein a time, not exceeding twenty days nor less than one day for each twenty miles from the place of taking it to the place of the magistrate's office who issued the warrant, for the defendant to appear.

Bail, §§ 9247-9266.
Complaint, arrest, and trial before justice, §§ 9419, 9454.

8699. (4626.) Id. Procedure by magistrate. On taking the bail, the magistrate and officer must proceed as directed in § 8697, except that the warrant and undertaking must be delivered by the latter to the magistrate before whom the defendant shall be required to appear.

Cal. Pen. C., § 823*.

8700. (4627.) Disposition of defendant if bail not given. If, on the admission of the defendant to bail, the bail is not forthwith given, the officer must take the defendant before the magistrate who issued the warrant, or, in case of his absence or inability to act, before the nearest or most accessible magistrate in the same county, and must, at the same time, deliver to the magistrate the warrant with his return thereon indorsed and subscribed by him.

Cal. Pen. C., § 824.

8701. (4628.) Defendant to be taken before magistrate without delay. The defendant must in all cases be taken before the magistrate without unnecessary delay.

Cal. Pen. C., § 825*. Failure to take arrested person before magistrate a misdemeanor, § 7999.
Accused entitled to a speedy and public trial, Con. art. 1, sec. 12.

8702. (4629.) Papers to be sent to magistrate acting. If the defendant is brought before a magistrate other than the one who issued the warrant, the complaint, and depositions, if any, on which the warrant shall have been issued, must be sent to that magistrate.

Cal. Pen. C., § 826*.

8703. (4630.) When warrant issued in county where defendant found. When a complaint is made before a magistrate of the commission of a public offense triable in another county of this state, but showing that the defendant is in the county where the complaint is made, the same proceedings must be had as prescribed in this chapter, except that the warrant must require the defendant to be taken before the nearest or most accessible magistrate of the county in which the offense is triable, and the complaint, with the depositions, if any, of the witnesses who may have been produced, must be delivered by the magistrate to the officer to whom the warrant is delivered.

Cal. Pen. C., § 827*.
Offense committed in more than one county or near boundary, § 8648.

8704. (4631.) Id. Delivery of defendant and papers. Bail. The officer who executes the warrant must take the defendant before the nearest or most accessible magistrate of the county in which the offense shall be triable, and must deliver to him the complaint, and the depositions, if any, and the warrant with his return indorsed thereon, and the magistrate must then proceed in the same manner as upon a warrant issued by himself.

Cal. Pen. C., § 828*.
Bail, qualifications of sureties, etc., §§ 9243-9270.

8705. (4632.) Id. Bail. Procedure. If the offense charged in the warrant, issued pursuant to § 8703, is a misdemeanor, the officer must, upon being required by the defendant, take him before a magistrate of the county in which the warrant was issued, who, unless he have jurisdiction to try the defendant, must proceed as provided in chap. 16 of this title.

Cal. Pen. C., § 829*.

8706. (4633.) Conveyance through other counties not an escape. An officer who has arrested a defendant on a criminal charge in any county may carry such prisoner through such parts of any county or counties as shall be in the ordinary route of travel, from the place where the prisoner shall have been arrested to the place where he is to be conveyed and delivered, under the process by which the arrest shall have been made, and such conveyance shall not be deemed an escape.

Mont. Pen. C., § 1616; N. Dak. (1895) § 7909.

8707. (4634.) Officer in charge of prisoner not liable to civil arrest. Assistance. While passing through such other county or counties, the officers having the prisoner in their charge shall not be liable to arrest on civil process; and they have like power to require any citizen to aid in securing such prisoner and to retake him if he escapes, as if they were within their own county; and a refusal or neglect to render such aid shall be an offense in the same manner as if they were officers of the county where such aid shall be required.

Mont. Pen. C., § 1617; N. Dak. (1895) § 7910.

CHAPTER 14.

ARREST, BY WHOM AND HOW MADE.

8712. (4635.) Arrest defined. May be made by any person. An arrest is taking a person into custody in a case and in the manner authorized by law. An arrest may be made by a peace officer or by a private person.

Cal. Pen. C., § 834.

Peace officers enumerated, § 8679.

8713. (4636.) Arrest, how made. No unnecessary restraint. An arrest is made by an actual restraint of the person of the defendant, or by his submission to the custody of an officer. The defendant must not be subjected to any more restraint than is necessary for his arrest and detention.

Cal. Pen. C., § 835.
Warrant of arrest, §§ 8688-8707.

Persons arrested not to be treated with unnecessary rigor, Con. art. 1, sec. 9.

8714. (4637.) When officer may arrest with or without warrant. A peace officer may make an arrest in obedience to a warrant delivered to him, or may, without a warrant, arrest a person:

1. For a public offense committed or attempted in his presence;
2. When a person arrested has committed a felony, although not in his presence;
3. When a felony has in fact been committed, and he has reasonable cause for believing the person arrested to have committed it;
4. On a charge, made upon a reasonable cause, of the commission of a felony by the party arrested;
5. At night, when there is reasonable cause to believe that he has committed a felony.

Cal. Pen. C., § 836.

To prove that a constable had reasonable cause for believing defendant guilty, evidence of the contents of a telegram known to have been placed in the vest pocket of the constable, but not searched for in his clothing after his decease, was properly admitted.

People v. Coughlin, 13 U. 58; 44 P. 94.

Whether an officer was authorized to make an arrest, and the arrest was lawful or unlawful, is a question of law for the court, though the facts are in dispute; in which case the court should charge the jury in specific terms under what particular state of facts the arrest was lawful or otherwise.

State v. Anselmo, 46 U. 137; 148 P. 1071.

Where accused's assailant claimed that he was cut in the shoulder by the accused in a brawl, and later pointed out accused to an officer; and while attempting to escape from the officer, accused killed the officer; held, where accused assailant did not testify at the trial, it cannot be inferred in support of the legality of the arrest, that accused had committed felony in cutting his assailant, or that the officer was arresting him for violating a municipal ordinance for carrying concealed weapons.

Id.

That accused was illegally arrested will not justify him in taking the life of the arresting officer, unless it reasonably appears that he was in actual danger of life or peril, other than mere danger from illegal arrest.

Id.

Where officers who had reasonable grounds to believe that a felony was being committed in a cabin broke open the door in the night to arrest defendant, defendant was not justified in attempting to kill one of the officers, even though the arrest was unlawful, because they did not first demand admittance and explain their purpose.

State v. Williams, 49 U. 320; 163 P. 1104.

8715. (4638.) When private person may arrest. Railroad conductor. A private person may arrest another:

1. For a public offense committed or attempted in his presence;
2. When the person arrested has committed a felony, although not in his presence;

3. When a felony has been in fact committed and he has reasonable cause for believing the person arrested to have committed it;

4. A conductor or other person having charge of any railway train in this state shall have power to arrest without a warrant any person disturbing the peace of a traveler, or committing any offense against the laws of the state while traveling with or upon the train of which he is in charge.

Cal. Pen. C., § 837*.

A felony having been committed, it was lawful for an officer out of his state, an officer out of his county, and two private citizens to attempt the arrest of the defendant.

People v. Coughlin, 13 U. 58; 44 P. 94.

The provisions of this section and § 8043 are sufficient warrant for the members of a sheriff's posse, although citizens and non-residents of the county, to follow and capture the persons who committed the crime using sufficient force to accomplish the capture.

State v. Morgan, 22 U. 162; 61 P. 527.

Where defendant entered street car for the purpose of robbery and covered deceased and another with a gun, and defendant was told to put up his hands, he was in effect placed under arrest.

State v. Shockley, 29 U. 25; 80 P. 865.

8716. (4639.) Magistrate may orally order arrest. A magistrate may orally order a peace officer or private person to arrest any one committing or attempting to commit a public offense in the presence of such magistrate.

Cal. Pen. C., § 838.

Assault in presence of magistrate, § 8579.

8717. (4640.) Person arresting may summon assistance. Any person making an arrest may orally summon as many persons as he deems necessary to aid him therein.

Cal. Pen. C., § 839.

Officer may command assistance, §§ 8004, 8564, 8718, 8694.

8718. (4641.) Arrest by day or by night. If the offense charged is a felony, the arrest may be made on any day, and at any time of the day or night. If it is a misdemeanor, the arrest cannot be made at night, unless upon the direction of the magistrate indorsed upon the warrant, or unless the offense is committed in the presence of the person making the arrest.

Cal. Pen. C., § 840*.

8719. (4642.) Manner of making arrest. The person making the arrest must inform the person to be arrested of the intention to arrest him, of the cause of the arrest, and the authority to make it, except when the person to be arrested is actually engaged in the commission of or an attempt to commit an offense, or is pursued immediately after its commission, or after an escape.

Cal. Pen. C., § 841.

It was not necessary that intention of arrest should be conveyed to defendant, since he was first seen in the act of committing a crime.

People v. Coughlin, 13 U. 58; 44 P. 94.

See State v. Shockley, 29 U. 25; 80 P. 865.

8720. (4643.) Warrant must be shown if required. If the person making the arrest is acting under the authority of a warrant, he must show the warrant, if required.

Cal. Pen. C., § 842.

8721. (4644.) Force, when arresting under warrant. When the arrest is being made by an officer under the authority of a warrant, after information of the intention to make the arrest, if the person to be arrested either flees or forcibly resists, the officer may use all necessary means to effect the arrest.

Cal. Pen. C., § 843.

8722. (4645.) Door or window may be broken, when. To make an arrest, a private person, if the offense is a felony, and in all cases a peace officer, may break open the door or window of the building in which the person to be arrested is, or in which they have reasonable grounds for believing him to be, after having demanded admittance and explained the purpose for which admittance is desired.

Cal. Pen. C., § 844.

Door or window may be broken in retaking an escape, § 8733.

The private household goods of a criminal cannot be deemed to be affected by the crimes and misconduct of the owner, and such property cannot be destroyed or taken, except by due process of law.

Conway v. Clinton, 1 U. 215.

One is not justified in attempting to kill an officer, even though he did not make demand or explain his purpose.

State v. Williams, 49 U. 320; 163 P. 1104.

8723. (4646.) Id. For purpose of exit. Any person who shall have lawfully entered a house for the purpose of making an arrest may break open the door or window thereof if detained therein, when necessary for the purpose of liberating himself, and an officer may do the same, when necessary for the purpose of liberating a person who, acting in his aid, lawfully entered for the purpose of making an arrest, and is detained therein.

Cal. Pen. C., § 845.

8724. (4647.) Weapons to be taken from person. Delivery. Any person making an arrest may take from the person arrested all offensive weapons which he may have about his person, and must deliver them to the magistrate before whom he shall be taken.

Cal. Pen. C., § 846.
Person may be searched, § 9387.
Receipt for property taken from person arrested, § 9414, and note.

8725. (4648.) Private person must deliver prisoner immediately. A private person who shall have arrested another for the commission of a public offense must, without unnecessary delay, take the person arrested before a magistrate, or deliver him to a peace officer.

Cal. Pen. C., § 847.

8726. (4649.) Officer arresting with warrant must proceed lawfully. An officer making an arrest in obedience to a warrant must proceed with the person arrested as commanded by the warrant, or as provided by law.

Cal. Pen. C., § 848.

8727. (4650.) Arrest without warrant. Delivery of prisoner. Complaint. When an arrest shall be made without a warrant by a peace officer or private person, the person arrested must, without unnecessary delay, be taken to the nearest or most accessible magistrate in the county in which the arrest is made, and a complaint, stating the charge against the person, must be made before such magistrate. A conductor or other person who shall have made an arrest as provided in sub. 4 of § 8715 shall, without unnecessary delay, take the person so arrested before any accessible magistrate or deliver him to a peace officer; and a complaint, stating the charge against the person, must be made before such magistrate; and the magistrate before whom such charge shall be made, if the offense is triable by him, shall have full jurisdiction over said offense and the defendant, to try and determine said offense. If he have not jurisdiction to try the defendant for the offense charged, he must proceed as provided in chap. 16 of this title.

Cal. Pen. C., § 849*.
Taken before magistrate, §§ 8695-8701.
Failure to take person arrested before magistrate without delay a misdemeanor, § 7999.

8728. (4651.) Service of warrant by telegraph or telephone. Procedure. Any magistrate may, by an indorsement upon a warrant of arrest, authorize the service thereof by telegraph or telephone, and thereafter a telegraphic or telephonic copy of such warrant may be sent by telegraph or telephone to one or more peace officers, and such copy is as effectual in the hands of any officer, and he must proceed in the same manner under it, as though he held an original warrant issued by the magistrate making the indorsement.

Am'd '07, p. 29.

Cal. Pen. C., § 850*.
Notices, checks, etc., may be sent by telegraph or telephone, §§ 6117-6119.
Summons, writs, etc., may be sent by telegraph or telephone, § 7009.
False or forged message, etc., §§ 8274, 8403-8405.

8729. (4652.) Id. Certification and return. Every officer causing telegraphic or telephonic copies of warrants to be sent must certify as correct, and file in the telegraph or telephone office from which such copies are sent, a copy of the warrant and indorsement thereon, and must return the original with a statement of his action thereunder. Am'd '07, p. 29.

Cal. Pen. C., § 851*.

8730. (4653.) Officer may direct arrest by telegraph or telephone. In all cases when by law a peace officer may arrest a person without a warrant, or having a warrant for the arrest of a person accused of a public offense, and such person may otherwise escape from the state, such officer may by telegraph or telephone direct any sheriff, constable, marshal, or policeman in this state to arrest such person, and designate the accused in said order by name or description, or both. Am'd '07, p. 29.

N. Dak. (1895) § 7939*.

8731. (4654.) Id. Arrest and detention of prisoner. The order may be directed generally to any of such officers, and executed by the officer receiving it. The officer executing any such order shall take into his custody the person designated therein, and detain him upon such order for such length of time as shall be necessary for the officer directing the arrest to reach the place of detention by the ordinary means and course of travel, or until sooner demanded by an officer having a warrant for the arrest of such person, but in no case shall the officer arresting such person upon such order detain him longer than the time hereinbefore mentioned.

N. Dak. (1895) § 7940. Disposition of person arrested, §§ 8695-8707.

CHAPTER 15.

RETAKING AFTER ESCAPE OR RESCUE.

8732. (4655.) Pursuit and rearrest. If a person arrested escapes or is rescued, the person from whose custody he shall have escaped or shall have been rescued may immediately pursue and retake him at any time and in any place within the state.

Cal. Pen. C., § 854.
Escapes, §§ 7967-7971.
Rescues, §§ 7964, 7965.
Justifiable homicide in retaking felon, § 8031.

8733. (4656.) Id. May break door or window. To retake the person escaping or rescued, the person pursuing may break open an outer or inner door or window of a dwelling-house or other building, if, after notice of his intention, he is refused admittance.

Cal. Pen. C., § 855.
Door or window may be broken in making arrest, when, § 8722.

CHAPTER 16.

PRELIMINARY EXAMINATION.

8737. (4657.) Magistrate to inform prisoner of his rights. When the defendant shall be brought before the magistrate upon an arrest, either with or without a warrant, on a charge of having committed a public offense, the magistrate must immediately inform him of the charge against him, and of his right to the aid of counsel in every stage of the proceedings.

Cal. Pen. C., § 858.
Rights of accused person, Con. art. 1, secs. 7-12, and notes; § 8553, and note.
District attorney may attend, § 5762.
Preliminary examination may be waived, Con. art. 1, sec. 13; § 8549, and note.
What complaint must state, § 8680.
Preliminary examination of corporation, § 9357.
Information to be filed, § 8779, and note.
The right of the accused to a preliminary examination on the charge stated in the complaint is a substantial one.
State v. Pay, 45 U. 411; 146 P. 300.
Where the information charged an offense different from that stated in the complaint on which accused had a preliminary examination, the accused may, before pleading to the merits, move to quash the information on that ground.
Id.
A verified complaint is essential to a preliminary examination, and the preliminary examination, unless waived, is a prerequisite to prosecution by information.
State v. Sheffield, 45 U. 426; 146 P. 306.

8738. (4658.) Time to procure counsel allowed. Message to counsel. The magistrate must also allow the defendant a reasonable time to send for counsel, and postpone the examination for that purpose, and must, upon the request of the defendant, require a peace officer to take a message to any counsel in the precinct or the city the defendant may name. The officer must, without delay and without fee, perform that duty.

Cal. Pen. C., § 859. Right to counsel, Con. art. 1, sec. 12.

8739. (4659.) Examination to be proceeded with. At the time set for the hearing, the magistrate before whom the accused is brought must, unless a change of place of trial is had under the provisions of the next succeeding section, immediately after the appearance of counsel, or, if none appears, after waiting a reasonable time therefor, if the accused requires the aid of counsel, proceed to examine the case.

N. Dak. (1895) § 7952.
Waiver of preliminary examination with consent of state, Con. art. 1, sec. 13; § 8549.

8740. (4660.) Change of place of trial. Affidavit. Transfer. Whenever a person accused of a public offense is brought before a justice of the peace for examination and, at any time before such examination is commenced, he files with such justice his affidavit stating that by reason of the bias or prejudice of said justice he believes he cannot have a fair and impartial examination before him, such justice must transfer said action, and all the papers therein, including a certified copy of his docket entries, to another justice of the same county; provided, that unless the parties agree upon the justice to whom said action shall be transferred, it shall be sent to the nearest justice of the county, but no more than one change of the place of examination under this section shall be had in an action.

N. Dak. (1895) § 7953.
Change of place of trial in justices' courts, §§ 9427-9429.

8741. (4661.) Limitation on postponement, unless by consent. The examination must be completed at one session, unless the magistrate, for good cause shown, postpone it. The postponement shall be for not more than four days at each time, nor more than twelve days in all, unless by consent or on motion of the defendant.

Cal. Pen. C., § 861*.

8742. (4662.) Id. Defendant to give bail or be committed. If a postponement is had, the magistrate must commit the defendant for examination, admit him to bail, or discharge him from custody upon the deposit of money, as provided in this code, as security for his appearance at the time to which the examination is postponed.

Cal. Pen. C., § 862. Bail, §§ 8704, 8705, 9243-9270.

8743. (4663.) Form of commitment for examination. The commitment for examination shall be made by an indorsement, signed by the magistrate on the warrant of arrest, to the following effect: "The within named A B, having been brought before me under this warrant, is committed for examination to the sheriff of ....." If the sheriff be not present, the defendant may be committed to the custody of any peace officer.

Cal. Pen. C., § 863.
County attorney to report to district attorney, § 5768.

8744. (4664.) Magistrate must issue subpœnas. The magistrate must issue subpœnas, subscribed by him, for witnesses within the state, required either by the prosecution or the defense.

Cal. Pen. C., § 864*.
Accused entitled to compulsory process for witnesses, Con. art. 1, sec. 12.

8745. (4665.) Procedure on preliminary examination. At the examination, the magistrate must first read to the defendant the complaint and the depositions of the witnesses examined or making the complaint, if depositions were taken.

Cal. Pen. C., § 864*.
A criminal prosecution must be begun by a complaint, and accused can only be held for trial after preliminary examination for the crime charged in the complaint, or one included therein.
State v. Pay, 45 U. 411; 146 P. 300.

8746. (4666.) Id. Examination of witnesses in presence of defendant. The witnesses must be examined in the presence of the defendant, and may be cross-examined in his behalf.

Cal. Pen. C., § 865.
Accused entitled to be confronted by witnesses, Con. art. 1, sec. 12; § 8553.

8747. (4667.) Id. Examination of defendant's witnesses. When the examination of witnesses on the part of the state shall have closed, any witnesses the defendant may produce may be sworn and examined.

Cal. Pen. C., § 866.

8748. (4668.) Id. Exclusion of witnesses. Keeping separate. While a witness shall be under examination, the magistrate may exclude all witnesses who have not been examined. He may also cause the witnesses to be kept separate, and to be prevented from conversing with each other until they shall have all been examined.

Cal. Pen. C., § 867. Exclusion of witnesses and others, § 1801.

8749. (4669.) Id. Exclusion of spectators, etc., on request. The magistrate must also, upon the request of the defendant, exclude from the examination every person except his clerk, the prosecutor and his counsel, the attorney-general, the county attorney, the defendant and his counsel, and the officer having the defendant in custody.

Cal. Pen. C., § 868.

Exclusion of spectators, etc., in certain cases, § 1801.

8750. (4670.) When testimony reduced to writing. Form of deposition. The testimony of each witness in cases of homicide must be reduced to writing as a deposition, by the magistrate, or under his direction; and in other cases upon the demand of the prosecuting attorney. The magistrate before whom the examination shall be had may, with the consent of the county attorney, order the testimony and proceedings to be taken down in shorthand, in all examinations herein mentioned, and for that purpose he may appoint a stenographer. The deposition or testimony of the witness must be authenticated in the following form:

1. It must state the name of the witness, his place of residence, and his business or profession;

2. It must contain the questions put to the witness, and his answers thereto, each answer being distinctly read to him as it is taken down, and being corrected or added to until it conforms to what he declares is the truth; except that in cases where the testimony shall be taken down in shorthand, the answer or answers of the witness need not be read to him;

3. If a question put is objected to on either side and overruled, or the witness declines answering it, that fact, with the ground on which the question shall have been overruled or the answer declined, must be stated;

4. The deposition must be signed by the witness, or if he refuses to sign it, his reason for refusing must be stated in writing as he gives it, except that in cases where the deposition shall be taken down in shorthand, it need not be signed by the witness;

5. It must be signed and certified by the magistrate when reduced to writing by him, or under his direction, and when taken down in shorthand, the transcript of the stenographer appointed as aforesaid, when written out in longhand, and certified as being a correct statement of such testimony and proceedings in the case, shall be prima facie a correct statement of such testimony and proceedings. The stenographer shall, if the defendant is held to answer the charge, within ten days after the close of such examination, transcribe his said shorthand notes into longhand, and certify and file the same with the clerk of the district court of the county in which the defendant shall have been examined, and shall in all cases file his original notes with said clerk. The stenographer's fees shall be paid out of the treasury of the county.

Cal. Pen. C., § 869*.

Testimony upon preliminary examination may be used on trial, when, § 8553.

Testimony of witness taken in writing, § 8767.

Failure of reporter to file transcript does not prevent defendant from being brought to trial where defendant did not claim that he was prejudiced thereby, and did not ask for a continuance in order to secure same.

People v. Thiede, 11 U. 241; 39 P. 837; affirmed 159 U. S. 510.

The provisions of this section do not make the transcript evidence per se, or make the trial depend upon its having been filed.

State v. Morgan, 27 U. 103; 74 P. 526.

A certificate "that the above and foregoing is a full, true, and correct transcript of all the proceedings therein," is defective, but may be amended at the trial.

State v. Vance, 38 U. 1; 110 P. 434.

The provision fixing time of filing the notes is directory, in the absence of a claim of prejudice, and original notes may be filed at the time of the trial, and the transcript of the testimony of an absent witness admitted.

Id.

Where a magistrate, who holds a person to answer a complaint charging him with a felony, files a transcript of his proceedings in the district court, such court has jurisdiction until a motion to quash the information is sustained, although accused had no preliminary examination, or did not have one in compliance with the statute.

State v. Gustaldi, 41 U. 63; 123 P. 897.

Where accused, with consent of the state, waived the preliminary examination, he must be held to have waived the necessity of the magistrate's hearing any testimony.

State v. Mewhinney, 43 U. 135; 134 P. 632.

A transcript is admissible where the certificate was to the effect that it was transcribed in long hand while, in fact, it was transcribed in typewriting, and the testimony of a witness who, at the time of the trial, was out of the state, is admissible, as opportunity was given for cross-examination at the hearing.

State v. Hillstrom, 46 U. 341; 150 P. 935.

8751. (4671.) Custody and disposition of depositions, etc. The magistrate or his clerk must keep the depositions taken, and exhibits admitted as evidence on the examination, until they shall be returned to the proper court; and must not permit them to be examined or copied by any person except a judge of a court having jurisdiction of the offense, or authorized to issue writs of habeas corpus, the attorney-general, county attorney, or other prosecuting attorney, and the defendant and his counsel.

Cal. Pen. C., § 870.

8752. (4672.) Id. Violation of preceding section a crime. Every violation of the next preceding section is punishable as a misdemeanor.

N. Dak. (1895) § 7963.

8753. (4673.) Defendant discharged for want of probable cause. If, after hearing the proofs, it appears that either no public offense has been committed, or that there is not sufficient cause to believe the defendant guilty of a public offense, the magistrate must order the defendant to be discharged, by an indorsement on the warrant or the complaint, signed by him, to the following effect: "There being no sufficient cause to believe the within named A B guilty of the offense within mentioned, I order him discharged."

Cal. Pen. C., § 871.

8754. (4674.) Id. When costs taxed against complainant. If the defendant on a preliminary examination for a public offense is discharged as provided in the next preceding section, and if the magistrate finds that the prosecution was malicious or without probable cause, he shall enter such judgment on his docket and tax the costs against the complaining witness, which shall be enforced as judgments for costs in criminal cases, and execution may issue therefor.

N. Dak. (1895) § 7965.

8755. (4675.) When defendant held to answer. Order. If, however, it appear from the examination that a public offense has been committed, and that there is sufficient cause to believe the defendant guilty thereof, the magistrate must indorse on the complaint an order, signed by him, to the following effect: "It appearing to me that the offense in the within complaint mentioned (or any offense, according to the fact, stating generally the nature thereof) has been committed, and that there is sufficient cause to believe the within named A B guilty thereof, I order that he be held to answer to the same."

Cal. Pen. C., § 872*.
Form of commitment, § 8760.
Magistrate to return papers to district court, § 8768.
Magistrate to furnish list of witnesses, etc., § 8768.
Names of witnesses to be indorsed on information, § 8782; and on indictment, § 8820.

Sec. 4886, C. L. 1888, requiring the justice to indorse on the deposition an order, etc., is directory, and it is sufficiently complied with when the order specifying the offense for which accused is held is entered upon the magistrate's docket and certified to the court.
State v. Crook, 16 U. 212; 51 P. 1091.

An information will not be set aside because of mistakes of magistrate in describing the offense, or even in characterizing it, when it appears that the conduct, acts, and motives described in the information as the offense were investigated by the magistrate and commitment made thereon.
State v. McKee, 17 U. 370; 53 P. 733.

8756. (4676.) Id. Order when offense not bailable. If the offense is not bailable, the following words, or words to the same effect, must be added to the indorsement: "And that he is hereby committed to the sheriff of the county of ....."

Cal. Pen. C., § 873.

8757. (4677.) Id. Order when bail has been taken. If the offense is bailable, and bail is taken by the magistrate, the following words must be added to the aforementioned indorsement: "And I have admitted him to bail to answer by the undertaking hereto annexed."

8758. (4678.) Id. Order when offense bailable. If the offense is bailable, and the defendant is admitted to bail, but bail shall not have been given, the following words must be added to the order indorsed on the complaint: "And that he is admitted to bail in the sum of ..... dollars, and is committed to the sheriff of the county of ..... until he gives such bail, or is legally discharged."

Cal. Pen. C., § 875*.
Bail on arrest, §§ 8704, 8705.
Bail generally, §§ 9243-9270.

8759. (4679.) Commitment to be delivered with defendant. If the magistrate orders the defendant to be committed, he must make out a commitment, signed by himself, with his name of office, and deliver it, with the defendant, to the officer to whom he is committed, or, if that officer is not present, to the peace officer, who must immediately deliver the defendant into the proper custody, together with the commitment.

Cal. Pen. C., § 876.
Indorsement to be made on the complaint by the magistrate, § 8755.

8760. (4680.) Id. Form of. The commitment must be to the following effect:

State of Utah, county of .....
The state of Utah to the sheriff of the county of .....

An order having been this day made by me that A B be held to answer upon a charge of (stating briefly the nature of the offense, and giving as near as may be the time when and the place where the same was committed), you are commanded to receive him into your custody and detain him until he is legally discharged.

Dated at ....., this ..... day of ....., 19.....

Cal. Pen. C., § 877.

8761. (4681.) Witnesses may be required to give bonds. On holding the defendant to answer, the magistrate may take from each of the material witnesses examined before him on the part of the state a written undertaking, without surety, to the effect that he will appear and testify at the court to which the complaint and depositions are to be sent, or that he will forfeit the sum of $200.

Cal. Pen. C., § 878*
Witness may be required to give bond to appear at preliminary examination, § 8766.

8762. (4682.) Id. Sureties may be required. When the magistrate or a judge of the court in which the action is pending shall be satisfied, by proof on oath, that there is reason to believe that any such witness will not appear and testify unless security is required, he may order the witness to enter into a written undertaking, with sureties, in such sum as he may deem proper, for his appearance as specified in the next preceding section.

Cal. Pen. C., § 879.

8763. (4683.) Id. When witness is a minor. When a minor is a material witness, any other person may be allowed to give an undertaknig for the appearance of such witness; or the magistrate may, in his discretion, take the undertaking of such minor in a sum not exceeding $50, which shall be valid and binding in law, notwithstanding the disability of minority.

Mont. Pen. C., § 1690*.

8764. (4684.) Id. Commitment for failure to give. If a witness, required to enter into an undertaking to appear and testify, either with or without sureties, refuses compliance with the order for that purpose, the magistrate must commit him to prison until he complies or is legally discharged.

Cal. Pen. C., § 881.

8765. (4685.) Id. Examination of witness unable to give bond. When, however, it shall satisfactorily appear, by examination on oath of the witness, or any other person, that the witness is unable to procure sureties, he may be forthwith conditionally examined on behalf of the state. Such examination must be by question and answer, in the presence of the defendant, or after notice to him, if on bail, and conducted in the same manner as the examination before a committing magistrate is required by this code to be conducted, and the witness must thereupon be discharged; but this section shall not apply to an accomplice in the commission of the offense charged.

Cal. Pen. C., § 882.
Use of such testimony, § 8553.
Testimony of witness may be taken in writing in any case; use as evidence, § 8767.
Magistrate may take depositions of witnesses in the first instance, § 8682.
When testimony reduced to writing on preliminary examination, § 8750.

8766. (4685x.) May require witness to give bond to appear at preliminary examination. Whenever a crime has been committed, a magistrate having jurisdiction of the same may, on proof that there is reason to believe that any of the material witnesses will not appear at the preliminary examination unless security is required, or on the recommendation of the county attorney or other attorney for the state, order said witness to enter into a written undertaking with sureties, in any sum he may deem proper, for their appearance at said preliminary examination. '07, p. 196.

8767. (4685x1.) Id. Testimony of witnesses taken in writing; use as evidence. Upon application from the county attorney or other attorney for the state, and upon notice to the defendant, the testimony of witnesses may be taken in writing before the magistrate having jurisdiction of said crime, and said testimony, when signed by the witness and certified by the magistrate, or a transcript of said testimony, if taken in shorthand, certified by the stenographer who took the testimony, shall be prima facie a correct statement of such testimony, and shall be used at the preliminary examination of said defendant or at the trial of said defendant, or both, with the same force and effect as though said witnesses were present in court and testifying; provided, however, that it be satisfactorily shown to the court that the witness is dead or insane, or cannot with due diligence be found within the state. '07, p. 196.

Magistrate may examine witnesses and take depositions at time complaint is made, § 8682.
Testimony of witnesses at preliminary hearing, § 8553, and note.
Where a deputy sheriff calls at a home of a witness several times, but does not find him, and the witness is out of the state at the time of the trial, the transcript of his evidence is admissible, even though the defendant does not have an opportunity to cross-examine the witness in the presence of the jury.
State vs. Hillstrom, 46 U. 341; 150 P. 935.
Where it is shown that the witness is out of the state, it is not necessary to show any special effort to find him in the state.
State v. De Pretto, 48 U. 249; 155 P. 336.

8768. (4686.) After preliminary examination, magistrate must make full return of proceedings to the district court. Penalty for failure. When the magistrate shall have discharged the defendant or shall have held him to answer, he must, within fifteen days from the date of his decision, return to the clerk of the court at which the defendant is required to appear, the warrant, if any; the complaint, the depositions, if any; a list of the names and the postoffice addresses of all witnesses for the state, if he can ascertain them; and all undertakings of bail and for the appearance of witnesses taken by him, together with a certified copy of the record of the proceedings, as it appears on his docket. Failure of the magistrate to make such return as herein provided, and within the time herein stated, shall be deemed a contempt of the court before which the defendant is required to appear, for which the magistrate shall be fined by said court not less than $10 and not more than $100. Am'd '15, p. 200.

Cal. Pen. C., § 883*

8769. (4687.) When defendant a convict. Examination in prison. When the defendant is a convict in the state prison, or a prisoner in a county jail, the examination may be held in the office of the prison or jail. In such cases the commitment shall be directed to the warden of the prison or to the keeper of the jail.

CHAPTER 17.

PROSECUTION BY INFORMATION, INDICTMENT, OR ACCUSATION.

8773. (4688.) Prosecution in district court to be by information, etc. All public offenses triable in the district courts, except cases appealed from justices' courts, must be prosecuted by information or indictment, except as provided in the next succeeding section.

Cal. Pen. C., § 888*.
Prosecution by information or indictment, Con. art. 1, sec. 13; § 8549.
Indictment defined, § 8675.
Information defined, § 8676.
The prosecution and conviction of a person by information filed by county attorney in accordance with the statutes, Con. art. 1, sec. 13, and art. 8, sec. 21, does not abridge the privileges or immunities of such person as a citizen of the U. S. under the fourteenth amendment.
In re Maxwell, 19 U. 495; 57 P. 412; affirmed 176 U. S. 181.
State v. Imlay, 22 U. 156; 61 P. 557.
A person charged with having committed an offense prior to statehood had a constitutional right to be prosecuted upon an indictment by a grand jury; and he may not be prosecuted by way of information. (Following Thompson v. Utah, 170 U. S. 343, and overruling State v. Carrington, 15 U. 480; 50 P. 526; and State v. Bates, 14 U. 293; 47 P. 78.)

State v. Rock, 20 U. 38; 57 P. 532.

8774. (4689.) Action for removal from office begun by accusation. When the proceedings shall be for the removal of any district, county, precinct, municipal, or school officer, or officer of any board of education, or of a state officer not liable to impeachment, for any high crime, misdemeanor, or malfeasance in office, they may be commenced by an accusation in writing preceding section must be presented to, or filed, or found in, the district court. 8 of this title.

Cal. Pen. C., § 889*.
Accusation may be presented to court by taxpayer, § 8640.
Removal by judicial proceedings, Con. art. 6, sec. 21; §§ 8625-8640.

8775. (4690.) Id. Accusation, information, or indictment. All accusations, informations, or indictments against officers mentioned in the next preceding section must be presented to, or filed, or found in, the district court.

Cal. Pen. C., § 890*.

8776. (4691.) Officers mentioned may be prosecuted criminally. Nothing in this chapter shall be construed to prevent the officers mentioned from being proceeded against, by information or indictment, for a public offense in the same manner as now is or may hereafter be provided by law for so proceeding against other persons accused of a public offense.

N. Dak. (1895) § 7981*.

CHAPTER 18.

THE INFORMATION.

8779. (4692.) Information to be filed within thirty days. Failure to file is a contempt. When a defendant has been examined and committed as provided in this code, it shall be the duty of the district attorney, within thirty days thereafter, to file in the district court of the county in which the offense is triable an information charging the defendant with the offense for which he is held to answer, [or any other offense disclosed by the testimony, whether it be the offense charged in the complaint on which the examination was held or not.] If the district attorney fails to file the information within the time specified, he shall be deemed guilty of contempt, and may be prosecuted for neglect of duty, as in other cases. Am'd '01, p. 26.

Cal. Pen. C., § 809*; Mont. Pen. C., 1730*.
Information defined, § 8676.
Form and sufficiency of information, §§ 8828-8855.
Complaint, § 8680.
Preliminary examinations, § 8737.
Prosecution by information after examination and commitment or after waiver, Con. art. 1, sec. 13.
Dismissal for failure to file information, § 9345.
Waiver of examination, § 8549, and note.
Information for bastardy, § 3821.
Reasons for not filing; nolle prosequi, § 8780.
Statutory language need not be strictly pursued, § 8840.
Prosecution by information is constitutional, note to § 8773.
Duties of district attorney, §§ 5761-5772.

The clauses "or any other offense disclosed by the testimony, whether it be the offense charged in the complaint on which the examination was held or not," must, in order to harmonize with Con. art. 1, sec. 13, be limited to an offense included in that charged in the complaint.
State v. Pay, 45 U. 411; 146 P. 300.
State v. Hoben, 36 U. 186; 102 P. 1000.
State v. Sheffield, 45 U. 426; 146 P. 306.

The conviction and sentence of a person charged with a crime by an information not signed by the person designated by law, is void for want of jurisdiction in the trial court.
State v. Beddo, 22 U. 432; 63 P. 96.

Prior to amendment of 1901, district attorneys had no authority to sign information. Chap. 56, laws of 1899, so far as amendatory of this section and §§ 1610, 5091, and 8780, was void, and district attorneys whose offices were created by said act had no power to sign and file informations in criminal cases. (Doctrine as to amendments modified in Mill v. Brown, 31 U. 473; 88 P. 609, and in Marioneaux v. Cutler, 32 U. 475; 91 P. 355.)
State v. Beddo, 22 U. 432; 63 P. 96.

Sec. 9345 does not provide that a prosecution shall be dismissed for failure to file an information as required by this section, and the fact that an information was not filed within thirty days after commitment does not entitle defendant to a discharge, where good cause is shown for delay in the prosecution.
State v. Reynolds, 24 U. 29; 66 P. 614.

The dismissal of a criminal action, and the discharge of accused from custody after the filing by the district attorney of an information as herein provided, terminates the action.
Barnes v. Second Dist. Court, 36 U. 396; 104 P. 282.

Under Con. art. 1, sec. 13, offenses shall be prosecuted by information after examination and commitment by a magistrate, unless waived. The information must be for the offense charged in the complaint, or one included therein; it cannot be for a different one; and the right to a preliminary hearing on the crime charged in the complaint, or one included therein, is essential.

State v. Pay, 45 U. 411; 146 P. 300.
State v. Jensen, 34 U. 166; 96 P. 1085.
State v. Hoben, 36 U. 186; 102 P. 1000.
State v. Sheffield, 45 U. 426; 146 P. 306.

Cannot dismiss an information defective in susbtance, and then file a new information without a preliminary examination.
Barnes v. Second Dist. Court, 36 U. 396; 104 P. 282.

The preliminary examination, charging accused with rape on April 1 on a female under the age of consent, was confined to evidence of rape on that date, and the information charged the offense on that date; but the proof showed that prosecutrix was then over eighteen years of age, and the state introduced evidence of an offense prior to the time she became eighteen; held, that conviction could not be sustained because accused did not have a preliminary examination relating to the offense committed before the prosecutrix became eighteen.
State v. Hoben, 36 U. 186; 102 P. 1000.

Where the defendant on a preliminary examination is bound over on a charge of fornication, the information based thereon being quashed because of statute of limitations, and the state without any preliminary examination filed a second information charging the offense as of another date; held, the court could not authorize the filing of the second information and try defendant for a distinct offense for which he had never been committed before a magistrate.
State v. Jensen, 34 U. 166; 96 P. 1085.

8780. (4693.) When information is not filed. Nolle prosequi. If the district attorney determines that an information ought not to be filed in any such case, he must make, subscribe, and file with the clerk of the district court of the county a statement in writing setting forth his reasons in fact and in law for not filing such information, and such statement must be filed during the term of court at which the defendant is held to appear for trial. The court must thereupon examine such statement, together with the evidence filed in the case, and if, upon such examination, the court is not satisfied with such statement, the district attorney must be directed and required by the court to file the proper information and bring the case to trial. But if the court does not require that information to be filed, and the defendant is not held or wanted to answer for any other public offense, he shall be discharged, his bail exonerated, and his money refunded to him. Am'd '01, p. 26.

Mont. Pen. C., § 1732*; N. Dak. (1895) § 7984*.
Dismissal of action for failure to prosecute, §§ 9345-9350.
When information set aside and resubmission ordered, § 8882.
Dismissal generally, §§ 9345-9350.
Failure of grand jury to find indictment, resubmission, § 8821.
Mistake in charging the offense, discharge or new prosecution, § 8993.
Holding defendant to answer to another or a higher offense, §§ 8903, 9038.

8781. (4694.) Information may be amended. Delay. An information may be amended without leave of court in any matter of form or substance at any time before the defendant pleads thereto. It may also be amended in any matter of form or substance by leave of court at any time after the defendant has pleaded to the merits, or during the trial. In case an amendment is allowed after a plea, or during the trial, the court shall give the defendant such reasonable time as may be necessary to meet the new matter set up in the amendment. No amendment shall cause any delay of the trial, except for good cause, which shall be made to appear to the satisfaction of the court, and shall be made a part of the record; and unless the defendant shall cause any reason he may have, why the trial shall not forthwith proceed, to be presented to the trial court and ask that the same shall be made a matter of record, he shall not be permitted to review the ruling of the court on the amendment in the supreme court. In case the trial court after judgment, on motion of the defendant, or the supreme court on his appeal, shall hold the information insufficient either in form or substance to sustain the judgment, the defendant shall not, for that reason, be discharged, but the court shall order a new information to be filed if the defects can be avoided in the new information, and the case shall proceed in the same manner as though a new trial had been granted to the defendant. Am'd '13, p. 54.

Mont. Pen. C., § 1733.
Filing new information, § 8882.
Amendment when defendant charged by wrong name, § 8833.

Not error to allow amendment to information before trial by insertion of certain words, when the amendment was immaterial and the legal meaning and effect were the same without as with the amendment.
State v. McKee, 17 U. 370; 53 P. 733.

Amendment by alleging value of money taken. Under § 8043, providing that robbery is the felonious taking of personal property in the possession of another, from his person or immediate presence, and against his will, accompanied by means of force or fear, and indictment not alleging the value of the money taken "in current United States silver coin" was sufficient, and an amendment inserting these words was not prejudicial to defendant.
State v. LaChall, 28 U. 80; 77 P. 3.

Before the amendment of 1913, the information could not be amended as to a matter of substance after defendant had pleaded.

State v. Topham, 41 U. 39; 123 P. 88.
State v. Potello, 42 U. 396; 122 P. 14.
As amended: The information may be amended by changing the date so as to make it conform to the date charged in the complaint.

State v. Hay, 51 U. —; 172 P. —.

The state may obtain leave to file a new or amended information, and set forth with particularity the nature of the instrument with which the assault was committed, and its failure to specify particularly such instrument is not fatal.

State v. Jukanovich, 45 U. 372; 146 P. 289.

8782. (4695.) Information to recite commitment. Names of witnesses. An information must recite the fact of the commitment or binding over of the defendant by a magistrate, and the names of the witnesses testifying for the state on such examination must be indorsed thereon.

Mont. Pen. C., § 1734*.

Magistrate to furnish list of names of witnesses, § 8768.

Must be signed by district attorney or deputy, or by attorney pro tem., §§ 8676, 8878.

Waiver of examination, § 8549, and note.

Names of witnesses placed on indictment, § 8822.

Set aside for failure to place names of witnesses on information, § 8878; or on indictment, § 8879.

Set aside for failure to recite commitment, § 8878.

CHAPTER 19.

FORMATION OF THE GRAND JURY.

8786. (4696.) Drawing of grand jury discretionary with judge. A grand jury shall be drawn or summoned only when, in the opinion of the judge of the district court of the county, public interest demands it.

Mont. Pen. C., § 1750*.

Authorized by Con. art. 1, sec. 13.

How drawn, § 3610.

8787. (4697.) To consist of seven male citizens. Five a quorum. A grand jury must consist of seven eligible male citizens of the United States, selected, summoned, and impaneled as provided by law, five of whom may constitute a quorum to do business.

Concurrence of at least five grand jurors necessary, § 8820.

Selecting, summoning, and drawing, §§ 3591-3619.

Five must concur to find an indictment, Con. art. 1, sec. 13; § 8820.

Fees of grand jurors, §§ 2542-2548.

Powers and duties, §§ 8806-8823.

A conviction upon an indictment returned by a grand jury not summoned and impaneled as required by law, or consisting of a different number from that required, will be reversed.

U. S. v. Reynolds, 1 U. 226.

Brannigan v. People, 3 U. 488; 24 P. 767.

Thorp v. People, 3 U. 441; 24 P. 908.

Where members of grand jury were not duly qualified or sworn, conviction on indictment found by them will be reversed.

Territory v. Woolsey,, 3 U. 470; 24 P. 765.

The laws of the territory of Utah, with reference to grand jurors, are still in force in this state as to offenses committed prior to its admission.

State v. Rock, 20 U. 38; 57 P. 532.

8788. (4698.) State or defendant may challenge. The state, or a person whose case will come before a grand jury, may challenge the panel of a grand jury or an individual juror.

Cal. Pen. C., § 894*.

8789. (4699.) Challenge to panel. Grounds. A challenge to the panel may be interposed for one or more of the following causes only: That the grand jurors were not selected, drawn, or summoned according to law.

Cal. Pen. C., § 895*.

Challenge to the panel, civil procedure, § 6796, and note.

8790. (4700.) Id. To individual juror. Grounds. A challenge to an individual grand juror may be interposed for one or more of the following causes only:

1. That he is not an eligible juror as provided by law;
2. That he is prosecutor upon a charge against the defendant;
3. That he is a witness on the part of the prosecution, and has been served with process or bound by an undertaking as such;
4. That he has formed or expressed an unqualified opinion or belief that the defendant is guilty or not guilty of the offense charged; but a hypothetical opinion, founded on hearsay or information supposed to be true, unaccompanied with malice or ill-will, shall not disqualify a juror or be a cause of challenge.

Cal. Pen. C., § 896*.

Challenge for cause, civil procedure, § 6799, and note.

A person having conscientious scruples against indicting a person for polygamy, or who believes it right for a man to have more than one living and undivorced wife at the same time, is wholly incompetent to serve as a grand juror in the investigation of such a charge.

U. S. v. Reynolds, 1 U. 226.
U. S. v. Clawson, 4 U. 34; 5 P. 689; confirmed 114 U. S. 477.

8791. (4701.) Challenge may be oral or written. The challenges mentioned in the three next preceding sections may be oral or in writing and must be tried by the court.

Cal. Pen. C., § 897.

8792. (4702.) Court to allow or disallow challenge. Entry. The court must allow or disallow the challenge, and the clerk must enter its decisions upon the minutes.

Cal. Pen. C., § 898.

8793. (4703.) Allowance of challenge to panel. New grand jury. If a challenge to the panel is allowed, such grand jury shall be prohibited from inquiring into the charge against the defendant by whom the challenge shall have been interposed. If, notwithstanding, they do so, and find an indictment against him, the court must direct that it be set aside. The court may, however, in such case order a new grand jury to be summoned according to law.

Cal. Pen. C., § 899*.
Accused not held to answer before impaneling of grand jury, not deprived of objection to grand juror, § 8879.

8794. (4704.) Allowance of challenge to individual. Juror excused. If the challenge is allowed to an individual juror for the first cause, such person must be excused from the jury, and if there be not enough jurors left to complete the panel, the court must complete the same.

Mont. Pen. C., § 1758*.

8795. (4705.) Juror excused temporarily. If a challenge to an individual grand juror, for the second, third, or fourth causes is allowed, he must not be present at, nor take part in, the consideration of the charge against the defendant who interposed the challenge, nor the deliberations of the grand jury thereon. The grand jury must inform the court of a violation of this section, and it shall be punishable by the court as a contempt.

Cal. Pen. C., § 900*.
Challenge to individual juror, § 8790.
Acting after challenge allowed a misdemeanor, § 8010.

8796. (4706.) Objection to jury or juror must be by challenge. The state, or a person whose case will come before a grand jury, may take advantage of any objection to the panel or to an individual grand juror in no other mode than by challenge.

Cal. Pen. C., § 901*.
Challenge, §§ 8789, 8790.

8797. (4707.) Court to appoint foreman of grand jury. From the persons summoned to serve as grand jurors and appearing, the court must appoint a foreman. The court must also appoint a foreman when the person already appointed shall have been excused or discharged before the grand jury is dismissed.

Cal. Pen. C., § 902.

8798. (4708.) Oath of foreman of grand jury. The following oath must be administered to the foreman of the grand jury:

You, as foreman of the grand jury, do solemnly swear that you will diligently inquire into and true presentment make of all public offenses against the laws of this state, committed or triable within this county, of which you shall have or can obtain legal evidence. You will keep your own counsel and that of your fellows and that of the state, and will not, except when required in the due course of judicial proceedings, disclose the testimony of any witness examined before you, nor anything which you or any other grand juror may have said, nor the manner in which you or any other grand juoror may have voted on the matter before you. That you will present no person through malice, hatred, or ill will, nor leave any unpresented through fear, favor, or affection, or for any reward or the promise or hope thereof; but in all your presentments you will state the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, according to the best of your skill and understanding, so help you God.

N. Dak. (1895) § 8004*; Cal. Pen. C., § 903*.

8799. (4709.) Oath of grand jurors, other than foreman. The following oath must be immediately thereupon administered to the other grand jurors present:

The same oath which your foreman has now taken before you on his part, you and each of you will well and truly observe on your part, so help you God.

Cal. Pen. C., § 904.

8800. (4710.) Charge to grand jury. The grand jury, having been impaneled and sworn, must be charged by the court. In doing so, the court must give them such information as shall be required by law as to their duties, and as to any charges for public offenses returned to the court or likely to come before the grand jury.

Cal. Pen. C., § 905*.

8801. (4711.) Duties of grand jury. Clerk. Final discharge. The grand jury must then retire to a private room and inquire into the offenses cognizable by them. They must appoint one of their number as clerk, who must preserve minutes of the evidence given before them and of their proceedings except of the votes of the individual members. On the completion of the business before them, they must be discharged by the court; but whether the business is completed or not, they shall be discharged by the final adjournment of the court.

N. Dak. (1895) §§ 8008, 8009*; Cal. Pen. C., § 906*.

CHAPTER 20.

POWERS AND DUTIES OF GRAND JURY.

8806. (4712.) To inquire into offenses, present indictments, etc. The grand jury must inquire into all public offenses committed or triable within the county, and present them to the court by indictment, or by an accusation in writing.

Cal. Pen. C., § 915*. Formation of grand jury, §§ 8786-8801.

8807. (4713.) Foreman to administer oaths to witnesses. The foreman may administer an oath to any witness appearing before the grand jury.

Cal. Pen. C., § 918.

8808. (4714.) Evidence receivable by grand jury. In the investigation of a charge for the purpose of indictment, the grand jury must receive no other evidence than such as shall be given by witnesses produced and sworn before them, or furnished by legal documentary evidence, or the deposition of a witness in cases, mentioned in sub. 4 of § 8553. The grand jury must receive none but legal evidence, and the best evidence in degree, to the exclusion of hearsay or secondary evidence.

Cal. Pen. C., § 919*.

8809. (4715.) Not bound to hear evidence for defendant. Process. The grand jury shall not be bound to hear evidence for the defendant; but it is their duty to weigh all the evidence submitted to them, and when they have reason to believe that other evidence within their reach will explain away the charge, they should order such evidence to be produced, and for that purpose may require the county attorney to issue process for the witnesses.

Cal. Pen. C., § 920.

8810. (4716.) When jury should find indictment. The grand jury ought to find an indictment when all the evidence before them, taken together, if unexplained, or uncontradicted, would, in their judgment, warrant a conviction by a trial jury.

Cal. Pen. C., § 921. Dismissal, resubmission, § 8821.

8811. (4717.) Juror having knowledge of crime must declare it. If a member of a grand jury knows, or has reason to believe, that a public offense triable within the county has been committed, he must declare the same to his fellow jurors, who must thereupon investigate the same.

Cal. Pen. C., § 922.

8812. (4718.) What the grand jury must inquire into. The grand jury must inquire into the case of every person imprisoned in the jails of the county on a criminal charge and not indicted; into the conditions and management of the public prisons within the county; and into the wilful and corrupt misconduct in office of public officers of every description within the county.

Cal. Pen. C., § 923.

8813. (4719.) Jury to have access to prisons and public records. They shall also be entitled to free access, at all reasonable times, to the public prisons, and to an examination without charge of all public records within the county.

Cal. Pen. C., § 924.

8814. (4720.) Court and district attorney to advise jury. Exclusion of persons. The grand jury may, at all reasonable times, ask the advice of the court or the judge thereof, or of the district attorney, but unless such advice is asked, the judge of the court must not be present during the sessions of the grand jury. The district attorney or attorneys for the state may at all times appear before the grand jury for the purpose of giving information or advice relative to any matter cognizable by them, and may interrogate witnesses before them whenever they or he shall think it necessary; but no other person shall be permitted to be present during the sessions of the grand jury, except the members, interpreters, and witnesses actually under examination, and no person must be permitted to be present during the expression of their opinion or the giving of their votes upon any matter before them.

Am'd '01, p. 8.

Cal. Pen. C., § 925*; Mont. Pen. C., § 1788.

Under provisions of this section (prior to amendment), an indictment would not be set aside on the ground that the district attorney instead of the county attorney was present during the session of the grand jury.

State v. Mickel, 23 U. 507; 65 P. 484.

8815. (4721.) Juror must maintain secrecy. Disclosure on order of court. Every member of the grand jury must keep secret whatever he himself or any other grand juror may have said, or in what manner he or any other grand juror may have voted on a matter before them; but may, however, be required by any court to disclose the testimony of a witness examined before the grand jury, for the purpose of ascertaining whether it is consistent with that given by the witness before the court; or to disclose the testimony given before them by any person upon a charge against such person for perjury in giving his testimony, or upon his trial therefor.

Cal. Pen. C., § 926.

Disclosure by grand juror, penalty, §§ 8011, 8012, 8854.

The power herein granted to the court to require the grand juror to disclose testimony for the two purposes specified does not deprive it of the power to require disclosure for any other purpose, and a grand juror may testify to a confession of defendant before the grand jury.

U. S. v. Kirkwood, 5 U. 123; 13 P. 234.

Grand jurors may testify to admissions made before them by witness testifying to offense of another person.

People v. Reggel, 8 U. 21; 28 P. 955.

8816. (4722.) Grand juror cannot be questioned for vote, etc. Exception. A grand juror shall not be questioned for anything he may say, or any vote he may give in the grand jury relative to a matter legally pending before the jury, except for a perjury of which he may have been guilty, in making an accusation or giving testimony to his fellow jurors.

Cal. Pen. C., § 927.

CHAPTER 21.

INDICTMENT.

8820. (4723.) Five jurors must concur to find. Indorsing and signing. An indictment cannot be found without the concurrence of at least five grand jurors. When so found it must be indorsed "a true bill," and the indorsement must be signed by the foreman of the grand jury.

Cal. Pen. C., § 940*.

Indictment defined, § 8675.

Form and sufficiency of indictment, §§ 8828-8855.

Five must concur to find an indictment, Con. art. 1, sec. 13; § 8787.
In the absence of a statutory requirement, an indictment need not be signed by the U. S. district attorney, and, if signed by a deputy U. S. district attorney, the signing is surplusage.
People v. Lyman, 2 U. 30.

8821. (4724.) Failure to find indictment. Dismissal. Resubmission. If five grand jurors do not concur in finding an indictment against a defendant held to answer, the complaint, and depositions and statement, if any, that shall have been transmitted to them must be returned to the court, with an indorsement theron, signed by the foreman, to the effect that the charge is dismissed. Such dismissal of the charge shall not prevent its resubmission to a grand jury at the next ensuing term, by order of the court, but it must not, after such ensuing term, be resubmitted.

Cal. Pen. C., §§ 941*, 942*.
When new information or resubmission ordered, § 8882.
When grand jury should find indictment, § 8810.
Nolle Prosequi, § 8780.

8822. (4725.) Names of witnesses placed on indictment. When an indictment shall be found, the names of the witnesses examined before the grand jury, or whose depositions may have been read before them, must be inserted at the foot of the indictment or indorsed thereon, before it is presented to the court.

Cal. Pen. C., § 943.
Names of witnesses placed on information, § 8782.
Set aside for failure to indorse names of witnesses, § 8879.
Non-compliance with this section as to some witnesses does not render them incompetent, and is waived by pleading to the indictment.
People v. Thiede, 11 U. 241; 39 P. 837; affirmed 159 U. S. 510.
Prosecution need not call all witnesses named on the indictment.
People v. Robinson, 6 U. 101; 21 P. 403.
The fact that witness was out of the territory and out of the jurisdiction of the court was sufficient reason for not calling her.
People v. Oliver, 4 U. 460; 11 P. 612.

8823. (4726.) Indictment presented by foreman in open court. An indictment, when found by the grand jury, must be presented by their foreman in their presence to the court, and must be filed with the clerk.

Cal. Pen. C., § 944.
An indictment will be presumed to have been presented to the court by the foreman of the grand jury, and in their presence, if the record of the court shows nothing to the contrary.
People v. Lee, 2 U. 441.
When an indictment is exhibited in open court and indorsed "a true bill," it is evidence that it was duly found by a legal grand jury.
Thorp v. People, 3 U. 441; 24 P. 908.

8824. (4727.) Bench warrant for defendant not in custody. When an indictment shall have been found against a defendant not in custody, a bench warrant shall be issued against him in the same manner as is provided in chap. 23 of this title.

Cal. Pen. C., § 945*.
Bench warrant, §§ 8863-8870.

CHAPTER 22.

RULES OF PLEADING AND FORMS OF INFORMATION AND INDICTMENT.

8828. (4728.) Rules of pleading are those prescribed herein. All forms of pleadings in criminal actions, and the rules by which the sufficiency of such pleadings is to be determined, shall be those prescribed by this code.

Cal. Pen. C., § 948.
Statutes to be liberally construed, §§ 5839, 7892, 8842.
Rules for testing sufficiency of an indictment are those of the Code of Criminal Procedure and not of the common law.
People v. Kerm, 8 U. 268; 30 P. 988.
Informations are governed and tested by the same rules of pleading as are provided for indictments.
State v. Crook, 16 U. 212; 51 P. 1091.

8829. (4729.) Information or indictment is the first pleading. The first pleading on the part of the state shall be the information or the indictment.

Cal. Pen. C., § 949.
Information generally, §§ 8779-8782.
Indictment generally, §§ 8820-8824.

8830. (4730.) Id. What it must contain. The information or indictment must contain:

1. The title of the action, specifying the name of the court to which the same is presented, and the names of the parties;

2. A statement of the acts constituting the offense, in ordinary and concise language, and in such manner as to enable a person of common understanding to know what is intended.

Cal. Pen. C., § 950.
Information, §§ 8779-8782.
Indictment, §§ 8820-8824.
Grounds for setting aside information, § 8878; indictment, § 8879.
Prosecution by information or indictment, and other prosecutions, § 8549.
Information or indictment sufficient, when, § 8841.
Use of statutory language, § 8840, and notes.
Information and indictments tested by same rules of pleading, note to § 8828.
Information or indictment sufficient, when, § 8841.
Non-prejudicial errors of form disregarded, §§ 8842, 9231, 9365; civil procedure, § 6622.
Names of witnesses placed on indictment, § 8822; on information, § 8782.
Amendment, § 8781.

Where an offense is so defined by statute that a felonious intent constitutes no part of the crime, it is not necessary that the indictment should charge the act as having been done feloniously.

People v. Colton, 2 U. 457.
Intent necessary to crime, § 7908, and note.

An information should, in all cases, employ so many of the substantial words of the statute as will enable the court to see on what statute it is founded, and all other words which are essential to a complete description of the offense, or such words which are equivalent to those used in the statute, provided they include the full signification of the statutory words, but not otherwise.

State v. Williamson, 22 U. 248; 62 P. 1022.
State v. McDonald, 14 U. 173; 46 P. 872.

The mere existence in some other county of acts or conditions of the defendant, lawful themselves, but necessary to be alleged under provisions of this section, in order to establish the crime charged, do not invoke the provisions of § 8648, providing that when a public offense shall have been committed in part in one county and in part in another, the jurisdiction shall be in any of such counties.

State v. Graham, 23 U. 278; 64 P. 557.

An information for practicing medicine without a license, in the language of § 4450, is sufficient.

State v. Erickson, 47 U. 452; 154 P. 948.

An information for an attempt of carnal knowledge under § 8109, which alleges that the defendant "did lay hold upon the person of said ——— and threw her to the ground," is not improper as embodying unnecessary allegations.

State v. Benson, 46 U. 74; 148 P. 445.

Binding defendant over for trial on the offense of assaulting a person named, with intent to do bodily harm, does not justify an information charging assault with intent to do bodily harm to another person.

State v. Potello, 42 U. 396; 132 P. 14.

A recital in the information that accused had been duly committed by a magistrate may be rebutted.

State v. Springer, 40 U. 71; 121 P. 976.

In order that an information charging a statutory offense may be sufficient by following the language of the statute, it must contain all of the elements constituting the offense.

State v. Topham, 41 U. 39; 123 P. 888.

Where the information charges defendant with fornication with Verda Mathews when her name was Beatea Mathews, it is harmless where the identity is established.

State v. Chipman, 40 U. 549; 123 P. 89.

8831. (4731.) Form of information or indictment. It may be substantially in the following form:

The state of Utah against A B.

In the district court of the ..... district, in and for the county of ....., the ..... day of ....., A. D. 19.....

A B is accused by the grand jury of the county of ..... by this indictment (or by the district attorney by this information) of the crime of (giving its legal appellation, such as murder, arson, or the like, or designating it as a felony or misdemeanor), committed as follows: Said A B, on the ..... day of ....., A. D. 19....., at the county of ..... (here set forth the act or omission charged as an offense), contrary to the form of the statute in such case made and provided, and against the peace and dignity of the state of Utah.

Am'd '01, p. 26.

Information to recite commitment, § 8782.

8832. (4732.) Id. Must be direct and certain in what. The information or indictment must be direct and certain as it regards:

1. The party charged.
2. The offense charged;
3. The particular circumstances of the offense, when they are necessary to constitute a complete offense.

Cal. Pen. C., § 952.
Amendment as to name of party, § 8820.
But one offense to be charged, counts, § 8834, and note.
Sufficiency of information charging robbery, note of § 8043; assault with deadly weapon, note to § 8070; murder in first degree, note to § 8291; receiving stolen property, note to § 8297; embezzlement, note to § 8304; larceny, note to § 8285; obstructing railroad, etc., note to § 8383.

The indictment is sufficient if it can be understood therefrom that the act or omission charged as the offense is clearly and distinctly set forth, without repitition, and in such manner as to enable the court to understand what is intended and to pronounce judgment according to the right of the cause.

People v. Kerm, 8 U. 268; 30 P. 988.

Under this section and § 4730, the information in a criminal proceeding must be direct and certain as regards the offense charged.

State v. Hillberg, 22 U. 27; 61 P. 215.

An indictment charging defendants with having stolen twenty mares and three horses, the property of different owners, with the names of the several owners, and specifying the number of animals belonging to each owner, states the facts with sufficient certainty.

State v. Mickel, 23 U. 507; 65 P. 484.

State v. McKee, 17 U. 370; 53 P. 733.

An information in a prosecution for incest, which alleges that the accused had sexual intercourse with his niece, knowing her to be of such relationship, is sufficient under this section, which provides that the information must be direct and certain as it regards (1) the person charged; (2) the offense charged.

State v. James, 32 U. 152; 89 P. 460.

Where an information charging a statutory offense fairly apprises the accused of the charge preferred against him, so that he can meet it, it is sufficient, and a mere technicality should be ignored, except when it affects a substantial right.

State v. Swan, 31 U. 336; 88 P. 12.

Under the provisions of this section, the particular circumstances of an offense charged in an information need be set forth only when they are necessary to complete the offense.

Id.

An indictment charging a married woman with adultery by then and there feloniously permitting M. to have carnal knowledge of her body, is not fatally defective, in that it did not charge her with having done anything, but only with permitting an act by another.

State v. Moore, 36 U. 521; 105 P. 293.

An information charging accused with having operated a motor vehicle upon a public street at a higher rate of speed than was safe, and so as to endanger life, without having it under immediate control, and driving it past and in close proximity to a street car when the same was standing still for the purpose of letting off passengers, and while operating the vehicle in such unlawful manner, without due caution and circumspection, is insufficient to charge involuntary manslaughter.

State v. Gesas, 49 U. 181; 162 P. 366.

An information for pandering by threats, promises, etc., inducing a woman to remain in a house of prostitution in the language of the statute does not sufficiently set forth the facts.

State v. Topham. 41 U. 39; 123 P. 888.

8833. (4733.) Defendant charged by wrong name. Correction. When a defendant is charged by a fictitious or erroneous name, and in any stage of the proceedings his true name is discovered, it must be inserted in the subsequent proceedings, reference being made to the fact of his having been charged by the name mentioned in the information or indictment.

Cal. Pen. C., § 953.

Information may be amended, § 8781.

Defendant to declare true name on arraignment, § 8873.

8834. (4734.) But one offense to be charged. Different counts permitted. The information or indictment must charge but one offense, but the same offense may be set forth in different forms under different counts; and when the offense may be committed by the use of different means, the means may be alleged in the alternative in the same count; provided, that an information or indictment for larceny may contain also a count for obtaining money by false pretenses, a count for embezzlement, and a count for receiving or buying stolen property, knowing it to be stolen; that an information or indictment for forgery may contain a count for uttering a forged instrument, knowing it to be a forgery; that an information or indictment for robbery may contain a count for larceny; that an information or indictment for burglary may contain a count for house-breaking and one for larceny, and an information or indictment for house-breaking may contain a count for larceny; that an information or indictment for rape, or assault with intent to commit rape, or carnal knowledge of a female under eighteen years of age, or attempt to commit the crime of carnal knowledge of a female under eighteen years of age, or crime against nature upon any person, or attempt to commit the crime against nature upon any person, may contain also a count for indecent assault. Am'd '99, p. 51; '09, p. 23.

Cal. Pen. C., § 954*.

See citations under § 8088.

Information or indictment sufficient, when, § 8841.

Must be direct and certain in what, § 8832, and note.

Indictment charging several criminal acts, all, however, as a part of same transaction, and as constituting one crime, charges but one offense.

People v. Hill, 3 U. 334; 3 P. 75.

Conviction under an indictment charging cohabitation with seven women between certain dates is not a bar to prosecution for cohabitation with the same women at the same place, at an earlier date. (Revised, 120 U. S. 274, on the ground that same was one continuous offense).

U. S. v. Snow, 4 U. 295; 9 P. 686.

Where bigamy and adultery are committed on the same day, with the same person, the two offenses may be charged in separate counts in the same indictment.

U. S. v. West, 7 U. 437; 27 P. 84.

An indictment charging bigamy in one count and adultery in another is good at common law, since the prosecutor might elect or the court could compel him to elect which count he should proceed under.

Id.

Where an indictment for murder contains allegations concerning an abortion and miscarriage, and the instruments and drugs used to produce the miscarriage, which merely show the manner of and the means used in perpetrating the offense, it is not bad for duplicity.

State v. Carrington, 15 U. 480; 50 P. 526.

Information charging embezzlement, etc., in two counts, held to charge but one offense.

State v. Blue, 17 U. 175; 53 P. 978.

Complaint for adultery charging continuous offense not bad for duplicity.

State v. Thompson, 31 U. 228; 87 P. 709.

An information alleging that on a certain day defendant beat, and the next day administered poison to, deceased, and that by means of all of this she died, charges death as a result of the combined effect of the two transactions, so that no election is required; there can be no conviction on evidence that death was caused by one cause singly.

State v. Vance, 38 U. 1; 110 P. 434.

Where, to prevent a variance, the state charges the transaction in different counts, it cannot be required to elect upon which count it will ask for conviction before the evidence is introduced.

State v. Harcombe, 48 U. 89; 158 P. 1096.

8835. (4735.) Id. Conviction may be had on any count. The defendant or defendants, or any of them, may be convicted of any offense charged in any of the counts joined as prescribed in the next preceding section; provided, that no person shall be convicted of more than one crime upon the same facts constituting such crime.

8836. (4736.) Conviction or acquittal of one or more defendants. Upon an information or indictment against several defendants, any one or more may be convicted or acquitted.

Cal. Pen. C., § 970.
Conviction of one or more, § 9026.
Defendants charged jointly, separate or joint trial, § 8980.

8837. (4737.) Precise time need not be alleged or proved. Exception. The precise time at which the offense shall have been committed need not be stated in the information or indictment, but it may be alleged to have been committed at any time before the filing thereof, if an information; or, if an indictment, before the finding thereof, except where the time is a material ingredient in the offense.

Cal. Pen. C., § 955*.
What allegation as to time is sufficient, § 8841.
Where an indictment alleges that property was stolen on the fourth day of the month, and there is evidence that it was stolen on the third day, it is proper to charge that the exact time of the offense is not material; and defendant cannot claim that this is, in effect, a direction to disregard his proof of an alibi on the third day of the month.
People v. Wright, 11 U. 41; 39 P. 477.
Under this section and § 8842, it is not necessary that the information state the precise time at which the offense is alleged to have been committed.
State v. Woolsey, 19 U. 486; 57 P. 426.
Where the information charges crime of rape on April 1, on a female under the age of consent, and evidence was introduced substantiating the charge, and also showing that prosecutrix was over eighteen years of age on that date, held that where the state had elected to rely on the offense committed on April 1, a conviction could not be sustained on the evidence of the prior offenses.
State v. Hoben, 36 U. 186; 102 P. 1000.
The date stated in information is immaterial, and the prosecution, before evidence is introduced, may select any such act occurring within the statute of limitations and the jurisdiction of the court, as the offense for which it would ask conviction, and in the absence of such election, the law makes the election of the act charged by considering the act which the prosecution first introduced testimony to support, and no subsequent election can be made.
State v. Hilberg, 22 U. 27; 61 P. 215.
State v. Hansen, 40 U. 418; 122 P. 375.
State v. Greene, 38 U. 389; 115 P. 181.
Where, in the preliminary examination, evidence was offered of an adulterous act on a certain date, or where the information charges it on a certain date, the state may at the trial abandon the offense committed on that date and convict for an offense with the same woman committed on another date.
State v. Thompson, 31 U. 228; 87 P. 709.
State v. Sheffield, 45 U. 426; 146 P. 306.
State v. Kimball, 45 U. 443; 146 P. 313.

8838. (4738.) Erroneous allegation as to person injured not material, when. When an offense shall involve the commission of, or an attempt to commit, a private injury, and shall have been described with sufficient certainty in other respects to identify the act, an erroneous allegation as to the person injured, or intended to be injured, shall not be material.

Cal. Pen. C., § 956.
Variance, § 8903.
Attempts to commit crimes, §§ 8045-8050, 8527, 8528.
There is no fatal variance between allegations that the bank defrauded was the Commercial National Bank, and proof that the bank's corporate name was Commercial National Bank of Salt Lake City.
State v. Brown, 39 U. 140; 115 P. 994.
An information charging fornication with Verda Mathews, her true name being Beatea Mathews is not defective when the identity is established.
State v. Chipman, 40 U. 549; 123 P. 89.

8839. (4739.) Construction of words in information or indictment. The words used in an information or indictment shall be construed in their usual acceptance in common language, except such words and phrases as shall be defined by law, which are to be construed according to their legal meaning.

Cal. Pen. C., § 957.
Terms and construction, §§ 5848, 7893.

8840. (4740.) Id. Statutory words need not be strictly pursued. Words used in a statute to define a public offense need not be strictly pursued in the information or indictment, but other words conveying the same meaning may be used.

Cal. Pen. C., § 958.
Non-prejudicial errors of form disregarded, §§ 8842, 231, 365.
Must be direct and certain as to what, § 8832, and note.
Penal statutes not strictly construed, § 7892.
It is not necessary that the precise words of the statute should be used in an indictment.
People v. Colton, 2 U. 457.
Indictment charging embezzlement, framed in the language of the statute, without setting forth the facts and circumstances of bailment, is sufficient.
People v. Hill, 3 U. 334; 3 P. 75.
To charge a statutory offense in the language of the statute, or in terms equivalent thereto, is generally sufficient.
State v. Williamson, 22 U. 248; 62 P. 1022.
State v. Evans, 27 U. 12; 73 P. 1047.
State v. Swan, 31 U. 336; 88 P. 12.
People v. Gough, 2 U. 70.
People v. Hill, 3 U. 334; 3 P. 75.

It is sufficient to charge the offense in the words of the statute in an indictment for a misdemeanor, unless they fail to cover element of the offense charged.
Cannon v. U. S., 116 U. S. 55.
Same case, 4 U. 122; 7 P. 369.
Where a statute defining an offense contains an exception in the enacting clause of the statute, which is so incorporated with the language defining the offense that the ingredients of the offense cannot be accurately and clearly described if the exception is omitted, an indictment founded upon the statute must allege enough to show that the accused is not within the exception.
State v. Williamson, 22 U. 248; 62 P. 1022.

An information should employ so many of the substantial words of the statute as will enable the court to see on what statute it is founded, and all other words which are essential to a complete description of the offense, or such words which are equivalent to those used in the statute, provided they include the full signification of the statutory words, but not otherwise.
State v. Williamson, 22 U. 248; 62 P. 1022.
State v. McDonald, 14 U. 173; 46 P. 872.
It is better practice to charge an offense in the language of the statute. Information charging rape sustained.
State v. Delvecchio, 25 U. 18; 69 P. 58.

8841. (4741.) When information or indictment sufficient. The information or indictment is sufficient if it can be understood therefrom:

1. That it is entitled in a court having authority to receive it though the name of the court be not stated;

2. If an information, that it was subscribed and presented by a person authorized by law so to do; or, if an indictment, that it was found by a grand jury of the county in which the court was held;

3. That the defendant is named, or, if his name cannot be discovered, that he is described by a fictitious name, with a statement that his true name is to the informant, or, as the case may be, to the grand jury, unknown;

4. That the offense committed was within the jurisdiction of the court and is triable therein;

5. That the offense was committed at some time prior to the time of the presenting of the information or the finding of the indictment;

6. That the act or omission charged as the offense is clearly and distinctly set forth in ordinary and concise language, without repetition, and in such manner as to enable a person of common understanding to know what is intended, and the court to pronounce judgment upon a conviction, according to the right of the case.

Cal. Pen. C., § 959*.
Grounds for setting aside information, § 8878; indictment, § 8879.
Information may be amended, § 8781.
Information or indictment must contain what, § 8830.
Indictments and information charging homicide, note to § 8025.
Use of statutory language, § 8840, and notes.
Name of court should be stated, § 8830.

Precise time need not be alleged or proved, § 8837, and note.
Must be direct and certain in what, § 8832.
The indictment alleged that the crime was committed "in the county of Weber in this territory and district;" held, that the naming of the county was surplusage and that it was sufficient if the offense had been committed anywhere in the district.
U. S. v. Kershaw, 5 U. 618; 19 P. 194.

8842. (4742.) Non-prejudicial errors of form disregarded. No information or indictment is insufficient, nor can the trial, judgment, or other proceeding thereon be affected by reason of a defect or imperfection in matter of form which does not tend to the prejudice of a substantial right of the defendant upon the merits.

Cal. Pen. C., § 960; N. Dak., § 8048.
Statutes to be liberally construed, §§ 5839, 7892.
Similar section, civil procedure, § 6622.
Non-prejudicial errors of form disregarded, §§ 9231, 9365.

8843. (4743.) Presumptions of law, etc., need not be stated. Neither presumptions of law nor matters of which judicial notice is taken need be stated in an information or an indictment.

Cal. Pen. C., § 961.

8844. (4744.) In pleading judgment, facts not alleged. Proof. In pleading a judgment or other determination of, or proceeding before, a court or officer of special jurisdiction, it shall not be necessary to state the facts constituting jurisdiction; but the judgment or determination may be stated as given or made, or the proceedings had. The facts constituting jurisdiction, however, must be established on the trial.

Cal. Pen. C., § 962.

8845. (4745.) Private statute pleaded by reference to title and date. In pleading a private statute, or a right derived therefrom, it shall be sufficient to refer to the statute by its title and the day of its passage, and the court must thereupon take judicial notice thereof.

Cal. Pen. C., § 963.

8846. (4746.) Criminal libel, how pleaded. Proof. An information or indictment for libel need not set forth any intrinsic facts for the purpose of showing the application to the party libeled of the defamatory matter on which the information or indictment is founded; but it shall be sufficient to state generally that the same was published concerning him, and the fact that it shall have been so published must be established on the trial.

Criminal libel, general provisions, §§ 8072-8083.

Applied.
People v. Ritchie, 12 U. 180; 42 P. 209.

8847. (4747.) Pleading forgery when instrument destroyed, etc. Misdescription. When an instrument which is the subject of an information or indictment for forgery has been destroyed or withheld by the act or the procurement of the defendant, and the fact of such destruction or withholding shall have been alleged in the information or indictment and established on the trial, the misdescription of the instrument shall be immaterial.

Cal. Pen. C., § 965.
Forgery, § 8270.

8848. (4748.) Perjury pleaded. Proof necessary. In an information or indictment for perjury or subornation of perjury, it shall be sufficient to set forth the substance of the controversy or matter in respect to which the offense was committed, and in what court or before whom the oath alleged to be false was taken, and that the court, or the person before whom it was taken, had authority to administer it, with proper allegations of the falsity of the matter on which the perjury is assigned; but the information or indictment need not set forth the pleadings, record, or proceedings with which the oath is connected, nor the commission or authority of the court or person before whom the perjury was committed. Perjury must be proved by the testimony of two witnesses, or one witness and corroborating circumstances.

Cal. Pen. C., § 966*.
Perjury, §§ 7900, 7980.

Indictment for perjury set out and held sufficient hereunder.
People v. Greenwell, 5 U. 112; 13 P. 89.

8849. (4749.) Larceny or embezzlement. Sufficient allegations. In an information or indictment for the larceny or embezzlement of money, bank notes, certificates of stock, or valuable securities, or for a conspiracy to cheat or defraud a person of any such property, it shall be sufficient to allege the larceny or embezzlement, or the conspiracy to cheat and defraud, to be of money, bank notes, certificates of stock, or valuable securities, without specifying the coin, number, denomination, or kind thereof.

Cal. Pen. C., § 967.
Larceny of securities, etc., §§ 8293-8295.

Indictment charging embezzlement held sufficient.
People v. Hill, 3 U. 334; 3 P. 75.

8850. (4750.) Obscene literature, etc. Sufficient allegations. An information or indictment for exhibiting, publishing, passing, selling or offering to sell, or having in possession with such intent, any lewd or obscene book, pamphlet, picture, print, card, paper, or writing need not set forth any portion of the language used, or figures shown upon such book, pamphlet, picture, print, card, paper, or writing; but it is sufficient to state generally the fact of the lewdness or obscenity thereof.

Cal. Pen. C., § 968.
Obscene literature, § 8144.

8851. (4751.) Principal and accessory. Certain distinctions abrogated. The distinction between an accessory before the fact and a principal, and between principals in the first and second degree, in cases of felony, is abrogated; and all persons concerned in the commission of a felony, whether they directly commit the act constituting the offense, or aid and abet in its commission, though not present, shall hereafter be prosecuted, tried, and punished as principals, and no other facts need be alleged in any information or indictment against such an accessory than are required in an information or indictment against his principal.

Cal. Pen. C., § 971.
Principals and accessories defined, §§ 7919, 7920.

Jurisdiction of prosecutions against principal and accessory, §§ 6650, 6651.

8852. (4752.) Accessory punished though principal not. An accessory to the commission of a felony may be prosecuted, tried, and punished, though the principal may be neither prosecuted nor tried, and though the principal may have been acquitted.

Cal. Pen. C., § 972. Punishment of accessory, § 7921.

8853. (4753.) Indictment or information to be recorded. Certified copy. Every indictment or information must be recorded by the clerk within five days after the same is filed, in a book to be kept for that purpose. The judge must compare the record with the original indictment or information, and certify the correctness thereof. In case the original indictment or information is lost or destroyed, the defendant may be tried upon a copy taken from the record and certified by the clerk.

Mont. Pen. C., § 1855.

8854. (4754.) Officials not to disclose indictment, etc., until arrest. No grand juror, county attorney, clerk, judge, or other officer must disclose the fact that an indictment is found or an information filed until the defendant has been arrested, except any disclosure that may be necessarily incident to the issue and service of a warrant to arrest the defendant. A violation of this section may be punished as a misdemeanor by fine or imprisonment, or both.

Mont. Pen. C., § 1856. Disclosure by grand juror, §§ 8011, 8815.

8855. (4755.) Joint ownership of personal property, how pleaded. When any offense is committed upon, or in relation to, any personal property belonging to several partners or owners, the indictment or information for such offense is sufficient if it allege such property to belong to any one or more of such partners or owners, without naming them all.

Mont. Pen. C., § 1858.
Where indictment charged defendant with having stolen horses belonging to different owners.
State v. Mickel, 23 U. 507; 65 P. 484.
See State v. McKee, 17 U. 370; 53 P. 733.

CHAPTER 23.

ARRAIGNMENT OF DEFENDANT.

8860. (4756.) Arraignment of defendant, when and where. When the information or indictment shall have been filed, the defendant must be arraigned thereon before the court in which it shall be filed, unless the cause is transferred to some other county for trial. Such arraignment must be within ten days from the date of filing the information or indictment, if court be then in session in such county, otherwise on the first day of the next succeeding session of court. Am'd '15, p. 200.

Cal. Pen. C., § 976.
Rights of accused, Con. art. 1, secs. 7-13; § 8553.
In the absence of an objection at the time, an arraignment on a holiday is harmless error, as an arraignment may be waived.
State vs. Estes, 52 U. —; 175 P. —.

8861. (4757.) Presence of defendant at arraignment necessary, when. If the information or indictment is for a felony, the defendant must be personally present; but if for a misdemeanor, he may appear upon the arraignment by counsel.

Cal. Pen. C., § 977. Presence of defendant at trial, § 8926.

8862. (4758.) Defendant in custody brought in. When his personal appearance shall be necessary, if he is in custody, the court may direct that he be brought, and the officer in whose custody he shall be must thereupon bring him, before it to be arraigned.

Cal. Pen. C., § 978.

8863. (4759.) Id. Bench warrant for defendant on bail. If the defendant shall have been discharged on bail, or shall have deposited money instead thereof, and does not appear to be arraigned when his personal attendance shall be necessary, the court, in addition to the forfeiture of the undertaking of bail, or the money deposited, may direct the clerk to issue a bench warrant for his arrest.

Cal. Pen. C., § 979

8864. (4760.) Id. Issuance of bench warrant. The clerk, on the application of the prosecuting attorney, may, at any time after the order shall have been made, whether the court is sitting or not, issue a bench warrant to one or more counties.

Cal. Pen. C., § 980.

8865. (4761.) Form of bench warrant, if offense a felony. The bench warrant upon the information or indictment, if the offense is a felony, must be substantially in the following form:

State of Utah, county of .....

The state of Utah to any sheriff, constable, marshal, or policeman in this state:

An information having been filed (or an indictment having been found), on the ..... day of ....., A. D. 19....., in the district court of the county of ....., charging C D with the crime of (designating it generally); you are therefore commanded forthwith to arrest the above named C D, and bring him before that court (or before the court to which the information or indictment may have been removed, naming it), to answer said information or indictment; or if the court has adjourned for the term, that you deliver him into the custody of the sheriff of the county of .....

Given under my hand, with the seal of said court affixed, this ..... day of ....., A. D. 19.....

[Seal] By order of said court. E F, Clerk.

Cal Pen. C., § 981*.

8866. (4762.) Arrest under bench warrant. Bail. The defendant, when arrested under a warrant for an offense not bailable must be held in custody by the sheriff of the county in which the information is filed or the indictment is found, unless admitted to bail after an examination upon a writ of habeas corpus; but if the offense is bailable, there must be added to the body of the bench warrant a direction to the following effect: "Or, if he requires it, that you take him before any magistrate in that county, or in the county in which you arrest him, that he may give bail to answer to the information or indictment;" and the court, upon directing it to issue, must fix the amount of bail, and an indorsement must be made thereon and signed by the clerk, to the following effect: "The defendant is to be admitted to bail in the sum of .....dollars."

Cal. Pen. C., § 982.

8867. (4763.) Bench warrant served as a warrant of arrest. The bench warrant may be served in any county in the same manner as a warrant of arrest.

Cal. Pen. C., § 983*.

8868. (4764.) Bail after arrest on bench warrant. If the defendant is brought before a magistrate of another county for the purpose of giving bail, the magistrate must proceed in respect thereto in the same manner as if the defendant had been brought before him upon a warrant of arrest, and the same proceedings must be had thereon.

Cal. Pen. C., § 984. Bail generally, §§ 9243-9270.

8869. (4765.) Bail may be increased. Imprisonment until given. When the information or indictment is for a felony, and the defendant, before the filing or finding thereof, shall have given bail for his appearance to answer the charge, the court to which the information or indictment shall be presented may order the defendant to be committed to actual custody, unless he gives bail in an increased amount, to be specified in the order.

Cal. Pen. C., § 985*.

8870. (4766.) Id. Bench warrant for absent defendant. If the defendant is present when the order is made, he must be forthwith committed. If he is not present, a bench warrant must be issued and proceeded upon in the manner provided in this chapter.

Cal. Pen. C., § 986.

8871. (4767.) On arraignment, defendant entitled to counsel. Appointment. If the defendant appears for arraignment without counsel, he must be informed by the court that it is his right to have counsel before being arraigned, and must be asked if he desires the aid of counsel. If he desires and is unable to employ counsel, the court must assign counsel to defend him.

Cal. Pen. C., § 987.
Rights of accused persons, Con. art. 1, secs. 7-13; § 8553.
The transcript of the proceedings before an examining magistrate, affirmatively showing that the defendant "waived the service of an attorney," shows that defendant was apprised of his right to such services, and in absence of showing to contrary it will be presumed that the examining magistrate informed accused of his right to an attorney.
State v. Mewhinney, 43 U. 135; 134 P. 632.
An attorney appointed under this section is not entitled to compensation from the county.
Pardee v. S. L. County, 39 U. 482; 118 P. 122.

8872. (4768.) Id. Information or indictment to be read. Plea. The arraignment must be made by the court, or by the clerk or county attorney under its direction, and shall consist in reading the information or indictment to the defendant and delivering to him a copy thereof, including the list of witnesses, and asking him whether he pleads guilty or not guilty to the information or indictment.

Cal. Pen. C., § 988*.

8873. (4769.) Defendant to declare his true name. When the defendant is arraigned, he must be informed that, if the name by which he is prosecuted is not his true name, he must then declare his true name, or be proceeded against by the name in the information or indictment. If he gives no other name, the court may proceed accordingly; but if he alleges that another name is his true name, the court must direct an entry thereof in the minutes of the arraignment, and the subsequent proceedings on the information or indictment may be had against him by that name, referring also to the name by which he is informed against or indicted.

Cal. Pen. C., § 989*.
Defendant charged in wrong name, correction, § 8833.

8874. (4770.) Time allowed for answer. Motion to set aside. Demurrer. Plea. Proviso. If, on the arraignment, the defendant requires it, he must be allowed a reasonable time, not less than one day, to answer the information or indictment. He may, in answer to the arraignment, move to set aside, demur, or plead to the information or indictment; provided, that the defendant must be required to answer within ten days from the date of arraignment if court be then in session in such county, otherwise on the first day of next succeeding session of court. Am'd '15, p. 200.

Cal. Pen. C., § 900.

CHAPTER 24.

SETTING ASIDE INFORMATION OR INDICTMENT.

8878. (4771.) When information must be set aside. The information must be set aside by the court in which defendant is arraigned, upon his motion, in any of the following cases:

1. When it fails to recite that the defendant had theretofore been duly committed by a magistrate;

2. When the names of the witnesses testifying on the part of the state in such examination are not indorsed thereon;

3. When it is not signed by the district attorney or by the attorney pro tem. for the state. Am'd '01, p. 27.

Cal. Pen. C., § 995*.
Information, rules of pleading, form, etc., §§ 8779-8782, 8828-8855.
Granting or refusing of motion deemed excepted to, § 9189.
Waiver of preliminary examination, § 8549, and note.
Time of filing and necessity of preliminary hearing, § 8779.
Names of witnesses, etc., to be placed on information, § 8782.
When indictment or information sufficient, § 8841.
Indictment and information tested by same rules of pleading.
State v. Crook, 16 U. 212; 51 P. 1091.
A variation of the date of an adulterous act is not ground for motion to quash.
State v. Sheffield, 45 U. 426; 146 P. 306.
An objection that accused has not had a preliminary examination may be raised by a motion to quash the information, and such motion cannot be considered as a demurrer under § 8893.
State v. Springer, 40 U. 471; 121 P. 976.

8879. (4772.) When the indictment must be set aside. The indictment must be set aside by the court in which the defendant is arraigned, upon his motion, in any of the following cases:

1. Where it is not found, indorsed, and presented as prescribed in this code;

2. When the names of the witnesses examined before the grand jury, or whose depositions may have been read before them, are not inserted at the foot of the indictment, or indorsed thereon;

3. When a person has been permitted to be present during the session of the grand jury while the charge embraced in the indictment has been under consideration, except as provided in § 8814;

4. When the defendant had not been held to answer before the finding of the indictment, on any ground which would have been good for challenge either to the panel or to any individual grand juror.

Cal. Pen. C., § 995*.
Indictment, rules of pleading, form, etc., §§ 8820-8855.
Granting or refusing of motion deemed excepted to, § 9189.
Names of witnesses to be placed on indictment, § 8829.
Fact that indictment was found solely on testimony of incompetent witness is no ground for setting aside.
U. S. v. Cutler, 5 U. 608; 19 P. 145.
Indictment returned by grand jury not summoned and impaneled as required by law, or consisting of an illegal number, should be set aside.
U. S. v. Reynolds, 1 U. 226.
Brannigan v. People, 3 U. 488; 24 P. 767.

8880. (4773.) Motion to set aside. Form. When to be made. Motion to set aside the information or indictment, must be in writing, subscribed by the defendant or his attorney, and it must specify clearly the ground of objection to the information or indictment, and such motion must be made and filed contemporaneously with the filing of a demurrer and plea, or the defendant will be deemed to have waived any objection which could be raised by such motion. Am'd '15, p. 201.

Mont. Pen. C., § 1911; N. Dak. (1895) § 8083.

8881. (4774.) Id. Hearing. Procedure. Postponement. The motion must be heard at the time it is made, unless for cause the court postpones the hearing to another time. If the motion is denied, the defendant must immediately answer the information or indictment, either by demurring or pleading thereto. If the motion is granted, the court must order that the defendant, if in custody, be discharged therefrom; or, if admitted to bail, that his bail be exonerated; or, if he has deposited money instead of bail, that the same be refunded to him, unless it directs that an information be filed or that the case be submitted to the same or to another grand jury. But the court shall not postpone the hearing for any longer time than may be imperative. Am'd '15, p. 201.

Cal. Pen. C., § 997*.

8882. (4775.) Id. When new information or resubmission ordered. If the court directs that an information be filed, or that the case be resubmitted, the defendant, if already in custody, must so remain unless he shall be admitted to bail; or, if already admitted to bail, or money has been deposited instead thereof, the bail or money shall be answerable for the appearance of the defendant to answer a new information or indictment; and, unless a new information is filed or a new indictment is found at the same or the next term of court, the court must make the order prescribed by the next preceding section.

Cal. Pen. C., § 9984.
Amendment of information, § 8781.
Proceedings on sustaining demurrer to information or indictment, §§ 8893-8895.
Nolle Prosequi, §§ 8780, 9348.
Dismissal for failure to bring action to trial, §§ 9345-9347.
Resubmission to grand jury, § 8821.
Mistake in charging the offense, discharge or new prosecution, § 8993.

8883. (4776.) Order setting aside not a bar. An order to set aside an information or indictment, as provided in this chapter, shall be no bar to a future prosecution for the same offense.

Cal. Pen. C., § 999.
Bar on judgment of acquittal, § 8903.
Decisions on once in jeopardy, etc., note to § 8905.
Whether such an order bars a future prosecution is a question of law for the court.
State v. Springer, 40 U. 471; 121 P. 976.

CHAPTER 25.

DEMURRER.

8887. (4777.) Defendant's pleading, a demurrer or a plea. The only pleading on the part of the defendant shall be either a demurrer or a plea.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1002.

8888. (4778.) Demurrer, when made. Plea. Both the demurrer and plea must be put in open court at the time of the arraignment.

Am'd '15, p. 201.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1003.

8889. (4779.) Grounds of demurrer. The defendant may demur to the information or indictment when it appears upon the face thereof:

1. That the grand jury by which it was found had no legal authority to inquire into the offense charged, by reason of its not being within the legal jurisdiction of the county, if an indictment, or, if an information, that the court has no jurisdiction of the offense charged therein; or,

2. That it does not substantially conform to the requirements of §§ 8830-8832;

3. That more than one offense is charged, except as provided in § 8834; or,

4. That the facts stated do not constitute a public offense; or,

5. That it contains matter which, if true, would constitute a legal justification or excuse of the offense charged, or other legal bar to the prosecution.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1004*.

Order sustaining or overruling demurrer deemed excepted to, § 9189.

Demurrer that the indictment "does not substantially conform to the requirements of §§ 150, 151, of the code of procedure in criminal cases as to the offense charged and the particular circumstances" sufficiently specifies the grounds of objection hereunder.

People v. Hill, 3 U. 334; 8 P. 75.

8890. (4780.) Demurrer to be in writing and to specify grounds. The demurrer must be in writing, signed either by the defendant or his counsel, and filed. It must distinctly specify the grounds of objection to the information or indictment, or it must be disregarded.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1005.

8891. (4781.) Id. Time of hearing argument. Postponement. The argument upon the objections presented by the demurrer must be heard at the time it is filed, unless for cause the court postpone the hearing to another time, but the court shall not postpone the hearing for any longer time than may be imperative. If the defendant files a motion to set aside the information or indictment, the argument upon such motion and the argument upon the demurrer must be heard at the same time. Am'd '15, p. 201.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1006.

8892. (4782.) Judgment on demurrer. Entry. Upon considering the demurrer, the court must give judgment, either allowing or disallowing it, and an order accordingly must be entered upon the minutes.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1007.

8893. (4783.) Effect of sustaining demurrer. Further prosecution. If the demurrer is allowed, the judgment shall be final upon the information or indictment demurred to, and shall be a bar to another prosecution for the same offense, unless the court, being of the opinion that the objection on which the demurrer is allowed may be avoided in a new information or indictment, directs that a new information be filed, or that the case be resubmitted to the same or to another grand jury.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1008*.

When jurisdiction found to be in another county or state, procedure, §§ 8994-8997.

New information or resubmission of charge when facts charged do not constitute an offense, §§ 8994, 8998.

New information or indictment when motion to set aside granted, § 8882.

Decisions on once in jeopardy, etc., note to § 8905.

Dismissal for failure to prosecute, §§ 9345-9350.

Amendment of information, § 8781.

The words "next succeeding grand jury" refer to the first grand jury that meets after the allowance of the demurrer.

People v. Hill, 3 U. 334; 3 P. 75.

This section, nor § 8903, does not permit the filing of a new information on the dismissal of an action and the discharge of the accused after plea.

Barnes v. Second Dist. Court, 36 U. 396; 104 P. 282.

While an appeal may be taken from a judgment sustaining a demurrer, the supreme court is without authority to reinstate the case and remand for further pleading.

Tooele City v. Hoffman, 42 U. 596; 134 P. 558.

Where accused filed written objections to the information which recited that it appeared by the justice's record, which was made a part of the motion, that accused had not, prior to the filing of the information, had a right of a preliminary examination for the offense charged in the information, and prayed that the information be set aside and quashed, held it was not a demurrer to the information, but a motion under § 8878, and, if sustained, is not a bar to another prosecution for the same offense, and the question whether or not it is a bar is for the court, and not the jury, to determine.

State v. Springer, 40 U. 471; 121 P. 976.

8894. (4784.) Id. When defendant discharged. If the court does not permit the information to be amended, nor direct that a new information be filed, nor direct that the case be resubmitted, the defendant, if in custody, must be discharged, or if admitted to bail, his bail shall be exonerated, or if he shall have deposited money instead of bail, the money must be refunded to him.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1009*. Amendment of information, § 8781.

8895. (4785.) Id. If case resubmitted. If the court directs that the case be resubmitted, the same proceedings must be had thereon as are prescribed in § 8882.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1010.

8896. (4787.) What objections must be taken by demurrer. What at any time. When the objections mentioned in § 8889 appear upon the face of the information or indictment, they shall be taken only by demurrer, except that the objection to the jurisdiction of the court over the subject of the information or indictment, or that the facts stated do not constitute a public offense, may be taken at the trial, under the plea of not guilty, or after the trial, in arrest of judgment.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1012.

(The title and enacting clause of chap. 113, Laws '15, recite that this section is amended but the act contains no amendment.)

Objections, except the two specified, not taken by demurrer are waived.

U. S. v. West, 7 U. 437; 27 P. 84.

A question of want of jurisdiction in the trial court in a criminal case may be raised for the first time in the supreme court.

State v. Morrey, 23 U. 273; 64 P. 764.

CHAPTER 26.

PLEA.

8898. (4788.) Pleas of four kinds. There are four kinds of pleas to an information or indictment. A plea of:

1. Guilty;
2. Not guilty;
3. A former judgment of conviction or acquittal of the offense charged, which may be pleaded either with or without the plea of not guilty;
4. Once in jeopardy, which may be pleaded with or without the plea of not guilty.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1016*.

When put in, § 8888.

"Not guilty" entered when defendant refuses to plead, § 8906.

Decisions on former conviction, acquittal, or once in jeopardy, note to § 8905.

Former conviction, or acquittal, or once in jeopardy a bar, Con. art. 1, sec. 12; §§ 8904, 8905, 8555, 8652, 8653.

Where an arraignment is had and a plea entered on a holiday, no objection being entered, the error, if any, is waived inasmuch as the defendant may waive the arraignment and plea. The case of People v. Heller, 2 U. 133 is overruled.

State v. Estes, 52 U. —; 175 P. —.

Plea of former conviction not made is waived.

In re Maughan, 6 U. 167; 21 P. 1088.

In re Barton, 6 U. 264; 21 P. 998.

Where an issue of former acquittal is raised, it must be passed upon by the jury.

State v. Creechley, 27 U. 142; 75 P. 384.

8899. (4789.) Plea must be oral. Form of entry. Every plea must be oral, and entered upon the minutes of the court substantially in the following form:

1. If the defendant pleads guilty: "The defendant pleads that he is guilty of the offense charged;"

2. If he pleads not guilty: "The defendant pleads that he is not guilty of the offense charged;"

3. If he pleads a former conviction or acquittal: "The defendant pleads that he has already been convicted (or acquitted) of the offense charged by the judgment of the court of (naming it), rendered at (naming the place), on the ..... day of .....;"

4. If he pleads once in jeopardy: "The defendant pleads that he has been once in jeopardy for the offense charged (specifying the time, place, and court)."

Cal. Pen. C., § 1017.

8900. (4790.) Plea of guilty put in only by defendant. Withdrawal. A plea of guilty can be put in only by the defendant himself, in open court, unless upon information or indictment against a corporation, in which case it may be put in by counsel. The court may at any time before judgment upon a plea of guilty permit it to be withdrawn and a plea of not guilty substituted.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1018.
Where defendant refuses to plead, § 8906.
Rights of defendant, Con. art. 1, sec. 12, and notes; § 8553, and notes.

8901. (4791.) Issue on plea of not guilty. The plea of not guilty puts in issue every material allegation of the information or indictment.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1019.

8902. (4792.) Evidence under plea of not guilty. All matters of fact tending to establish a defense other than those specified in subs. 3, 4, § 8898, may be given in evidence under the plea of not guilty.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1020*.

8903. (4793.) Former acquittal on ground of variance not a bar. If the defendant shall have been formerly acquitted on the ground of variance between the information or indictment and the proof, or the information or indictment shall have been dismissed upon an objection to its form or substance, or in order to hold the defendant for a higher offense, without a judgment of acquittal, it shall not be an acquittal of the same offense.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1021.
Mistake in charging proper offense, discharge or new prosecution, § 8993.
Dismissal to hold defendant for another offense not a bar, §§ 8993, 9038.
After the dismissal of an action and the discharge of the accused after plea, a new information cannot be filed, since § 8781 forbids an amendment of an information in matters of substance after plea.
Barnes v. Second Dist. Court, 36 U. 396; 104 P. 282.

8904. (4794.) Id. Acquittal on merits a bar, notwithstanding defects. Whenever the defendant shall be acquitted on the merits, he shall be acquitted of the same offense, notwithstanding any defect in form or substance in the information or indictment on which the trial shall have been had.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1022.

8905. (4795.) Id. Conviction, acquittal, or once in jeopardy a bar. When the defendant shall have been convicted or acquitted or been once placed in jeopardy upon an information or indictment, the conviction, acquittal, or jeopardy shall be a bar to another information or indictment for the offense charged in the former, or for an attempt to commit the same, or for an offense necessarily included therein, of which he might have been convicted under that information or indictment.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1023.
Acquittal or conviction a bar, §§ 8520, 8522.
Persons not to be put twice in jeopardy, Con. art. I, sec. 12; § 8555, and note.
Order setting aside indictment or information for informality is not a bar, § 8883.
Foreign conviction or acquittal a bar, § 8522, 8652
Conviction or acquittal in another county a bar, § 8653.
Dismissal for failure to prosecute a bar, when, §§ 9345-9350.
Nolle prosequi, §§ 8780, 9348.
Plea of once in jeopardy, with or without plea of not guilty, § 8898.

When the offense charged is part and incident of an offense of which defendant has been convicted, the plea of former conviction should be sustained.

In re Snow, 120 U. 274. (Not reported in Utah reports).

Ex parte Neilsen, 131 U. S. 176. (Not reported in Utah reports).

Plea of former conviction not made is waived.

In re Barton, 6 U. 264; 21 P. 998.
In re Maughan, 6 U. 167; 21 P. 1088.

Waiver by consent to discharge of jury. A defendant pleaded not guilty and once in jeopardy. The jury was discharged after trial with the consent of the defendant, when he was placed on trial again; held, that the defendant could not plead a failure of the jury to find upon the issues of once in jeopardy, he having consented to the discharge of the jury.

People v. Kerm, 8 U. 268; 30 P. 988.

Former conviction under complaint charging offense of gambling committed on Jan. 1, and on divers days thereafter up to and including Sept. 19, does not bar indictment for gambling on a day between the two days particularly mentioned.

People v. Sullivan, 9 U. 195; 33 P. 701.

Defendant could be tried again for murder in the first degree, after verdict of guilty of murder in second degree had been set aside on his motion.

State v. Kessler, 15 U. 142; 49 P. 293.

Where an information was filed against the accused for procuring a miscarriage, a demurrer thereto sustained, and the court made no order requiring the case to be submitted to another grand jury, or that another information be filed, but ordered the accused discharged, and another information was filed against the accused for the same offense, a plea of former acquittal was a bar, and the court should have so instructed the jury.

State v. Crook, 16 U. 212; 51 P. 1091.

An unlawful trial and conviction therein because jury was unlawful, followed by an absolutely void judgment on such conviction, does not have the effect of putting the defendant once in jeopardy.

State v. Bates, 22 U. 65; 61 P. 905.

Where issue of former acquittal is raised, it must be passed upon by the jury.

State v. Creechley, 27 U. 142; 75 P. 384.

Where a jury was impaneled and sworn and the cause dismissed after the evidence was all introduced, defendant was thereby placed in jeopardy, and cannot be tried again for the crime charged in the information, or any other offense included therein.

State v. Hows, 31 U. 168; 87 P. 163.

8906. (4796.) Refusal to plead. If the defendant refuses to answer the information or indictment by demurrer or plea, a plea of not guilty must be entered.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1024.

Refusal to plead after demurrer overruled, § 8856.

8907. (4797.) Preparation for trial. Time allowed defendant. After his plea, the defendant shall be entitled to at least two days to prepare for trial, but the time of trial shall not be postponed for a longer time than the court may deem imperative. Am'd '15, p. 201.

CHAPTER 27.

INFORMATION OR INDICTMENT AGAINST A JUDGE.

8908. (4798.) Governor to designate another judge to preside. When an information is filed or an indictment is found in a district court against a judge thereof, a certificate of that fact must be transmitted by the clerk to the governor, who shall thereupon designate and direct a judge of the district court of another district to preside at the trial of such information or indictment, and hear and determine all pleas and motions affecting the defendant thereunder before and after judgment.

Mont. Pen. C., § 1960.

CHAPTER 28.

REMOVAL OF ACTION BEFORE TRIAL.

8911. (4799.) Removal when impartial trial cannot be had. A criminal action may be removed from the court in which it is pending, on the application of the defendant, upon the ground that a fair and impartial trial cannot be had in the county where the action is pending.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1033. Cal. Sup. (1889) § 1033*, p. 474.

Change of venue as may be provided by law, Con. art. 8, sec. 5, and note.

Change of place of trial on preliminary examination, § 8740.

8912. (4800.) Application for removal. Notice. Time allowed for making application. The application must be made in open court, and in writing, supported by an affidavit or affidavits, and may be made at any time before trial upon a reasonable notice and the service of copies of the application and affidavit or affidavits upon the attorney for the state. If a new trial is necessary, either by reason of the discharge of a jury without verdict or the granting of a new trial, the removal may be allowed at any time before the new trial. The written application, together with the affidavit or affidavits, must be served upon the attorney for the state and filed with the clerk of the court at least fifteen days before the day of trial, or the defendant shall be deemed to have waived his right of removal. Am'd '15, p. 201.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1034*. Cal. Sup. (1889) § 1034*, p. 475.

8913. (4801.) When application to be heard in absence of accused. Whenever an affidavit by the defendant shall show that he cannot safely appear in person to make the application because the popular excitement against him is so great as to endanger his personal safety, and such statement is sustained by other testimony, the application may be heard and determined in the absence of the defendant, though he is prosecuted for felony, and shall not, at the time of such application, have been arrested, or given bail, or been arraigned, or demurred, or pleaded to the information or indictment.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1034*. Cal. Sup. (1889) § 1034*, p. 475.

Presence of defendant required, when, § 8926, and notes.

Under the circumstances, the affidavits of the state being merely in rebuttal, case will not be reversed because state failed to serve copies on defendant who had had no chance to examine them.

State v. Haworth, 24 U. 398; 68 P. 155.

8914. (4802.) When granted. If the court is satisfied that the representations of the applicant are true, an order must be made for the removal of the action to the district court of a county free from such objection.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1035*. Cal. Sup. (1889) § 1035*, p. 475.

Order refusing to grant change of venue deemed excepted to, § 9189.

Where a trial court has jurisdiction of a cause, the matter of a change of venue is within its sound discretion, subject to review and reversal only for an abuse of the discretion.

State v. Carrington, 15 U. 480; 50 P. 526.

Under provisions of this section and § 8956, where defendant in a homicide case filed twenty-three affidavits in support of change of venue, to the effect that there was great popular feeling against him and that he could not receive a fair trial, and the state filed fifty-two counter affidavits, the denial of the motion was not erroneous.

State v. Haworth, 24 U. 398; 68 P. 155.

8915. (4803.) Entry of order. Transmission of papers. The order of removal must be entered upon the minutes, and the clerk must immediately make out and transmit to the court to which the action shall be removed a certified copy of the order of removal, record, pleadings, and proceedings in the action, including the undertakings for the appearance of the defendant and of the witnesses.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1036.

8916. (4804.) Id. Removal of defendant in custody. If the defendant is in custody, the order must direct his removal, and he must be forthwith removed by the sheriff of the county where he is imprisoned to the custody of the sheriff of the county to which the action is removed.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1037.

8917. (4805.) Order of removal is notice to certain witnesses. Exceptions. If the order of removal is made at a term of the court, it is notice, to every person who has entered into an undertaking to appear at such term, to appear at the trial of the action before the court to which the same is removed. In other cases the witnesses must be subpœnaed as provided by this code, or the court may require the witnesses on the part of the state to give security for their appearance before the court in which the defendant is to be tried, as provided by law in other cases.

Mont. Pen. C., § 1979*; N. Dak. (1895) § 8116.

8918. (4806.) Costs of removal paid by county. The costs accruing from a change of the place of trial and the costs of the trial shall be paid by the county where the offense was committed.

When costs of removal a county charge, § 1435.

8919. (4807.) State may have change of place of trial. Petition. The state may have a change of place of trial for any of the causes for which the defendant may obtain the same. The petition therefor must be made by the county attorney, supported by affidavit or affidavits.

Mont. Pen. C., § 1974*; N. Dak. (1895) § 8122*.

8920. (4808.) Procedure after removal. Pleadings. The court to which the action shall be removed must proceed to trial and judgment therein as if the action had been commenced in such court. If it is necessary to have any of the original pleadings or other papers before such court, the court from which the action shall have been removed must at any time, upon application of the county attorney or of the defendant, order such papers or pleadings to be transmitted by the clerk, a certified copy thereof being retained.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1038.

CHAPTER 29.

MODE OF TRIAL.

8924. (4809.) Issue of fact arises, how. An issue of fact arises:

1. Upon a plea of not guilty; or,
2. Upon a plea of a former conviction or acquittal of the same offense; or,
3. Upon a plea of once in jeopardy.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1041.

Once in jeopardy, etc., note to § 8905.

8925. (4810.) Issues of fact tried by jury. Waiver in certain cases. Issues of fact must be tried by a jury unless a trial by jury be waived in criminal cases not amounting to felony by the consent of both parties expressed in open court and entered on its minutes.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1042*.

Waiver in misdemeanors, § 8556.

8926. (4811.) Presence of defendant required, when. If the prosecution is for a felony, the defendant must be personally present at the trial, but if for a misdemeanor, the trial may be had in the absence of the defendant; if, however, his presence is necessary for the purpose of identification, the court may, upon application of the county attorney, by an order or warrant, require the personal attendance of the defendant at the trial.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1043.

Presence of defendant on arraignment, § 8861, when verdict rendered, § 9021; not requried on motion for change of venue, when, § 8913.

Under this section, it is not necessary that the accused should be present at the filing and trial of motion and pleas not involving the question of guilt or innocence on the merits.
State v. Woolsey, 19 U. 486; 57 P. 426.

Defendant need not be with jury which goes to view premises in connection with homicide.
State v. Mortensen, 26 U. 312; 73 P. 562, 633.

CHAPTER 30.

FORMATION OF JURY AND CALENDAR.

8927. (4812.) Trial juries. Formation. Judges to conduct examination. Trial juries for criminal cases are formed in the same manner as trial juries in civil cases, except that the examination of the jurors shall be conducted by the judge. The judge may permit counsel for either side to examine the jurors, but such examination by counsel shall be limited by the court. No action of the court under this section shall constitute error except in cases of clear abuse of discretion. Am'd '15, p. 202.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1046.

Number of jurors, Con. art. 1, sec. 10; § 3595.

Selecting, drawing, and summoning jury, §§ 3606-3620.

Civil procedure, clerk to draw names from box, § 6790.

Jury in criminal case should be impaneled as follows: Clerk must first draw from box twelve names, and both prosecution and defense be required to exhaust all their challenges to those drawn, and those unchallenged be sworn to try the case; then a sufficient number of additional names to complete the twelve be drawn, and this process be repeated till a jury obtained.
People v. Callaghan, 4 U. 49; 6 P. 49.

8928. (4813.) Calendar to be prepared by clerk. The clerk must prepare a calendar of all criminal actions pending in the court, enumerating them according to the date of the filing of the information or indictment, specifying, opposite the title of each action, whether it is for a felony or a misdemeanor, and whether the defendant is in custody or on bail.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1047*.

8929. (4814.) Id. Order of disposition of cases. The issues on the calendar must be disposed of in the following order, unless for good cause the court shall direct an action to be tried out of its order:

1. Prosecutions for felony, when the defendant is in custody;
2. Prosecutions for misdemeanor, when the defendant is in custody;
3. Prosecutions for felony, when the defendant is on bail;
4. Prosecutions for misdemeanor, when the defendant is on bail.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1048.

CHAPTER 31.

POSTPONEMENT OF TRIAL.

8931. (4815.) Postponement of trial. Cause to be shown by affidavit. When an action shall be called for trial, or at any time previous thereto, the court may, upon sufficient cause shown by either party by affidavit, direct the trial to be postponed to another day of the same or of the next term. But the court shall not postpone the trial for a longer time than may be imperative. Am'd '15, p. 202.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1052*.
Order refusing to postpone deemed excepted to by defendant, § 9189.
Dismissal for failure to bring action to trial, § 9345.
Continuance and discharge of defendant from custody, § 9346.
Grounds for continuance, affidavits, etc., civil procedure, §§ 6786 and notes.
Discretion of court, civil procedure, note to § 6786.

Affidavit sufficient for continuance.
People v. Wiggins, 1 U. 324.
People v. Garns, 2 U. 260.
State v. Freshwater, 30 U. 442; 85 P. 447.
State v. Williams, 49 U. 320; 163 P. 1104.

The granting of a continuance in a criminal case is a discretionary matter, and refusal thereof is reversible error only when prejudice therefrom is clearly shown.
State v. Morgan, 27 U. 103; 74 P. 526.
There must be a showing of prejudice and of diligence.
Id.
The granting of a continuance upon the grounds of excitement or bias in the community rests largely in the discretion of the trial court, and, where the accused's showing was controverted, will not be reviewed.
State v. Anselmo, 46 U. 137; 148 P. 1071.
Denial of accused's request for continuance in order to secure a witness is not error if no diligence on his part is shown, and is without prejudice where he testifies he had not communicated with the witness and did not know where she was.
State v. Brewer, 48 U. 252; 158 P. 1094.

CHAPTER 32.

CHALLENGING THE JURY.

8936. (4816.) Challenge defined. Two kinds. A challenge is an objection made to the trial jurors, and is of two kinds:

1. To the panel;
2. To an individual juror.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1055.

8937. (4817.) Joint defendants to join in challenges. When several defendants are tried together, they cannot sever their challenges, but must join therein.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1056.

Applied.
People v. O'Laughlin, 3 U. 133; 1 P. 653.

8938. (4818.) Panel defined. The panel is a list of jurors returned to serve at a particular court, or for the trial of a particular action.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1057*.

8939. (4819.) Challenge to the panel. A challenge to the panel is an objection made to all the jurors returned, and may be taken by either party.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1058.
Where the impaneling of the jury exhausted the panel and the defendant accepted the jury without having exhausted his peremptory challenges, he waived any right to object to the manner of drawing and return of the jury.
State v. White, 40 U. 342; 121 P. 579.

8940. (4820.) Id. Grounds. A challenge to the panel can be founded only on a material departure from the forms prescribed in respect to the drawing and return of the jury, or on the intentional omission of the proper officer to summon one or more of the jurors drawn.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1059*.
Exception on disallowance of challenge to panel, § 9189.
Decisions on challenge to panel, civil procedure, note to § 6795.

8941. (4821.) Id. Taken before juror sworn. In writing. A challenge to the panel must be taken before a juror is sworn, and must be in writing or be noted by the stenographer, and must plainly and distinctly state the facts constituting the ground of challenge.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1060.

8942. (4822.) Id. Exception to challenge. Trial of sufficiency of challenge. If the sufficiency of the facts alleged as ground of the challenge is denied, the adverse party may except to the challenge. The exception need not be in writing, but must be entered on the minutes of the court or of the stenographer, and thereupon the court must proceed to try the sufficiency of the challenge, assuming the facts alleged therein to be true.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1061.

8943. (4823.) Id. If challenge found sufficient. Amendment to challenge. If, on the exception, the court finds the challenge sufficient, it may, if justice requires it, permit the party excepting to withdraw his exception and to deny the facts alleged in the challenge. If the exception is allowed, the court may, in like manner, permit an amendment to the challenge.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1062.

8944. (4824.) Id. Denial of challenge, how entered. Trial of challenge. If the challenge is denied, the denial may be oral and must be entered on the minutes of the court or be noted by the stenographer, and the court must proceed to try the question of fact, and upon such trial the officers, whether judicial or ministerial, whose irregularity is complained of, as well as any other person, may be examined to prove or disprove the facts alleged as the ground of the challenge.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1063.

8945. (4825.) Id. Procedure, if allowed; if disallowed. If, either upon exception to the challenge or a denial of the facts, the challenge is allowed, the court must discharge the jury, so far as the trial in question is concerned. If disallowed, the court must direct the jury to be impaneled.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1065.

8946. (4826.) Defendant to be informed of right to challenge. Before a juror is called, the defendant must be informed by the court, or under its direction, that if he intends to challenge an individual juror, he must do so when the juror appears and before he is sworn.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1066.

8947. (4827.) Challenges to individual jurors. A challenge to an individual juror is either:

1. Peremptory; or,
2. For cause.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1067.

8948. (4828.) Id. When taken. It must be taken when the juror appears and before he is sworn to try the cause; but the court may for cause permit it to be taken after the juror is sworn and before the jury is completed.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1068.

After challenges for cause to the first twelve jurors are passed on, and before others are called to take the places of those excused for cause, right to peremptorily challenge those remaining in the box must be exercised or waived by the state and defendant.

State v. Riley, 41 225; 126 P. 294.

State v. Mewhinney, 43 U. 135; 134 P. 632.

8949. (4829.) Peremptory challenge defined. A peremptory challenge can be taken by either party, and may be oral. It is an objection to a juror for which no reason need be given, but upon which the court must exclude him.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1069.

Peremptory challenges, order of, § 8964.

8950. (4830.) Id. Number allowed. The defendant and the state shall each be entitled to peremptory challenges as follows:

1. If the offense charged is punishable with death or by imprisonment for life, to the number of ten;
2. If the offense charged is a felony other than those above mentioned, to the number of four;
3. If the offense charged is a misdemeanor, to the number of three.

Am'd '15, p. 202.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1070*; Mont. Pen. C., § 2044*.

8951. (4831.) Challenge for cause. General or particular. A challenge for cause may be taken by either party. It is an objection to a particular juror, and is either:

1. General, that the juror is disqualified from serving in any case; or,
2. Particular, that he is disqualified from serving in the action on trial.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1071.

8952. (4832.) General causes of challenge. General causes of challenge are:

1. A conviction for felony;

2. A want of any of the qualifications prescribed by law to render a person a competent juror;

3. Unsoundness of mind, or such defect in the faculties of mind or organs of the body as render him incapable of performing the duties of a juror.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1072.
Decisions on challenge for cause, civil procedure, note to § 6799.
Qualifications of jurors, §§ 3597-3599.

A jury was sworn in a case March 2. On March 3, a statute prescribing an additional qualification went into effect; held, it did not apply to a jury already sworn.
People v. Chalmers, 5 U. 201; 14 P. 131.

8953. (4833.) Particular cause of challenge for bias. A particular cause of challenge is:

1. For such bias as, when the existence of the facts is ascertained, in judgment of law, disqualifies the juror, and which is known in this code as implied bias;

2. For the existence of a state of mind on the part of the juror which leads to a just inference, in reference to the case, that he will not act with entire impartiality, which is known in this code as actual bias.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1073*.
Challenge for cause, civil procedure, note to § 6799.

Grounds of challenge specifically stated, note to § 8956.
Decisions on bias of juror, note to §§ 8964, 8975.

8954. (4834.) Challenge for implied bias. Grounds. A challenge for implied bias may be taken for all or any of the following causes, and for no other:

1. Consanguinity or affinity within the fourth degree to the person alleged to be injured by the offense charged, or on whose complaint the prosecution shall have been instituted, or to the defendant;

2. Standing in the relation of guardian and ward, attorney and client, master and servant, landlord and tenant, or debtor and creditor; or being a member of the family of the defendant, or of the person alleged to be injured by the offense charged, or on whose complaint the prosecution shall have been instituted, or in the employment of any of such parties;

3. Being the party adverse to the defendant in a civil action, or having complaint against or being accused by him in a criminal prosecution;

4. Having served on the grand jury which found the indictment, or on a jury of inquest which inquired into the death of a person whose death is the subject of the information or indictment;

5. Having served on a trial jury which has tried another person for the offense charged;

6. Having been one of a jury formerly sworn to try the same charge, and whose verdict was set aside, or which was discharged without a verdict, after the case was submitted to it;

7. Having served as a juror in a civil action brought against the defendant for the act charged as an offense;

8. Having formed or expressed an unqualified opinion or belief that the prisoner is guilty or not guilty of the offense charged;

9. If the offense charged is punishable with death, the entertaining of such conscientious opinions as would preclude his finding the defendant guilty; in which case he must neither be permitted nor compelled to serve as a juror;

10. Because he is or, within a year preceding, has been engaged or interested in carrying on any business, calling, or employment, the carrying on of which is a violation of law, where the defendant is indicted for a like offense;

11. Because he has been a witness, either for or against the defendant, on the preliminary trial or before the grand jury;

12. Having a belief that the punishment fixed by law is too severe for the offense charged.

Iowa, McClain's An. C. (1888) § 5790*; Mont. Pen. C., § 2049*; Cal. Pen. C., § 1074*.

Challenge for cause, civil procedure, § 6799, and note.

Opinion founded on rumor, newspapers, etc., does not disqualify if juror says he will act impartially, § 8956, and note.

Exception on disallowance of challenge, § 9189.

Grounds of challenge specifically stated, note to § 9956.

Where juror falsely claims to be a citizen, or where he conceals material facts on his examination, new trial will be granted, civil procedure, note to § 6978; and note to § 9199, criminal procedure.

Challenge stated as for "implied bias," without more, is insufficient.

People v. Hopt, 3 U. 396; 4 P. 250.

Same case, 4 U. 247; 9 P. 407; 120 U. S. 430.

People v. Thiede, 11 U. 241; 39 P. 837; affirmed 159 U. S. 510.

On a trial for bigamy in Utah, it is sufficient objection to a juror that he was or had been living in polygamy.

U. S. v. Reynolds, 1 U. 319; affirmed 98 U. S. 145.

Also, that a juror declines to answer whether he was living in polygamy.

Id.

Also, that a juror has conscientious scruples against indicting persons for polygamy.

U. S. v. Reynolds, 1 U. 319; affirmed 98 U. S. 145.

U. S. v. Clawson, 4 U. 34; 5 P. 689; affirmed 114 U. S. 477.

Also that a juror believes that polygamy is a direct revelation.

U. S. v. Miles, 2 U. 19; 103 U. S. 304.

A challenge may be properly sustained when a juror entertains conscientious scruples against the death penalty.

State v. Kessler, 15 U. 142; 49 P. 293.

A juror who has formed an opinion as to the guilt or innocence of the defendant, but says that such opinion would not influence his verdict, is a competent juror, no other facts being shown.

U. S. v. Reynolds, 1 U. 319; affirmed 98 U. S. 145.

Juror who has formed an "impression" as to defendant's guilt is not disqualified.

People v. Thiede, 11 U. 241; 39 P. 837; affirmed 159 U. S. 510

On the trial of a saloon keeper for murder, a juror is not disqualified by the fact that he is prejudiced against the business of saloon keeping, the matter at issue having no reference to such business.

Id.

Where a juror admits that he has formed an opinion which it will take evidence to remove, and that he has counseled with defendant in regard to the case, and that he has stated to the prosecuting attorney that it is against the interest of the prosecutrix to prosecute the case, he may be properly excused on the challenge of the state.

State v. Neel, 23 U. 541; 65 P. 494.

An opinion by a venireman in a homicide case that deceased had been unlawfully killed, without an opinion as to who is guilty of the crime, does not disqualify the juror on the ground of actual bias.

State v. Haworth, 24 U. 398; 68 P. 155.

Where a venireman's answer shows a proper understanding of the juror's duty, the action of the court in sustaining objections to questions as to whether venireman understood he was partly interested in the defendant's side of the case on account of the presumption of innocence, and whether he understood that the jury was under no obligations to take the opinion of any witness, was not erroneous, since the matter had been covered.

State v. Hillstrom, 46 U. 341; 150 P. 935.

A juror is not disqualified in a prosecution for adultery because his daughter is married to a brother of the female with whom it was charged the adulterous act was committed.

State v. Cluff, 48 U. 102, 158 P. 701.

Where it is not shown that accused exhausted his peremptory challenges before the jury was completed, error in overruling a challenge for cause is not prejudicial.

Id.

Error in not overruling challenges for cause will not be presumed prejudicial, though the peremptory challenges are exhausted before the last juror is obtained, unless it is shown that an objectionable juror was forced upon defendant after his peremptory challenges were exhausted, whom he would have removed, but for such exhaustion, and such showing is not made unless objection to a juror is thereafter made.

State v. Thorne, 41 U. 414; 126 P. 286.

It is not ground for challenge for cause that the juror believes that, in case of guilt, the full measure of punishment allowed should be given without recommendation.

Id.

8955. (4835.) Exemption is a privilege, not a cause of challenge. An exemption from service on a jury is not a cause of challenge, but the privilege of the person exempted.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1075.

8956. (4836.) Cause must be stated in challenge for actual bias. When opinion a disqualification. In a challenge for implied bias, one or more of the causes stated in § 8954 must be alleged. In a challenge for actual bias, the cause stated in sub. 2 of § 8953 must be alleged; but no person shall be disqualified as a juror by reason of having formed or expressed an opinion upon the matter or cause to be submitted to such jury, founded upon public rumor, statements in public journals, or common notoriety, provided it appears to the court, upon his declaration, under oath or otherwise, that he can and will, notwithstanding such an opinion, act impartially and fairly upon the matters submitted to him. The challenge may be oral, but must be entered in the minutes of the court or of the stenographer.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1076.

Challenge stated as "for actual bias," or "implied bias," without specifying the cause from which bias is to be inferred is insufficient

People v. Hopt, 3 U. 396; 4 P. 250.

Same case, 4 U. 247; 9 P. 407; 120 U. S. 430.

If the challenge is for actual bias, the cause must be alleged.

People v. Thiede, 11 U. 241; 39 P. 837; affirmed 159 U. S. 510.

A challenge that "defendant challenges for cause" is properly denied as being too general.

Id.

Impressions or qualified and conditional opinions formed upon reports, which easily yield to the evidence of witnesses having personal knowledge of the facts and testifying under oath, constitute no valid objection to a juror. But if the juror's mind is closed against and is in opposition to the truth as it may be related by the witnesses, resists its force and perverts the judgment, then such juror is disqualified for having "formed an unqualified opinion."

People v. O'Loughlin, 3 U. 133; 1 P. 653.

Evidence in a criminal case printed in a newspaper is a statement in a public journal within the meaning of the statute.

Hopt v. Utah, 120 U. S. 430.
Same case, 4 U. 247; 9 P. 407.

A juror testified that he had read a newspaper account of the homicide; that he had never formed or expressed an opinion; that he had formed an impression as to the defendant's guilt from the newspaper account read, which it would take evidence to remove, but he could try the case fairly and impartially. Another juror stated that he had read newspaper accounts of the homicide, had a strong impression as to the guilt of the defendant arising therefrom which it would take evidence to remove, but that his mind was entirely free from opinions or conclusions; that he could accord defendant the full presumption of innocence, and would enter the jury box unbiased; held, that said jurors were not disqualified for implied bias, not having formed nor expressed an unqualified opinion or belief.
People v. Thiede, 11 U. 241; 30 P. 837; affirmed 159 U. S. 510.

This section is not unconstitutional.
Id.

It is not error, in a homicide case, to accept a juror who states that he has an opinion, from what he has heard and read, as to the guilt of defendant, but that he will act fairly and impartially and will not be influenced except by the evidence and the charge.
State v. Haworth, 24 U. 398; 68 P. 155.
U. S. v. Reynolds, 1 U. 319; 98 U. S. 145.

But one who has an unqualified opinion which it would take evidence to remove should, upon challenge, be excluded from the jury.
State v. Neel, 23 U. 541; 65 P. 494.
U. S. v. Reynolds, 1 U. 319; affirmed 98 U. S. 145.
Conway v. Clinton, 1 U. 215.
People v. O'Loughlin, 3 U. 133; 1 P. 653.

The ruling on an objection because venireman had an opinion, based on public rumor, etc., will not be interfered with unless there is an abuse of discretion.
State v. Thorne, 41 U. 414; 126 P. 286.

Where one being examined as to his qualification to sit as a juror makes a harmful statement, it is not prejudicial, where no objection was made to the question or to the answer.
State v. De Weese, 51 U. —; 172 P. 290.

8957. (4837.) Exception to challenge. Denial. The adverse party may except to the challenge in the same manner as to a challenge to the panel, and the same proceedings must be had thereon as are prescribed in § 8942, except that if the challenge be allowed the juror must be excluded. The adverse party may also orally deny the facts alleged as the ground of challenge.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1077.

8958. (4838.) Trial of challenge. If the facts are denied, the challenge must be tried.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1078.

Trial by triers, presence of defendant.
Hopt v. People, 110 U. S. 574.

Decision of triers is final.
U. S. v. Miles, 2 U. 19; 103 U. S. 304.

The finding of the trial court upon the competency of a juror ought not to be set aside unless the error is manifest.
People v. Reynolds, 1 U. 319; affirmed 98 U. S. 145.

If all the evidence touching the qualifications of a juror is not contained in the record, it will be conclusively presumed on appeal that the evidence justified the finding of the court.
U. S. v. Groesbeck, 4 U. 487; 11 P. 542.

Where a juror is challenged for actual bias, an issue of fact is raised, and if no exception is taken to the admission or rejection of evidence upon the voir dire examination, the action of the trial court is conclusive and cannot be reviewed on appeal.
People v. Thiede, 11 U. 241; 39 P. 837.

Where a challenge for actual bias is made by the accused, and the fact upon which the challenge is made is denied by the state, under this section and §§ 8959, 8960, the accused is entitled to have the issue tried, and witnesses on either side may be examined under the same rules of evidence applicable in the trial of other issues.
State v. Morgan, 23 U. 212; 64 P. 356.

8959. (4839.) Id. Juror as witness. Upon the trial of a challenge to an individual juror, the juror challenged may be examined as a witness to prove or disprove the challenge, and must answer every question pertinent to the inquiry.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1081.

8960. (4840.) Other witnesses. Rules of evidence. Other witnesses may also be examined on either side, and the rules of evidence applicable to the trial of other issues govern the admission or exclusion of evidence on the trial of the challenge.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1082.

Rules of evidence govern.
State v. Morgan, 23 U. 212; 64 P. 356.

8961. (4841.) Id. Court must allow or disallow challenge. The court must allow or disallow the challenge, and its decision must be entered in the minutes of the court.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1083.

8962. (4842.) Order of taking challenges for cause. All challenges to an individual juror, except peremptory, must be taken, first by the defendant, and then by the state, and each party must exhaust all his challenges before the other begins.

Cal. Pen C., § 1086.

8963. (4843.) Id. The challenges of either party for cause need not all be taken at once, but they must be taken separately, in the following order, including in each challenge all the causes of challenge belonging to the same class:

1. To the panel;

2. To an individual juror, for a general disqualification;
3. To an individual juror, for an implied bias;
4. To an individual juror, for an actual bias.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1087.

8964. (4844.) Id. Exercise. Order. Alteration. Whenever a challenge for cause is allowed, another juror must be called, and no peremptory challenges need be taken until there is a complete panel of jurors against whom all challenges for cause have been waived or denied. Thereupon peremptory challenges shall be exercised by the parties alternately, beginning with the state, and each vacancy thus occurring shall be filled before another challenge need be exercised. Am'd '15, p. 202.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1088.
Peremptory challenge defined, § 8949.
Defendant who does not exhaust his peremptory challenges cannot complain on appeal of disallowance of a challenge for cause.
People v. Hopt, 4 U. 247; 9 P. 407; affirmed 120 U. S. 430.

Cured by peremptory challenge after challenge for implied bias has been improperly denied.
People v. Thiede, 11 U. 241; 39 P. 837; affirmed 159 U. S. 510.
Conway v. Clinton, 1 U. 215.

CHAPTER 33.

THE TRIAL.

8975. (4845.) Order of trial. The jury having been impaneled and sworn, the trial must proceed in the following order:

1. If the information or indictment is for a felony, the clerk must read it and state the plea of the defendant to the jury. In all other cases this formality may be dispensed with;

2. The county attorney or other counsel for the state must open the case and offer evidence in support of the charge;

3. The defendant or his counsel may then open the defense, and offer evidence in support thereof;

4. The parties may then respectively offer rebutting testimony only, unless the court for good reason, in furtherance of justice, permit them to offer evidence upon their original case;

5. When the evidence shall have been concluded, unless the case is submitted to the jury on either side, or on both sides without argument, the county attorney or other counsel for the state must open, the counsel for the defendant or defendants must follow, and the county attorney or other counsel for the state may conclude the argument;

6. The court must then charge the jury as provided in sub. 4 of § 6802, and in §§ 6803-6805.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1093*.
Owing to the fact that this section was improperly amended, it is not in harmony with § 6804, relating to civil procedure.
Judge conducts and limits examination of jury, § 8927.
Rules for determining competency of witnesses the same as in civil trials, exception, § 9275.
Rules of evidence, unless herein otherwise provided, the same as in civil trials, § 9276.
Witness must answer in corrupt practice prosecution, §§ 2373, 2401; in liquor prosecution, §§ 3369, 3371.
Defendant as a witness, § 9279, and note.
Defendant not prejudiced by refusal or failure to testify, § 9279.
Husband and wife as witnesses for or against each other, § 9278; in pandering prosecution, § 8101; in prosecution of delinquent husband or father, § 8113.
Report of testimony of witness taken on previous trial admissible, when, §§ 8553, 9277.
Jury may take with them the written instructions, § 9011.
Discretion of court as to examination of witnesses and conduct of trial, civil procedure, note to § 6804.
If prosecution is for felony, defendant must be present, § 8926.
Charge to jury, civil procedure, § 6804, and note.
Exceptions to charge, when and how taken, criminal procedure, §§ 9189-9193; civil procedure, § 6806, and note.
Reasonable doubt; presumption of innocence, §§ 8978, and note.

ARGUMENT OF COUNSEL, ETC.:

See civil trial, § 6802.
Argument may be restricted to one on each side, § 8977.
Provision that prosecuting attorney or other counsel for the people must make opening statement is not mandatory.
U. S. v. Sprague, 8 U. 378; 31 P. 1049.
It is proper for a prosecuting attorney, in opening a case,—to mention any admissible fact of which he expects to offer evidence.
People v. Chalmers, 5 U. 201; 14 P. 131.
It was not error in the counsel for the prosecution in his opening statement to the jury to inform them that he expected to show the killing of two other young men besides the one with which the prisoner was charged, under the facts and circumstances of this case.

State v. Hayes, 14 U. 118; 46 P. 952.

Statements of counsel in his argument to the jury of facts not in evidence, which are immediately checked by the court, who instructs the jury not to consider facts not in evidence, that they should consider only evidence and consider it fairly, not ground for reversal.
U. S. v. Musser, 4 U. 153; 7 P. 389.
People v. Hopt, 4 U. 247; 9 P. 407; affirmed 120 U. S. 430.

Private counsel may assist prosecuting attorney and make closing argument to jury.
People v. Calton, 5 U. 451; 16 P. 902.
People v. Tidwell, 4 U. 506; 12 P. 61.

Counsel in arguing the cause to the jury are justified in referring to the evidence and in making from it such deductions as they think are justified by the evidence.
People v. Hite, 8 U. 461; 33 P. 254.
It is improper, but not grounds for reversal, where prosecuting attorney states of defendant, "After investigating this case, I have become convinced of his guilt and that he ought to be prosecuted and brought to justice."
State v. Spencer, 15 U. 149; 49 P. 302.
Improper argument of counsel cannot be reviewed where objection was not made at the time.
State v. Sirmay, 40 U. 525, 122 P. 748.
State v. De Weese, 51 U. —; 172 P. 290.
Or unless there is a ruling thereon.
State v. Tidwell, 44 U. 248; 139 P. 863.
Where an officer, in identifying a pistol taken from the accused, stated that he had a warrant for accused's arrest for threatening to kill in another case, it was improper to argue that the accused was arrested for threatening to kill.
State v. Kakarikos, 45 U. 470; 146 P. 750.
Where the court has forgotten the remarks of counsel which are objected to, and the reporter was not present, he should ascertain what the statement was, by evidence.
State v. Baum, 47 U. 7; 151 P. 518.
A statement not truthfully made by counsel that accused was sneaking around and trying to get away was improper, and the court should have admonished the jury to have disregarded it.
State v. Coyle, 41 U. 320; 126 P. 305.
In a prosecution for adultery, argument of counsel that "wife of defendant gave birth to a child in seven months after lawful wedlock," based on improper cross-examination, held improper, but not so prejudicial, as to require reversal where evidence of guilt is strong.
State v. Cluff, 48 U. 102; 158 P. 701.
Misconduct of prosecuting attorney in arguing that the defendant should have produced certain evidence is harmless, where the court admonished the jury that their verdict must be based upon the evidence, and not upon statements of counsel.
State v. Inlow, 44 U. 485; 141 P. 530.
In the absence of abuse of discretion in the latitude allowed an attorney in comment, the court on appeal cannot interfere.
State v. Burns, 50 U. —; 168 P. 955.

ORDER OF EVIDENCE, ETC.:

Decisions on order of evidence, etc., civil procedure, note to § 6804.
Non-prejudicial errors as to evidence, note to § 9199.

The order in which testimony shall be admitted is largely within the discretion of the trial court.
People v. Thiede, 11 U. 241; 39 P. 837; affirmed 159 U. S. 510.
People v. Tidwell, 4 U. 506; 12 P. 61.
State v. Webb, 18 U. 441; 56 P. 159.

The rules governing the admission of expert testimony are the same as in civil cases.
State v. Webb, 18 U. 441; 56 P. 159.
Where preliminary evidence of an alleged confession has been offered, it is not error to exclude defendant's evidence of his mental condition at the time of the alleged confession, offered before the confession itself is introduced, but proof of defendant's mental condition may be shown only by cross-examination and in rebuttal.
State v. Haworth, 24 U. 398; 68 P. 155.

EVIDENCE, WEIGHT, OBJECTION, ETC.:

An objection to evidence or remarks of counsel cannot be reviewed unless there is a ruling thereon.
State v. Tidwell, 44 U. 248; 139 P. 863.
Counsel, in forming a hypothetical question, may adopt a theory of his own and base his question on it, provided he embodies sufficient evidence to enable the expert to give a practical opinion.
State v. Loechner, 45 U. 621; 148 P. 363.
Though accused did not object to improper questions, the court should, where the questions themselves might influence the jury, withdraw them at accused's request if they tend to prejudice him.
State v. Kakarikos, 45 U. 470; 146 P. 750.
Where police officers testified that they purchased intoxicants from accused, there was no abuse of discretion in refusing a request to charge that the testimony of witnesses who were interested in, or employed to find evidence against accused, should be received with the greatest caution or mistrust.
Salt Lake City v. Robinson, 40 U. 448; 125 P. 657.
After accused was arrested, and while being taken to the station, he wrote on a sheet of paper offering money to the officer if he would release him, the officer by force took the paper from him, held, the paper was properly admitted.
State v. Reese, 44 U. 256; 140 P. 126.
Where experts described to the jury conditions as they observed them on an autopsy, and the effects attributable to such conditions, and there was no internal evidence of the beating of deceased, and that the death was caused by the combined effect of the beating and poisoning, and such evidence stands unimpeached, the jury cannot ignore it, and find that death resulted from the beating alone.
State v. Vance, 38 U. 1; 110 P. 434.
Where, in a prosecution for larceny, the court admitted in evidence the ear of the heifer and the owner's tag attached thereto, and stated that he would prefer the exhibit be not inspected by the jury at this time, "so that later I might change my ruling in regard to it if I see fit," but did not change the ruling, and the exhibit was submitted to the jury, and counsel did not request any further information regarding the ruling before arguing the case, the defendant was not prejudiced in any substantial right.
State v. Frisby, 49 U. 227; 162 P. 616.
Any error in admitting evidence is cured by the court's action striking it out and directing the jury to disregard it.
State v. Hammond, 46 U. 249; 148 P. 420.
A doctor may testify to the date of birth of a child after having refreshed his memory from a memorandum book just before he was called instead of while he was giving his testimony.
Id.
Where accused testifies as to special acts and conduct of the deceased, indicating that he was a quarrelsome and dangerous man, evidence as to the general reputation of the deceased as a peaceful, quiet, and law-abiding citizen is admissible.
State v. Vacos, 40 U. 169; 120 P. 497.
Where a judge refused to acquiesce in a twenty-five-year sentence on a proposed plea of guilty of murder, on the ground that it was inadequate, the remarks he made in respect thereto are not prejudicial to the accused, where the rulings of the court were properly prepared and the defendant on trial was found guilty of murder.
Id.

CROSS-EXAMINATION, REBUTTAL, ETC.:

Discretion of court in admission of evidence, cross-examination, etc., civil procedure, note to § 6804.
A witness having testified on direct examination that he had a motive for watching deceased and defendant, was permitted to state on direct examination what that motive was; held, error.
People v. Biddlecome, 3 U. 208; 2 P. 194.
On a trial for murder, the defense of an attempted arrest of deceased for larceny of certain cattle was made; held, that it was proper in rebuttal to offer evidence showing property in the cattle in a third person.

People v. Tidwell, 4 U. 506; 12 P. 61.
A witness may be asked on cross-examination whether he has ever been arrested or indicted or charged with a crime, but cannot be contradicted upon such matters.
People v. Hite, 8 U. 461; 33 P. 254.
The cross-examination of a witness concerning his past life and actions may take a wide latitude, and should be permitted, even if it is attended with humiliation and disgrace to the witness.
Id.
A witness asked on his direct examination the reputation of the defendant as a peaceable, orderly, law-abiding man, may be asked on cross-examination if he has ever heard of particular acts of lawlessness of the defendant.
Id.
When new subject matter is called up for the first time on cross-examination by defendant's attorney, the prosecution may go into the matter upon re-examination.
State v. McCoy, 15 U. 136; 49 P. 420.
Where defendant testified that he was not familiar with the action of the gun with which the murder was committed, it is improper to ask him under what circumstances he got the gun.
State v. Thorne, 39 U. 208; 117 P. 58.
Where the state was allowed to cross-examine accused as to wholly collateral matters not referred to in his direct examination, and was later permitted to call witness to disprove statements made by him on such cross-examination, it was an abuse of discretion, and prejudicial error.
State v. Coyle, 41 U. 320; 126 P. 305.
In a prosecution for larceny, where accused had not taken the stand, a question by the prosecutor as to how many times accused had been convicted of felony is prejudicial error, warranting a new trial, though the court rebuked the prosecutor and admonished the jury not to regard such question, and accused did not at that time ask that the jury be discharged.
State v. Baum, 47 U. 7; 151 P. 518.

BURDEN OF PROOF:

Burden of proving justification for homicide, note to § 8986.
In no criminal case is the burden of proof ever shifted from the prosecution to the defense; it rests upon the prosecution throughout the entire trial, and the rule of a reasonable doubt applies in every such case.
People v. Tracy, 1 U. 343.
The accused, relying upon self-defense, should be acquitted if on the whole evidence the jury has a reasonable doubt whether he acted in self-defense.
State v. Kakarikos, 45 U. 470; 146 P. 750.
In prosecution for homicide, the state must prove the defendant's guilt beyond a reasonable doubt, and the evidence in a case of identity of defendant, held sufficient to sustain a verdict of guilty.
State v. Hillstrom, 46 U. 341; 150 P. 935.
Burden is on defendant to show defense of insanity, it not appearing from evidence of the prosecution.
People v. Dillon, 8 U. 92; 30 P. 150.
People v. Colton, 5 U. 451; 16 P. 902.
The burden of overcoming the presumption that the accused is sane rests primarily on the defendant, and he is required to overthrow it by a preponderance of the evidence offered in the case on the subject, but when he has overcome it, the state must establish his sanity beyond a reasonable doubt, as bearing on the question of intent, and in this case the evidence shows conclusively that the defendant was insane.
State v. Brown, 36 U. 46; 102 P. 641.

CHARGE CONSIDERED AS A WHOLE:

Instructions to be considered together, civil procedure, note to § 6804.
Where instructions are made separately, the court should remind the jury that they are all to be considered together.
People v. Wiggins, 1 U. 324.
Instructions should always be given in reference to the evidence in the case, and the whole charge of the court should be construed together.
People v. Lyman, 2 U. 30.
Charge should be considered as a whole, each part as qualified by the others, and if, when so considered, it is not misleading, it is not erroneous.
U. S. v. Snow, 4 U. 280; 9 P. 501.
U. S. v. Bassett, 5 U. 131; 13 P. 237.
People v. Olsen, 4 U. 413; 11 P. 577.
State v. McCoy, 15 U. 136; 49 P. 420.
Request containing several propositions, one or more of which are erroneous, should be refused.
People v. Biddlecome, 3 U. 208; 2 P. 194.
U. S. v. Musser, 4 U. 153; 7 P. 389.
Instruction given in substance need not be repeated in language of counsel.
People v. Biddlecome, 3 U. 208; 2 P. 194.
People v. Olsen, 4 U. 413; 11 P. 577.
The court, having charged properly on the entire case, may refuse to instruct further.
U. S. v. Musser, 4 U. 153; 7 P. 389.
People v. Hampton, 4 U. 258; 9 P. 508.
People v. Chadwick, 7 U. 134; 25 P. 737.
People v. Thiede, 11 U. 241; 39 P. 837.
State v. Haworth, 24 U. 398; 68 P. 155.
State v. Bates, 25 U. 1; 69 P. 70.
State v. Hillstrom, 46 U. 341; 150 P. 935.

MISCELLANEOUS INSTRUCTIONS:

Instructions generally, civil procedure, note to § 6804.
Charge as to degree of murder, etc., note to § 8025.
Offense may be defined in language of statute without addition or explanation.
People v. Biddlecome, 3 U. 208; 2 P. 194.
Charge that jury are "sole judges of the facts," etc., need not be in exact language of statute.
People v. Chadwick, 7 U. 134; 25 P. 737.
Evidence received which is admissible for one purpose but not for all purposes of the trial should be restricted by instruction to the purpose for which it is admissible.
People v. Biddlecome, 3 U. 208; 2 P. 194.
State v. Greene, 33 U. 497; 94 P. 987.
Defendant cannot complain of instruction given at his request, nor of refusal not excepted to, to charge as requested.
People v. Berlin, 9 U. 383; 35 P. 498.
People v. Gough, 2 U. 70.
Where inconsistent charges were given, one of which is erroneous, the jury is presumed to have followed that which is erroneous.
People v. Hancock, 7 U. 170; 25 P. 1093.
People v. Berlin, 10 U. 39; 36 P. 199.
See People v. Kessler, 13 U. 59; 44 P. 97.
The judge, in charging the jury, has the right to review the facts and state his opinions and conclusions therefrom to them. They are, however, the sole judges of the weight of the evidence and the credibility of the witnesses. (Decision rendered under C. L. 1876, § 2242.)
People v. Lee, 2 U. 441.
Requests for instructions which pass upon the evidence and in effect direct acquittal are never proper except on points entirely unsupported by proof.
People v. Biddlecome, 3 U. 208; 2 P. 194.
Declarations of the court in the presence of the jury and instructions in effect stating that defendants are guilty are erroneous as invading province of the jury.
People v. Glasmann, 12 U. 238; 42 P. 956.
On the separate trial of a defendant indicted jointly with the owner of a building for burning the same, testimony was allowed over defendant's objection that the building was insured, and that the owner had made certain statements, with none of which defendant was shown to be connected. The court refused to strike out this testimony or to instruct the jury that there was no connection between the defendant and the owner; held, error.
People v. Scott, 10 U. 217; 37 P. 335.
The court in its charge, without applying the language of defendant, characterized drunkenness as a vice and misconduct; held, not error.
People v. Calton, 5 U. 451; 16 P. 902.
See Calton v. Utah, 130 U. S. 83.
It is not error for a trial court to charge that the jury should weigh with caution the testimony of a witness who appeared to be a weak-minded person with little intelligence.

Lowe v. Herald Co., 6 U. 175; 21 P. 991.

In a criminal trial, in instructing that the jury are sole judges of the credibility of the witnesses, etc., and that it is their right to determine from the appearance of the witnesses, their manner of testifying, their apparent candor or frankness or the lack thereof, their apparent intelligence, etc., which are most worthy of credit, it is not error to add that in determining the weight to be given to their testimony the jury are authorized to consider their relationship to the parties when the same is proved.
State v. Morgan, 27 U. 103; 74 P. 526.

When the defendant testifies in his own behalf, it is proper for the court to call the attention of the jury to his interest in the result of the case, provided his credibility as a witness and the weight of his evidence be left to the exclusive judgment of the jury.
People v. Callaghan, 4 U. 49; 6 P. 49.

Instruction limiting consideration of evidence as to defendant's good character; held, error.
State v. VanKuran, 25 U. 8; 69 P. 60.
State v. Hancock, 7 U. 170; 25 P. 1093.

Accused is entitled to an instruction to consider all the evidence, including evidence of good character, and to acquit if the evidence of good character alone, or with other evidence, creates a reasonable doubt as to accused's guilt.
State v. Brown, 39 U. 140; 115 P. 994.

Where evidence is wholly circumstantial, it is the duty of the court to charge upon the law of that subject even though the request asked was erroneous.
People v. Scott, 10 U. 217; 37 P. 335.

Where the only evidence of larceny is the recent possession of stolen property, which defendant claims to have purchased from a stranger, it is not error to refuse an instruction upon the law of circumstantial evidence. (Straup, J., dissenting.)
State v. Overson, 30 U. 22; 83 P. 557.

The theft of cattle being made grand larceny by laws of 1899, p. 50, without regard to the value of the animal stolen, it is not error to instruct that the value of the stolen animal is immaterial.
State v. Bates, 25 U. 1; 69 P. 70.

Where one is charged and the evidence so far as it has bearing, is that accused participated in the offense a charge on his guilt, if he only aided and abetted, is improper.
State v. Baum, 47 U. 7; 151 P. 518.

An instruction that if the jury believes witness wilfully testified falsely as to material facts his testimony might be disregarded in whole or in part, except where he may have been corroborated by a creditable witness or the evidence, was not erroneous.
State v. Hillstrom, 46 U. 341; 150 P. 935.
State v. Morris, 40 U. 431; 122 P. 580.
State v. Dye, 44 U. 190; 138 P. 1193.

Nor is such instruction erroneous where it omits the "exception" clause.
State v. Hammond, 46 U. 349; 148 P. 420.
State v. Reese, 44 U. 447; 135 P. 270.

Refusal to instruct that if any witness had made statements material to the issues conflicting with his testimony, such testimony might be disregarded, except as corroborated by other credible evidence, is prejudicial error, where the conflicting witness had denied accused's guilt previous to the trial.
State v. Brown, 48 U. 279; 159 P. 545.

In a prosecution for homicide, an instruction that circumstances of suspicion, if it amounts to more than suspicion, are not sufficient proof of guilt, was not erroneous.
State v. Hillstrom, 46 U. 341; 150 P. 935.

Accused is entitled to concrete instructions if they are requested, though abstract ones have been given.
State v. Dewey, 41 U. 538; 127 P. 275.

The court should, as much as possible, avoid abstract instructions, and should simply direct the jury in plain terms what the result should be in case they found the facts on any issue as indicated by the court.
State v. Anselmo, 46 U. 137; 148 P. 1071.

The court need not instruct as to the punishment imposed for the various degrees of homicide.
State v. Inlow, 44 U. 485; 141 P. 530.

In a prosecution for homicide committed by an epileptic, who at the time of the killing was under the influence of liquor, an instruction which practically did not require any premeditation is prejudicial, for it is the province of the jury to determine whether accused's mental condition was such as to relieve him of the extreme penalty for his acts.
State v. Anselmo, 46 U. 137; 148 P. 1071.

Where the defendant objects to certain evidence which may be admissible for a certain purpose only, the court overrules the objection and states that it will instruct fully thereon, and counsel excepted to the ruling, and relying on the court's promise to instruct, failed to submit a request thereon, and the court does not instruct thereon, it is erroneous.
State v. McCurtain, 51 U. —; 172 P. 481.

CHARGE TO BE IN WRITING:

Failure of reporter to take down oral charge is waived if not objected to.
U. S. v. Gough, 8 U. 428; 32 P. 695.

Error not to reduce charge to writing. Under a statute which requires the instructions of the judge to the jury to be reduced to writing before they are given, and provides that they shall form part of the record and be subjects of appeal, it is error to give instructions not reduced to writing otherwise than by a reference to a certain page of a law magazine.
Hopt v. People, 104 U. S. 631; 114 U. S. 488.
See People v. Hopt, 3 U. 396; 4 P. 250.
Same case, 3 U. 404; 5 P. 565.
Same case, 4 U. 247; 9 U. 407.

The record, which stated that the court charged the jury, did not contain the charge in writing, nor show that with the defendant's consent it was given orally; held, error.
Id.

When an oral charge has been given, the presumption, in the absence of any statement to the contrary in the record, is that the reporter took it down as required by statute.
State v. Kessler, 15 U. 142; 49 P. 293.

8976. (4846.) Order of argument may be changed. When the state of the pleadings requires it, or in any other case, for good reasons, and in the sound discretion of the court, the order of argument prescribed in the next preceding section may be departed from.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1094*.

Argument, note to § 7639.

8977. (4847.) Argument may be restricted. If the information or indictment is for an offense punishable with death, two counsel on each side may argue the case to the jury. If it is for any other offense, the court may, in its discretion, restrict the argument to one counsel on each side.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1095.

8978. (4848.) Defendant presumed innocent. Reasonable doubt. A defendant in a criminal action shall be presumed to be innocent, until the contrary is proved, and in case of a reasonable doubt whether his guilt is satisfactorily shown, he shall be entitled to an acquittal.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1096.
New information or resubmission of charge, §§ 8882, 8893.

A charge to the jury that if, after an impartial comparison and consideration of all the evidence, they can truthfully say that they have an abiding conviction of the defendant's guilt, such as they would be willing to act upon in the more weighty and important matters relating to their own affairs, they have no reasonable doubt, is not erroneous.
People v. Hopt, 4 U. 247; 9 P. 407; affirmed 120 U. S. 430.

Instructions as to what constitutes a reasonable doubt, not aptly expressed, but which could not have misled the jury, is not reversible error.
People v. Kerm, 8 U. 268; 30 P. 988.

A charge to a jury that proof beyond a reasonable doubt is such as will produce an abiding conviction in the mind to a moral certainty that the fact exists that is claimed to exist; held, not erroneous.
People v. Miles, 2 U. 19; affirmed 103 U. S. 304.

An instruction that "a man has to commit his first crime * * * he has to break over the rules of good conduct and good life for the first time some time in his life" is erroneous, and is not cured by a subsequent instruction as to the effect of good character.
People v. Hancock, 7 U. 170; 25 P. 1093.

Where the state seeks to convict a defendant upon circumstantial evidence, it must show by a preponderance of the evidence that the alleged facts and circumstances which complete the chain are true, and it must also show that such facts and circumstances are not incompatible upon any reasonable hypothesis with the innocence of the accused, and incapable of explanation upon any reasonable hypothesis other than that of the defendant's guilt. The chain of evidence must be complete and unbroken and established beyond a reasonable doubt.
State v. Hayes, 14 U. 118; 46 P. 752.

Where there is evidence sufficient to establish the defendant's guilt, it is for the jury to pass upon its weight and determine whether or not the defendant is guilty beyond a reasonable doubt.
Id.

A reasonable doubt is not a mere imaginary, captious, or possible doubt, but a fair doubt, based upon reason and common sense, and growing out of the testimony in the case. It is such a doubt as will leave the juror's mind, after a careful examination of all the evidence, in such a condition that he cannot say that he has an abiding conviction, to a moral certainty, of the defendant's guilt.
State v. McCune, 16 U. 170; 51 P. 818.
State v. Williamson, 22 U. 248; 62 P. 1022.

An instruction that by a reasonable doubt is meant a real, substantial doubt, based on reason, and reasonable in view of an impartial consideration of all the evidence, and if the jury is not satisfied therefrom of defendant's guilt there is a reasonable doubt, but if they have an abiding conviction of defendant's guilt, arising spontaneously from the evidence, which they would act on in more weighty matters relating to their own affairs, there is no reasonable doubt, is not erroneous.
State v. Neel, 23 U. 541; 65 P. 494.

On a criminal prosecution, where the evidence was circumstantial, and testimony as to the defendant's good character had been introduced, the court should have charged that such evidence should be considered and weighed the same as other evidence, and that it in itself might not only create a reasonable doubt of guilt, but might carry conviction of innocence.
State v. Van Kuran, 25 U. 8; 69 P. 60.
State v. Blue, 17 U. 175; 53 P. 978.
People v. Hancock, 7 U. 170; 25 P. 1093.

It was incumbent on the jury to acquit the defendant, if the evidence relied on could be reconciled on any reasonable hypothesis consistent with the innocence of the defendant, especially where the evidence is wholly circumstantial and there is no direct proof of the corpus delicti.
State v. Hutchings, 30 U. 319; 84 P. 893.

An instruction in a prosecution for embezzlement, that, if it appeared beyond a reasonable doubt that accused had the property in his possession at the time and place set forth in the information, and that he converted it openly under claim of title preferred in good faith, he should be acquitted, though the claim of title was untenable, does not sufficiently submit the defense of conversion under claim of title, the burden being erroneously placed.
State v. Coyle, 41 U. 320; 126 P. 305.

Evidence for a prosecution for murder occurring during an attack in a saloon in which one of the robbers was killed and one escaped, held insufficient to identify accused as the escaped man.
State v. Hill, 44 U. 79; 138 P. 1149.

An instruction that if, after due consideration of the whole case and a discussion thereof by the jurors, any juror entertains a reasonable doubt of guilt, it is the duty of such juror not to vote for a verdict of guilty, or to be influenced in so voting for the sole reason that the other jurors would be in favor of the verdict of guilty, is proper.
State v. Wells, 35 U. 400; 100 P. 681.
Salt Lake City v. Robinson, 40 U. 448; 125 P. 657.

It is improper to instruct that the presumption of innocence is not intended to aid one who is in fact guilty to escape.
State v. Romeo, 42 U. 46; 128 P. 530.

But such instruction is harmless where the court correctly charged on the presumption of innocence and burden of proof.
Id.

Evidence sufficient to sustain a case of murder in first degree.
State v. De Weese, 51 U. —; 172 P. 290.

8979. (4849.) When doubt as to degree, conviction to be of lowest. When it shall appear that the defendant has committed a public offense, and there is reasonable ground of doubt in which of two or more degrees he is guilty, he must be convicted of the lowest of such degrees only.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1097.
Jury must find the degree, § 9024, and note.
On plea of guilty, court determines degree, § 9042.
Defendant may be found guilty of any offense included in the one charged, § 9025, and note.

8980. (4850.) Defendants charged jointly. Separate or joint trial. When two or more defendants shall be jointly charged with a felony, any defendant requiring it must be tried separately. In other cases the defendants jointly charged may be tried separately or jointly, in the discretion of the court.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1098.
Conviction or acquittal of one or more, §§ 8836, 9026.

The indictment charged that three defendants held a pistol, and that with the pistol so held killed deceased; evidence proving that one of the three held the pistol and fired the shot, and that the others aided and abetted therein; held, to sufficiently support such charge.
People v. Callaghan, 4 U. 49; 6 P. 49.

Persons jointly indicted under section 5451, R. S. U. S., are entitled to separate trial under § 262, Code of Criminal Procedure, and § 1845 of the compiled laws of 1876.
U. S. v. Jones, 5 U. 552; 18 P. 233.

Error to admit acts of one after the offense. On the separate trial of one of two indicted together for larceny, it is fatal error to admit the acts and statements of the other made after the crime had been committed.
People v. Farrell, 11 U. 414; 40 P. 703.

8981. (4851.) Defendant discharged to testify for the state. When two or more persons shall be included in the same charge, the court may, at any time before the defendants have gone into their defense, on the application of the county attorney or other counsel for the state, direct any defendant to be discharged, that he may be a witness for the state.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1099*.

Testimony of accomplice not sufficient to convict unless corroborated, § 8992.

8982. (4852.) Id. To testify for co-defendant. When two or more persons shall be included in the same charge, and the court shall be of the opinion that in regard to a particular defendant there is not sufficient evidence to put him on his defense, it must order him to be discharged before the evidence is closed, that he may be a witness for his co-defendant.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1100.

8983. (4853.) Id. Such discharge a bar. The order mentioned in §§ 8981, 8982, shall be an acquittal of the defendant discharged, and shall be a bar to another prosecution for the same offense.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1101.
Bar generally, §§ 8520, 8522, 8555.

Decisions on former conviction, or acquittal, or once in jeopardy, note to § 8905.

8984. (4854.) Treason. Proof necessary. Upon a trial for treason, the defendant cannot be convicted unless upon the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act, or upon confession in open court; nor can evidence be admitted on an overt act not expressly charged in the information or indictment; nor can the defendant be convicted unless one or more overt acts be expressly alleged therein.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1103.

Treason defined, proof, Con. art. 1, sec. 19.

8985. (4855.) Conspiracy. Pleading and proof. Upon a trial for conspiracy, in a case where an overt act shall be necessary to constitute the offense, the defendant shall not be convicted unless one or more overt acts shall be expressly alleged in the information or indictment, nor unless one of the acts alleged shall have been proved; but other overt acts not alleged may be given in evidence.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1104.

Conspiracy defined, §§ 8018-8020.

8986. (4856.) Murder. Burden of proof. Upon a trial for murder, the commission of the homicide by the defendant being proved, the burden of proving circumstances of mitigation, or that justify or excuse it, shall devolve upon him, unless the proof on the part of the prosecution tends to show that the crime committed amounts only to manslaughter, or that the defendant was justifiable or excusable.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1105.
Homicide, §§ 8023-8034.

If the killing is proved beyond a reasonable doubt, and no evidence of justification or excuse appears, the burden is on the defendant of showing the circumstances of justification or excuse by a preponderance of the evidence, and where an instruction to the jury embodying the above principle is given, and in another portion of the charge the jury are instructed that malice as well as other facts essential to the crime must be proved beyond a reasonable doubt, there was no error. (Powers, J., dissenting.)
People v. Tidwell, 4 U. 506; 12 P. 61.
People v. Callaghan, 4 U. 49; 6 P. 49.

The court having charged that if, from all of the evidence, including that as to an alibi, the jury had a reasonable doubt of defendant's guilt, they should acquit him, it was not erroneous to charge that, "if the prosecution made out such a case by its proof as would sustain a verdict of guilty, then the burden is upon the defendant to establish an alibi by a preponderance of the evidence."
People v. Kessler, 13 U. 69; 44 P. 97.
But see People v. Tracy, 1 U. 343.

Defense of insanity must be proved by a preponderance of the evidence. It is not enough to raise a reasonable doubt as to defendant's sanity.
People v. Dillon, 8 U. 92; 30 P. 150.

The burden is upon the defendant to prove justification or excuse, but he is not required to establish either by a preponderance of the evidence, it being sufficient to create a reasonable doubt in the minds of the jury whether the homicide in question was justifiable or not.
State v. Vacos, 40 U. 169; 120 P. 497.

It is not error to instruct that "presumptively every killing is murder."
State v. Dewey, 41 U. 538; 127 P. 275.

Where, in a murder trial, there was no evidence warranting an instruction that it was in self-defense, or tending to reduce the grade of the crime, or to justify or excuse it, the defendant was not prejudiced by an instruction that the defendant had admitted the killing, and the testimony not showing clearly that the crime was only manslaughter, if anything, the burden of proving justification rested upon him, though perhaps abstractedly erroneous, is harmless, being favorable to defendant.
State v. White, 40 U. 342; 121 P. 579.

8987. (4857.) Forgery. Proof of corporate existence. Expert testimony. Upon a trial for forging any bill or note purporting to be the bill or note of an incorporated company or bank, or for passing, or attempting to pass, or having in possession with intent to pass, any such forged bill or note, it shall not be necessary to prove the incorporation of such bank or company by the charter or act of incorporation, but it may be proved by general reputation, and persons of skill shall be competent witnesses to prove that such bill or note shall have been forged or counterfeited.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1107. Forgery and counterfeiting, §§ 8270-8281.

8988. (4858.) Abortion, etc. Testimony of the woman not sufficient. Upon a trial for procuring or attempting to procure an abortion, or aiding or assisting therein, or for inveigling, enticing, or taking away any female of previous chaste character, for the purpose of prostitution, or aiding or assisting therein, the defendant shall not be convicted upon the testimony of the woman upon or with whom the offense shall have been committed, unless she is corroborated by other evidence.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1108*. Abduction, etc., for purposes of prostitution, §§ 8110, 8655.
Abortion, §§ 8118, 8119.

8989. (4859.) Proof of corporate existence, etc., generally. If, upon a trial or proceeding in a criminal case, the existence, constitution, or powers of any corporation shall become material, or be in any way drawn in question, it is not necessary to produce a certified copy of the articles or acts of incorporation, but the same may be proved by general reputation, or by the printed statutes of the state, or government, or country by which such corporation was created.

Mont. Pen. C., § 2086.
Allegation and proof of coporate existence, civil procedure, §§ 6594, 6610, 6611.
In a prosecution for larceny, evidence held sufficient to show corporate existence of a railroad company by general reputation.
State v. Reese, 44 U. 256; 140 P. 126.

Oral testimony that a company was incorporated and organized under the laws of a certain state is incompetent, not being proof by reputation.
State v. Brown, 33 U. 109; 93 P. 52.

8990. (4860.) Lottery tickets, etc. Proof. Upon a trial for violation of any of the provisions of chap. 32 of the Penal Code, it shall not be necessary to prove the existence of any lottery in which any lottery ticket shall purport to have been issued, nor to prove the actual signing of any such ticket or share, or pretended ticket or share of any pretended lottery, nor that any lottery ticket, share, or interest was signed or issued by the authority of any manager, or of any person assuming to have authority as manager; but in all cases proof of the sale, furnishing, bartering, or procuring of any ticket, share, or interest therein, or of any instrument purporting to be a ticket, or part or share of any such ticket, shall be evidence that such share or interest was signed and issued according to the purport thereof.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1109. Lotteries, §§ 8153-8160.

8991. (4861.) False pretenses. Evidence in writing or proof by two witnesses. Upon a trial for having, with an intent to cheat or defraud another designedly, by any false pretense, obtained the signature of any person to a written instrument, or having obtained from any person any money, personal property, or valuable thing, the defendant shall not be convicted if the false pretense shall have been expressed in language, unaccompanied by a false token or writing, unless the pretense or some note or memorandum thereof be in writing, subscribed by or in the handwriting of the defendant, or unless the pretense be proved by the testimony of two witnesses, or that of one witness and corroborating circumstances; but this section shall not apply to a prosecution for falsely representing or personating another, and in such assumed character, marrying, or receiving any money or property.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1110. False pretenses and cheats, §§ 8340-8350.

8992. (4862.) Conviction on testimony of accomplice. Corroboration. A conviction shall not be had on the testimony of an accomplice, unless he is corroborated by other evidence which in itself, and without the aid of the testimony of the accomplice, tends to connect the defendant with the commission of the offense; and the corroboration shall not be sufficient if it merely shows the commission of the offense or the circumstances thereof.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1111.

Accessory after the fact is not an accomplice hereunder, and therefore his testimony need not be corroborated as that of an accomplice.

People v. Chadwick, 7 U. 134; 25 P. 737.

In bigamy or polygamy there is no such thing as an accomplice, and the defendant can be convicted on the testimony of the alleged second wife alone.

U. S. v. Miles, 2 U. 19.

Same case, 103 U. S. 304.

It is not error for the court to charge the jury, in respect to the testimony of accomplices, that "were such parties unworthy of belief, the law would not allow them to go upon the witness stand."

People v. Lee, 2 U. 441.

Corroboration in adultery case held sufficient.

U. S. v. Kershaw, 5 U. 618; 19 P. 194.

The female, although consenting, is not liable to indictment for the offense charged. She is therefore not an accomplice, and her evidence does not need corroboration.

State v. Hillberg, 22 U. 27; 61 P. 215.

State v. Hoben, 36 U. 186; 102 P. 1000.

It is not necessary that the testimony of an accomplice should be corroborated in every circumstance that he details in evidence.

People v. Lee, 2 U. 441.

But only as to such material facts as constitute a necessary element in the crime charged, and the corroborating evidence must of itself, without the aid of the testimony of the accomplice, tend in some degree to connect the defendant with the commission of the offense.

State v. Spencer, 15 U. 149; 49 P. 302.

State v. Collett, 20 U. 290; 58 P. 684.

State v. Lay, 38 U. 143; 110 P. 986.

The confession by accused of an act of adultery other than that in issue does not corroborate the testimony of the woman, although admitted in evidence without objection.

State v. Hansen, 40 U. 418; 122 P. 375.

In a prosecution for adultery, the testimony of prosecutrix must be corroborated, but her own testimony as to prior acts are not corroborative, nor is the testimony that on the date alleged the accused and prosecutrix were together in a room.

State v. Kimball, 45 U. 443; 146 P. 313.

An instruction, in a prosecution for adultery, that the jury should consider the fact of prosecutrix's pregnancy as tending to connect defendant with the crime or corroborate her testimony, was erroneous.

State v. Thompson, 31 U. 228; 87 P. 709.

Evidence that accused, a married man, was alone with a nineteen-year-old girl, a ward of the state industrial school, in a room in a hotel in the city at 2:30 o'clock at night, and quite early next morning, in connection with false and contradictory statements as to his whereabouts that night, sufficiently corroborated her testimony.

State v. Park, 44 U. 360; 140 P. 768.

An instruction defining corroboration necessary must not invade province of jury.

State v. James, 32 U. 152; 89 P. 461.

An instruction which fails to define an accomplice, when the only testimony is by an accomplice, is erroneous.

State v. Powell, 45 U. 193; 143 P. 588.

Evidence held insufficient to corroborate the testimony of the accomplice and connect the accused with offense of robbery.

State v. Bridewell, 48 U. 97; 158 P. 710.

Where many circumstances directly pointed to defendant's guilt, in prosecution for larceny, independent of a accomplice's testimony, held sufficient to corroborate the accomplice's testimony and sustain conviction.

State v. Frisby, 49 U. 327; 162 P. 616.

Evidence that stolen property was found in the brush near accused's ranch, and that he and one of his confessed accomplices were seen to have been driving near that vicinity, coupled with the accused's statements that he would not be mixed up with kids again, is insufficient corroboration.

State v. Baum, 47 U. 7; 151 P. 518.

Evidence that accused rode an unshod horse, whose tracks were like those leading from the place where the steer was killed to a point not far from the accused's house, where they were lost in other tracks, and that accused thereafter got beef from one who admitted he participated in the theft, is not sufficient corroboration.

State v. Powell, 45 U. 193; 143 P. 588.

Where the only evidence was that of an employe who claimed to have gotten cattle under the direction of the defendant, and who apparently was an accomplice, the defendant could not be convicted without corroborative evidence.

State v. Elmer, 49 U. 6; 161 P. 167.

Even though the accomplice is corroborated, the court must instruct that, if they find that a certain witness was an accomplice, his testimony must be corroborated.

State v. McCurtain, 51 U. —; 172 P. 481.

8993. (4863.) Mistake in charging offense. Discharge or new prosecution. When it appears, at any time before verdict or judgment, that a mistake has been made in charging the proper offense, the defendant must not be discharged, if there appears good cause to detain him in custody; but the court must commit him, or require him to give bail for his appearance to answer to the offense; and may also require the witnesses to give bail for their appearance.

Mont. Pen. C., § 2090; N. Dak. (1895) § 8198.

New information or resubmission when facts charged do not constitute an offense, § 8998.

Decisions on once in jeopardy, note to § 8905.

Holding defendant to answer to another or a higher offense, §§ 8903, 9038.

Former acquittal on grounds of variance not a bar, § 8903.

8994. (4864.) Want of jurisdiction. Discharge of jury. The court may direct the jury to be discharged where it appears that it has no jurisdiction of the offense, or that the facts charged do not constitute an offense punishable by law.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1113.

These objections not waived by failure to demur, § 8896.

Where the state has failed to make out a prima facie case against defendant, and it appears from the record that there is no probability that it will be able to produce other or different testimony from that produced at the trial, the case should be dismissed, and defendant discharged from custody.

State v. Gordon, 28 U. 15; 76 P. 882.

Where there is no evidence to sustain a verdict in a criminal case, it is error to submit the case to the jury.

State v. Gordon, 28 U. 15; 76 P. 882.

State v. Hutchings, 30 U. 319; 84 P. 893.

8995. (4865.) Id. Defendant discharged. Exception. If the jury is discharged because the court has not jurisdiction of the offense charged, and it appears that it was committed out of the jurisdiction of this state, the defendant must be discharged, unless the court orders that he be detained for a reasonable time, to be specified in the order, to enable the county attorney to communicate with the chief executive officer of the county, state, territory, or district where the offense was committed.

N. Dak. (1895) § 8202.

8996. (4866.) Id. When jurisdiction lies in another county, defendant held. If the offense was committed within the jurisdiction of another county of this state, the court may direct the defendant to be committed for such time as it deems reasonable, to await a warrant from the proper county for his arrest; or if the offense is a misdemeanor only, it may admit him to bail on an undertaking, with sufficient sureties, that he will, within such time as the court may appoint, render himself amenable to a warrant for his arrest from the proper county; and, if not sooner arrested thereon, will attend at the office of the sheriff of the county where the trial was had, at a certain time particularly specified in the undertaking, to surrender himself upon the warrant, if issued, or that his bail will forfeit such sum as the court may fix, to be mentioned in the undertaking; and the clerk must forthwith transmit a certified copy of the indictment or information, and of all the papers filed in the action, to the county attorney of the proper county, the expense of which transmission is chargeable to that county.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1115; Mont. Pen. C., § 2093; N. Dak. (1895) §§ 8203, 8209.

When jurisdiction lies in more than one county, §§ 8648, 8653, 8656.

8997. (4867.) Id. Arrest on warrant from proper county, or discharge. If the defendant is not arrested on a warrant from the proper county, as provided in the next preceding section, he must be discharged from custody, or his bail in the action is exonerated, or money deposited instead of bail must be refunded as the case may be, and the sureties in the undertaking, as mentioned in that section, must be discharged. If he is arrested, the same proceedings must be had thereon as upon the arrest of a defendant in another county on a warrant issued by a magistrate.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1116; Mont. Pen. C., § 2094.

8998. (4868.) Facts not constituting an offense. Discharge or resubmission. If the jury be discharged because the facts as charged do not constitute an offense punishable by law, the court must order that the defendant, if in custody, be discharged; or, if admitted to bail, that his bail be exonerated; or, if he has deposited money instead of bail, that the money be refunded to him, unless in its opinion a new indictment or information can be framed, upon which the defendant can be legally convicted, in which case it may direct the county attorney to file a new information, or direct that the case be submitted to the same or another grand jury; and the same proceedings must be had thereon as are prescribed in § 8882.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1117*; Mont. Pen. C., § 2095*; N. Dak. (1895) § 8207*.

When mistake made in charging offense, § 8993.

Action of court when evidence shows the commission of a different crime, § 9038.

Jury discharged when facts do not constitute an offense, § 8994.

8999. (4869.) Juror knowing fact must testify. If a juror has any personal knowledge respecting a fact in controversy in a cause, he must declare it in open court during the trial. If, during the retirement of a jury, a juror declares a fact which could be evidence in a cause as of his own knowledge, the jury must return into court. In either of these cases, the juror making the statement must be sworn as a witness and examined in the presence of the parties.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1120; Mont. Pen. C., § 2096; N. Dak. (1895) § 8210.

9000. (4870.) View by jury. Oath of officer attending. When, in the opinion of the court, it is proper that the jury should view the place in which the offense is charged to have been committed, or in which any other material fact occurred, it may order the jury to be conducted in a body, in the custody of the officer, to the place, which must be shown to them by a person appointed by the court for that purpose; and the officer must be sworn to suffer no person to speak or communicate with the jury, nor do so himself on any subject connected with the trial, and to return them into court without unnecessary delay, or at a specified time.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1119.
Decisions on interpretation of statutes, note to § 5839.
Defendant need not be with jury which goes to view premises in connection with homicide.
State v. Mortensen, 26 U. 312; 73 P. 562, 633.
That officer in charge of jury pointed out various places in connection with the crime, and explained how the body was carried and buried; held, not prejudicial.
Id.
The rule that where the legislature adopts a statute from a sister state, it also adopts the interpretation which such state has placed upon it, is not absolutely conclusive on the courts of the state adopting the statute, and does not prevent them from refusing to follow such interpretation.
Id.
A request by the jury, made after they had retired to deliberate, that they be permitted to view the place where the homicide was committed, was properly denied.
State v. Sirmay, 40 U. 525; 122 P. 748.

9001. (4871.) Jurors permitted to separate, when. Oath of officer. The jurors sworn to try a criminal action may, at any time before the submission of the case to the jury, in the discretion of the court, be permitted to separate or be kept in charge of a proper officer. The officer must be sworn to keep the jurors together until the next meeting of the court, to suffer no person to speak to them or communicate with them, nor to do so himself, on any subject connected with the trial, and to return them into court at the next meeting thereof.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1121.
Allowing jury in capital case to separate is discretionary with the court.
People v. Callaghan, 4 U. 49; 6 P. 49.
Contra, under different statute.
People v. Shafer, 1 U. 260.

9002. (4872.) Court to admonish jury about conversing, etc. The jury must also at each adjournment of the court, whether permitted to separate or kept in charge of officers, be admonished by the court that it is their duty not to converse among themselves nor with any one else on any subject connected with the trial, nor to form or express any opinion thereon until the case is finally submitted to them.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1122.

9003. (4873.) Sickness of judge or juror. Procedure. If, before the conclusion of a trial, a juror becomes sick, so as to be unable to perform his duty, the court may order him to be discharged. In that case a new juror may be sworn and the trial begin anew, or the jury may be discharged and a new jury then or afterward impaneled. If the judge becomes sick he may discharge the jury.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1123*; Mont. Pen. C., § 2101.
Sickness of juror after retirement of jury, § 9013.
After jury had been qualified, and a substantial part of the evidence introduced, and one of the jurors dies, and the parties consent that a new juror may be sworn, and the trial begins anew, defendant if he had exhausted his peremptory challenges, has not the right to any additional peremptory challenges.
State v. De Weese, 51 U. —; 172 P. 290.

9004. (4874.) Court to decide law. The court must decide all questions of law which arise in the course of a trial.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1124.

9005. (4875.) In libel, jury to determine law and fact. On a trial for libel, the jury shall have the right to determine the law and the fact.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1125.
General provisions as to libel, Con. art. 1, sec. 15; §§ 8072-8083.

9006. (4876.) Court to determine the law; the jury, the facts. On a trial for any other offense than libel, questions of law are to be decided by the court, questions of fact by the jury; and, although the jury shall have the power to find a general verdict, which includes questions of law as well as of fact, they shall be bound, nevertheless, to receive as law what is laid down as such by the court.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1126.

9007. (4877.) Jury to decide in court or retire. Officers sworn. After hearing the charge, the jury may either decide in court or may retire for deliberation. If they do not agree without retiring, an officer must be sworn to keep them together in some private and convenient place, and not permit any person to speak to or communicate with them, nor to do so himself, unless by order of the court, or to ask them whether they have agreed upon a verdict, and to return them into court when they shall have so agreed, or when ordered by the court.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1128.
Where the jury in a murder case were at lunch in a hotel in charge of two officers after the case had been finally submitted to them, and one of the jurors and one of the officers went into another part of the building, where the juror talked to someone over the telephone, inasmuch as it was a violation of the court's direction and is misconduct, it was not necessary for accused to show the nature of the communication or to show he was prejudiced thereby; the burden was on the state to show that the communication was harmless.

State v. Thorne, 39 U. 208; 117 P. 58.

9008. (4878.) Defendant may be committed though on bail, when. When a defendant who shall have given bail shall appear for trial, the court may, in its discretion, at any time after his appearance for trial, order him to be committed to the custody of the proper officer, to abide the judgment or further order of the court, and he must be committed and held in custody accordingly.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1129. Bail, §§ 9243-9270.

CHAPTER 34.

CONDUCT OF JURY.

9010. (4880.) Jury to have food and lodging at expense of county. While the jury are kept together, either during the progress of the trial or after their retirement for deliberation, they must be provided by the sheriff, upon the order of the court, at the expense of the county, with suitable and sufficient food and lodging.

N. Dak. (1895) § 8223; Cal. Pen. C., § 1136*.

9011. (4881.) Jury may take written instructions, etc., with them. Upon retiring for deliberation, the jury may take with them all papers, except depositions which shall have been received as evidence in the case, or copies of such public records or private documents given in evidence as ought not, in the opinion of the court, to be taken from the person having them in possession. They may also take with them the written instructions given, and notes of the testimony or other proceedings on the trial, taken by themselves or any of them, but none taken by any other person.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1137.
The jury may, with permission of the court, take with them an exhibit other than papers, and where a revolver and overalls were taken to the jury room without permission or knowledge of the court, it is not prejudicial.
State v. Riley, 41 U. 225; 126 P. 294.

Where maps used at the trial to illustrate testimony, but not formally introduced, were given to the jury by bailiff and consulted by them in the jury room to gain a better understanding of the testimony, etc., irregularity does not affect the legality of the verdict.
State v. Benson, 46 U. 74; 148 P. 443.

9012. (4882.) Jury may return for further instructions. Notice. After the jury shall have retired for deliberation, if there is any disagreement between them as to the testimony, or if they desire to be informed on any point of law arising in the case, they must require the officer to conduct them into court. Upon being brought into court, the information required must be given in the presence of, or after notice to, the county attorney and the defendant or his counsel.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1138*.
After retiring, the jurors may return and ask to be instructed as to the punishment for voluntary and involuntary manslaughter, and the court may read them the law on the subject.
State v. Kessler, 15 U. 142; 49 P. 293.

9013. (4883.) Sickness of juror. Jury discharged. If, after the retirement of the jury, one of them is taken so sick as to prevent the continuance of his duty, or any other accident or cause occurs to prevent their being kept for deliberation, the jury may be discharged.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1139. Case may be subsequently tried. § 9015.
Sickness of judge or of juror, § 9003.

9014. (4884.) Jury not discharged until verdict rendered. Exception. Except as provided in the next preceding section, the jury shall not be discharged after the case shall have been submitted to them until they shall have agreed upon their verdict, and rendered it in open court, unless by consent of both parties, entered upon the minutes; or unless, at the expiration of such time as the court may deem proper, it shall satisfactorily appear that there is no reasonable probability that the jury can agree.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1140.

9015. (4885.) Retrial when verdict prevented. In all cases where a jury shall be discharged or prevented from giving a verdict by reason of an accident or other cause, except where the defendant shall have been discharged during the progress of the trial or after the case shall have been submitted to them, the case may be again tried at the same or another term.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1141*.

9016. (4886.) Adjournment during absence of jury. While the jury are absent, court may adjourn from time to time, as to other business, but it must nevertheless be open for every purpose connected with the case submitted to the jury, until a verdict is rendered or the jury discharged.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1142.
Instructions may be given, verdict received, or jury discharged on a legal holiday, § 1806.

9017. (4887.) Final adjournment discharges jury. A final adjournment of the court shall discharge the jury.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1143.

CHAPTER 35.

THE VERDICT.

9020. (4888.) Return of jury. Failure of part to appear. Retrial. When the jury shall have agreed upon their verdict, they must be conducted into court by the officer having them in charge. Their names must then be called, and if all do not appear, the rest must be discharged without giving their verdict. In that case the action may be again tried at the same or another term.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1147.
In criminal cases, the verdict shall be unanimous, Con. art. 1, sec. 10.

9021. (4889.) When defendant to be present at verdict. If charged with a felony, the defendant must, before the verdict is received, appear in person. If with a misdemeanor, the verdict may be rendered in his absence.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1148.
Like provisions as to presence on arraignment, trial, and judgment, §§ 8861, 8926, 9043.

9022. (4890.) Jury to declare the verdict. When the jury shall appear, they must be asked by the court or clerk whether they have agreed upon their verdict, and if the foreman answers in the affirmative, they must, on being required, declare the same.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1149.
Verdict against defendant deemed excepted to by him, § 9189.

9023. (4891.) Forms of verdicts. A verdict upon a plea of not guilty shall be either "guilty" or "not guilty," which imports a conviction or acquittal of the offense charged in the information or indictment. Upon a plea of a former conviction or acquittal of the same offense, it shall be either "for the state" or "for the defendant." When the defendant is acquitted on the ground that he was insane at the time of the commission of the act charged, the verdict must be, "not guilty by reason of insanity." When the defendant is acquitted on the ground of variance between the indictment or information and the proof, the verdict must be, "not guilty by reason of variance between indictment or information and proof."

Cal. Pen. C., 1151.

Where an issue of former acquittal is raised, it must be passed upon by the jury.
State v. Creechley, 27 U. 142; 75 P. 384.

9024. (4892.) Degree of crime to be found by jury. Whenever a crime is distinguished into degrees, the jury, if they convict the defendant, must find the degree of the crime of which he is guilty.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1157.
Degrees of larceny, § 8288.
On reasonable doubt as to degree, defendant must be convicted of lowest, § 8979.
On plea of guilty, court to determine degree, § 9042.
May be found guilty of any crime included within the one charged, § 9025.
Verdict for murder finding defendant "guilty as charged in indictment;" held, improper, in that the verdict must declare whether the defendant is guilty of murder in the first or in the second degree.
People v. Shafer, 1 U. 260.
No degrees in larceny cases.
People v. Gough, 2 U. 70.
Under § 5076, C. L. 1888, it is sufficient to allege facts showing a murder without indicating any terms and degree of the crime, leaving that to be determined by the jury or by the judge in case of conviction.

People v. Davis, 8 U. 412; 32 P. 670; affirmed 151 U. S. 262.

Whenever a crime is divided into degrees, it is left to the jury, if they convict defendant, to find the degree of crime of which he is guilty.

State v. Campbell, 24 U. 103; 66 P. 771.

People v. Callaghan, 4 U. 49; 6 P. 49.

A jury in any homicide case has the power, though not the legal or moral right, to find one who is clearly guilty of first degree murder, guilty of manslaughter or acquit him.

State v. Mewhinney, 43 U. 135; 134 P. 632.

9025. (4893.) Verdict for any crime included in the charge. The jury may find the defendant guilty of any offense, the commission of which is necessarily included in that with which he is charged in the indictment, or of an attempt to commit the offense.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1159.

When a minor offense is included in a greater, the defendant may be acquitted of the latter and convicted of the former, unless the allegation is in a form not charging the lesser offense.

People v. Chalmers, 5 U. 201; 14 P. 131.

Where the indictment charged assault with intent to commit murder, it is not error for the court to fail to include in the instruction that he may be found guilty of a lesser offense, defendant not having asked for such instruction.

People v. Robinson, 6 U. 101; 21 P. 403.

A defendant indicted for assault with intent to murder may be found guilty of assault with a deadly weapon with intent to do bodily harm.

State v. McDonald, 14 U. 173; 46 P. 872.

Where defendant is charged with rape, it was competent for the jury to find him guilty of that specific offense, or of an assault with intent to commit rape.

State v. Blythe, 20 U. 378; 58 P. 1108.

A person indicted for incest may properly be convicted of an attempt to commit that crime.

State v. Winslow, 30 U. 403; 85 P. 433.

An information for assault with intent to murder does not include a charge of assault with deadly weapon under § 8070, unless it specifically contains the requirements of § 8070, and a verdict of guilty of assault with deadly weapon, as charged in the information, is not sufficient to cover assault with deadly weapon.

State v. Jukanovich, 45 U. 372; 146 P. 289.

Where a defendant in one count is charged with assault, and in another count with assault with deadly weapon, and the verdict is guilty of the crime of assault with deadly weapon as charged; held, the verdict authorized a sentence for assault with deadly weapon.

State v. Kakarikos, 45 U. 570; 146 P. 750.

One charged with murder by the combined effect of kicking, beating, and bruising decedent, and from the administration of poison, may be convicted of assault with intent to murder.

State v. Vance, 39 U. 602; 119 P. 309.

9026. (4894.) Joint defendants. Verdict against one or more. Retrial. On an information or indictment against several, if the jury cannot agree upon a verdict as to all, they may render a verdict as to those in regard to whom they do agree, on which a judgment must be entered accordingly, and the case as to others may be tried by another jury.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1160.

Joint defendants, trial, §§ 8836, 8980.

9027. (4895.) Reconsideration of verdict directed, when. When there shall be a verdict of conviction, in which it appears to the court that the jury have mistaken the law, the court may explain the reason for that opinion and direct the jury to reconsider their verdict, and if, after the reconsideration, they return the same verdict, it must be entered; but when there shall be a verdict of acquittal, the court shall not require the jury to reconsider it. If the jury render an informal verdict, the court may direct them to reconsider it, and it shall not be recorded until it is rendered in some form from which it can be clearly understood what the intent of the jury is.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1161*.

The evidence showing conclusively that the defendant was insane at the time of the offense, the court, before receiving the verdict, should have directed the jurors' attention to the fact that they had misconstrued the instructions or had wholly disregarded the evidence, and should have required them to reconsider their verdict; if they refused, the court should have set the verdict aside.

State v. Brown, 36 U. 46; 102 P. 641.

9028. (4896.) Informal verdict. No conviction unless verdict express. If the jury persist in finding an informal verdict, from which, however, it can be clearly understood that their intention is to find in favor of the defendant upon the issue, it must be entered in the terms in which it is found, and the court must give judgment of acquittal. But no judgment of conviction can be given unless the jury expressly find against the defendant upon the issue.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1162*.

9029. (4897.) Polling of jury. When a verdict shall be rendered, and before it is recorded, the jury may be polled at the request of either party, in which case they must be severally asked whether it is their verdict, and if any one answers in the negative, the jury must be sent out for further deliberation.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1163.

9030. (4898.) Verdict read to jury and recorded. Disagreement. When the verdict given shall be such as the court may receive, the clerk must immediately read it to the jury, inquire of them whether it is their verdict, and record it in full upon the minutes. If any juror disagrees, the fact must be entered upon the minutes and the jury again sent out; but if no disagreement is expressed, the verdict shall be complete, and the jury must be discharged from the case.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1164.

9031. (4899.) Judgment of acquittal. Discharge. If judgment of acquittal is given on a verdict, and the defendant is not detained for any other legal cause, he must be discharged as soon as the judgment is given.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1165*.

9032. (4900.) Judgment of conviction. Commitment. If a verdict is rendered against the defendant, he must be remanded, if in custody; or if on bail, he may be committed to the proper officer to await the judgment of the court upon the verdict. When committed, his bail shall be exonerated; or if money is deposited instead of bail, it must be refunded to the defendant.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1166*.

CHAPTER 36.

ARREST OF JUDGMENT.

9035. (4901.) Motion in arrest of judgment defined. Grounds. When allowed. A motion in arrest of judgment is an application on the part of the defendant that no judgment be rendered on the plea or verdict of guilty, or on a verdict against the defendant on the plea of a former conviction, or acquittal, or once in jeopardy; it may be based upon the ground that the facts proved do not constitute a public offense, or upon the grounds stated in § 9050. The motion in arrest of judgment must be made before or at the time the defendant is called for judgment. Am'd '15, p. 203.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1185*.
Objections not waived by failure to demur, § 8896.
Showing cause why judgment should not be pronounced, § 9050.
A motion in arrest of judgment may not be based on defects in instructions.
State v. Mewhinney, 44 U. 231; 139 P. 862.

9036. (4902.) Id. By court of its own motion. The court may also, on its own view of any of these defects, arrest the judgment without motion.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1186.

9037. (4903.) Id. Effect. The effect of allowing a motion in arrest of judgment shall be to place the defendant in the same situation in which he shall have been before the information was filed or the indictment found.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1187.
Order granting or refusing motion in arrestof judgment deemed excepted to, § 9189.

9038. (4904.) Id. Further prosecution. Discharge operates as acquittal. If, from the evidence on the trial, there is reason to believe the defendant guilty, and a new information or indictment can be framed upon which he may be convicted, the court may order him to be recommitted to the officer of the proper county, or admitted to bail anew, to answer the new information or indictment. If the evidence shows him guilty of another offense, he must be committed or held thereon, and in neither case shall the verdict be a bar to another prosecution. But if no evidence appears sufficient to charge him with any offense, he must, if in custody, be discharged; or if admitted to bail, his bail shall be exonerated; or if money shall have been deposited instead of bail, it must be refunded to the defendant; and the arrest of judgment shall operate as an acquittal of the charge upon which the information or indictment shall have been founded.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1188.
Failure to file new information or indictment at same or succeeding term, § 8882.
Former acquittal on grounds of variance not a bar, § 8903.
Dismissal in order to hold defendant for higher offense not an acquittal, § 8903.
Decisions on once in jeopardy, note to § 8905.
Dismissal when facts charged do not constitute an offense, § 8998.

Dismissal for failure to prosecute, §§ 9345-9350.

Where the state has failed to make out a prima facie case against defendant, and it appears from the record that there is no probability that it will be able to produce other or different testimony from that produced at the first trial, the case should be dismissed and defendant discharged from custody.

State v. Gordon, 28 U. 15; 76 P. 882.

CHAPTER 37.

THE JUDGMENT.

9041. (4905.) Time for pronouncing judgment. Court to appoint. After a plea or verdict of guilty, or after a verdict against the defendant on a plea of a former conviction or acquittal or once in jeopardy, if the judgment is not arrested or a new trial granted, the court must appoint a time for pronouncing judgment, which must be at least two days and not more than ten days after verdict. Am'd '15, p. 203.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1191*.

Effect upon civil rights, §§ 8533, 8534.

Judgment rendered within six hours after verdict is merely irregular, not void.

In re Barton, 6 U. 264; 21 P. 998.

Court does not find on the facts. There is nothing in the Utah statutes which requires the court itself to find the defendant guilty.

People v. Davis, 8 U. 412; 37 P. 670; affirmed 151 U. S. 262.

The court by indefinitely suspending sentence and permitting defendant to go on his own recognizance loses jurisdiction of him, so that it cannot afterwards have him rearrested and sentence him.

In re Flint, 25 U. 338; 71 U. 531.

See People v. Blackburn, 6 U. 647; 23 P. 759.

The court has no power to indefinitely suspend execution of judgment during good behavior, but if the court suspends the judgment of imprisonment during good behavior, the invalidity of this part does not affect the judgment imposing imprisonment and fine, as they are severable.

Reese v. Olsen, 44 U. 318; 139 P. 941.

9042. (4906.) Upon plea of guilty, court to determine degrees. Upon a plea of guilty of a crime distinguished or divided into degrees, the court must, before passing sentence, determine the degree.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1192.

On trial, jury to find degree, § 9024, and note.

9043. (4907.) Judgment in defendant's presence, if felony. For the purpose of judgment, if the conviction is for felony, the defendant must be personally present; if for a misdemeanor, the judgment may be pronounced in his absence.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1193.

Like provisions as to presence on arraignment, trial, and verdict, §§ 8861, 8926, 9021.

9044. (4908.) Bench warrant for absent defendant. Bail forfeited. If the defendant shall have been discharged on bail or shall have deposited money instead thereof, and does not appear for judgment when his personal appearance shall be necessary, the court, in addition to the forfeiture of the undertaking of bail or of money deposited, may direct the clerk to issue a bench warrant for his arrest.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1195.

9045. (4909.) Bench warrant. On application of district attorney. The clerk, on the application of the district attorney, may, at any time after the order, whether the court is sitting or not, issue a bench warrant into one or more counties. Am'd '01, p. 9.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1196*.

9046. (4910.) Form of bench warrant. The bench warrant must be substantially in the following form:

State of Utah, county of .....

The state of Utah to any sheriff, constable, marshal, or policeman in this state:

A B having been, on the ..... day of ....., A. D. 19....., duly convicted, in the ..... district court of the county of ....., of the crime of (designating it generally), you are therefore commanded forthwith to arrest the above named A B and bring him before that court for judgment; or if the court has adjourned for the term, that you deliver him into the custody of the sheriff of the county of ..... Given under my hand with the seal of said county affixed, this ..... day of ....., A. D. 19.....

[Seal] By order of the court. E F, Clerk.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1197*.

9047. (4911.) Bench warrant served as warrant of arrest. The bench warrant may be served in any county in the same manner as a warrant of arrest.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1198*.

9048. (4912.) Id. Arrest and disposition of defendant. Whether the bench warrant shall be served in the county in which it shall have been issued or in another county, the officer must arrest the defendant and bring him before the court or commit him to the officer mentioned in the warrant, according to the command thereof.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1199.

9049. (4913.) Appearance for judgment. Defendant asked to show cause. When the defendant shall appear for judgment, he must be informed by the court, or by the clerk under its direction, of the nature of the charge against him, and of his plea and the verdict, if any thereon, and must be asked whether he has any legal cause to show why judgment should not be pronounced against him.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1200.

9050. (4914.) Defendant may set up insanity for cause against judgment. Other grounds. He may show for cause against the judgment:

1. That he is insane; and if, in the opinion of the court, there is reasonable ground for believing him to be insane, the question of insanity must be tried, as provided in chap. 50 of this code (§§ 9327-9336). If, upon the trial of that question, the jury finds that he is sane, judgment must be pronounced; but if they find him insane, he must be committed to the state mental hospital until he becomes sane; and when notice shall have been given of that fact, as provided in § 9334, he must be brought before the court for judgment.

2. That he has good cause to offer in arrest of judgment, in which case the court may, in its discretion, order the judgment to be deferred, and proceed to decide upon the motion in arrest of judgment. Am'd '15, p. 203.

A court has power to suspend sentence, after a defendant has been convicted, for stated periods from time to time, for good reasons, but should proceed to sentence within a reasonable time.
People v. Blackburn, 6 U. 347; 23 P. 759.
The court, by indefinitely suspending sentence and permitting defendant to go on his own regnizance, loses jurisdiction, so that it cannot afterwards have him rearrested and sentence him.
In re Flint, 25 U. 338; 71 P. 531.
The recital in a judgment that the accused, "having stated that they had no legal reason to give why judgment should not be pronounced against them," etc., does not show that they were given an opportunity to be heard.
Herald-Republican Pub. Co. v. Lewis, 42 U. 188; 129 P. 624.

9052. (4916.) Pronouncing judgment. Court may exercise discretion, when. When discretion is conferred upon the court as to the extent of punishment, the court, at the time of pronouncing judgment, may take into consideration any circumstances, either in aggravation or mitigation of the punishment, which may then be presented to it by either party. Am'd '15, p. 203.

Judgment of juvenile court, § 1823.
The facts considered by the trial judge in determining what sentence he will impose cannot be reviewed by the supreme court, though the judge's preliminary remarks indicated that he was influenced by facts brought out in another prosecution against the same defendant tried before him.
State v. Martin, 49 U. 346; 164 P. 500.

9053. (4917.) Id. How presented. Limitation. The circumstances must be presented by the testimony of witnesses examined in open court, except that when a witness shall be so sick or infirm as to be unable to attend, his deposition may be taken by a magistrate of the county, out of court, upon such notice to the adverse party as the court may direct. No affidavit or testimony, or representation of any kind, verbal or written, shall be offered to or received by the court or a judge thereof, in aggravation or mitigation of the punishment, except as provided in this and the next preceding section.

9054. (4918.) Conviction of two or more offenses. Terms begin when. If the defendant has been convicted of two or more offenses, before judgment on either, the judgment may be that the imprisonment upon any one may commence at the expiration of the imprisonment upon any other of the offenses.

N. Dak. (1895) § 8294.
Conviction of two or more crimes, when term begins, §§ 8530, 8531.
Indeterminate sentence, §§ 9162-9164.
Where there are several charges in different counts of an indictment against the same person for the same act or transaction, but one punishment can be imposed; but where the acts or transactions are different, constitute distinct offenses, and may properly be joined, separate punishments may be imposed on each count.
U. S. v. Groesbeck, 4 U. 487; 11 P. 542.
Where bigamy and adultery were alleged in two separate counts in one indictment, it is not error for judgment to be pronounced on both counts of the indictment in connection with both parts of the verdict.
U. S. v. West, 7 U. 437; 27 P. 84.
A judgment sentencing a prisoner for a specific term of years under each of several indictments, the sentence in each case after the first to commence after the expiration of the sentence in the case preceding, authorizes his detention for the aggregate period of all the sentences.
Ex parte Wilson, 11 U. 114; 39 P. 498.

9055. (4919.) One dollar a day on imprisonment to satisfy fine. A judgment that the defendant pay a fine may also direct that he be imprisoned until the fine is satisfied, specifying the extent of the imprisonment, which cannot exceed one day for every one dollar of the fine.

At hard labor, whether so designated or not, § 9173.
This section applies to cases of conviction for criminal contempt.
Ex parte Whitmore, 9 U. 441; 35 P. 524.
Where there is a judgment of imprisonment and a judgment of fine, the fine is not enforcible by imprisonment, but only collectible upon execution as in civil cases; and such judgment is excessive and void so far as it attempts to imprison for non-payment of such fine.
Roberts v. Howells, 22 U. 389; 62 P. 892.
See In re Lewis, 10 U. 47; 41 P. 1077.
When a judgment in a misdemeanor case imposes imprisonment and a fine, it could not direct further imprisonment to satisfy the fine, if not paid.
Reese v. Olsen, 44 U. 318; 139 P. 941.

9056. (4920.) Judgment for fine constitutes a lien. A judgment that the defendant pay a fine constitutes a lien, in like manner as a judgment for money rendered in a civil action.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1206.
Execution on such judgment, § 9168.
Judgment liens, §§ 6868, 6869.

9057. (4921.) Fines of district court to go to state. Exception. Fines imposed by the district court shall be turned into the state treasury, except such fines as are imposed by the district court in cases appealed from a city or municipal court, which such fines, when collected, shall be by the county clerk covered, one-half into the city treasury, and one-half into the state treasury. Am'd '03, p. 27.

9058. (4922.) When complainant to pay costs. Judgment. Execution. In all cases of criminal prosecution where the defendant is not found guilty, the court may require the complainant, if it appears that the prosecution was malicious or without probable cause, to pay the costs of the action, or to give security to pay the same within thirty days. If the complainant does not comply with the order of the court, judgment may be entered against him for the amount thereof. Such judgments may be enforced and appealed from in the same manner as those rendered in civil actions.

Mont. Pen. C., §§ 2708*, 2709.

9059. (4923.) Entry of judgment Contents. What constitutes the judgment roll. When judgment upon a conviction shall be rendered, the clerk must enter the same upon the minutes, stating briefly the offense for which the conviction was had, and the fact of a prior conviction, if one, and must, within five days, attach together and file the following papers, which shall constitute the judgment roll or record of the action:

1. The information or indictment, all pleas, demurrers, motions, orders, and other papers filed in the case, and a copy of the judgment, and all other minute entries;
2. The verdict of the jury;
3. The bill of exceptions, if there is one;

4. The requests to charge, given or refused, with indorsements thereon, and the instructions of the court and transcript of exceptions taken thereto, signed by the judge. Am'd '15, p. 203.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1207*.
Written requests to charge with indorsements thereon form part of the record, § 9492.

INDETERMINATE SENTENCES IN CRIMINAL CASES.

9062. Sentence. Indefinite term of imprisonment, when imposed. Whenever any person is convicted of any felony or crime committed after the taking effect of §§ 9062-9064 punishable by imprisonment in the state prison, except treason or murder in any of the degrees thereof, the court, in imposing sentence, shall not fix a definite term of imprisonment but shall sentence every such person to the state prison, as the nature of the case may require, and every such sentence shall be without limit as to time, but imprisonment under such sentence shall not exceed the maximum term provided by law for the offense for which such person shall be convicted; provided, that if a person be sentenced for two or more such separate offenses, sentence shall be pronounced for each offense, and imprisonment thereunder may equal but shall not exceed the total of the maximum terms provided by law for such separate offenses, which total shall, for the purpose of §§ 9062-9064, be construed as one continuous term of imprisonment; and, provided, further, that where one is convicted of a felony or crime that is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison, or by fine, or by imprisonment in the county jail, or both, the court may impose the lighter sentence, if it shall so elect.
'13, p. 192.

The indeterminate sentence act is constitutional.
Mutart v. Pratt, 51 U. —; 170 P. 67.

'13, p. 192.

9064. Court to advise board of pardons as to the facts. The court, within thirty days from the date of any sentence imposed, as provided in §§ 9062-9064, shall mail to the secretary of the board of pardons a statement in writing, in which statement the court shall set out the term, within the maximum term provided by law for the particular offense, for which, in the opinion of said court, the prisoner so sentenced should be imprisoned, and also any information the court may have which will be of aid to the board in passing upon any application for the parole, commutation of sentence, or pardon of the prisoner so sentenced. Such statement shall be presented to the board of pardons at the next regular meeting of the board following the receipt thereof, by the secretary, and shall be preserved in the files of the board.
'13, p. 192.

CHAPTER 38.

THE EXECUTION.

9167. (4924.) Warrant for execution of judgment other than death. When a judgment, other than of death, shall have been pronounced, a certified copy of the entry thereof upon the minutes must be forthwith furnished to the officer whose duty it is to execute the judgment, and no other warrant or authority shall be necessary to justify or require its execution.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1213.

9168. (4925.) Judgment for fine and costs. Execution. If the judgment is for a fine and costs, or either alone, execution may be issued thereon as on a judgment in a civil action.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1214*.
Judgment of fine constitutes a lien, § 9056.
Under this section, a fine imposed as a punishment in a criminal action may be collected upon execution, the same as a judgment in a civil case.
Roberts v. Howells, 22 U. 389; 62 P. 892.
Under this section and § 9169, a judgment of fine is only enforcible when it stands alone and not coupled with a distinct sentence of imprisonment, and when it provides for a definite rate per day of service to be applied on the amount of the fine.
Id.
Where a judgment in a misdemeanor case imposes imprisonment and a fine, it could not direct further imprisonment to satisfy the fine, if not paid.
Reese v. Olsen, 44 U. 318; 139 P. 941.

9169. (4926.) Judgment of imprisonment. Commitment. If the judgment is for imprisonment, or a fine and imprisonment until such fine is paid, the defendant must forthwith be committed to the custody of the proper officer, and by him detained until the judgment is complied with.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1215.
Term begins to run on delivery of defendant at place of imprisonment, § 8531.
Temporary release not counted as part of term, § 8531.
Conviction of two or more offenses, § 9054.

9170. (4927.) Id. Delivery to warden of prison. Return of officer. If the judgment is for imprisonment in the state prison, the sheriff of the county must, upon receipt of a certified copy thereof, take and deliver the defendant to the warden of the state prison. He must also deliver to the warden the certified copy of the judgment, and take from the warden a receipt for the defendant, and make return thereof to the court.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1216*.

9171. (4928.) Judgment of death. Form of warrant. Day of execution. When judgment of death is rendered, a warrant, signed by the judge and attested by the clerk, under the seal of the court, must be drawn and delivered to the sheriff. It must state the conviction and judgment, and appoint a day on which the judgment is to be executed, which must not be less than thirty nor more than sixty days from the time of the judgment.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1217. Cal. Sup. (1893) § 1217, p. 1072.
Clerical error in judgment in the use of the word "public" in sentencing defendant to be "publicly executed" is not ground for reversal.
People v. Calton, 5 U. 451; 16 P. 902.
See Calton v. Utah, 130 U. S. 83.

9172. (4929.) Id. Statement of judge to board of pardons. The judge of a court at which a conviction requiring judgment of death shall have been had must, immediately after the conviction, transmit to the president of the board of pardons, by mail or otherwise, a statement of the conviction and judgment and of the testimony given at the trial.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1218*.
Board of pardons, §§ 4330, 4337.

9173. (4930.) Imprisonment to be at hard labor in all cases. In all cases when by law a person is sentenced to imprisonment either in the state prison or in a county jail, it shall be at hard labor, whether so designated by the court or jury or not.

N. Dak. (1895) § 8304*.

9174. (4931.) Judgment of death suspended by whom. No judge, tribunal, nor officer, other than the governor or the board of pardons, can suspend the execution of a judgment of death, except the sheriff, as provided in the six succeeding sections, unless an appeal is taken.

Governor and board of pardons, Con. art. 7, sec. 12.

9175. (4932.) Id. Insanity of defendant. Trial by jury. Notice. If, after judgment of death, there is good reason to suppose that the defendant has become insane, the sheriff of the county, with the concurrence of the judge of the court by which the judgment shall have been rendered, may summon from the list of the jurors selected by the proper officers for the year a jury of twelve persons to inquire into the supposed insanity, and must give immediate notice thereof to the county attorney or other counsel for the state.

Judgment not pronounced if defendant insane, § 9050.

9176. (4933.) Id. County attorney to attend. Witnesses. The county attorney must attend the inquisition, and may produce witnesses before the jury, for which purpose he may issue process in the same manner as for witnesses to attend before the grand jury, and disobedience thereto may be punished in like manner as disobedience to process issued by the court.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1222.

9177. (4934.) Id. Inquisition signed by jury and sheriff, and filed. A certificate of the inquisition must be signed by the jurors and the sheriff, and filed with the clerk of the court in which the conviction shall have been had.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1223. Cal. Sup. (1893) § 1223*, p. 1072.

9178. (4935.) Id. Procedure when defendant found sane; when insane. If it is found by the inquisition that the defendant is sane, the sheriff must execute the judgment; but if it is found that he is insane, the sheriff must suspend the execution of the judgment until he receives a warrant from the president of the board of pardons or from the judge of the court by which the judgment shall have been rendered, directing the execution of the judgment. If the inquisition finds that the defendant is insane, the sheriff must immediately transmit it to the board of pardons who may, when the defendant becomes sane, issue a warrant appointing a day for the execution of the judgment.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1224*. Cal. Sup. (1893) § 1224*, p 1072.

9179. (4936.) Female sentenced to death thought pregnant. Examination. If there is good reason to suppose that a female against whom a judgment of death shall have been rendered is pregnant, the sheriff, with the concurrence of the judge of the court by which the judgment shall have been rendered, may summon a jury of three physicians to inquire into the supposed pregnancy. Immediate notice thereof must be given to the county attorney of the county, and the provisions of §§ 9176, 9177, shall apply to the proceedings upon the inquisition.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1225. Cal. Sup. (1893) § 1225*, p. 1073.

9180. (4937.) Id. Execution suspended during pregnancy. If it is found by the inquisition that the female is not pregnant, the sheriff must execute the judgment; if it is found that she is pregnant, the officer must suspend the execution of judgment, and transmit the inquisition to the board of pardons. When the board of pardons shall be satisfied that the female is no longer pregnant, it may issue its warrant appointing a day for the execution of the judgment.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1226*. Cal. Sup. (1893) § 1226*, p. 1073.

9181. (4938.) Judgment of death remaining unexecuted. Order to enforce. If, for any reason, a judgment of death shall not have been executed, and it remains in force, the court in which the conviction shall have been had, on the application of the county attorney, must order the defendant to be brought before it, or if he is at large, a warrant for his apprehension may be issued. Upon the defendant being brought before the court, it must inquire into the facts, and if no legal reasons exist against the execution of the judgment, must make an order that the sheriff execute the judgment at a specified time. The officer must execute the judgment accordingly.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1227. Cal. Sup. (1893) § 1227*, p. 1073.

9182. (4939.) Death penalty inflicted by hanging or shooting, at defendant's election. The punishment of death must be inflicted by hanging the defendant by the neck until he is dead, or by shooting him, at his election. If the defendant neglect or refuse to make election, the court at the time of rendering the sentence must declare the mode and enter the same as a part of its judgment.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1228*.

Shooting not "cruel and unusual," punishment.

People v. Wilkinson, 2 U. 158; affirmed 99 U. S. 130.

9183. (4940.) Id. Executed by a sheriff at state prison. Appliances. A judgment of death must be executed by the sheriff of the county in which the judgment was rendered or by his deputy or deputies, within the exterior walls of the state prison. The board of corrections of the state prison shall provide the necessary appliances for the execution.

Iowa, McClain's An. C. (1888) §§ 5139, 5140*. Cal. Pen. C., 1229*. Cal. Sup. (1893) § 1229*, p. 1074.

9184. (4941.) Id. Who may be present. The sheriff must invite the presence of a physician and the county attorney of the county; and he shall, at the request of the defendant, permit such ministers of the gospel, not exceeding two, as the defendant may name, and any persons, relatives, or friends, not to exceed five, to be present at the execution, together with such peace officers as he may think expedient to witness the execution. But no other person than those mentioned in this section shall be present at the execution, nor shall any person under age be permitted to witness the same.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1229*.

9185. (4942.) Id. Return of sheriff. After the execution the sheriff must make a return upon the death warrant, showing the time, place, and manner in which it shall have been executed.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1230*. Cal. Sup. (1893) § 12 30*, p. 1074.

CHAPTER 39.

EXCEPTIONS.

9189. (4943.) Exceptions. Definition. How taken and noted. The verdict of the jury, and all orders, decisions, and rulings made by the district court, including rulings on objections to, or motions to strike out, evidence, from the inception of the case, shall be deemed excepted to. Exceptions to instructions to the jury shall be taken and preserved as in civil cases.

Am'd '15, p. 204.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1170*.

Exceptions to charge, when and how taken, civil procedure, § 6806, and note.

Objections to instructions should be specific, note to § 6806.

General exception to charge as a whole is insufficient, if any part of it is correct.

People v. Berlin, 9 U. 383; 35 P. 498.

People v. Hart, 10 U. 204; 37 P. 330.

An exception "to the refusal of the court to give the instructions requested by the defendant" will not be sustained if any one of such instructions is erroneous.

People v. Thiede, 11 U. 241; 39 P. 837; affirmed 159 U. S. 510.

General exceptions to the instructions of the court, or exceptions to whole paragraphs thereof, are insufficient to raise questions on appeal.

State v. King, 24 U. 482; 68 P. 418.

An exception that the court erred in defining malice without pointing out the error is too general.

People v. Thiede, 11 U. 241; 39 P. 837; 159 U. S. 510.

Exceptions to the instructions of the court sufficient to raise any question on appeal must specifically point out to the court the matter objected to before the retiring of the jury.

State v. Campbell, 25 U. 342; 71 P. 529.

Failure to except to refusal of instructions requested prevents error being assigned therein.

People v. Berlin, 9 U. 383; 35 P. 498.

Court cannot consider objections not passed upon by the trial court; nor remarks of counsel objected to and not properly in the record.

State v. Haworth, 24 U. 398; 68 P. 155.

Under this section and §§ 9190, 9192, where, on appeal, in a criminal case, camplaint is made of the giving and refusing of certain instructions and the admission and exclusion of certain evidence, but it does not appear that the instructions were written, and the stenographic notes of the trial proceedings, purporting to be a bill of exceptions, are not authenticated, save by the stenographer's certificate, the objections cannot be considered.

State v. Delvecchio, 25 U. 18; 69 P. 58.

Error in a charge in a criminal case cannot be considered where there was no exception and no assignment of error.

State v. Smith, 45 U. 381; 146 P. 286.

An exception to the whole of an instruction when part of it contains a correct statement of the law is not good.

State v. Haworth, 24 U. 398; 68 P. 55.

State v. Riley, 44 U. 225; 126 P. 294.

An assignment of error neither referred to in appellant's brief nor mentioned in his oral argument will be treated as waived.

State v. Riley, 41 U. 225; 126 P. 294.

9190. (4946.) Bills of exceptions settled, etc., as in civil cases. Bills of exceptions shall be settled, signed, and filed as provided by law in civil cases.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1174*.

In civil cases, §§ 6969-6973, and notes.

Decisions on sufficiency of bill of exceptions, note to § 9216.

9191. (4947.) Id. What evidence may be included. A bill of exceptions must contain only so much of the evidence as shall be necessary to present the questions of law upon which the exceptions were taken; and the judge must, upon the settlement of the bill, whether agreed to by the parties or not, strike out all other maters contained therein.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1175.

9192. (4948.) Written requests to charge form part of the record. When written requests to charge have been presented, given, or refused, the questions presented in such requests need not be excepted to or embodied in the bill of exceptions, but such written requests to charge, with the indorsements thereon showing the action of the court, form part of the record, and any error in the decision of the court thereon may be taken advantage of on appeal in like manner as if presented in a bill of exceptions.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1176*. Record of the action, § 9059.

9193. (4949.) Bill need not contain matters deemed excepted to. The decision of the court upon any matters of law declared to be deemed excepted to need not be embodied in a bill of exceptions.

Mont. Pen. C., § 2176*. Decisions on record on appeal, note to § 9216.

CHAPTER 40.

NEW TRIALS.

9197. (4950.) New trial defined. A new trial is a re-examination of the issue in the same court before another jury, after a verdict has been given.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1179.

9198. (4951.) Effect of granting new trial. Evidence, etc. The granting of a new trial shall place the parties in the same position as if no trial shall have been had. All the testimony must be produced anew, and the former verdict shall not be used nor referred to either in evidence or in argument, nor be pleaded in bar of any conviction which might have been had under the information or indictment.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1180*.

When testimony officially reported may be used on subsequent trial, § 9277.

Defendant was tried on an indictment upon which he might have been convicted of murder in the first or second decree, or of voluntry or involuntry manslaughter, and found guilty of murder in the second degree; held, that he could be tried for murder in the first degree after the verdict had been set aside on his motion.

State v. Kessler, 15 U. 142; 49 P. 293.

After a judgment in a criminal case has been affirmed on appeal and the case remanded, a motion for new trial, based upon facts which were not passed upon by the appellate court or discovered before the appeal was taken, can be entertained by the trial court.

State v. Kessler, 15 U. 142; 49 P. 293.
State v. Morgan, 23 U. 212; 64 P. 536.

9199. (4952.) Grounds for new trial. Affidavits. Postponement. When a verdict shall have been rendered against the defendant, the court may, upon his application, grant a new trial in the following cases only:

1. When a trial shall have been had in his absence, if the information or indictment is for a felony;

2. When the jury shall have received out of court any evidence, other than that resulting from a view of the premises, or any communication, document, or paper referring to the case;

3. When the jury shall have separated without leave of the court, after retiring to deliberate upon their verdict, or have been guilty of any misconduct by which a fair and due consideration of the case may have been prevented;

4. When the verdict shall have been decided by lot, or by any means other than a fair expression of opinion on the part of all the jurors;

5. When the court shall have misdirected the jury in a matter of law, or shall have erred in the decision of any question of law arising during the course of the trial, or shall have done or allowed any act in the case prejudicial to the substantial rights of the defendant;

6. When the verdict is contrary to law or evidence;

7. When new evidence shall have been discovered, material to the defendant and which he could not, with reasonable diligence, have discovered and produced at the trial.

When a motion for a new trial is made upon the ground of newly discovered evidence, the defendant must produce at the hearing, in support thereof, the affidavits of the witnesses by whom such evidence is expected to be given, and if time is required by the defendant to procure such affidavits, the court may postpone the hearing of the motion for such length of time as, under all circumstances of the case, may seem reasonable.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1181*.

Grounds for new trial, civil procedure, § 6978, and note.

Charge to jury considered as a whole, note to § 8975.

Instructions, note to § 8975.

Conduct of trial, admission of evidence, etc., note to § 8975; see also note to § 6802 as to civil procedure.

The jury are the exclusive judges of the facts, and where there is any evidence to support a verdict, it will not be disturbed on appeal, note to Con. art. 8, sec. 9.

SUFFICIENCY OF EVIDENCE, ETC.:

Admission of incompetent testimony is ground for reversal where it is apparent that undue importance may have been given to it by jury.

People v. Biddlecome, 3 U. 208; 2 P. 194.

But otherwise where the evidence was ample to warrant the jury in returning a verdict in harmony with incompetent evidence; held, not to be prejudicial error.

People v. Burtleson, 14 U. 258; 47 P. 87.

Remarks of court in ruling on evidence not directed to jury, not objected to or no correction asked, are not error merely because they might tend to prejudice jury against defendant.

U. S. v. Peay, 5 U. 263; 14 P. 342.

Allusion which is immediately withdrawn by counsel in argument to the case having been tried before is not prejudicial error hereunder.

People v. Hopt, 4 U. 247; 9 P. 407; 120 U. S. 430.

Verdict of guilty will not be set aside if evidence substantially supports it. Must be an absence of evidence against defendant or substantial preponderance in his favor.

People v. Clawson, 2 U. 502.

People v. Swasey, 6 U. 93; 21 P. 400.

U. S. v. Brown, 6 U. 115; 21 P. 461.

Will not reverse on conflicting evidence, no mistake or improper motive of jury appearing.

People v. Chalmers, 5 U. 201; 14 P. 131.

People v. Peacock, 5 U. 237; 14 P. 332.

U. S. v. Harris, 5 U. 436; 17 P. 75.

A view is not the taking of testimony within the meaning of the constitution, but its sole purpose and object is to enable the jurors to more accurately understand and appreciate the testimony of witnesses given before them. Making of measurements, etc., by juror not prejudicial misconduct.

State v. Mortensen, 26 U. 312; 73 P. 562, 633.

Appellate court will not interfere with the verdict of a jury in a criminal case if there is any evidence to support it.

State v. Endsley, 19 U. 478; 57 P. 430.

State v. Clark, 27 U. 55; 74 P. 119.

State v. LaChall, 28 U. 80; 77 P. 3.

Where there is no evidence to sustain a verdict in a criminal case, it is error to submit the case to the jury.

State v. Gordon, 28 U. 15; 76 P. 882.

State v. Hutchins, 30 U. 319; 84 P. 893.

State v. Karas, 43 U. 506; 136 P. 788.

Accused cannot complain of insufficiency of the evidence to sustain a conviction, though the state failed to make a case if he himself proved one for it.

State v. Potello, 40 U. 56; 119 P. 1023.

IMPEACHING VERDICT:

The affidavit of a juror that, during the progress of the trial, he took certain measurements of a locality testified to on the trial, and communicated same to the other jurors, cannot be received to impeach the verdict.

People v. Ritchie, 12 U. 180; 42 P. 209.

Affidavits of jurors will not be received to impeach or question their verdict, nor to show the grounds upon which it was rendered, nor to show their misunderstanding of facts or of law, nor that they misunderstood the charge of the court, nor the effect of their verdict, nor their opinions, surmises, and processes of reasoning in arriving at their verdict.

People v. Flynn, 7 U. 378; 26 P. 1114.

MISCODUCT OF JURY:

Where the diligence used in interrogating the jury is slight and insufficient to discover the disqualification, the jurors not being examined individually, new trial will be denied.

People v. Lewis, 4 U. 42; 5 P. 543.

Where juror was not a citizen, new trial granted.

People v. Reece, 3 U. 72; 2 P. 61.

The misconduct of any juror, actual or implied, is misconduct of the jury, raises the presumption that the accused has been prejudiced thereby, and vitiates the verdict unless the prosecution shows beyond a reasonable doubt that the prisoner has received no injury by reason thereof. Where the admitted facts show both actual and implied bias of two of the jurors, there is sufficient ground for granting a new trial.

State v. Morgan, 23 U. 212; 64 P. 356.

When it appears after trial that a juror had beforehand prejudiced the case, but had improperly withheld this fact before acceptance, or when asked as to opinion, on voir dire had given false answers, and such formation of opinion was unknown to the party at the time, a new trial will be granted.

State v. Morgan, 23 U. 212; 64 P. 356.

Tarpey v. Madsen, 26 U. 294; 73 P. 411.

State v. Thompson, 24 U. 314; 67 P. 789.

But not unless the accused, by the evidence he introduces, in support of his motion for a new trial, clearly and satisfactorily shows that such statements were actually made.

State v. Mickel, 25 U. 179; 70 P. 856.

Where, in a murder trial, the case has been submitted to a jury, it is misconduct for one of the jury, accompanied by an officer, to go to a room and talk over the telephone—and the burden is on the state to show that it was harmless.

State v. Thorne, 39 U. 208; 117 P. 58.

The remark of one of the jurors relative to a revolver properly admitted in evidence, but taken to the jury room without permission, that it "was a murderous looking instrument and that it showed conclusive intent" of the defendant, did not constitute misconduct.

State v. Riley, 41 U. 225; 126 P. 294.

NEWLY DISCOVERED EVIDENCE:

Newly discovered evidence, affidavits, etc., civil procedure, note to § 6978.

Newly discovered evidence which is merely cumulative, there being no showing of proper diligence, will not justify granting new trial.

People v. Peacock, 5 U. 237; 14 P. 332.

State v. Haworth, 26 P. 310; 73 P. 413.

A new trial will be granted where defendant was surprised at testimony of prosecutrix and much of her testimony was untrue.

State v. Halford, 18 U. 3; 54 P. 819.

Where, on a prosecution for homicide, defendant admitted the killing, but pleaded self-defense, and the testimony of defendant and another, the only witnesses to the occurrence, was in sharp conflict, the refusal to grant a motion for a new trial, supported by affidavits showing newly discovered evidence which could not with reasonable diligence have been discovered before the trial, and which strongly tended to corroborate defendant, was erroneous.

State v. Campbell, 25 U. 342; 71 P. 529.

Where newly discovered evidence, alleged as a ground for a new trial, established that the witness who gave the strongest evidence against defendant was mistaken in a material matter, or that his testimony was untrue, and in a counter affidavit such witness acknowledged that he had been mistaken in the particular alleged, and the evidence of defendant's guilt was unsatisfactory, it was error to deny a new trial.

State v. Edmunds, 27 U. 1; 73 P. 886.

State v. King, 27 U. 6; 73 P. 1045.

Where it is not made to appear that the testimony of non-resident witnesses would be procurable for the second trial, denial of a motion for new trial is proper.

State v. Loechner, 45 U. 621; 148 P. 363.

Affidavit showing newly discovered evidence must contain specific statements of the evidence.

Id.

After two trials of a criminal case, a new trial for newly discovered evidence to establish an alibi was properly denied for lack of diligence.

State v. Moore, 41 U. 247; 126 P. 322.

In order to authorize a new trial on the ground of newly discovered evidence, it must be so conclusive in its character as to raise a reasonable presumption that the result of the second trial would be different from the first; in granting or refusing a new trial, discretion is vested in the trial court.

State v. Montgomery, 37 U. 515; 109 P. 815.

Where a crime was committed in broad daylight and testified to by eight or nine witnesses, the granting of a motion for new trial is not justified, on affidavits showing evidence which merely corroborates the defendant's version and to some extent contradicts or modifies the statements of some of the state's witnesses.

State v. Molitz, 40 U. 443; 122 P. 876.

Where the time in which defendant boarded a street car was material, evidence alleged to be newly discovered that the power was off during the trip of the car defendant claimed to have boarded, and defendant's affidavit that the power was off while he was on the car was not ground for a new trial, the defendant having omitted to testify as to the stoppage of the car at the trial.

State v. Sirmay, 40 U. 525; 122 P. 748.

Where the evidence barely sustained a conviction for larceny of horses, the trial court abused its discretion in denying a new trial motion, largely based on cumulative affidavits, showing there was nothing suspicious in accused's connection with the horses, and that the man from whom he had innocently secured them really existed, which the sheriff had testified was not a fact.

State v. Williams, 49 U. 336; 164 P. 253.

Evidence held to establish that accused was reasonably diligent in preparing for trial after his release on bail after seven months' confinement, where he was without funds, and important witnesses lived several hundred miles distant, and subpoenas were given the sheriff to serve them, but they did not appear.

Id.

9200. (4953.) Application for new trial, how and when made. Form. The application for a new trial must be made upon written notice of motion designating the grounds upon which it is made, and must be served and filed within five days after the rendition of the verdict. If based upon any of the grounds mentioned in subs. 2, 3, 4, and 7, § 9199, the affidavits in support thereof must be served and filed within thirty days after filing the notice of motion. Am'd '03, p. 47; '15, p. 204.

Mont. Pen. C., § 2193*; Cal. Pen. C., § 1182*.

After a judgment in a criminal case has been affirmed on appeal and the case remanded, a motion for new trial based upon facts which were not passed upon by the appellate court or discovered before the appeal was taken could be entertained by the trial court, within thirty days after discovery.

State v. Morgan, 23 U. 212; 64 P. 356.

Where alleged prejudicial statements of a juror are discovered before an appeal from the conviction is taken, the motion for new trial, based on subs. 3 or 4 of § 9199, should be made within thirty days, and the appeal delayed until after the denial of the motion.

State v. Mickle, 25 U. 179; 70 P. 856.

Where the record does not show that the motion was filed and served within the prescribed time after discovery, it is not error to deny the motion.

Id.

In a prosecution for homicide it is not error for the court to refuse to permit defendant to introduce oral evidence in support of his motion for new trial.

State v. Mortensen, 26 U. 312; 73 P. 562, 633.

Where a motion for new trial, supported by affidavits, is overruled, and an appeal is taken, the transcript filed, and a second motion for new trial, supported by affidavits is filed, the lower court is without jurisdiction to pass on such motion.

State v. Carter, 52 U. —; 173 P. 459.

9201. (4954.) Motion for new trial for certain causes to be based upon affidavits. Time of hearing. A motion for a new trial, if made for any of the causes mentioned in subs, 2, 3, 4, and 7, § 9199, must be based upon affidavits which must be served and filed as provided in the next preceding section. The motion must be heard as soon as practicable, and the hearing thereof shall not be delayed longer than may be imperative. Am'd '15, p. 204.

Mont. Pen. C., § 2194*.

CHAPTER 41.

APPEALS.

9205. (4955.) Either party may appeal. Method prescribed. Either party in a criminal action may, except in cases appealed from a justice's court, appeal to the supreme court, as prescribed in this chapter.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1235*.

Appeals from district court, Con. art. 8, sec. 9, and note.

9206. (4956.) Title of action not changed on appeal. The party appealing shall be known as the appellant, and the adverse party as the respondent, but the title of the action shall not be changed in consequence of the appeal.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1235. Title not changed, civil procedure, § 6993.

9207. (4957.) From what defendant may appeal. An appeal may be taken by the defendant:

1. From a final judgment of conviction;

2. From an order made after judgment, affecting the substantial rights of the party.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1237*.
Defendant shall have the right to appeal in all cases, Con. art. 1, sec. 12.
Appeal lies from final judgments, Con. art. 8, sec. 9, and note.
Power of supreme court on appeal, §§ 6995, 9233, and note.
Orders resubmitting a case to grand jury after demurrer to indictment sustained, and refusing to discharge defendant pending such resubmission, are not appealable.
People v. Hill, 3 U. 334; 3 P. 75.
A fugitive from justice has no right to be heard upon appeal.
People v. Tremayne, 3 U. 331; 3 P. 85.
Orders forfeiting a defendant's bail, refusing to set aside such forfeiture, and directing that money deposited in lieu of bail be paid into the territorial treasury, are not appealable.
Id.
Rulings on challenges for actual bias are conclusive, and not reviewable on appeal.
People v. Hopt, 4 U. 247; 9 P. 407; 120 U. S. 430.
Where a juror is challenged for actual bias, an issue of fact is raised, and if no exception is taken to the admission or rejection of evidence upon the voir dire examination, the action of the trial court is final and conclusive, and cannot be reviewed on appeal.
People v. Thiede, 11 U. 241; 39 P. 837; affirmed 159 U. S. 510.
See note to § 8958.
Under Con. art. 24, sec. 2, § 5136, C. L. of 1888 (this section), is still in force and effect, and not being inconsistent with art. 1, sec. 12, or art. 8, sec. 9, gave defendant the right to move for new trial upon facts discovered after judgment, and to appeal from an order refusing to set aside the judgment and grant a new trial.
State v. Morgan, 23 U. 212; 64 P. 356.
Order discharging one accused of crime for want of jurisdiction is a final judgment.
State v. Booth, 21 U. 88; 59 P. 553.
State v. McKenna, 24 U. 317; 67 P. 815.
A judgment of dismissal discharging a prisoner is final, after plea to the jurisdiction, and, under Con. art. 8, sec. 9, an appeal lies on behalf of the state to the supreme court.
State v. Booth, 21 U. 88; 59 P. 553.

9208. (4958.) From what the state may appeal. An appeal may be taken by the state:

1. From a judgment for the defendant on a demurrer to the information or indictment;

2. From an order arresting judgment;

3. From an order made after judgment affecting the substantial rights of the state;

4. From an order of the court directing the jury to find for the defendant.

N. Dak. (1895) § 8329*; Cal. Pen. C., § 1238*.
Appeal by the state does not stay judgment, § 9212.
A judgment of dismissal, discharging a prisoner, in a criminal case, and releasing his bail, entered after hearing arguments on a plea to the jurisdiction of the court, is a final judgment; and under provisions of Con. art. 8, sec. 9, an appeal lies, on behalf of the state, to the supreme court.
State v. Booth, 21 U. 88; 59 P. 553.
Where the district court erred in holding that it had no authority to impanel a jury of twelve men to try defendant for a crime committed before statehood, and as the state had no right of appeal, mandamus is a proper remedy.
State ex rel. v. Hart, 19 U. 438; 57 P. 415.
Where accused, after plea and entering on the trial, was discharged on the ground that no proper preliminary examination had been entered on appeal by the state, the court can only reverse the order and judgment, and cannot determine its legal effect or direct the district court to reinstate the case and proceed to try accused.
State v. Gustaldi, 41 U. 63; 123 P. 897.

9209. (4959.) Time for taking appeal. All appeals in criminal cases must be taken within two months after the entry of the judgment appealed from. Am'd '15, p. 204.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1239*.
Appeal be heard within ninety days from appeal, and decided within thirty days from submission, § 9225.

9210. (4960.) Id. Taken by filing and serving notice. An appeal shall be taken by filing, with the clerk of the court in which the judgment or order appealed from shall have been entered or filed, a notice stating the appeal from the same, and serving a copy thereof upon the attorney of the adverse party.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1240.
An appeal in a criminal case is taken by filing the notice of appeal with the clerk of the court, and serving a copy thereof on the adverse party or his attorney.
People v. Gough, 2 U. 69.
Where the record shows the filing of a notice of appeal, but is silent as to its service, affidavits will not be received in the supreme court to show that the notice of appeal was in fact served upon the adverse party.
People v. Gough, 2 U. 69.
People v. Fennel, 4 U. 112; 7 P. 525, 648.
Dismissal for failure to serve notice of appeal.
People v. Gough, 2 U. 69.
People v. Fennel, 4 U. 112, 7 P. 525, 648.
Dismissal for failure to serve notice of appeal, civil procedure, note, § 6996.
After an appeal is perfected, the case ceases to be pending in the lower court and thereafter is deemed pending in the appellate court, until finally disposed of there.
State v. Carter, 52 U. —; 173 P. 459.

9211. (4961.) Id. Service of notice by publication. If personal service of the notice cannot be made, the judge of the court in which the action was tried, upon proof thereof, may make an order for the publication of the notice in some newspaper for a period not exceeding thirty days. Such publication shall be equivalent to personal service.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1241.

9212. (4962.) Appeal by state. Effect. An appeal taken by the state in no case shall stay or affect the operation of a judgment in favor of the defendant until judgment is reversed.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1242.

9213. (4963.) Appeal does not stay execution, unless certificate issued. An appeal to the supreme court from a judgment of conviction shall stay the execution of the judgment upon filing with the clerk of the court in which the conviction shall have been had a certificate of the judge of such court, or of a justice of the supreme court, that in his opinion there is probable cause for the appeal, but not otherwise.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1243*.
Bail on appeal, §§ 3247-9251, 9260.
Thes upreme court has no authority to order a stay in a capital case pending hearing of a writ of error from the supreme court of the United States, the sentence of the lower court having been affirmed by the supreme court of the territory.
People v. Hopt, 3 U. 404; 5 P. 565; 104 U. S. 631.

9214. (4964.) Id. Duty of sheriff if certificate filed. If the certificate provided for in the next preceding section is filed, the sheriff must, if the defendant be in his custody, upon being served with a copy thereof, keep the defendant in his custody without executing the judgment, and detain him to abide the judgment on appeal.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1244.

9215. (4965.) Id. Suspension of execution, if begun. If, before the granting of the certificate, the execution of the judgment shall have commenced, the further execution thereof shall be suspended, and upon service of a copy of such certificate the defendant must be restored, by the officer in whose custody he shall be, to his original custody.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1245*.

9216. (4966.) Clerk to transmit record on appeal. Filing. Costs. Upon the appeal being taken, the clerk with whom the notice of appeal shall have been filed must, within ten days thereafter in case the bill of exceptions has been settled before the giving of said notice, but if not, then within ten days from the settlement of the bill of exceptions if there be a bill of exceptions, without charge transmit to the clerk of the supreme court the notice of appeal, the record, and all bills of exceptions, instructions, and indorsements thereon, which shall constitute the record on appeal, and upon the receipt thereof, the clerk of the supreme court must file the same and perform the same service as in civil cases, without charge.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1246*. Cal. Sup. (1889) § 1246*, p. 482.
Papers constituting the record of the action, § 9059.
Decisions on record on appeal, civil procedure, note to § 6994.
Where the bill of exceptions does not state that it embodies all of the evidence in the case, the appellate court will presume that there was other and sufficient evidence to fully sustain the verdict.
People v. Lyman, 2 U. 30.
A bill of exceptions and statements on appeal, not certified or authenticated as required by the statute regulating appeals in criminal cases, will be stricken from the files.
People v. Idaho Bill, 2 U. 326.
Action of trial court on motion for new trial is not reviewable without a statement or bill of exceptions.
People v. Smith, 3 U. 425; 4 P. 242.
Rulings admitting and rejecting evidence and overruling motion for new trial on affidavit of newly discovered evidence cannot be reviewed on appeal unless embodied in bill of exceptions.
U. S. v. Duggins, 11 U. 430; 40 P. 707.
Where defendant's counsel waived objection made to evidence admitted, the appellate court will not consider the admissibility of such evidence.
People v. Farrell, 11 U. 414; 40 P. 703.
A defendant in a criminal prosecution is liable for costs of the printing of the brief on appeal, but not for fees payable to the clerk.
Salt Lake City v. Robinson, 39 U. 260; 116 P. 442.
Where transcript is filed nearly eight months after the settlement of the bill of exceptions, no application being made for time, the appeal will be dismissed.
State v. Grisolio, 49 U. 195; 162 P. 613.

9217. (4967.) Appeal by a defendant tried jointly. Effect. When several defendants are tried jointly, any one or more of them may take an appeal; but those who do not join in the appeal shall not be affected thereby.

Mont. Pen. C., § 2283.

CHAPTER 42.

DISMISSING APPEAL FOR IRREGULARITY.

9220. (4968.) Dismissal for substantial defect. Notice. If the appeal is irregular in any substantial particular, the supreme court may, on any day in the term, upon motion of the respondent, after five days' notice, accompanied with copies of the papers whereon the motion is founded, order it to be dismissed.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1248*.
Errors not affecting substantial rights to be disregarded, §§ 9231, 9365.
Dismissal of appeal generally, civil procedure, note to § 7009.

If record fails to show service of notice, appeal will be dismissed. Defect cannot be supplied by extrinsic evidence.
People v. Gough, 2 U. 69.
People v. Fennel, 4 U. 112; 7 P. 525, 648.

9221. (4969.) Dismissal affirms judgment. The dismissal of an appeal affirms the judgment.

N. Dak. (1895) § 8342.

9222. (4970.) Defect must be material. Irregularity corrected. New undertaking. An appeal must not be dismissed except for a material defect in the taking thereof. If an irregularity complained of is corrected in a reasonable time, the appeal shall be reinstated, and the supreme court must fix the time and direct the manner of correcting the irregularity. If an undertaking has been given which is defective in any respect, a new one may be filed on appeal in the supreme court.

N. Dak. (1895) §§ 8342, 8343*.
Harmless errors disregarded on appeal, civil procedure, note to § 6994.

CHAPTER 43.

HEARING ON APPEAL.

9225. (4971.) Appeals in criminal cases. Time for hearing. Continuance. All appeals in criminal cases must be heard within sixty days from the time of filing the record in the supreme court, and must be determined by the supreme court within ninety days from the time the case is submitted; provided, however, that the supreme court shall not be required to hear appeals during the months of July and August, but in all appeals in which the time for hearing expires within either of said last two named months, the same shall be heard in the month of September. Am'd '15, p. 204.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1252*.

9226. (4972.) Failure of parties to appear. Effect. The judgment may be affirmed if the appellant fails to appear, but shall be reversed only after argument, though the respondent fails to appear.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1253.

9227. (4973.) Argument may be restricted. Upon the argument of the appeal, if the offense is punishable with death, two counsel on each side must be heard, if they require it; in any other case the court may, in its discretion, restrict the argument to one counsel on each side.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1254.

9228. (4974.) Presence of defendant not necessary. The defendant need not personally appear in the supreme court.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1255.

CHAPTER 44.

JUDGMENT ON APPEAL.

9231. (4975.) Id. Hearing. Judgment to disregard errors not effecting a miscarriage of justice. After hearing an appeal, the court must give judgment without regard to errors or defects which have not resulted in a miscarriage of justice. If error has been committed it shall not be presumed to have resulted in a miscarriage of justice. The court must be satisfied that it has that effect before it is warranted in reversing the judgment.

Am'd '15, p. 205.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1258.

Errors and mistakes not affecting substantial rights shall be disregarded, § 9365; on appeal in civil cases, note to § 6994, and §§ 6622 and 6968, and notes.

Miscarriage of justice, under the amendment of 1915, means no more than "substantial, rights," which was the test of prejudicial error prior to that time.

State v. Cluff, 48 U. 102; 158 P. 701.

Accused on appeal cannot complain that the witness's former statements were not wholly withdrawn from the jury, where his own requests on that point were substantially given.

State v. Inlow, 44 U. 485; 141 P. 530.

The erroneous admission of evidence is not prejudicial where it was stricken from the record and the jury admonished to disregard it.

Id.

Misconduct of state's attorney in arguing that the defendant should have produced certain evidence is harmless, where the court admonished the jury that their verdict must be based upon the evidence, and not upon statements of counsel.

Id.

Failure of the court in a homicide case, in giving forms of verdicts, to give a form recommending life imprisonment is harmless, where the court instructed and explained that the jury had the right to make such recommendation.

State v. Romeo, 42 U. 46, 128 P. 530.

Where, without controversy, the victim was killed by a 38 caliber revolver, the admission of the opinion in evidence to that effect of a medical witness not properly qualified on the subject, is harmless.

State v. Hillstrom, 46 U. 341; 150 P. 935.

The giving of an instruction on the credibility of a witness was harmless where the defendant was the only witness in his own behalf, and the only controversy was as to whether the shooting was intentional or accidental.

State v. Morris, 40 U. 431; 122 P. 380.

Where the evidence conclusively showed the defendant's guilt, the court's failure to define domestic family remedies, being error in defendant's favor, was harmless.

State v. Yee Foo Lun, 45 U. 531; 147 P. 488.

The fact that information alleged that the name of a woman with whom accused was convicted of having committed fornication was "Verda," when her name was "Beatea M.," is not prejudicial, where the identity of the woman was established.

State v. Chipman, 40 U. 549; 123 P. 89.

This section does not abolish the presumption that error depriving the accused of substantial rights is prejudicial.

State v. Cluff, 48 U. 102; 158 P. 701.

An instruction that when a person is charged with the commission of a crime the law presumes that he is a man of "average" character, the use of the word "average" in place of the usual adjective "good" was not prejudicial.

State v. Mewhinney, 43 U. 135; 134 P. 632.

In a prosecution for violating § 8162, denouncing the offense of conducting games of chance, the accused cannot complain that the court and prosecuting attorney treated the prosecution as one for conducting a regular gambling house and required proof to that effect, the error being harmless.

State v. Poulis, 45 U. 340; 145 P. 1044.

9232. (4976.) Intermediate orders, etc., reviewed on appeal from judgment. Upon an appeal taken by the defendant from a judgment, the court may review any intermediate order or ruling involving the merits or which may have affected the judgment.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1259.

9233. (4977.) Power of supreme court on appeal. The court may reverse, affirm, or modify the judgment or order appealed from, and may set aside, affirm, or modify any or all the proceedings, subsequent to or dependent upon such judgment or order, and may, if proper, order a new trial.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1260.

Power of supreme court on appeal, Con. art. 8, sec. 9, and note; § 6995, and note.

Supreme court may reduce excessive fine.

People v. Reggel, 8 U. 21; 28 P. 955.

Appellate court will not interfere with the verdict of a jury in a criminal case if there is any evidence to support it.

State v. Endlsey, 19 U. 478; 57 P. 430.

State v. Clark, 27 U. 55; 74 P. 119.

State v. LaChall, 28 U. 80; 77 P. 3.

State v. Montgomery, 37 U. 515; 109 P. 815.

Where there is no evidence to sustain a verdict in a criminal case, it is error to submit the case to the jury.

State v. Gordon, 28 U. 15; 76 P. 882.

State v. Hutchings, 30 U. 319; 84 P. 893.

Where a defendant was convicted and sentenced for a felony, whereas the offense was only a misdemeanor, the court could set aside the sentence and remand it for resentence.

State v. Carman, 44 U. 352; 140 P. 670.

9234. (4978.) New trial must be had in same court. Procedure. When a new trial is ordered, it must be directed that it be had in the district court of the county from which the appeal shall have been taken. All cases in which new trials are ordered shall take precedence over criminal cases in which no trial has been had. Am'd '15, p. 205.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1261.

All criminal business arising in a county must be tried there unless a change of venue be taken, Con. art. 8, sec. 5.

9235. (4979.) Reversal of judgment. Discharge of defendant. If a judgment against the defendant is reversed without ordering a new trial, the supreme court must, if he is in custody, direct that he be discharged therefrom; or if on bail, that his bail be exonerated; or if money shall have been deposited instead of bail, that it be refunded to the defendant.

Cal. Pen C., § 1262.

9236. (4980.) Affirmance of judgment. Enforcement. If a judgment against the defendant is affirmed, the original judgment must be enforced.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1263.

9237. (4981.) Entry of judgment. Papers remitted to court below. When the judgment of the supreme court shall have been given, it must be entered on the minutes, and a certified copy of the entry, together with the papers transmitted to the supreme court on appeal, forthwith remitted to the clerk of the court from which the appeal shall have been taken.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1264*.
Remittitur, civil procedure, § 7013, and note.
A decision of the supreme court on appeal in a criminal case is the law of the case on a subsequent trial.
State v. Vance, 39 U. 602; 119 P. 309.
Also, on a subsequent appeal.
State v. Mewhinney, 44 U. 231; 139 P. 862.

9238. (4982.) After remittitur, district court has jurisdiction. After the certificate of the judgment shall have been remitted to the court below, the supreme court shall have no further jurisdiction of the appeal or of the proceedings thereon, and all orders necessary to carry the judgment into effect must be made by the court to which the certificate shall have been remitted.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1265.

CHAPTER 45.

BAIL.

9243. (4983.) Admission to bail defined. Admission to bail shall be by an order of a competent court, magistrate, or legally authorized officer, that the defendant be discharged from actual custody upon bail.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1268*.

9244. (4984.) Bail, how taken. The taking of bail shall consist in the acceptance by a competent court, magistrate, or a legally authorized officer, of the undertaking with sufficient sureties for the appearance of the defendant according to the terms of the undertaking, or that the sureties will pay to the state a specified sum if he does not appear.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1269*.
Form of bond; qualifications of sureties, §§ 9255-9257.

9245. (4985.) Bail in capital cases taken by whom and when. A defendant charged with an offense punishable with death may be admitted to bail only by a judge of the supreme or district court. When, however, the proof of his guilt is evident or the presumption strong, bail shall not be taken. The filing of an information or the finding of an indictment shall not add to the strength of the proof or the presumption to be drawn therefrom.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1270*. Bail in capital cases, Con. art. 1, sec. 8.

9246. (4986.) Bail a matter of right in case other than capital. If the charge is for any other offense, he may be admitted to bail before conviction, as a matter of right.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1271.
Bail as a matter of right in other than capital cases, Con. art. 1, sec. 8.

9247. (4987.) Bail on appeal after conviction. Discretionary, when. After conviction of an offense not punishable with death, a defendant who shall have appealed may be admitted to bail:

1. As a matter of right, when the appeal is from a judgment imposing a fine only;

2. As a matter of discretion in all other cases.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1272.

9248. (4988.) Bail before conviction. Bail on appeal. If the offense is bailable, the defendant may be admitted to bail:

Before conviction—

1. For his appearance before the magistrate on the examination of the charge, before being held to answer;

2. To appear at the court to which the magistrate shall be required to return the complaint, upon the defendant being held to answer after examination;

3. After information filed or indictment found, either before warrant is issued for his arrest or upon any order of the court committing him or enlarging the amount of bail, or upon his being surrendered by his bail to answer the information or indictment in the court in which it is filed or found, or to which it may have been transferred for trial;

After conviction and upon an appeal—

1. If the appeal is from a judgment imposing a fine only, on an undertaking of bail that he will pay the same or such part thereof as the appellate court may direct, if the judgment is affirmed or modified, or the appeal is dismissed;

2. If judgment of imprisonment shall have been given, that he will surrender himself in execution of the judgment, upon its being affirmed or modified, or upon the appeal being dismissed, or that, in case the judgment is reversed and the cause remanded for a new trial, he will appear in the court to which said cause may be remanded, and submit himself to the orders and process thereof.

N. Dak. (1895) § 8448; Cal. Pen. C., § 1273*.
Who may admit to bail on appeal, § 9260.
Where a territorial statute provides that, in criminal actions, a defendant who has appealed from a judgment imposing a fine may be admitted to bail as a matter of right, and as a matter of discretion in all other cases on an appeal from a judgment inflicting both fine and imprisonment, he is not entitled to be admitted to bail as a matter of right, but only in the discretion of the court. A certificate of probable cause under a statute did not necessarily carry with it the right to bail nor deprive the court of all discretion in the premises.
Clawson v. U. S., 113 U. S. 143; 4 U. 34; 5 P. 689.
Where the defendant is in default for failing to appear for arraignment in the district court, the bondsmen are liable.
State v. Sorenson, 48 U. 663; 160 P. 1181.

9249. (4989.) Notice to district attorney of application for bail. When the admission to bail is a matter of discretion, the court or officer to whom the application shall be made must require reasonable notice thereof to be given to the district attorney. Am'd '01, p. 8.

9250. (4990.) Bail fixed when information or indictment filed. Entry. When the offense charged is not punishable with death, the court at the time the indictment is presented and filed, or information filed, must make an order, to be entered in the minutes, fixing the amount in which the defendant may be admitted to bail, unless the court indorse such order on the warrant.

Mont. Pen. C., § 2360.

9251. (4991.) Id. Indorsement on warrant. When the order fixing the amount of bail is entered in the minutes, the clerk must indorse the same on the warrant.

Mont. Pen. C., § 2361.

9252. (4992.) What magistrate to admit to bail. Except as otherwise provided in capital cases, a defendant held to answer upon an examination for a public offense may be admitted to bail by the magistrate by whom he is so held, or by any magistrate who has power to issue the writ of habeas corpus.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1277*.
Bail on preliminary examination, §§ 8755-8758.
Bail on arrest, taken before justice, §§ 8696-8705.

9253. (4993.) Bail in cases not capital. Duty of officer. When the offense charged in the information or indictment is not punishable with death, the officer serving the warrant must, if required, take the defendant before a magistrate in the county in which it shall have been issued, or in which he is arrested, for the purpose of giving bail.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1284*.
Bail as a matter of right in other than capital cases, Con. art. 1, sec. 8; § 9246.

9254. (4994.) Capital cases. Duty of arresting officer. If the offense charged in the information or indictment is punishable with death, the officer arresting the defendant must deliver him into custody, according to the command of the warrant; and when the defendant shall have been so delivered, he must be held by the sheriff, unless admitted to bail on examination upon a writ of habeas corpus, or upon a motion to the court in which the action is pending, or the judge thereof.

Cal. Pen. C., §§ 1285, 1286*.
Bail in capital cases, Con. art. 1, sec. 8; § 9245.

9255. (4995.) Form of undertaking of bail. Bail must be put in by written undertaking, executed by at least two sufficient sureties (with or without the defendant, in the discretion of the magistrate), and duly acknowledged, in substantially the following form:

An order having been made on the ..... day of ....., 19....., by ..... justice of the peace of ..... county (or an information having been filed or an indictment having been found on the ..... day of ....., 19....., in the district court of the county of .....), that ..... be held to answer upon a charge of (stating briefly the nature of the offense), or (as the case may be), charging (name of defendant) with the crime of (designating it generally) and he having been admitted to bail in the sum of ..... dollars;

Now, therefore, we, ... and ..... (as the fact may be), of (stating their place of residence), jointly and severally hereby undertake that the above named (naming the defendant) will appear and answer the charge above mentioned (or the information or indictment above mentioned, as the case may be), in whatever court it may be presented, and will at all times hold (or surrender) himself amenable to the orders and process of the court, and, if convicted, will appear for judgment, and render himself in execution thereof, or, if he fails to perform either of these conditions, that he will pay to the state of Utah the sum of ..... dollars (inserting the sum in which the defendant shall be admitted to bail).

Cal. Pen. C., § 1278*.
Recognizance is sufficient as to description of the offense if the offense is described in language of the statute.
U. S. v. Eldredge, 5 U. 161; 13 P. 673.

9256. (4996.) Id. Qualifications of sureties. The qualifications of bail shall be as follows:

1. Each of them must be a resident householder or freeholder within this state; but the court or magistrate may refuse to accept any person as bail who shall not be a resident of the county where bail is offered;

2. They must each be worth the amount specified in the undertaking, exclusive of property exempt from execution; but the court or magistrate, on taking bail, may allow more than two sureties to justify severally in amounts less than that expressed in the undertaking, if the whole justification is equivalent to that of sufficient bail.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1279.

9257. (4997.) Id. Justification of sureties. The bail must in all cases justify by affidavit taken before the magistrate that they each possess the qualifications provided in the next preceding section. The magistrate may further examine the bail upon oath concerning their sufficiency, in such manner as he may deem proper.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1280.

9258. (4998.) Discharge of defendant on giving bail. Upon the allowance of bail and the execution of the undertaking, the magistrate must, if the defendant is in custody, make and sign an order for his discharge, upon the delivery of which to the proper officer the defendant must be discharged.

Cal. P., C., § 1281.

9259. (4999.) Increase or reduction of bail. Notice. After a defendant shall have been admitted to bail upon an information or indictment, the court in which the charge is pending may, upon good cause shown, either increase or reduce the amount of bail. If the amount is increased, the court may order the defendant to be committed to actual custody, unless he gives bail in such increased amount. If application is made by the defendant for a reduction of the amount, notice of the application must be served upon the county attorney.

Mont. Pen. C., § 2366.

BAIL ON APPEAL

9260. (5000.) Who may admit to bail on appeal. Qualifications of sureties. In cases in which the defendant may be admitted to bail upon an appeal, the order admitting him to bail may be made by any magistrate having the power to issue a writ of habeas corpus, or by the magistrate before whom the trial was had. The bail must possess the qualifications, and must be put in, in all respects as provided in other cases of bail, except that the undertaking must be conditioned as prescribed in § 9248 for undertakings of bail on appeal.

Cal. Pen. C., §§ 1291, 1292. Bail on appeal, § 9248.
Qualifications of bail, § 9256.

DEPOSIT INSTEAD OF BAIL.

9261. (5001.) Deposit may be made instead of bail. The defendant, at any time after an order admitting him to bail, instead of giving bail may deposit with the magistrate or with the clerk of the court in which he shall be held to answer the sum mentioned in the order, and upon delivering to the officer in whose custody he is a certificate of the deposit, he must be discharged from custody.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1295*.

9262. (5002.) Substitution of deposit for undertaking. If the defendant shall have given bail, he may, at any time before the forfeiture of the undertaking, in like manner deposit the sum mentioned therein, and upon the deposit being made, the bail shall be exonerated.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1296.

9263. (5003.) Disposition of forfeited deposit for fine. When money shall have been deposited, if it remains on deposit at the time of a judgment for the payment of a fine, the clerk must, under the direction of the court, apply the money in satisfaction thereof, and after satisfying the fine and costs, must refund the surplus, if any, to the defendant.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1297.

SURRENDER OF DEFENDANT.

9264. (5004.) Surrender, personal or by bail. Procedure. At any time before the forfeiture of their undertaking, the bail may surrender the defendant in their exoneration, or he may surrender himself to the officer to whose custody he shall have been committed at the time of giving bail, in the following manner:

1. A certified copy of the undertaking of bail must be delivered to the officer, who must detain the defendant in his custody thereon, as upon the commitment, and by a certificate in writing acknowledge the surrender;

2. Upon the undertaking and the certificate of the officer, the court in which the action or appeal is pending may, upon notice of five days to the county attorney, with a copy of the undertaking and certificate, order that the bail be exonerated, and on filing the order and the papers used on the application, they shall be exonerated accordingly.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1300.

9265. (5005.) Arrest of defendant by bail. For the purpose of surrendering the defendant, the bail, at any time before they shall be finally discharged, and at any place within the state, may themselves arrest him, or by written authority indorsed on a certified copy of the undertaking, may empower any person of suitable age and discretion to do so.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1301.

9266. (5006.) Surrender releases deposit. If money shall have been deposited instead of bail, and the defendant, at any time before the forfeiture thereof, surrenders himself to the officer to whom the commitment was directed, in the manner provided in the two next preceding sections, the court must order a return of the deposit to the defendant, upon producing the certificate of the officer showing the surrender, and upon a notice of five days to the county attorney, with a copy of the certificate.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1302.

FORFEITURE OF BAIL.

9267. (5007.) Forfeiture of bail by non-appearance. Satisfactory excuse. If, without sufficient excuse, the defendant neglects to appear for arraignment or for trial or judgment, or upon any other occasion when his presence in court may be lawfully required, or to surrender himself in execution of the judgment, the court must direct the fact to be entered upon its minutes, and the undertaking of bail, or the money deposited instead of bail, as the case may be, shall thereupon be declared forfeited. But if at any time before the final judgment of the court, the defendant or his bail appears and satisfactorily excuses his neglect, the court may direct the forfeiture of the undertaking or the deposit to be discharged upon such terms as may be just.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1305.

A defendant who has forfeited his bail and remains a fugitive from justice has no right to be heard on appeal.

People v. Tremayne, 3 U. 331; 3 P. 85.

Sureties on forfeited undertaking of bail who do not apply to have forfeiture set aside hereunder, thereby waive informalities of which they might have availed themselves in that manner.

U. S. v. Eldredge, 5 U. 161, 13 P. 673.

Denial of motion of sureties on a bail bond to set aside the judgment, or an order of forfeiture thereof, precludes them from attacking the validity of such order or judgment of forfeiture in an action to recover on their recognizance.

State v. Sorenson, 48 U. 663; 160 P. 1181.

The fact that such neglect was "without sufficient cause" need not be entered on the minutes.

Id.

9268. (5008.) Forfeiture. Action against bail. If the forfeiture is not discharged as provided in the next preceding section, the county attorney may, at any time after the adjournment of the court, proceed by action only against the bail upon their undertaking.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1306.

District attorney to examine into sufficiency of bonds and to bring actions to recover on same, §§ 5761, 5763.

A contention in an action on a bail bond given by one charged with abortion that no such crime was known to the law of the state was, under provisions of this section, without merit.

State v. Davis, 27 U. 368; 75 P. 857.

A complaint in an action on a bail bond was not insufficient because it failed to allege the filing of the bond.

Id.

An undertaking on appeal from a conviction, conditional that defendant will surrender himself in execution of the judgment on its being affirmed or modified, or the appeal being dismissed, or the judgment being reversed and the cause remanded for new trial, is not violated by defendant's failure to appear, after judgment was reversed, on the ground that the trial court did not have jurisdiction, and the cause was remanded to be disposed of according to law.

State v. Candland, 25 U. 172; 70 P. 403.

See People v. Tremayne, 3 U. 331; 3 P. 85.

9269. (5009.) Disposition of forfeited deposit. If, by reason of the neglect of the defendant to appear, money deposited instead of bail is forfeited, and the forfeiture is not discharged or remitted, the clerk with whom it is deposited must, immediately after the final adjournment of the court, pay over the money deposited to the state treasurer. If bail be given in a justice's court for the appearance of a defendant in a case triable therein, the same if forfeited shall be paid by such justice into the county treasury.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1307*.

9270. (5010.) Arrest when bail forfeited or insufficient. When bail, or money deposited instead thereof, has been forfeited, or the bail has become insufficient, the court may issue an order for the arrest of the defendant, setting forth the reasons therefor, and the provisions of this chapter as to the original taking of bail shall thereupon be applicable.

N. Dak. (1895) § 8458*.

CHAPTER 46.

WITNESSES AND EVIDENCE.

9275. (5011.) Competency of witnesses determined by rules in civil cases. Exception. The rules for determining the competency of witnesses in civil actions shall be applicable also to criminal actions and proceedings, except as otherwise provided in this code.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1321.

Witnesses, etc., civil procedure, §§ 7122-7125.

Subpoena, issuance, service, etc., §§ 9284-9293.

Competency, credibility, etc., of witnesses, §§ 7122, 7123, and notes.

A statute which simply enlarges the class of persons competent to testify is not ex post facto as to offenses previously committed; such alterations relate to procedure only, which the state may regulate at pleasure, and in which no one can be said to have a vested right.

Hopt v. People, 110 U. S. 574.

Same case, 4 U. 247; 9 P. 407.

9276. (5012.) Rules of evidence same as in civil cases. Exception. The rules of evidence in civil actions shall be applicable also to criminal actions, except as otherwise provided in this code.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1102.
Evidence, civil procedure, §§ 7076-7118.
Privileged communications, § 7124, and note.
Rights and duties of witnesses, §§ 7140, 7146.
Examination of witnesses, burden of proof, etc., note to § 8975.

9277. (5013.) Reported testimony used on subsequent trial, when. Whenever, in any court of record, the testimony of any witness in any criminal case shall be stenographically reported by an official court stenographer, and thereafter such witness shall die, or be beyond the jurisdiction of the court in which the cause is pending, either party to the record may read in evidence the testimony of said witness, when duly certified by the stenographer to be correct, in any subsequent trial of or proceeding had in the same cause, subject only to the same objection that might be made if said witness were upon the stand and testifying in open court.

Use on trial of testimony taken in preliminary examinations, § 8553, and note.

If a witness is wrongfully kept away by the prisoner, his testimony taken on a former trial of the prisoner for the same offense, but under another indictment, may be given in evidence. The finding of the trial court that the witness was thus wrongfully kept away should not be disturbed unless the error is manifest.

U. S. v. Reynolds, 1 U. 319; affirmed 98 U. S. 145.

Upon a prosecution before a district court on appeal from a justice's court, evidence of what a witness testified to before the justice, where the witness is not produced, and no attempt made to produce him, is inadmissible.

Provo City v. Shurtliff, 4 U. 15; 5 P. 302.

This section does not conflict with Con. art. 1, sec. 13, giving accused the right to be confronted by witnesses against him.

State v. Greene, 38 U. 389; 115 P. 181.

9278. (5014.) Husband and wife incompetent witnesses. Exception. Except with the consent of both, or in case of criminal violence upon one by the other, or in case of crimes defined in the chapter relating to pandering (§§ 8095-8101) and in §§ 8112-8115, making it a misdemeanor to abandon or wilfully neglect to provide for the support and maintenance by any person of his wife or his or her minor child or children in destitute or necessitous circumstances, neither husband nor wife shall be a competent witness for or against the other in a criminal action or proceeding to which one or both shall be parties. Am'd '09, p. 34; '11, p. 151.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1322.
Abandonment of wife and children, § 8112.
Pandering, §§ 8095-8101.
Charge, § 8101.

Husband not compelled to testify against wife or wife against husband, Con. art. 1, sec. 12; § 8555; in civil cases, § 7124, and note.

The alleged second wife can be admitted to testify as to the second marriage, notwithstanding the prior marriage of defendant with another woman, who has been shown only by the admissions of the defendant.

U. S. v. Miles, 2 U. 19; reversed 103 U. S. 304.

It is only in cases where the first marriage is not controverted or has been duly established by other evidence that the second wife is allowed to testify, and she can then be a witness to the second marriage and not to the first.

Id.

This section applies even where party under indictment married a woman before trial to render her incompetent.

U. S. v. White, 4 U. 499; 11 P. 570.

Under § 1156, Code of Civil Procedure (1884, p. 359), permitting a husband or wife to testify in a criminal action for a crime committed by the one against the other, the wife is a competent witness against her husband before a grand jury which indicted him for polygamy.

U. S. v. Cutler, 5 U. 608; 19 P. 145.

In a prosecution for polygamy, the wife is a competent witness against her husband, notwithstanding his objection, since polygamy is a crime against her.

U. S. v. Bassett, 5 U. 131; 13 P. 237; overruled, 137 U. S. 496.

Under section 1, Edmunds-Tucker law, 24 Stat. 635, providing that the lawful husband or wife of the person accused shall be a competent witness, but shall not be compelled to testify, the privilege is a personal one of such witness.

Ex parte Hendrickson, 6 U. 3; 21 P. 396.

But where the witness was asked whether the accused did not marry another woman on the same day; held, on habeas corpus, that the question was material in order to determine the validity of witness' claim of privilege, and that an answer might be enforced.

Id.

9279. (5015.) Defendant's failure to testify not to prejudice him. Cross-examination of defendant. If a defendant offers himself as a witness, he may be cross-examined by the counsel for the state the same as any other witness. His neglect or refusal to be a witness shall not in any manner prejudice him, nor be used against him on the trial or proceeding.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1323*.
Accused shall not be compelled to give evidence against himself, Con. art. 1, sec. 12; § 8555.
Witness' privilege in certain cases, civil procedure, § 7141, and note.
Recent possession of stolen property, note to § 8285.

Where defendant testifies, the court may call jury's attention to his interest in the result of the trial, provided his credibility and the weight of his evidence be left to the judgment of the jury.

People v. Callaghan, 4 U. 49; 6 P. 49.

Counsel for prosecution stated to jury that certain testimony stood uncontradicted, and that it was in defendant's power to explain it, but did not say how he could explain it; held, no error hereunder.

People v. McGrath, 5 U. 525; 17 P. 116.

Under this section, the fact that defendant makes no explanation of his possession of stolen property six hours after its being taken raises no presumption against him.

People v. Hart, 10 U. 204; 37 P. 330.
On cross-examination a witness may be questioned concerning his past life, and much latitude of inquiry should be permitted, even if attended with humiliation and disgrace to the witness, to enable the jury to judge of his credibility.
People v. Hite, 8 U. 461; 33 P. 254.
A defendant, as a witness, is subject to the same cross-examination regarding his past life and actions as any other witness.
People v. Hite, 8 U. 461; 33 P. 254.
People v. Larsen, 10 U. 143; 37 P. 252.
State v. Thorne, 39 U. 208; 117 P. 58.
He may be required to answer as to whether he has been convicted of a crime, but the question as to whether he has committed a crime, is privileged.
State v. Shockley, 29 U. 25; 80 P. 865.
State v. Thorne, 39 U. 208; 117 P. 58.
Where he fails to deny some points, he is subject to the same rule as other witnesses.
State v. Mattivi, 39 U. 334; 117 P. 31.
Defendant, a witness, places his general character for truth and veracity in issue, but not his character for honesty and integrity, unless he voluntarily places these in issue.
State v. Marks, 16 U. 204; 51 P. 1089.
The defendant, without some proof tending to rebut proven facts within his knowledge, may not avoid the natural and usual inferences deducible from them, by merely declining to take the stand.
State v. Hillstrom, 46 U. 341; 150 P. 935.
Where the defendant in chief did not testify touching the charge of his beating the deceased, requiring him to answer questions on cross-examination relating to conversations and statements respecting the beating, and deceased's condition attributable thereto, is error.
State v. Vance, 38 U. 1; 110 P. 434.
After a defendant witness' claim of privilege is upheld by the court, it is error to allow the prosecuting attorney to further inquire into his reason for declining to answer and to compel him to state that, if he did answer, his answer would incriminate him in the commission of another crime.
State v. Thorne, 39 U. 208; 177 P. 58.
While it was proper cross-examination to require accused to take a gun to show how he used it on the occasion in question, compelling accused to put on a pair of everalls and a half handkerchief used as a mask in an act of homicide, is error.
Id.
In a prosecution for rape it is error in a cross-examination of the accused to compel him, over objection, to answer questions conveying the idea that he had permitted other children to call at his home in order that he might ravish them.
State v. Williams, 36 U. 273; 103 P. 250.
In a prosecution for assault with intent to murder an officer, where defendant testified that he thought the officer was the husband of the woman in whose cabin he was at the time, and that the husband had come to kill the woman and defendant, as he had threatened to do, the defendant may be cross-examined as to his previous relations with the woman to test his credibility, in the absence of any claim by him that the question tended to degrade him.
State v. Williams, 49 U. 320; 163 P. 1104.

9280. (5016.) Testimony of a witness for another not to be used against him. When two or more persons are jointly, or otherwise, concerned in the commission of an offense, any one of such persons may testify for or against the other in relation to the offense committed, but the testimony of such witness must not be used against him in any criminal action or proceeding.

Joint defendants, trial, etc., §§ 8836, 8980, 9026.

CHAPTER 47.

SUBPŒNAS.

9284. (5017.) Subpœna defined. Who may issue. The process by which the attendance of witnesses before a court or magistrate is required is a subpœna; it may be signed and issued by:

1. A magistrate before whom a complaint shall be made, for witnesses in the state, either on behalf of the state or of the defendant; or,

2. The county attorney or district attorney, for witnesses in the state, in support of the prosecution, or for such other witnesses as the grand jury, upon an investigation pending before them, may direct; or,

3. The county attorney or district attorney, for witnesses in the state, in support of an information or indictment, to appear before the court in which it is to be tried; or,

4. The clerk of the court in which an information or indictment is to be tried; and he must, at any time, upon application of the defendant and without charge, issue as many blank subpœnas, subscribed by him as clerk, for witnesses in the state, as the defendant may require. Am'd '01, p. 10.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1326*. Subpoenas and witnesses, civil procedure, §§ 7127-7151.
Fees of witnesses, certificates, etc., §§ 2543-2548.

9285. (5018.) Id. Form of direction when books, etc., required. A subpœna must be substantially in the following form:

The state of Utah to A B: You are commanded to appear before C D, a justice of the peace of ..... precinct, in ..... county (or as the case may be), at (naming the place) on (stating the day and hour), as a witness in a criminal action prosecuted by the state of Utah against E F. Given under my hand this ..... day of ..... A. D. 19.....

G H, Justice of the Peace.

(or J K, county attorney, or by order of the court, L M, clerk, or as the case may be).

If books, papers, or documents are required, a direction to the following effect must be contained in the subpœna. "And you are required also to bring with you the following: (describing intelligently the books, papers, or documents required)."

Cal. Pen. C., § 1327*.

9286. (5019.) By whom served. Officer's duty. Service by mail. A subpœna may be served by any person over the age of twenty-one years. A peace officer must serve in his county any subpœna delivered to him for service for witnesses for the state or for witnesses for a defendant summoned at the expense of the state. Subpœnas shall be served by the sheriff by mail in the manner provided by law for the summoning of trial jurors, or by personal service of the same.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1328*.
When witnesses subpoenaed for defendant at the expense of the state, § 2555.
Service of subpoena, civil procedure, § 7129.
Serving jurors by mail, §§ 3615-3617.
Service of subpoena by telegraph or telephone, § 7032.

9287. (5020.) Personal service, how made. Personal service of a subpœna shall be made by showing the original to the witness personally, and notifying him of its contents.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1328*.
Similar provision, civil procedure, § 7129.

9288. (5021.) Return of subpœna. Written return of service of a subpœna must be made without delay, stating the time and place of service.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1328*.

9289. (5022.) Witness out of county obliged to attend, when. Procedure. No person shall be obliged to attend as a witness before a court or magistrate out of the county where the witness shall reside, or be served with the subpœna, unless the judge of the court in which the offense is triable, or a magistrate, upon an affidavit of the county attorney or prosecutor, or of the defendant or his counsel, showing the evidence of the witness to be material and his attendance at the examination or trial necessary, shall indorse on the subpœna an order for the attendance of the witness.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1330*.
Witness in civil case not required to attend out of county, unless, § 7131.

9290. (5023.) Subpœna for interpreter. Oath of. The court or magistrate may cause to be issued a subpœna requiring any competent person to appear before the court at or during a trial or proceeding and act as interpreter. Such interpreter must be sworn to the effect that he will well and truly, to the best of his ability, discharge the duties of interpreter, under the direction of the court. The manner of compelling compliance on the part of the interpreter shall be the same as that provided in the case of witnesses.

Fee of interpreter, § 2558.
Juror may act as interpreter.
People v. Thiede, 11 U. 241; 39 P. 837; affirmed 159 U. S. 510.

9291. (5024.) Disobedience of witness is a contempt. Excuse. Disobedience to a subpœna, or a refusal to be sworn or to testify as a witness, may be punished by the court or magistrate as a contempt, unless in case of disobedience to a subpœna he can show good cause for his non-attendance.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1331*.
Similar provision, civil procedure, § 7133.

9292. (5025.) Forfeiture of bond of witness. When a witness shall have entered into an undertaking to appear, upon his failure to do so, the undertaking shall be forfeited in the same manner as undertakings of bail.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1332.
Forfeiture of bail, § 9267.

9293. (5026.) When witness is a prisoner. Order. When a person required as a witness before a district court is imprisoned, the judge thereof may order the sheriff to bring the prisoner before such court at the expense of the state or of the defendant, as the case may be.

Mont. Pen. C., § 2467*.
Procedure on civil trial, § 7137.

CHAPTER 48.

EXAMINATION OF WITNESSES CONDITIONALLY.

9297. (5027.) Examination of witness for defense. Method prescribed. When a defendant has been held to answer a charge for a public offense, he may, either before or after an indictment or information, have witnesses examined conditionally, on his behalf, as prescribed in this chapter, and not otherwise.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1335. Testimony of witness on preliminary may be taken in writing, use as evidence, §§ 8765-8767. Examination of witness residing out of state, §§ 9310-9323.

9298. (5028.) Id. When application may be made. When a material witness for the defendant is about to leave the state, or is so sick or infirm as to afford reasonable grounds for apprehending that he will be unable to attend the trial, the defendant may apply for an order that the witness be examined conditionally.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1336.

9299. (5029.) Application upon affidavit. Contents. The application must be made upon affidavit, stating:

1. The nature of the offense charged;
2. The state of the proceedings in the action;
3. The name and residence of the witness, and that his testimony is material to the defense of the action;
4. That the witness is about to leave the state, or is so sick or infirm as to afford reasonable grounds for apprehending that he will be unable to at-attend the trial.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1337.

9300. (5030.) Application made at any time. Notice. The application may be made to the court during the term thereof, or to the judge in vacation, and must be upon three days' notice to the county attorney.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1338*.

9301. (5031.) When order granted. Service on district attorney. If the court or judge is satisfied that the examination of witnesses is necessary, an order must be made that the witness be examined conditionally, at a specified time and place, and that a copy of the order be served on the district attorney, within a specified time before that fixed for the examination. Am'd '01, p. 11.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1339*.

9302. (5032.) Examination of witness before magistrate. The order must direct that the examination be taken before a magistrate named therein, and on proof being furnished to such magistrate of service upon the county attorney of a copy of the order, if no counsel appear on the part of the state, the examination must proceed.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1340.

9303. (5033.) Id. May be stayed, when. If the county attorney, or other counsel appear on behalf of the state, and it is shown to the satisfaction of the magistrate, by affidavit or other proof, or on the examination of the witness, that he is not about to leave the state, or is not sick or infirm, or that the application was made to avoid the examination of the witness on the trial, the examination cannot take place; otherwise it must proceed.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1341.

9304. (5034.) Subpœna for witness. The attendance of the witness may be enforced by a subpœna, issued by the magistrate before whom the examination is to be taken.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1342.

9305. (5035.) Testimony reduced to writing and authenticated. The testimony given by the witness must be reduced to writing, and authenticated in the same manner as a deposition in a civil action.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1343*.

9306. (5036.) Id. Sealed and sent to district court. The deposition taken must, by the magistrate, be sealed up and transmitted to the clerk of the court in which the action is pending, or may come for trial.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1344.

9307. (5037.) Id. Use on trial. Objections. The deposition, or a certified copy thereof, may be read in evidence by either party on the trial, upon its appearing that the witness is unable to attend, by reason of his death, insanity, sickness, or infirmity, or of his continued absence from the state. Upon reading the deposition in evidence, the same objections may be taken to a question or answer contained therein as if the witness had been examined orally in court.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1345.

CHAPTER 49.

EXAMINATION OF WITNESSES ON COMMISSION.

9310. (5038.) Non-resident witness examined for defense. Procedure. When an issue of fact is joined upon an information or indictment, or before, if the court so order, the defendant may have any material witness, residing out of the state, examined in his behalf, as prescribed in this chapter, and not otherwise.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1349*.
Testimony of witnesses on preliminary may be taken in writing, use as evidence, §§ 8765-8767.
Taking depositions, civil procedure, §§ 7163-7188.
Examination of witness residing in the state, §§ 9297-9307.

9311. (5039.) Id. Application for order. When a material witness for the defendant shall reside out of the state, the defendant may apply for an order that the witness be examined on a commission.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1350.

9312. (5040.) Commission defined. A commission is a process issued under the seal of the court, and the signature of the clerk, directed to some person designated as commissioner, authorizing him to examine the witness upon oath on interrogatories annexed thereto, to take and certify the deposition of the witness, and to return it according to the directions given with the commission.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1351.

9313. (5041.) Application must be made on affidavit. Contents. The application must be made upon affidavit, stating:

1. The nature of the offense charged;
2. The state of the proceedings in the action;
3. The name of the witness, and that his testimony is material to the defense of the action;
4. That the witness resides out of the state.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1352*.

9314. (5042.) Application may be made at any time. Notice. The application may be made to the court during the term, or to the judge in vacation, and must be upon three days' notice to the county attorney.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1353*.

9315. (5043.) When order for commission granted. Stay of trial. If the court or judge to whom the application is made is satisfied of the truth of the facts stated, and that the examination of the witness is necessary to the attainment of justice, an order must be made that a commission be issued to take his testimony; and the court or judge may insert in the order a direction that the trial be stayed for a specified time, reasonably sufficient for the execution and return of the commission.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1354.

9316. (5044.) Interrogatories and cross-interrogatories, settlement of. When the commission is ordered, the defendant must serve upon the county attorney without delay a copy of the interrogatories to be annexed thereto, with two days' notice of the time at which they will be presented to the court or judge. The county attorney may in like manner serve upon the defendant or his counsel cross-interrogatories, to be annexed to the commission, with the like notice. In the interrogatories either party may insert any question pertinent to the issue. When the interrogatories and cross-interrogatories shall be presented to the court or judge according to the notice given, the court or judge must modify the questions so as to conform them to the rules of evidence, and must indorse upon them his allowance, and annex them to the commission.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1355.

9317. (5045.) Instructions for return of commission. Unless the parties otherwise consent, by an indorsement upon the commission, the court or judge must indorse thereon a direction as to the manner in which it must be returned, and may, in his discretion, direct that it be returned by mail or otherwise, addressed to the clerk of the court in which the action is pending, designating his name and the place where his office is kept.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1356.

9318. (5046.) Examination of witness. Form of deposition. Return. The commissioner, unless otherwise specifically directed, may execute the commission as follows:

1. He must publicly administer an oath to the witness that his answers given to the interrogatories shall be the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth;

2. He must cause the examination of the witness to be reduced to writing, and subscribed by him;

3. He must write the answers of the witness as nearly as possible in the language in which he shall give them, and read to him each answer as it is taken down, and correct or add to it until it conforms to what he declares is the truth;

4. If the witness declines to answer a question, that fact, with the reason assigned by him for declining, must be stated;

5. If any papers or documents are produced before him and proved by the witness, the same, or copies thereof, must be annexed to the deposition, subscribed by the witness, and certified by the commissioner;

6. The commissioner must subscribe his name to each sheet of the deposition, and annex the deposition with the papers and documents proved by the witness, or copies thereof, to the commission, and must close it up under seal, and address it as directed by the indorsement thereon;

7. If there is a direction on the commission to return it by mail, the commissioner must immediately deposit it in the nearest postoffice.

If any other direction is made by the written consent of the parties, or by the court or judge, on the commission as to its return, he must comply with the direction. A copy of this section must be annexed to the commission.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1357.

9319. (5047.) Delivery of commission and return by agent. Affidavit. If the commission and return is delivered by the commissioner to an agent, he must deliver the same to the clerk to whom it is directed, or to the judge of the court in which the action is pending, by whom it may be received and opened, upon the agent making affidavit that he received it from the hands of the commissioner, and that it has not been opened nor altered since he received it.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1358.

9320. (5048.) Id. Procedure if agent dead, etc. If the agent is dead, or from sickness or other casualty unable personally to deliver the commission and return, as prescribed in the next preceding section, it may be received by the clerk or judge from any other person, upon his making an affidavit that he received it from the agent; that the agent is dead, or from sickness or other casualty unable to deliver it; that it has not been opened nor altered since the person making the affidavit received it; and that he believes it has not been opened nor altered since it came from the hands of the commissioner.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1359.

9321. (5049.) Filing and opening of commission and return. The clerk or judge receiving and opening the commission and return must immediately file it with the affidavit mentioned in the two next preceding sections in the office of the clerk of the court in which the action is pending. If the commission with the return is transmitted by mail, the clerk to whom it is addressed must receive it from the postoffice, and open and file it in his office, where it must remain, unless otherwise directed by the court or judge.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1360.

9322. (5050.) Commission and return open to inspection. The commission and return must at all times be open to the inspection of the parties, who must be furnished by the clerk with copies of the same or of any part thereof, on payment of his fees.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1361.

9323. (5051.) Deposition may be read in evidence. Objections. The depositions taken under the commission may be read in evidence by either party on the trial, upon it being shown that the witness is unable to attend from any cause whatever; and the same objections may be taken to a question in the interrogatories, or to an answer in the deposition, as if the witness had been examined orally in court.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1362.

CHAPTER 50.

INQUIRY INTO SANITY OF DEFENDANT.

9327. (5052.) No person to be tried or punished while insane. No person while insane shall be tried, adjudged to punishment, or punished for a public offense.

People v. Dillon, 8 U. 92; 30 P. 150.

People v. Calton, 5 U. 451; 16 P. 902.

"The capacity of the defendant to distinguish between right and wrong at the time and with respect to the act which is the subject of inquiry;" held, to correctly state the law.

People v. Calton, 5 U. 451; 16 P. 902; 130 U. S. 83.

The test of insanity is whether defendant, at the time of the offense, had the mental capacity to know that in doing the act he was doing wrong.

State v. Brown, 36 U. 46; 102 P. 641.

9328. (5053.) Inquiry into sanity of accused or convicted person. Procedure. Whenever a person charged with crime shall have escaped information or indictment therefor, or shall have been acquitted thereof on trial, upon the ground of insanity; or whenever a person during trial, or when brought up for sentence, or while confined as a criminal in the state prison or a county jail, shall become insane, complaint under oath must be made setting forth the facts in the case, and the district court of the county must proceed as hereinafter in this chapter set out.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1368*.

District judges to commit insane person to state mental hospital, §§ 5388-5406.

Insanity as a cause why judgment should not be pronounced, § 9050.

9329. (5054.) Id. Trial by jury. Suspension of criminal proceedings. The question of such person's sanity may be submitted to a jury that must be drawn and selected as in other cases. All criminal proceedings against him must be suspended until such question is determined. The trial jury, if one has been impaneled, may in the meanwhile be discharged or retained, in the discretion of the court.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1368*.

9330. (5055.) Order of trial for insanity. The trial of the question of insanity must proceed in the following order:

1. The counsel for the defendant must open the case and produce evidence in support of the allegation of insanity;

2. The counsel for the state may then open its case and produce evidence in support thereof;

3. The parties may then respectively offer rebutting testimony only, unless the court, for good reason in furtherance of justice, permit them to offer testimony upon the original case;

4. When the evidence is concluded, unless the case is submitted to the jury on either or both sides without argument, the counsel for the state must commence, and the defendant or his counsel may conclude, the argument to the jury;

5. If there are pending proceedings for an offense punishable with death, two counsel on each side may argue the case to the jury, in which event they must do so alternately. In other instances, the argument may be restricted to one counsel on each side;

6. The court must then charge the jury, stating to them all matters of law necessary for their information in rendering a verdict.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1369*.

9331. (5056.) Procedure on finding of sanity. If the jury find the defendant sane, the trial must proceed, or judgment be pronounced, or he be returned to prison, or be discharged, as the case may be.

Cal. Pen. C. § 1370*. Similar provision, § 9050.

9332. (5057.) Procedure on finding of insanity. If the jury find the defendant insane, the judge shall order the sheriff to forthwith convey him, together with a copy of the complaint, the commitment, and the physicians' certificate, if any, to the state mental hospital; provided, the court deems his freedom a menace to public quietude. Proceedings against the defendant must be suspended until he becomes sane.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1370*.

9333. (5058.) Commitment to asylum exonerates bail. The commitment of the defendant to the state mental hospital shall exonerate his bail, or entitle a person authorized to receive the property of such defendant to a return of any money he may have deposited instead of bail.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1371.

9334. (5059.) Id. Detention until sanity restored. Subsequent proceedings. A person received into the state mental hospital in pursuance of the foregoing provisions must be detained there until he becomes sane. If then the sentence of such person shall have expired, he must be restored to liberty. But if he is not legally discharged, the superintendent must give notice of his recovery to the sheriff of the county from which he shall have been sent. The sheriff shall thereupon, without delay, bring the defendant from the state mental hospital, and either place him in proper custody until he is brought to trial or judgment, or return him to prison to serve out the remainder of his term. The defendant shall be entitled to have the time of his confinement in the state mental hospital deducted from his term.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1372*.

9335. (5060.) Expenses of examination of insane, how paid. The expenses of the examination and of the sending of such persons, save convicts in the state prison, to and from the state mental hospital, shall be in the first instance chargeable to the county from which they shall have been sent. But the county may recover them from the estates of any such persons, or from a relative legally bound to care for them, or from the county of which such persons may be resident. Expenses of the examination and of the sending of an insane convict to and from the state mental hospital must be borne by the state, if he is impecunious.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1373*. Support by relatives, § 5853.

9336. (5061.) Clerk to certify costs to state or to county. The clerk of the district court before which an examination shall have been conducted shall certify the costs to the state auditor, who is hereby authorized to issue his warrants therefor, or to the board of county commissioners, as the case may be.

County charges, § 1434.

CHAPTER 51.

COMPROMISING PUBLIC OFFENSES.

9339. (5062.) What misdemeanors may be compromised. When a defendant is held to answer on a charge of misdemeanor, for which the person injured by the act constituting the offense has a remedy by a civil action, the offense may be compromised as provided in the next section, except when it is committed:

1. By or upon an officer of justice, while in the execution of the duties of his office;
2. Riotously;
3. With an intent to commit a felony.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1377.

9340. (5063.) Id. By permission of court. Bar. If the party injured appears before the court in which the trial is to be had at any time before trial, and acknowledges that he has received satisfaction for the injury, the court may, in its discretion, on payment of the costs incurred, order all proceedings to be stayed upon the prosecution, and the defendant to be discharged therefrom; but in such case the reasons for the order must be set forth therein and entered on the minutes. The order shall be a bar to another prosecution for the same offense.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1378.
Bar generally, §§ 8520, 8522, 8555, 8883, 8904.
Decisions on former conviction, acquittal, or once in jeopardy, note to § 8905.

9341. (5064.) No offense to be compromised except as herein provided. No public offense shall be compromised, nor shall any proceeding or prosecution for the punishment therof upon a compromise be stayed, except as provided in this chapter.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1379.
Compounding or concealing crimes, penalty, §§ 7920, 7985.

CHAPTER 52.

DISMISSAL OF ACTION.

9345. (5065.) Dismissal for failure to prosecute. The court, unless good cause to the contrary is shown, must order the prosecution to be dismissed in the following cases:

1. When a person has been held to answer for a public offense, if an information is not filed nor an indictment found against him at the next term of the court at which he is held to answer;
2. If the defendant whose trial has not been postponed upon his application is not brought to trial at the next term of the court in which the information or indictment is triable, after it is filed or found.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1382*.
Dismissal for failure to file new information or find new indictment after first has been set aside, § 8882.
Nolle prosequi, §§ 8780, 9348.
Decisions on once in jeopardy, note to § 8905.
Dismissal on sustaining demurrer, §§ 8893, 8894.
Where information was filed May 21st, defendant arraigned August 15th, May term, the case continued for the term and the trial occurred at the September term, the defendant was not entitled to be discharged under provisions of this section.
State v. Endsley, 19 U. 478; 57 U. 430.
This section does not provide that a prosecution shall be dismissed for failure to file information, as required by § 8779, and the fact that an information was not filed within thirty days after commitment does not entitle defendant to a discharge, where good cause is shown for delay in the prosecution.
State v. Reynolds, 24 U. 29; 66 P. 614.

9346. (5066.) Action continued from term to term. Discharge. If the defendant is not charged nor tried as provided in the next preceding section, and sufficient reason therefor is shown, the court may order the action to be continued from term to term, and in the meantime may discharge the defendant from custody on his own undertaking of bail for his appearance to answer the charge at the time to which the action shall be continued.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1383*. This section not mandatory.
Continuance generally, § 8931. Ex parte Lowrie, 4 U. 177; 7 P. 493.

9347. (5067.) Dismissal discharges defendant. If the court directs the action to be dismissed, the defendant must, if in custody, be discharged therefrom; or if admitted to bail, his bail shall be exonerated, or money deposited instead of bail must be refunded to him.

Cal. Pen C., § 1384.

9348. (5068.) Dismissal on motion of court or district attorney. The court may, either of its own motion or upon the application of the district attorney, and in furtherance of justice, order an action, information, or indictment to be dismissed. The reasons for the dismissal must be set forth in an order entered upon the minutes. Am'd '01, p. 9.

CHAPTER 53.

PROCEEDINGS AGAINST CORPORATIONS.

9354. (5071.) Complaint against corporation. Requisites of summons. Upon a complaint against a corporation, the magistrate must issue a summons, signed by him, with his name of office, requiring the corporation to appear before him at a specified time and place to answer the charge, the time to be not less than ten days after the issuing of the summons.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1390*. For violations of live stock act, § 231.
For violation of city ordinance, §§ 590, 595.

9355. (5072.) Id. Form of summons. The summons must be substantially in the following form:

State of Utah, county of .....

The state of Utah to the (naming the corporation):

You are hereby summoned to appear before me at (naming the place) on (specifying the day and hour), to answer a charge made against you upon the complaint of A B for (designating the offense generally).

Dated at ..... this ..... day of ....., 19.....

G H, Justice of the Peace (or as the case may be).

Cal. Pen. C., § 1391*.

9356. (5073.) Id. Service of summons. The summons must be served at least five days before the day of appearance fixed therein, by delivering a copy thereof and showing the original to the president or other head of the corporation, or to the secretary, cashier, or managing agent thereof.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1392.

9357. (5074.) Preliminary examination of corporation. At the time appointed in the summons, the magistrate must proceed to investigate the charge in the same manner as in the case of a natural person, so far as those proceedings are applicable.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1393. Preliminary examination, §§ 8737-8768.

9358. (5075.) Id. Certificate of discharge, or of probable cause. After hearing the evidence, the magistrate must certify upon the complaint either that there is or is not sufficient cause to believe the corporation guilty of the offense charged, and must return the complaint, the certificate, and the other documents, if any, as prescribed in § 8768.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1394*.

9359. (5076.) Id. Prosecution by information or indictment. If the magistrate's return shows that there is sufficient cause to believe the corporation guilty of the offense charged, the district attorney or grand jury must proceed thereon as in the case of a natural person held to answer.

Am'd '01, p. 7.

9360. (5077.) Id. Summons. Same proceedings as against a person. Whenever an information is filed or indictment found against a corporation, it must be summoned to appear as provided in the Code of Civil Procedure. The corporation may appear by counsel. If it does not appear, a plea of not guilty must be entered. In either case, proceedings thereupon must be had as if the defendant were a natural person.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1396*.

9361. (5078.) Execution against corporation for fine, etc. Whenever a fine and costs, or either, shall be imposed upon a corporation on conviction, judgment therefor may be executed by the sheriff of the county out of the real and personal property of such corporation in the same manner as a judgment in a civil action.

CHAPTER 54.

ENTITLING AFFIDAVITS.

9364. (5079.) Affidavit defectively entitled is valid, when. It shall not be necessary to entitle an affidavit or deposition in the action, whether taken before or after information or indictment, or upon an appeal; but if made without a title, or with an erroneous title, it shall be as valid and effectual for every purpose as if it were duly entitled, if it intelligibly refers to the proceeding, information, indictment, or appeal in which it is made.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1401.
Affidavits defectively entitled, when valid, civil procedure, §§ 6728, 7213.

CHAPTER 55.

ERRORS AND MISTAKES.

9365. (5080.) Departure from prescribed forms of procedure does not invalidate proceedings. Proviso. Neither a departure from the form or mode prescribed by this code in respect to any pleading or proceeding nor any error or mistake therein shall render it invalid unless it shall have actually resulted in a miscarriage of justice. CHAPTER 56.

SEARCH WARRANTS.

9368. (5081.) Search warrant defined. A search warrant is an order in writing, in the name of the state, signed by a magistrate and directed to a peace officer, commanding him to search for personal property and bring it before the magistrate.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1523.

9369. (5082.) Id. Grounds for issuance. It may be issued upon any of the following grounds:

1. When the property was stolen or embezzled; in which case it may be taken on the warant from any place in which it is concealed, or from any person in whose possession it may be;

2. When it was used as the means of committing a felony; in which case it may be taken on the warrant from the place in which it is concealed, or from any person in whose possession it may be;

3. When it is in the possession of any person with the intent to use it as the means of committing a public offense, or in the possession of another to whom he may have delivered it for the purpose of concealing it or preventing its being discovered; in which case it may be taken on the warrant from such person, or from any place occupied by him or under his control, or from the possession of the person to whom he may have so delivered it.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1524*.
For adulterated food, etc., §§ 1949, 1950, 1951.
For opium, pipes, etc., § 4434.
For casks, barrels, etc., bearing name, § 8455.
Special grounds, see intoxicating liquors, prohibition of, §§ 3354-3358.
Under dairy and food products, §§ 1949-1951.

9370. (5083.) To issue but upon probable cause. Oath. Description. A search warrant shall not issue but upon probable cause supported by oath or affirmation, particularly describing the place to be searched, and the person or thing to be seized.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1525*. This section follows Con. art. 1, sec. 14.

9371. (5084.) Examination of complainant and witnesses. Depositions. The magistrate must, before issuing the warrant, examine on oath the complainant, and any witnesses he may produce, and take their depositions in writing, and cause them to be subscribed by the parties making them.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1526.

9372. (5085.) Id. Requisites of depositions. The depositions must set forth the facts tending to establish the grounds of the application, or probable cause for believing that they exist.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1527.

9373. (5086.) Warrant issued if magistrate satisfied. Contents. If the magistrate is thereupon satisfied of the existence of the grounds of the application, or that there is probable cause to believe their existence, he must issue a search warrant, signed by him with his name of office, to a peace officer in his county, commanding him forthwith to search the person or place named, for the property specified, and to bring it before the magistrate.

Cal. Pen. C. 1528.

9374. (5087.) Form of search warrant. The warrant must be in substantially the following form:

State of Utah, county of .....

The state of Utah to any sheriff, constable, marshal, or policeman in the county of .....

Proof by affidavit, having this day been made before me by (naming every person whose affidavit has been taken) that (stating the grounds of the application, or, if the affidavit is not positive, that there is probable cause for believing) that (stating the ground of the application in the same manner), you are therefore commanded in the daytime (or at any time of the day or night, as the case may be), to make immediate search on the person of ..... or in the house situated ....., (describing it or any other place to be searched, with reasonable particularity, as the case may be), for the following property: (describing it with reasonable particularity); and, if you find the same or any part thereof, to bring it forthwith before me at (stating the place).

Given under my hand and dated this ..... day of ....., A. D. 19.....

....., Justice of the Peace (or as the case may be).

Cal. Pen. C., § 1529*.

9375. (5088.) Warrant served by officer mentioned therein. A search warrant may in all cases be served by any of the officers mentioned in its directions, but by no other person, except in aid of the officer on his requiring it, he being present and acting in its execution.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1530.

9376. (5089.) Officer may break door, etc., to serve. The officer may break open any outer or inner door or window of a house, or any part of a house or anything therein, to execute the warrant, if, after notice of his authority and purpose, he is refused admittance.

Cal Pen. C., § 1531.
Breaking door or window to serve warrant of arrest, § 8722.

9377. (5090.) Id. To liberate self or assistant. He may break open any outer or inner door or window of a house, for the purpose of liberating a person who, having entered to aid him in the execution of a warrant, is detained therein, or when necessary for his own liberation.

Cal. Pen C., § 1532.

9378. (5091.) Direction to serve in daytime. At any time, when. The magistrate must insert a direction in the warrant that it be served in the daytime, unless the affidavits are positive that the property is on the person or in the place to be searched, in which case he may insert a direction that it be served at any time of the day or night.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1533. Arrest may be made, when, § 8718.

9379. (5092.) Warrant void after ten days. A search warrant must be executed and returned to the magistrate who issued it within ten days after its date; after the expiration of this time the warrant, unless executed, shall be void.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1534.

9380. (5093.) Officer to receipt for property taken. When the officer takes property under the warrant, he must give a receipt for the property taken, specifying it in detail, to the person from whom it was taken by him, or in whose possession it was found; or, in the absence of any person, he must leave it in the place where he found the property.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1535.
Receipt for property taken from person arrested, § 9414.

9381. (5094.) Disposal of property taken. When the property is delivered to the magistrate, he must, if it was stolen or embezzled, dispose of it or its proceeds, as provided for the disposal of stolen or embezzled property in chap. 58 (§§ 9410.9415) of this code. The magistrate may, if such stolen or embezzled property is a living animal or of a perishable nature, order a sale thereof. If it was taken on a warrant issued on the grounds stated in subs. 2, 3, of § 9369, he must retain it in his possession, subject to the order of the court to which he is required to return the proceedings before him, or of any other court in which the offense in respect to which the property taken is triable.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1536*.

9382. (5095.) Officer's return of warrant and inventory. The officer must forthwith return the warrant to the magistrate, and deliver to him a written inventory of the property taken, made publicly or in the presence of the person from whose possession it was taken and of the applicant for the warrant, if they are present, verified by the affidavit of the officer at the foot of the inventory, and taken before the magistrate at the time, to the following effect: "I, ..., the officer by whom this warrant was executed, do swear that the above inventory contains a true and detailed account of all the property taken by me on the warrant."

Cal. Pen. C., § 1537.

9383. (5096.) Who may obtain copy of inventory. The magistrate must thereupon, if required, deliver a copy of the inventory to the person from whose possession the property was taken, and to the applicant for the warrant.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1538.

9384. (5097.) Trial of title to property. Testimony in writing. If the grounds on which the warrant was issued are controverted, the magistrate must proceed to take testimony in relation thereto. The testimony of each witness must be reduced to writing and authenticated in the manner prescribed for taking the depositions of witnesses on preliminary examination.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1539*. Deposition of witness on preliminary examination, §§ 8750, 8766, 8767.

9385. (5098.) Id. When property to be restored. If it appears that the property taken is not the same as that described in the warrant, or that there is no probable cause for believing the existence of the grounds on which the warrant was issued, the magistrate must cause it to be restored to the person from whom it was taken.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1540.

9386. (5099.) Return of papers to district court, or trial. The magistrate must annex together the depositions, the search warrant, the return, and the inventory, and return them to the district court of the county before the first day of its next term, unless he has jurisdiction of the offense, in which case he must retain them and proceed to try the accused.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1541*.

9387. (5100.) Person charged with felony to be searched. When a person charged with a felony is supposed to have on his person a dangerous weapon, or anything which may be used as evidence of the commission of the offense, the officer making the arrest shall cause him to be searched, and the weapon or other thing to be retained, subject to the order of the court in which the defendant may be tried.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1542*.
Weapons taken from person arrested, § 8724. Receipt for property taken, § 9414.

9388. (5101.) Procuring search warrant without cause a crime. A person who maliciously and without probable cause shall procure a search warrant to be issued and executed shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor.

N. Dak. (1895) § 8479.

9389. (5102.) Misconduct in serving warrant a crime. A peace officer who, in executing a search warrant, shall wilfully exceed his authority or exercise it with unnecessary severity shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor.

N. Dak. (1895) § 8480.

CHAPTER 57.

FUGITIVES FROM JUSTICE.

9393. (5103.) Rewards for apprehension of fugitives. The governor may offer a reward, not exceeding $1000, payable out of the state treasury, for the apprehension:

1. Of any convict who shall have escaped from the state prison; or,
2. Of any person who shall have committed or shall be charged with the commission of a felony.

N. Dak. (1895) § 8482; Cal. Pen. C., § 1547*.

9394. (5104.) Delivery of fugitive upon requisition. A person charged in any state or territory of the United States with treason, felony, or other crime, who shall flee from justice and be found in this state, shall, on demand of the executive authority of the state or territory from which he shall have fled, be delivered over by the governor of this state, to be removed to the state or territory having jurisdiction of the crime.

Con. U. S. art. 4, sec. 2; Cal. Pen. C., § 1548.

Sec. 5278, R. S. U. S., embraces every offense known to the laws of the demanding state, including misdemeanors.

In re Louis Reggel, 114 U. S. 642.

Same case, 8 U. S. 21; 28 P. 955.

Each state has the right to prescribe forms of pleading and process, subject only to the restraints of the federal constitution; consequently, it may not be objected, in a case involving the surrender of a fuguitive from justice, that the indictment is not technically framed, if it substantially conforms to the laws of the demanding state.

Id.

The responsibility of determining whether he is a fugitive from justice rests upon the government of the state or territory in which the accused was found.

Id.

9395. (5105.) Magistrate may issue warrant. A magistrate may issue a warrant for the apprehension of a person so charged, who shall flee from justice and be found within this state.

N. Dak. (1895) § 8484; Cal. Pen. C., § 1549. Warrant generally, §§ 8688-8707.

9396. (5106.) Proceedings for arrest and commitment of fugitive. The proceedings for the arrest and commitment of a person charged are in all respects similar to those provided in this code for the arrest and commitment of a person charged with a public offense committed in this state, except that an exemplified copy of an indictment found, or other judicial proceedings had, against him in the state or territory in which he is charged to have committed the offense may be received as evidence before the magistrate.

Mont. Pen. C., § 2855; N. Dak. (1895) § 8485; Cal. Pen. C., § 1550.

9397. (5107.) Commitment of accused to await requisition. If from the examination it appears that the accused has cammitted the crime alleged, the magistrate, by warrant reciting the accusation, must commit him to the proper custody of his county for such time, to be specified in the warrant, as the magistrate may deem reasonable, to enable the arrest of the fugitive under the warrant of the executive of this state, on the requisition of the executive authority of the state or territory in which he committed the offense, unless he gives bail as provided in the next succeeding section, or until he is legally discharged.

Mont. Pen. C., § 2856; N. Dak. (1895) § 8486; Cal. Pen. C., § 1551.

9398. (5108.) Id. Bail. The magistrate may admit the person arrested to bail by an undertaking, with sufficient sureties, in such sum as he deems proper, for his appearance before him at a time specified in the undertaking, and for his surrender, to be arrested upon the warrant of the governor of this state.

Mont. Pen. C., § 2857; N. Dak. (1895) § 8487; Cal. Pen. C., § 1552. Bail generally, §§ 9243-9270.

9399. (5109.) Notice to district attorney of arrest. Immediately upon the arrest of the person charged, the magistrate must give notice to the district attorney. Am'd '01, p. 7.

Mont. Pen. C., § 2858; N. Dak. (1895) § 8488*.

9400. (5110.) Duty of district attorney. The district attorney must immediately thereafter give notice to the executive authority of the state or territory, or to the prosecuting attorney or presiding judge of the criminal court of the city or county therein having jurisdiction of the offense, to the end that a demand may be made for the arrest and surrender of the person charged. Am'd '01, p. 7.

Mont. Pen. C., § 2859*; N. Dak. (1895) § 8489*; Cal. Pen. C., § 1554*.

9401. (5111.) Discharge of accused for lack of prosecution. The person arrested must be discharged from custody or bail, unless before the expiration of the time designated in the warrant or undertaking he is arrested under the warrant of the governor of this state.

Mont. Pen. C., § 2860; N. Dak. (1895) § 8490; Cal. Pen. C., § 1555.

9402. (5112.) Return of magistrate. Procedure in district court. The magistrate must return his proceedings to the district court of the county, which must thereupon inquire into the cause of the arrest and detention of the person charged, and if he is in custody, or the time for his arrest has not elapsed, it may discharge him from detention, or may order his undertaking of bail to be canceled, or continue his detention for a longer time, or readmit him to bail to appear and surrender himself within a time specified in the undertaking.

Mont. Pen. C., § 2861; N. Dak. (1895) § 8491; Cal. Pen. C., § 1556.

9403. (5113.) Fugitive given twenty-four hours to demand counsel. Habeas corpus. Any person who is arrested within this state, by virtue of a warrant issued by the governor of this state upon a requisition of the governor of any other state or territory, as a fugitive from justice, under the laws of the United States, shall not be delivered to the agent of such state or territory until notified of the demand made for his surrender, and given twenty-four hours to make demand for counsel; and should such demand be made for the purpose of suing out a writ of habeas corpus, the prisoner shall be forthwith taken to the judge of the district court, and ample time given to sue out such writ, such time to be determined by the said judge of the district court.

N. Dak. (1895) § 8492. Right of counsel, Con. art. 1, sec. 12; § 8553.

9404. (5114.) Id. Penalty for violation. Any officer who shall deliver such person to such agent for extradition without first having complied with the provisions of the next preceding section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor.

N. Dak. (1895) § 8493.

9405. (5115.) Fugitives from this state. Demand. Costs. The governor of this state may, in any case authorized by the constitution and laws of the United States, demand of the executive authority of any other state or territory within the United States any fugitive from justice or any person charged with the commission of treason, felony, or other crime in this state, and appoint agents to receive such persons for and on behalf of this state. The account of any such agent or agents employed for such purposes must be audited by the board of examiners, and be paid out of the state treasury.

N. Dak. (1895) § 8494*.

9406. (5116.) Id. No reward to public officer. No compensation, fee, or reward of any kind can be paid to or received by a public officer of this state, for a service rendered or expense incurred in procuring from the governor the demand mentioned in the next preceding section, or the surrender of the fugitive, or for conveying him to this state, or detaining him herein, except as provided in the next preceding section.

N. Dak. (1895) § 8495; Mont. Pen. C., § 2863; Cal. Pen. C., § 1558*.

9407. (5117.) Id. Violation a misdemeanor. A violation of the next preceding section is a misdemeanor.

N. Dak. (1895) § 8496.

CHAPTER 58.

DISPOSAL OF PROPERTY STOLEN OR EMBEZZLED.

9410. (5118.) Held subject to order of magistrate. When property alleged to have been stolen or embezzled comes into the custody of a peace officer, he must hold it subject to the order of the magistrate authorized by the next succeeding section to direct the disposal thereof.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1407.

9411. (5119.) Property delivered to owner. Order. Costs. On satisfactory proof of the ownership of the property, the magistrate before whom the complaint is laid, or who examines the charge against the person accused of stealing or embezzling it, must order it to be delivered to the owner, upon his paying the necessary expenses incurred in its preservation, to be certified by the magistrate. The order shall entitle the owner to demand and receive the property.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1408.

9412. (5120.) Id. If property stolen or embezzled comes into custody of the magistrate, it must be delivered to the owner on satisfactory proof of his title, and on his paying the necessary expenses incurred in its preservation, to be certified by the magistrate.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1409. Property taken on search warrant, § 9381.

9413. (5121.) Sale of unclaimed property. Proceeds. If the property stolen or embezzled is not claimed by the owner before the expiration of six months from the conviction of a person for stealing or embezzling it, the magistrate or other officer having it in custody must sell the same at public auction, as provided by law for the sale of personal property on execution, and with the proceeds pay:

1. The expenses necessary for its preservation and sale;
2. Any balance into the county treasury of the county in which the offense shall have been committed.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1411*.

9414. (5122.) Property taken from person arrested. Duplicate receipt. When money or other property is taken from a defendant, arrested upon a charge of a public offense, the officers taking it must at the time give duplicate receipts therefor, specifying particularly the amount of money or the kind of property taken; one of which receipts he must deliver to the defendant, and the other he must forthwith file with the clerk of the court to which the complaint and other papers in the case are required by law to be sent. When such property is taken by a police officer of any incorporated city, he must deliver one of the receipts to the defendant, and the other, with the property, at once to the person in charge of the police office in such city.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1412*.
Weapons taken from arrested person, §§ 8724, 9387.
Receipt for property taken on search warrant, § 9380.

Money taken from a prisoner at the time of his arrest is his property, subject to his order. Rickers v. Simcox, 1 U. 33.

9415. (5123.) Register to be kept at police station. The person having charge of the police office in any incorporated city must enter in a suitable book a description of every article of property alleged to be stolen or embezzled, and brought into the office or taken from the person of a prisoner, and must attach a number to each article, and make a corresponding entry thereof.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1413*.

CHAPTER 59.

JUSTICES' COURTS.

COMPLAINT, WARRANT, PLEA, AND CHANGE OF VENUE.

9419. (5124.) Jurisdiction extends to county limits. In criminal cases the jurisdiction of justices of the peace extends to the limits of their respective counties.

Criminal jurisdiction of justices of the peace, § 1794.
Process to any part of the county, § 1793.

In certain cities all cases brought before justice, § 1456.
Jurisdiction under liquor prohibition act, §§ 3348, 3354.

9420. (5125.) Requisites of complaint. Proceedings and actions before a justice's court for a public offense must be commenced by complaint under oath, setting forth the offense charged, with such particulars of time, place, person, and property as to enable the defendant to understand distinctly the character of the offense complained of, and to answer the complaint.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1426*.
Approval of county attorney as to issuance of warrant, §§ 2528, 8688.
Provisions concerning complaint, warrant, arrest, preliminary examinations, etc., in cases where a justice has no jurisdiction except as a committing magistrate, §§ 8680, 8769.
Magistrates enumerated, § 8678.

Justice may examine complainant and his witnesses, § 8682.
Pleadings before a justice of the peace must contain all the material qualities of a common law pleading, and an information or complaint must show affirmatively that a crime has been committed.
Ex parte Wiseman, 1 U. 39.

9421. (5126.) Warrant of arrest. Form. If the justice of the peace is satisfied that the offense complained of has been committed, he must issue a warrant of arrest, which must be substantially in the following form:

State of Utah, county of .....

The state of Utah to any sheriff, constable, marshal, or policeman in this state:

Complaint upon oath having been made this day before me ....., justice of the peace, by C D, that the offense of (designating it generally) has been committed, and accusing E F thereof; you are therefore commanded to arrest the above named E F and bring him before me forthwith at (naming the place).

Witness my hand at ....., this ..... day of ....., A. D. 19.....

Bail generally, §§ 9243-9270.
Arrest, §§ 8712-8731.
Form of warrant issued by magistrate, § 8689.

9422. (5127.) Justice to keep docket. Entries. A docket must be kept by the justice of the peace, in which must be entered each action, and the proceedings of the court therein.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1428*.
Docket of justice, civil procedure, § 7505.

9423. (5128.) Trial. Complaint to be read. Plea. Before the trial commences, the complaint must be distinctly read to the defendant, and he must be asked if he is designated therein by his right name, and be required to plead.

N. Dak. (1895) § 6752.
Right of accused persons, Con. art. 1, secs. 7-13; §§ 8553-8556.
In no instance shall any accused person before final judgment be compelled to advance money or fees to secure rights guaranteed, Con. art. 1, sec. 12.

9424. (5129.) Name of defendant. Four kinds of pleas. If the defendant objects that he is wrongly named in the complaint and gives his right name, the proceeding shall be amended accordingly. If he does not give his right name, he is thereafter precluded from making any objections on the ground that he is not designated by his right name. There are four kinds of pleas to a complaint; a plea of:

1. Guilty;
2. Not guilty;
3. A former judgment of conviction or acquittal of the offense charged, which may be pleaded either with or without the plea of not guilty;
4. Once in jeopardy, which may be pleaded with or without the plea of not guilty.

N. Dak. (1895) § 6753*; Cal. Pen. C., § 1429*.
District court practice, §§ 8898-8899.
Amendment as to name of accused, §§ 8833, 8873.

9425. (5130.) Pleas must be oral. Plea of guilty. Higher offense. Every plea must be oral and entered in the minutes. If the defendant pleads guilty, the court may, before entering such plea or pronouncing judgment, examine witnesses to ascertain the gravity of the offense committed; and if it appears to the court that a higher offense has been committed than the offense charged in the complaint, the court may order the defendant to be committed or admitted to bail, to answer any information that may be filed or any indictment that may be found against him.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1429*.

9426. (5131.) When trial to begin. Upon a plea other than a plea of guilty, unless a jury is demanded or an adjournment or change of venue is granted, the court may proceed to try the case. Am'd '13, p. 22.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1430*.
One hour in which to appear in justice's court, §§ 7445, 7474, 7476.

9427. (5132.) Change of place of trial. Grounds. Affidavit. A change of the place of trial may be had at any time before the trial commences:

1. When the defendant files an affidavit in writing, stating that he has reason to believe, and does believe, that he cannot have a fair and impartial trial of the action before the justice about to try the same, by reason of the bias or prejudice of such justice, the action must be transferred to a justice of the county agreed upon by the parties, or, if there is no agreement, to the nearest justice within the county to which such objection does not apply;
2. When it appears by affidavit that the defendant cannot have a fair and impartial trial, by reason of the prejudice of the citizens of the precinct or city, the action must be transferred to a justice of a precinct in the same county where the same prejudice does not exist.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1431*.
Change of place of trial of preliminary examination, § 8740; in district court, § 8912.
The filing of an affidavit does not deprive the justice of jurisdiction, but his refusal of the change and proceeding with the trial is error, and the district court has jurisdiction on appeal.
State v. Morgan, 44 U. 224; 140 P. 218.
Filing the affidavit of prejudice with the city justice disqualifies him, but does not oust him of jurisdiction, and the defendant in a criminal action must proceed under § 633, not under this section.
State ex rel. Brooks v. First Dist. Court, 43 U. 499; 136 P. 786.

9428. (5133.) Id. But one change allowed. The place of trial shall not be changed more than once.

Cal. C. Civ. P., § 834*.

9429. (5134.) Procedure when change ordered. When a change of the place of trial is ordered, the justice must forthwith attach to the original papers a certified copy of his docket entries in the action, and deliver the same to an officer, who must execute the order without delay by taking the defendant, if in custody, before the justice named and delivering to such justice the papers so received. Upon receipt thereof, the justice to whom the action is transferred must proceed in the same manner as if the proceeding or action had been originally commenced in his court.

N. Dak. (1895) §§ 6750, 6751; Cal. Pen. C., § 1432*.

9430. (5135.) Postponement of trial for cause. Before the commencement of a trial in a justice's court, either party may, upon good cause shown, have a reasonable postponement thereof.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1433*.

9431. (5136.) Grounds of demurrer to complaint. The defendant may demur to the complaint when it appears upon the face thereof:

1. That it does not conform to the requirements of § 9420;
2. That the facts stated do not constitute a public offense.

9432. (5137.) Demurrer sustained. New complaint or discharge. If the demurrer be sustained, a new complaint must be filed within such time not exceeding one day as the justice may name; if such new complaint be not filed, the defendant must be discharged.

FORMATION OF THE JURY.

9433. (5138.) Trial in defendant's absence forbidden. Exception. The trial must not proceed in the absence of the defendant, unless he voluntarily absents himself with full knowledge that the trial is being had.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1434*.
Trial in absence of defendant, district court, § 8926.

9434. (5139.) Jury waived unless demanded. A trial by jury shall be deemed to be waived unless a jury is demanded by either party.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1435*.
When defendant not entitled to jury for offense against city ordinance, § 632.
Trial must be by jury unless the same is waived, §§ 8556, 8925.
Jury trial a right in criminal prosecutions, Con. art. 1, sec. 12.

9435. (5140.) Jurors: Summoning, qualifications, challenges. The qualifications of, and manner of summoning, jurors to serve in justices' courts are prescribed under the title of "Jurors." The provisions of chap. 32 of the Code of Criminal Procedure (§§ 8936-8964), relative to challenging jurors, shall govern, as far as the same shall be applicable.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1435*.
Jurors, §§ 3591-3623.
Challenging jurors, §§ 8936-8964.

THE TRIAL.

9436. (5141.) Oath administered to jury. The jury having been impaneled, the court must administer to them the following oath: "You do swear that you will well and truly try this issue between the state of Utah and A B, the defendant, and a true verdict render according to the evidence."

Cal. Pen. C., § 1437*.

9437. (5142.) Duty of jury. Public trial, etc. After the jury shall be sworn, they must sit together and hear the proofs and allegations of the parties, which must be delivered in public and in the presence of the defendant.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1438.
When sittings public, § 1800; when not, § 1801.

9438. (5143.) Court to decide questions of law. Cannot charge as to facts. The court must decide all questions of law which may arise in the course of the trial, but can give no charge with respect to matters of fact.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1439.
Court to decide questions of law, district court, §§ 9004, 9006.

9439. (5144.) Jury may decide in court or retire. Oath of officer. After hearing the proofs and allegations, the jury may decide in court, or may retire for consideration. If they do not immediately agree, an officer must be sworn to the following effect: "You do swear that you will keep this jury together in some quiet and convenient place, that you will not permit any person to speak to them, nor speak to them yourself, unless by order of the court, or to ask them whether they have agreed upon a verdict; and that you will return them into court when they shall have so agreed, or when ordered by the court."

Cal. Pen. C., § 1440. Conduct of jury, district court, §§ 9010-9017.

9440. (5145.) Verdict delivered in public. Entry of. When the jury shall have agreed on their verdict, they must deliver it publicly to the court, who must enter it, or cause it to be entered, upon the minutes.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1441*.
Verdict of jury must be unanimous, Con. art. 1, sec. 10.

9441. (5146.) Verdict as to one or more of defendants. Retrial of others. When several defendants shall be tried together, if the jury cannot agree upon a verdict as to all, they may render a verdict as to those in regard to whom they do agree, on which a judgment must be entered accordingly, and the case as to the rest may be tried by another jury.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1442. Verdict, district court, §§ 9020-9032.

9442. (5147.) Form of verdict. The verdict of the jury on a plea of not guilty must be to the effect that the jury find the defendant "guilty," or "not guilty," as the case may be. On any other plea, the verdict must be "for the state," or "for the defendant."

Cal. Pen. C., § 1151*.

9443. (5148.) Jury discharged after verdict. Exception. The jury cannot be discharged after the cause is submitted to them, until they have agreed upon and rendered their verdict, unless for good cause the court sooner discharges them.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1443.

9444. (5149.) Retrial when jury fail to agree. If the jury is discharged, as provided in the next preceding section, the court may proceed again to the trial, in the same manner as upon the first trial, and so on until a verdict is rendered.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1444.

9445. (5150.) Sickness of juror. Procedure. If a juror be incapacitated by sickness for attendance through the trial, another juror may be summoned and the trial commenced over again, or the jury discharged and a new jury impaneled.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1123*. Sickness of juror, district court, § 9003.

NEW TRIAL AND ARREST OF JUDGMENT.

9446. (5151.) Motion must be made before judgment. At any time before judgment, the defendant may move for a new trial or in arrest of judgment.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1450.

9447. (5152.) Grounds for new trial. A new trial may be granted in the following cases:

1. When the trial has been had in the absence of the defendant, unless he has voluntarily absented himself with full knowledge that a trial was being had;

2. When the jury shall have received any evidence out of court;

3. When the jury shall have separated without leave of court, after having retired to deliberate upon their verdict, or been guilty of any misconduct tending to prevent a fair and due consideration of the case;

4. When the verdict shall have been decided by lot, or by any means other than a fair expression of opinion on the part of all the jurors;

5. When there shall have been error in the decision of the court, given on any question of law during the course of the trial;

6. When the verdict is contrary to law or evidence;

7. When new evidence is discovered material to the defendant, and which he could not, with reasonable diligence, have discovered and produced at the trial; but when a motion for a new trial is made upon this ground, the defendant must produce at the hearing the affidavits of the witnesses by whom such newly discovered evidence is expected to be given.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1451. New trial, district court, §§ 9197-9201.

9448. (5153.) Grounds for motion in arrest of judgment. The motion in arrest of judgment may be founded on any substantial defect in the complaint, and the effect of an arrest of judgment shall be to place the defendant in the situation in which he was before the trial was had.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1452.
Arrest of judgment, district court, §§ 9035-9038.

JUDGMENT AND EXECUTION.

9449. (5154.) Time for pronouncing judgment. Postponement. After a plea or verdict of "guilty," or after a verdict against the defendant, the court must appoint a time for rendering judgment, which must not be more than two days nor less than six hours after the verdict is rendered, unless the defendant waives the postponement, or the judgment is arrested, or a new trial granted. If postponed, the court may hold the defendant to bail to appear for judgment. Unless such postponement is demanded, it shall be deemed to be waived.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1449*.

Judgment, district court, §§ 9041-9059.

Total term of imprisonment under sentence by justice of peace cannot be made to exceed six months.

Ex parte Lewis, 10 U. 47; 41 P. 1077.

In a prosecution in a municipal court for drunkenness, where sentence after a plea of guilty was rendered September 21, but not entered of record until September 27, the court did not lose jurisdiction of the case, and the sentence did not become illegal.

Kolb v. Peterson, 50 U. —; 168 P. 97.

9450. (5155.) Judgment on plea of guilty. Fine. Imprisonment at labor. When a defendant pleads guilty or is convicted, the court must render judgment that he be punished by a fine or imprisonment, or by both, with or without costs. A judgment for the payment of a fine, or of a fine and costs, may also direct that the defendant be imprisoned at hard labor until such fine, or such fine and costs, are paid, in the proportion of one day's imprisonment for every dollar of the fine and costs.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1445, 1446*.

Imprisonment at labor whether or not so designated, § 9173.

Fine and imprisonment, § 1794.

Fees of justices of the peace, §§ 2527, 2528.

The legislature of the territory could confer on justices of the peace no jurisdiction in criminal cases except that usually exercised by such justices at the date of the passage of the Organic Act, and authority to impose a fine in any sum less than $300, and an imprisonment for a term not exceeding six months, is in excess of the jurisdiction which the legislature could confer on justices of the peace under the Organic Act.

People, ex rel. Yearian v. Spiers, 4 U. 385; 10 P. 609; 11 P. 509.

Same case, 4 U. 482; 11 P. 618.

Overruled in People v. Douglass, 5 U. 283; 14 P. 801.

A justice of the peace exhausts his jurisdiction in sentencing the defendant to imprisonment for a period of six months, and has no valid authority to adjudge that he be further imprisoned in default of payment of the fine imposed.

In re Lewis, 10 U. 47; 41 P. 1077.

9451. (5156.) Acquittal. When complainant to pay costs. When the defendant is acquitted, he must be immediately discharged. If it appears to the court that the prosecution was malicious or without probable cause, it may render a judgment that the complainant pay the costs of the action, which judgment may be enforced in the same manner as a judgment in a civil action; and the complainant shall have the same right of appeal.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1447*.

9452. (5157.) Fine without imprisonment. Execution. A judgment which imposes a fine without directing that the defendant be imprisoned until the same is satisfied may be enforced in the same manner as a judgment in a civil action, and execution shall issue accordingly.

N. Dak (1895) § 6767*. Fines, how collected, § 9168.

9453. (5158.) Judgment of imprisonment, how executed. A judgment of imprisonment must be executed by delivering the defendant into the custody of the sheriff or other officer in charge of the county jail. A copy of the judgment, duly certified by the justice, is a sufficient warrant for the doing of every act necessary or proper in the due execution thereof. The officer shall, upon discharging the defendant, return such copy to the justice, with an account of his doings indorsed thereon, and must at the same time pay over to the justice all money which he may have received from the defendant in payment of the fine.

N. Dak. (1895) §§ 6768*, 6769*.
Judgment of imprisonment, district court, §§ 9169, 9170.

9454. (5159.) Fines, etc., to be paid into county treasury. When a fine is paid or bail is forfeited, the justice must pay the same to the county treasurer within thirty days thereafter.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1457*.

APPEAL.

9455. (5160.) Appeal must be taken within thirty days. Any defendant in a criminal action tried before a justice of the peace may appeal from the final judgment therein to the district court of the county where the court of such justice is held, at any time within thirty days from the time of the rendition of the judgment.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1466*.
Appeal from justice's court, finality, Con. art. 8, sec. 9; § 1668.

9456. (5161.) Appeal, how taken. Notice and undertaking. The appeal shall be taken by giving notice and by filing an undertaking by or on behalf of the appellant, in at least double the amount of the fine or of the fine and costs, as the case may be, with at least two good and sufficient sureties, and conditioned that the appellant will appear at the first term of the court thereafter to which the appeal is taken and answer the charge of which he shall have been convicted, or will appear in whatever court it may be prosecuted, and will at all times hold himself amenable to the orders and process of such court, and if convicted, will appear for judgment and surrender himself in execution thereof; or, if he fails to perform either of these conditions, that the sureties will pay to the state of Utah or to the municipal corporation, as the case may be, the sum specified in the undertaking.

Appeals from justices' courts, civil procedure, §§ 7514-7521.
Decisions on appeals from justices' to supreme court, note to Con. art. 8, sec. 9.

9457. (5162.) Notice of appeal to be filed and served. Notice of appeal shall be filed with the justice, and a copy thereof shall be served on the county attorney.

N. Dak (1895) § 6782*.
Proof of service is not limited to proof by indorsement of acceptance of service, but may be by affidavit.
Chipman v. Fourth Dist. Court, 44 U. 201; 138 P. 1194.

9458. (5163.) Justice to transmit papers on appeal. Deposit. The justice must, within ten days after an appeal is perfected, transmit to the clerk of the district court all papers relating to the case and a certified copy of his docket. If money shall have been deposited in lieu of bond, it must accompany the return.

N. Dak. (1895) § 6786*.

9459. (5164.) Witness may be required to give bonds, or be conditionally examined. When an appeal is taken, the justice must, if application is made by the county attorney, cause all material witnesses on behalf of the prosecution to enter into an undertaking in like manner as in a case where a defendant is held to answer on a preliminary examination. And when it shall satisfactorily appear by examination on oath of the witness or any other person that the witness is unable to procure sureties, such witness may be forthwith conditionally examined on behalf of the state. Such examination must be by question and answer in the presence of the defendant or after notice to him, if on bail, and reduced to writing, and the witness must thereupon be discharged. The testimony as given, subscribed by the witness and duly certified to by the justice, may be read in evidence by the state or municipality, or by the defendant, upon any subsequent trial of the same case in the district court on appeal, upon it being satisfactorily shown that such witness is either dead or out of the state. Am'd '99, p. 81.

N. Dak. (1895) § 6785*. Witness on preliminary may be required to give bonds, or testimony may be taken, §§ 8765-8766.

9460. (5165.) Trial anew in district court. Dismissal of appeal. An appeal duly perfected transfers the action to the district court for trial anew. The appeal may be dismissed on either of the following grounds:

1. For failure to take the same in time;
2. For failure to appear in the district court when required;
3. For failure to file a sufficient undertaking; provided, that no appeal shall be dismissed for any insufficiency or informality in the undertaking, if the defendant files a sufficient undertaking in pursuance of an order of court.

If the appeal is dismissed, a copy of the order of dismissal must be remitted to the justice, who may proceed to enforce the judgment.

Dismissal of appeal, civil procedure, § 7520. Where the justice refused to transfer the case, where an affidavit of prejudice is filed, his ruling is erroneous, but does not deprive the district court of jurisdiction on appeal. State v. Morgan, 44 U. 224; 140 P. 218.

9461. (5166.) Dismissal of complaint on appeal. Grounds. The complaint, on motion of defendant, may be dismissed upon the following grounds:

1. That the justice did not have jurisdiction of the offense;
2. That more than one offense is charged therein;
3. That the facts stated do not constitute a public offense.

N. Dak. (1895) § 6787*.

9462. (5167.) Id. Procedure. If the defendant objects to the complaint, and the objection be sustained upon any ground provided for in sub. 2 or 3 of § 9461, the court may permit the complaint to be amended so as to insure a fair trial upon the merits. If the defendant does not object to the complaint, or if the objection be overruled, or if the complaint be amended, the defendant must be required to plead as to an indictment or information, without regard to any plea entered before the justice. In other respects, the proceedings shall be he same as in criminal actions originally commenced in the district court, and judgment shall be rendered and carried into effect accordingly. Am'd '11, p. 69.

N. Dak. (1895) § 6787. A complaint on appeal to the district court from the city court may be amended in a matter of substance. S. L. City v. Larsen, 47 U. 1; 151 P. 353.

GENERAL PROVISIONS.

9463. (5168.) Subpœnas: Proceedings governing. A justice of the peace may issue subpœnas for witnesses or for interpreters, and punish disobedience thereof, as provided in chap. 47 (§§ 9284-9293) of this code. The names of all the witnesses desired by both parties may be included in the same subpœna.

Cal. Pen. C., § 1459*. Subpoenas, etc., §§ 9284-9293.

9464. (5169.) Bail: Provisions governing. The defendant, at any time after his arrest and before conviction, may be admitted to bail. The provisions of chap. 45 (§§ 9243-9270) of the Code of Criminal Procedure in district courts, relative to bail, shall be applicable to bail in justices' courts.

Bail, §§ 9243-9270.

9465. (5170.) Contempt: Provisions governing. The provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure in justices' courts, relative to contempts, shall be applicable to the criminal procedure in justices' courts.

Contempts, in justices' court, §§ 7525-7529.
Assault, etc., in presence of the court, § 8579.

9466. (5171.) Entitling affidavits: Provisions governing. The provisions of § 9364, in respect to entitling affidavits, are applicable to justices' courts.

9467. (5172.) Competency of witnesses: Provisions governing. The provisions of chap. 46 (§§ 9275-9280) of this code, relative to the competency of witnesses, shall be applicable to the criminal procedure in justices' courts.

Witnesses and evidence, §§ 9275-9280.

9468. (5173.) When justice may depute a person to act as constable. A justice of the peace may depute in writing any suitable and discreet person to act as constable when no constable is at hand, and the nature of the business requires immediate action.
